Chapter 1481 Sunshine Always Comes After the Storm

“Amputation?”

Hearing the suggestion of the doctor of Western Medicine, everyone around was shocked.

It was out of everyone’s expectations.

How could this man’s injury be so difficult to treat?

It was even to the extent of amputation!

The patient panicked when he heard that.

He did not want to lose his leg like this. He couldn’t imagine how he would live without one leg.

The doctor continued, “We didn’t bring too many medical tools with us. However, now the patient suffers a comminuted fracture of his leg bones, and his tendons are broken, too. If it is further delayed, the patient’s injured leg will soon begin to fester. So you guys have to decide whether to have the surgery or not before it is too late!”

When the patient heard this, he panicked even more.

He looked at his leg again and found it was already a little blue. If he put it off longer, it was very likely that his whole leg and foot would turn dark. By then, the festering of his leg would keep spreading upward, and it would be too late for him to have surgery.

“Let me have a shot.”

Just then...

Fang Qiu, who had just bandaged the wound of a patient, came over.

“But...”

The team leader of the five Western Medicine doctors looked at Fang Qiu and said, “The patient can’t hold on for long. See, the blood of his leg and foot has stopped flowing. Time is life.”

“If anything goes wrong, I’ll take responsibility.”

Fang Qiu stepped forward.

Looking at the patient lying on the bed, Fang Qiu said, “I am Fang Qiu. If you believe me and are willing to let me treat you, I’ll do my best to help keep your leg. Of course, you can also choose to have an amputation surgery.”

“Fang Qiu? Are you Fang Qiu, the one from Murica?”

Hearing Fang Qiu’s name, the patient asked immediately.

“I’m Fang Qiu, a doctor of Huaxia Chinese Medicine. I did go to Murica some time ago.”

Fang Qiu nodded affirmatively.

“I believe you, I believe you.”

The patient hurriedly nodded and said in a panic, “I need your help now, please. You are sure to cure me, right?”

“I’m not sure.”

Fang Qiu shook his head.

Then he began to examine the patient.

Fang Qiu gently stroked the patient’s injured leg and confirmed that it is a comminuted fracture. The smashed flesh was secondary, but the veins were broken in several places, preventing blood flow.

When Fang Qiu was aware of this, he said to the patient.

“Hold on.”

Then Fang Qiu grabbed one of the broken parts of the patient’s veins with one hand and began to transfer his internal Qi into the patient’s leg to connect the veins.

Fang Qiu tried to ensure that the patient’s leg and foot would not get festered during the treatment.

The internal Qi entered the patient’s body.

Controlling his internal Qi, Fang Qiu forcibly pulled the broken veins and connect them together. At the same time, he dredged the obstructed blood vessels.

There were a total of three parts. Fang Qiu quickly connected all the veins. Then he dredged the blood vessels with his internal Qi, improving the blood flow.

As soon as the blood flew smoothly...

“Ah!”

The patient screamed at once.

Suddenly, he felt the pain that he hadn't felt just now. It was too hard for him to bear.

With the patient's cry of pain...

The doctors of Western Medicine on the side looked over.

They saw that the patient's blue and black leg, which was almost rotten flesh, was gradually restoring flesh color.

Just then...

Someone got a piece of cloth and stuffed it into the patient's mouth to bite on.

"Hold on a little longer."

Fang Qiu took a look at the patient and then quickly made his next move.

From top to bottom...

He set the broken bones in the patient's leg, and in the end, all the broken pieces of bones were set.

During this process, the patient's face had been white with pain.

However...

After the bonesetting...

Fang Qiu transferred his internal Qi into the patient's leg again. While holding the set bones, he nurtured the muscles of the leg.

Ten minutes later...

"Done."

Fang Qiu nodded and said, "Just bandage it a little bit. The broken bones have been completely set, and the veins have also been connected. Take a good rest for some time, and you will completely recover."

After that...

Fang Qiu reached out to wipe the sweat covered on his forehead.

Fang Qiu hadn't rested for over 40 hours. He had been treating patients and pushing trucks. Even though he could absorb the Qi of Heaven and Earth in any place at any time, he would inevitably feel a little tired.

Hearing what Fang Qiu said...

The patient spat out the cloth in his mouth and wiped the sweat covered on his face as Fang Qiu did.

He finally felt no pain.

Well, exactly speaking, it was not that it didn't hurt, but compared with the pain just now, the pain now was nothing.

The patient's injured leg had been healed. The color of his whole leg had returned to the flesh color, and the smashed flesh had become full. Seeing that, the five doctors of Western Medicine around couldn't help muttering.

“What’s going on?”

“He can cure it! How did he make it?”

“The injured man’s leg was smashed so badly, but how could he be cured in such a short time?”

They all doubted it.

However...

They saw with their eyes that the patient’s leg had indeed recovered.

They couldn’t figure it out at all.

“How did Fang Qiu make it?”

Their confusion lasted for the entire night.

The next day...

The highly-skilled doctors, who had rested for a few hours, woke up one after another as dawn broke. The local officials immediately provided food and water to everyone for a full meal.

Fang Qiu had rescued 15 supply trucks, so the supplies were fully sufficient now, And the highly-skilled doctors and those doctors of brightness started to tuck in.

After all, they could not get the energy to save people until they fulfilled their stomachs.

When they came out of the resting room...

They saw that Fang Qiu was still treating the injured.

They were stunned.

Then, they immediately walked up to Fang Qiu.

“Have you been up all night again, Fang Qiu?”

Yi Banxian asked.

Fang Qiu nodded in response.

“For what?”

Yu Qing, one of the highly-skilled doctors, immediately frowned and said, “Go and rest, boy. Now that we’re here, it doesn’t matter whether you’re here or not. You’re still young. Don’t burn yourself out.”

“That’s right. Go and rest.”

The other highly-skilled doctor, Bu Chunqiu, also tried to persuade Fang Qiu.

“I’m fine, really.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, “My mind is very clear now. I don’t need to rest.”

Outside...

The heavy rain was still falling.

“Roar...”

Suddenly, there was a roar of an engine.

Fang Qiu hurriedly looked outside.

Right there...

A few more rescue vans came outside the temporary rescue station.

The drivers got out of the vans, opened the doors, and brought out a group of children.

Some of these children were 7 or 8 years old, and some were 12 or 13 years old. Their clothes were very dirty, and so were their hands and faces. Fortunately, they did not have obvious injuries.

However...

These children were all in low spirits.

Led by a local official, over 30 children were taken to the temporary rescue station. They squatted down in a corner of the warehouse, held their foreheads with their hands, and buried their heads in between their knees.

“The situation of this group of children is sort of special.”

The local official came over and said to Fang Qiu and the others, "These children have just experienced a disaster. They are quite frustrated and nervous now. If we leave them alone, I'm afraid they will suffer from mental trauma.

"I wonder if you have a psychologist here?"

Hearing that...

Everyone was stunned at once.

Where could they find a psychologist?

Just when everyone was anxious...

"Leave them to me."

Fang Qiu stood out and said, "I can give it a try. Maybe I can do it."

In the current situation...

There was no professional psychologist here. It seemed that there was no other option rather than let Fang Qiu give it a try. If it didn't work, every doctor would take turns to try.

Then...

Fang Qiu walked toward the group of children.

However, as soon as Fang Qiu approached, the children immediately became nervous. Each of them curled up their bodies and didn't even dare to look at Fang Qiu.

“Kids.”

Fang Qiu came over and said in Anglanish, “You are safe now. I mean no harm to you. Can you look up at me, please?”

Those children did not listen to Fang Qiu. Some of them even gave their backs to Fang Qiu.

“Hi, I am Fang Qiu.”

Fang Qiu said, “I came from Huaxia, thousands of kilometers away. There are many cute animals in Huaxia like sika deer, butterflies, tigers, and pandas, as well as snowmen.”

After he said that...

A little boy suddenly looked up.

“Really? Are there snowmen?”

The little boy asked.

Of course. I made snowmen myself. Have you ever made a snowman?”

Fang Qiu asked with a smile.

A trace of disappointment flashed across the little boy’s eyes, and then he said, “No, I haven’t.”

Hearing their conversation...

The other children also gradually looked up.

Fang Qiu began to chat with these children one by one. After that, he played some games with them and finally succeeded in arousing moods.

“Kids, let’s sing a song together, okay?”

After breaking the ice with the children, Fang Qiu suggested.

“Okay.”

Several children immediately nodded, followed by the rest of the children.

Following that...

Fang Qiu immediately found someone at the rescue station, who could understand the local language, to translate a song.

The song was named “Sunshine Always Comes After the Storm”.

It was interpreted into Tagalog.

Then...

Fang Qiu started to teach these children to sing this song.

“Sunshine always comes after the storm. The clear sky is above the dark clouds. Cherish all the touched, and every hope will be grasped in your hands. Please believe the rainbow will appear after the storm....”

Soon, the song came out of the temporary rescue station.

Under the leadership of Fang Qiu, most of the children loudly.

Besides...

People nearby had almost learned it, and they also sang along with them.

Although these children were still young, they all understood the meaning of the lyrics.

When they finished the song...

Fang Qiu stepped forward and hugged a few of the children tightly, whose eyes were red and tears were streaming down their faces.

“Everything is going to be fine, and life will get better!”

Fang Qiu kept repeating this sentence to comfort these crying children.

During the conversation just now...

Fang Qiu had learned that...

In this super typhoon, most of these children had lost their father or mother. A few of them, who were hugged tightly by Fang Qiu, had lost both parents.

The large numbers of houses collapsed, and these children saw the anger of nature. Some of them were angry with it, which had taken away the lives of their family and friends, and some were trembling with fear.

And a few children even lost their courage to live because they could not face the miserable post-disaster scenes.

Chapter 1482 The Moss Is Small, but It Learns to Bloom Like Peony

After they wept...

The moods of these children got a lot better.

Fang Qiu knew that his method had worked, but that was far from enough. He must help the children get rid of the psychological shadow left by the natural disaster this time, bit by bit.

If this shadow was not completely eliminated, it would be with them for the rest of their lives.

Seeing that everyone stopped crying...

Fang Qiu got up. He went to the warehouse where supplies were stored, took out some milk and bread, and distributed them to each child to fill their stomachs.

While the children were eating, Fang Qiu said to them, "Come on, let's gather together and tell stories about ourselves, okay?"

He called the children over.

Fang Qiu said with a smile, telling the children some interesting things about his childhood to bring up topics.

Then...

Fang Qiu started to call the roll.

And the children told their stories one after another.

In the beginning, every child was just talking about some trivial and interesting things, which would cause bursts of laughter from others, and the child who was telling stories would also laugh happily.

But...

Gradually, the smile on the face of the boy telling the story disappeared.

It was as if he had encountered something terrible and did not want to speak of it

“Don’t be afraid. I’m here.”

Fang Qiu looked at the boy who suddenly stopped telling the story, reached out to touch his head, and said, “Speak out all the terrible things to me and other children. We will always be together with you.”

Hearing that...

The boy raised his head and looked around.

Then, he saw that his friends around him were all looking at him and nodding at him in support of his trust.

“Um, I saw a flood.”

The boy began to describe what he had seen in the super typhoon and how his family had disappeared in front of him. His voice became more and more hoarse with every word he said.

And tears poured over his face, falling to the ground.

Fang Qiu sat next to the boy and reached out to put his arm around the boy's shoulder tightly, trying to give him a sense of security.

As Fang Qiu knew...

For a child who had suffered disasters and lost their family, a sense of security was something luxury to have, and insecurity would accompany him for a lifetime.

The way to change such a situation was to give him enough sense of security at this time, let him feel the warmth of family again, and let him know that many people around him were caring about him and protecting him.

Not only Fang Qiu...

But the other children around also got close to the boy.

They all reached out their hands and hugged together.

Feeling everyone's caring for him...

The boy immediately looked up. While wiping his tears, he continued to tell everyone the fear in the depth of his heart. In the end, he spoke out all the fear in his heart.

The more he talked, the closer everyone got to him, and the more sense of security he could feel.

Soon...

He finished speaking.

"Alright."

Fang Qiu patted the boy on the shoulder and said, "Are you still in fear now? If you are, how about telling us about your dream?"

"What would you like to be, a policeman, an athlete, or a scientist?"

Only by finding hope in despair could a person be reborn.

Fang Qiu guided these children step by step.

"Um, I like playing soccer."

The boy wiped the tears from his face and said, "I told my mother that I would become a great soccer player when I grow up, but my mother is gone."

"Your mother believes that you can do it, right?"

Fang Qiu said with a smile, "We also believe that you will make your dream become true. So, even though your mom is gone, you must work hard to become a great soccer player to live up to the expectations of your mom and us, okay?"

Hearing that...

The boy nodded heavily. The tears on his face dried up, and his repressed emotions were completely released.

"The next one, please."

Fang Qiu turned to the next child.

In this way...

These children told their stories one after another. After hearing the descriptions of those terrifying scenes, they became more and more united.

Later, even without Fang Qiu guiding them, these children began to comfort each other.

Unknowingly...

The psychological guidance went on smoothly.

Next to him...

The three highly-skilled doctors, who had been paying close attention to this matter, nodded with great relief.

In terms of the treatment of diseases in Chinese Medicine, they were absolutely second to none. However, when it came to psychological guidance, they really had no clue how to do it.

There were medications for mental depression in Chinese Medicine, but they were only auxiliary. Only the psychological guidance had real effects.

At this very moment...

In the eyes of the three highly-skilled doctors, Fang Qiu was even more almighty.

On the other side...

The other young doctors of Chinese Medicine felt that they were not as good as Fang Qiu.

As for the doctors of Western Medicine, everyone was also very surprised. They didn't expect that Fang Qiu could help the children get rid of their repressed emotions so quickly.

Even so...

There was no doubt.

These doctors all had a smile on their faces. They were very happy to see this scene and were very grateful to Fang Qiu inwardly.

The injured around had also shifted their eyes to Fang Qiu, carefully watching the interaction between Fang Qiu and the children, and listening to every word Fang Qiu said to the children.

They were also hurt.

They needed psychological guidance, too. It was just that they were a little stronger at resisting pressure than children.

When some adults heard the children's stories, their eyes couldn't help turning red, and they shed tears with the children.

In the warehouse...

Fang Qiu had not finished his psychological counseling yet.

Singing, facing fear, and expecting for the future were just part of the psychological guidance.

When all the children finished speaking...

Fang Qiu glanced outside the door.

He found that the heavy rain was still falling, and he felt a little depressed.

He had planned to take the children out for a walk to feel the vast land and see the bright sunshine, enabling them to feel the beauty of the world.

Unfortunately, the weather wasn't good.

So...

They had to stay inside the warehouse.

In that case, Fang Qiu had to guide them in another way.

That was to play a game.

It was a game helping these children trust each other and build a deeper friendship and sense of security for them.

"Alright."

When the last child finished telling his story, Fang Qiu stood up and said, "Kids, would you like to play a game together?"

"Yes."

These children all nodded in agreement.

"Would anyone like to play a game with us?"

Fang Qiu asked the adults around.

Soon, a few volunteers joined in.

Under the arrangement of Fang Qiu, several volunteers took the children's hands and let the children hold each other's hands. They were divided into several teams and began to play games.

On the way to the game.

Fang Qiu stood in the middle of the children, playing the game with them, and kept reminding them loudly, "Hold your hands tightly and move forward."

Why did Fang Qiu say that out loud?

This was a power of courage. Fang Qiu wanted the children to remember this sentence firmly so that it would immediately come up in their minds when they encountered difficulties and pain in the future.

When they were in despair, they would remember those who were working as hard as them and those who were supporting him around.

This sentence would bring them hope.

And it would bestow them with new life!

When everyone was having a good time...

Fang Qiu came to the side of the local official and asked him to get some local volunteers. Then he told the volunteers about the current situation of these children in detail.

He also told them how to guide these children.

After all, Fang Qiu would not stay here for long.

He couldn't stay with these children every day. Moreover, many other people were in need of treatment. Therefore, Fang Qiu had to teach the local volunteers this set of psychological guidance methods, enabling them to keep these children company.

The more people were good to the children, the easier it was for them to recover from their mental trauma.

What made Fang Qiu the happiest was that...

There were many females among the local volunteers.

Without doubt...

Their guidance to these children would be more effective.

They also knew that the super typhoon was a great misfortune for the Philippinean. However, the Philippinean people became more united than ever and got even closer to the world because of the disaster caused by the super typhoon.

This gave the female volunteers hope and a future.

And...

These children were the future!

Soon...

The volunteers began to have fun with these children.

In the crowd of the injured.

Many patients' eyes turned red when they saw this scene.

Especially when they saw that those depressed children finally began to laugh happily, they couldn't help but feel a lump in their throats and try hard to hold the pain in their hearts.

Learning from these children, they faced the future with a smile.

In front of the temporary rescue station...

A few people came quietly with cameras, notepaper, and pens in their hands, as well as work passes hanging in front of their chests. They kept staring at Fang Qiu and these children.

No one noticed how long these reporters had been there.

Perhaps...

The whole process of Fang Qiu giving psychological guidance to the children had been recorded.

After that, the reporters came into the temporary rescue station and began to interview and inquire about the situation there.

While asking...

The reporters wrote on notepaper quickly with a pen.

They wanted to record everything they had seen.

And meanwhile...

Fang Qiu didn't stop.

Fang Qiu got a small blackboard somewhere. Under the gaze of these children...

He wrote a poem on the blackboard.

"Mosses"

In a shade sheltered from the warm spring sun,

Mosses are growing full of vitality.

Their flower buds are as tiny as rice grains,

Still blooming like noble peonies.

Then...

Fang Qiu picked up the small blackboard, read the poem to all the volunteers and children, and explained to the children the meaning of the poem.

He told everyone present that no matter how difficult the situation they were facing, they had to remain in the spirit of persistence, just like the bloom of moss.

In a good timely manner...

The local official interpreted what Fang Qiu said to the children in Tagyalog.

These children didn't quite understand, but they all remembered this poem.

Over there...

The reporter finished the interview.

He quickly wrote a report and sent it to the headquarters in Manilla.

That night, the news was released!

"Sunshine Always After the Storm."

The news title used the name of the song that Fang Qiu had taught the children. It talked about the hard work of these Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctors who had not rested for 48 hours. Besides, it revealed the psychological guidance of Fang Qiu to children.

Ultimately, the report expressed gratitude for Huaxia's assistance to people in Philippeanes.

Chapter 1483 The Spirit of Chinese Medicine

Manilla...

It was the capital and the largest city of Philippeanes.

It was one of the most internationalized and pluralistic cities in the world. This world-famous international metropolis was known as Jork in Aesia.

As the capital...

It was different from the coastal cities. When the sudden super typhoon swept across the coastal cities, Manilla, Philippine's capital, received the news of the super typhoon's invasion. Right away, it began to take various preventive measures.

Thus...

Although there were injuries, the situation in Manilla was not serious.

Moreover, most casualties happened because the super typhoon was excessively violent. Even if they took precautions initially, they couldn't avoid such a consequence.

As the super typhoon moved away...

Rescue teams worldwide came one after another. Of course, there were also reporters from all over the world.

These groups of reporters all came to Manilla.

At this time, it had been raining cats and dogs for days in Manilla.

After the super typhoon, traces of disasters were everywhere. Despite the heavy rain, the people in the city had begun the repair work.

Of course...

All walks of life here started to recover.

The local media reporters were the fastest ones to return to work. Or it could be said that they had never stopped working.

As the news with the title “Sunshine Always After the Storm” was released, TV stations made special reports about it. Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctors had been saving people in Bintar, a coastal city, for 48 hours without rest. The news soon spread throughout Phlippeanes.

People in Phlippeanes...

Through the television pictures, they saw the photos taken by the reporters at the temporary rescue station in Bintar. They saw Fang Qiu and the Huaxia medical rescue team trying their best to rescue the wounded.

Because of the disaster, many children lost their families. The audience saw their innocent eyes and their pitiful looks.

The temporary rescue station was full of patients. They gazed at those doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine with their eyes full of gratitude.

The last photo...

It was about many Chinese Medicine doctors over 60 years old from Huaxia.

Under the photo was a line of words: “To heal the wounded and rescue the dying, these Chinese Medicine masters haven’t rested for over 40 hours. They even once fainted because of fatigue and exhaustion.”

One scene after another...

These people in Phlippeanesian were moved to tears.

For a moment...

This news caused a sensation in the entire country!

All the locals were praying for the patients in the disaster area. Repeatedly, they thanked doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine. In addition to the wishes for disaster victims on the Internet, the hottest topic was Thanks to Huaxia and Chinese Medicine.

Meanwhile...

There were groups of media reporters from Huaxia. They came to Philippines almost at the same time as Fang Qiu and other doctors but took different flights. Without delay, they sent this report to Huaxia in the form of a live stream or online articles.

This super typhoon was terrible, and the relevant news was broadcast daily. Thus, many people in Huaxia had been paying attention to the situation in Philippines.

After the medical assistance team went abroad, the attention paid to Chinese Medicine increased significantly.

Now...

The rescue team of Huaxia Chinese Medicine had not slept for over 40 hours. As the news was spread to Huaxia, the domestic netizens felt particularly proud and began to talk about it.

"They haven't slept for 48 hours. They worked like crazy!"

"Yes. They should take good care of themselves. Only then can they save more people."

"These highly-skilled doctors are all in their sixties. Although they are doctors, they are human beings. Are their bodies strong enough to support them?"

"That is Chinese Medicine. It shows the benevolence of Huaxia doctors."

"Let those foreigners see what Huaxianese are like. They should know how Huaxia takes actions to help and support them."

“Thanks for your help, Huaxia Chinese Medicine rescue team. The disaster didn’t hit Huaxia, but people’s lives in Phlippeanes are also important. It has nothing to do with nationalities. This matter concerns the safety of human beings!”

“Huaxia rescue team, come on!”

While the netizens were moved, they cheered for the medical rescue team of Huaxia.

In Phlippeanes...

The news spread widely. Besides, various media outlets reported the story of different medical rescue teams from Huaxia. Then, Phlippeanesian found that not just one but three Huaxia medical teams had come.

Moreover...

Every member of all medical rescue teams would rather save lives than rest.

This time...

Every Phlippeanesian knew about it.

It turned out that people from Huaxia were so nice! And the doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine were kind and capable!

Soon after...

The Phlippeanes authorities officially issued a letter of thanks to the whole world.

“To Huaxia and Chinese Medicine...”

“In recent days, our country has encountered a super typhoon. Such a hurricane with a wind speed above level 16 is rare to see even in 100 years. Most of the population in many parts of the country suffered from the disaster. The direct economic loss is more than tens of billions of Murica dollars.”

“In the hardest of times, our country urgently needed help. At the most critical moment, the Huaxia people were the first to arrive in our country’s disaster area. They were fatigued by a long journey of several hours. However, instead of resting, they directly threw themselves into the rescue of the disaster area.”

“To save the people of our country, doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine put in a lot of hard work. They helped us with all resources at their command.”

“We sincerely admire the selfless contributions of doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine.”

“On behalf of all the people of our country, especially those affected by the disaster, I say all this with the most sincere gratitude and the greatest respect for Huaxia Chinese Medicine.”

“Thank you all.”

“The disaster is ruthless, but there is love in the world.”

“Our country will never forget your generous acts of kindness.”

“Deep thanks to Huaxia and Huaxia Chinese Medicine! Thank you for your benevolent love and enormous sacrifice. Thank you so much!”

As soon as this letter of thanks was released...

It was immediately posted on the Internet and reported by many media outlets.

Without doubt...

Except for those in Philippeanes, these people in Huaxia were the first to see this letter of thanks.

After they read the news...

The domestic netizens felt even more proud.

After the Philippeanes authorities published the official thank-you letter, many other countries that participated in the rescue saw it in the first place.

When people from those countries saw it...

One after another, they were all inspired.

They didn't expect the Huaxia medical rescue team to help with all their might. They even felt reluctant to sleep, only to treat as many wounded people as possible.

Rescue teams from all over the country didn't want to fall behind the Huaxia team.

They worked much harder than before.

This result was precisely what Fang Qiu liked to see.

Those rescue teams from other countries doing relief work saw this letter.

Besides, since the Philippeanes authorities issued this official thank-you letter to the world, it soon circulated among other countries worldwide.

News agencies from all over the world had just arrived in Manilla. Through them, many pieces of news about Huaxia Chinese Medicine were spread to other countries along with this thank-you letter.

For a moment...

Almost all the countries in the world had seen Huaxia's generous help and sacrifices to Philippineans.

In the past...

In the eyes of people worldwide, Huaxia had always been one of the top major powers. Huaxia was so mighty that people had no guts to learn about it at a close distance. Somehow, Huaxia appeared intimidating and awe-inspiring.

As a result, for the people of other countries, Huaxia must be as arrogant and unreasonable as other major powers.

But now...

They saw a completely different Huaxia.

They couldn't fancy Huaxia to be like this.

"Are all the people in Huaxia so kind?"

"Fang Qiu had been treating patients for free in Murica. Seeing that, I thought he just wanted to promote Chinese Medicine. By doing that, he could gain fame. But now it seems I was wrong."

"I've always heard that Huaxia Chinese Medicine emphasizes a fearless spirit of sacrifice. I felt reluctant to believe it because I didn't think Huaxia people could do that. I thought they were all bragging, but now I believe it."

“I finally got it. This is the spirit of Chinese Medicine in Huaxia.”

“I feel very ashamed. For a long time, I’ve been suspecting Huaxia Chinese Medicine. I find I’m seriously wrong.”

“More ironically, I’ve always felt that Fang Qiu is the only authentic doctor of Huaxia Chinese Medicine. After all, I’ve encountered bad Chinese Medicine doctors. Now it seems that besides Fang Qiu, there are many more great Chinese Medicine doctors in Huaxia.”

“To be honest, the sacrifice of the Huaxia rescue team is very touching. We can see from their deeds that they are respectable doctors. Their only aim is to save people!”

“This kind of spirit is rare!”

“This is a kind of love, great and selfless love.”

“I swear that every day from now on, I will no longer avoid and try to accept Chinese Medicine!”

Not merely a country...

Almost every country expressed their deep admiration for Huaxia Chinese Medicine after all kinds of reports about the rescue of Huaxia Chinese Medicine in Philippines were spread out.

After all...

Who would have thought of such a thing?

The Huaxia rescue team could launch an all-out effort to provide disaster relief in a foreign country.

In addition to admiration...

People worldwide couldn't help asking themselves in their hearts: could their national rescue teams dispatched to a foreign country's disaster zone achieve the same thing?

No!

They couldn't make it.

From this aspect alone, they could see the big difference between Huaxia and other countries.

Afterward...

Media outlets reported many more things.

All the patients treated by Huaxia Chinese Medicine recovered very quickly. Meanwhile, they also thanked the Western Medicine teams from Huaxia and other countries worldwide.

Even so...

After similar news reports were released...

Huaxia Chinese Medicine immediately left a deep impression on the minds of people all over the world.

Before this...

Fang Qiu had brought Chinese Medicine to the international stage. As a result, Fang Qiu became the only Chinese Medicine doctor that foreigners knew. In their eyes, Fang Qiu and Huaxia Chinese Medicine were the same. They didn't know anyone else and never intended to learn more about this matter.

But this time, they saw the overall appearance of Huaxia Chinese Medicine.

Besides Fang Qiu, there were more doctors of Huaxia Chinese Medicine, and they saw the impressive spirit of Huaxia Chinese Medicine.

People all over the world were moved. In admiration, they attempted to know, understand, and accept Chinese Medicine.

This time, Chinese Medicine was truly recognized by the international world!

Chapter 1484 Going up the Mountain to Rescue!

“Clatter...”

In all parts of Philippeanes, the storm was still raging.

For days, the gloomy sky showed no signs of clearing up, giving people a very depressing feeling.

Bintar...

This coastal city was very close to the coastline.

When the super typhoon swept over, the sea level rose rapidly. The rising sea water submerged the first floors of many hotels along the coastline.

After several days of torrential rain, the sea level went up continuously and almost drowned these people.

In the surroundings...

Except for the river 500 meters away, there was almost no river to drain the water.

As a result, there was no place for the rainwater to go. It could only flow into the sea. Because of this, the sea waves hitting the shore grew bigger and bigger!

In addition to the rising sea level, the landslide was the most dreadful thing for all the local refugees and the injured.

Bintar was too far away from the capital.

Therefore, it was not yet fully developed. Besides this small town, this place had only a few villages on the mountain. There was nothing else.

Back then...

Many people were rescued from the nearby villages up on the mountains.

It was just that there were lots of villagers. The rescue vehicles had to run back and forth several times before saving everyone in one village.

As the rain got heavier, no one dared to drive the rescue vehicle up the mountain.

After all, these mountains had no roads for cars. Beyond that, no slip-resistant measures had been adopted. Water flows gushed down the mountains like springs. How could anyone have the courage to drive up the mountain? It was undoubtedly a suicide mission.

Under such circumstances...

Some refugees and wounded people in nearby villages could only take the risk of going down the mountain.

More and more people came to the temporary rescue station.

In the rescue station...

The medical rescue team from Huaxia was still treating people.

At this time, many people had seen the news about Fang Qiu on their mobile phones. Everyone checked and shared the news.

Before they watched the news...

Everyone following Fang Qiu knew he had done many things, like treating and bandaging patients, getting back more than a dozen supply trucks at risk, giving psychological guidance to children, and giving them hope.

But...

After these people viewed the news...

Their attention gradually shifted to Fang Qiu's medical skills.

Not just Fang Qiu but also all the doctors of Chinese Medicine...

Frankly, these people in the rescue station did not intend to observe Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctors' medical skills at first. The news mentioned that Huaxia Chinese Medicine's therapeutic effect was impressive. Since then, everyone paid special attention to these aspects.

The Western Medicine team was divided into two squads. They were also observing the treatment of Chinese Medicine doctors.

It turned out that...

The news was in line with reality.

These patients treated with Chinese Medicine recovered very quickly. Whether they had a fever, an infection, a bone fracture, or an external injury, therapies of Huaxia Chinese Medicine were much more effective than ordinary Western Medicine treatments.

Many people were unwilling to accept and believe in Huaxia Chinese Medicine. Their attitude toward Chinese Medicine became much more positive when they witnessed all this. Gradually, they came to believe in Chinese Medicine.

As a result...

In the temporary rescue station in Bintar, those people treated Fang Qiu and the three highly-skilled doctors, Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing, with great respect.

Even the local official respected them very much. Once anything happened, he would discuss it with Fang Qiu and the others in the first place.

After all, he didn't have many capable helpers here. Most locals were wounded because of the disaster, and those without injuries were assigned to deal with emergencies.

Therefore, in the face of difficulties, the local official could only rely on Fang Qiu and the others.

As such...

"Clatter, clatter, clatter..."

The local official, who had just received the news, trotted to Fang Qiu and the others. He looked anxious as if something urgent had happened.

This official was Garro Dan, and everyone called him Garro.

He had a pair of lifted eyebrows and an exceptionally high forehead. With his deep and large eye sockets, he looked very dignified.

“What happened?”

Seeing Garro running over with an anxious look, Fang Qiu and the three highly-skilled doctors immediately approached him and asked.

“Bad news.”

Garro became so stunned and anxious that he had no idea what to do with his hands and feet. He said, “I just received the news. A sick elder has been living on the mountain two kilometers away. He has been living there for a long time. His condition has developed from bad to worse these days.”

“I planned to take him down the mountain with a rescue vehicle. But the continuous rainstorm these days caused a flash flood disaster. The old man’s house was almost washed away.”

“Someone who went out for emergency rescue called me and reported the situation. Someone must go to treat the old man as soon as possible. Otherwise, I’m afraid he won’t be able to hold on.”

“Moreover, once the flood breaks out on that mountain, it’ll be too late to save him!”

When Fang Qiu and the three highly-skilled doctors heard that...

Their faces darkened in an instant.

The elder was on a high mountain four kilometers away!

“Why didn’t you tell us about it earlier?”

“Why didn’t you pick him up earlier?”

Bu Chunqiu and Yu Qing asked simultaneously.

"I have no choice."

Garro said bitterly, "This old man is alone and far away from the nearby villages. When we do the emergency rescue, I can only send these people to more crowded places. That way, we can save more people."

"Now, people in a few villages are still trapped in the mountain. For now, their problems are not as serious as this one."

It sounded...

There was nothing they could do about it.

After all, they still had to focus on saving people. Since they couldn't give consideration to both sides, they could only choose to save more people.

"What should we do?"

Garro was at a loss for what to do.

"I'll go."

Yi Banxian immediately said, "Two kilometers is not a long distance. If I go, I can guarantee his safety."

"Let me do it."

Fang Qiu immediately stood up and said, "It's not that I don't think you can do it, but the rain outside is too heavy. Besides, when you go up the mountain, you might encounter dangers like mountain torrents and mud flows.

"The most important thing is to bring the patient back.

"I'm younger. If I go there, I can do it faster. It will be less dangerous."

When Garro heard that...

He nodded immediately.

"Let Fang Qiu do it."

Yu Qing, the highly-skilled doctor, also nodded in agreement and said, "We are all old. If we walk two kilometers, we will wear ourselves out. Don't show off at this time."

"That's right."

The highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu added, "We're here to save lives and heal injuries. We need to ensure our safety to save more people. If elders like us encounter any accidents this time, we may not come back alive."

At first, Yi Banxian was still a little stubborn.

But the other two highly-skilled doctors offered their suggestions. Afterward, Yi Banxian thought about it and found their words made sense. Immediately, he stopped arguing. He seemed to acquiesce in the decision that Fang Qiu would go.

"Do you have an accurate location? Which direction should I go?"

Fang Qiu immediately asked.

“I’ve already asked someone to prepare these necessary items.”

Without hesitation, Garro pulled Fang Qiu to the office next door.

“Fang Qiu, you must save the elder!”

Yi Banxian reminded him.

“Three seniors, please rest assured. I will do my best.”

Fang Qiu nodded in response.

They arrived at the office.

Garro immediately handed over the prepared supplies: two sets of raincoats, a bag of nutrient fluid, and a signal device with a well-fixed position.

Fang Qiu took these things.

He didn’t dare to delay.

On the spot, he put on the raincoat and rushed to the high mountain two kilometers away.

“Be careful. The river 1,500 meters away passes by the foot of that mountain. The continuous heavy rain must have influenced it. You need to take extra security precautions.”

As Garro saw Fang Qiu off outside, he reminded him.

“Um.”

Fang Qiu nodded knowingly.

Examining the direction, he found the mountain was downstream of the bridge he had supported with his bare hands.

Now that the bridge had collapsed, he wondered if any other downstream bridges existed.

If not, it would be troublesome.

As he pondered...

Fang Qiu rushed in the direction displayed by the signal device at full speed.

In the heavy rain...

No one noticed that Fang Qiu activated his internal Qi before flashing out at breakneck speed.

He was afraid that a flash flood might occur. Then, there would be no time for the elder to wait for his rescue.

It was a distance of 1,500 kilometers.

Soon, Fang Qiu covered the distance.

A few minutes later...

Fang Qiu finally saw the mountain where the old man lived.

It was a pity...

At the foot of the mountain was a very wide stream of water. It was a few times wider than ordinary rivers. The surging water spread out of the river channel and drowned the vast area around it.

With a flash of wit...

Fang Qiu immediately rushed forward and threw himself into the water.

Protected by the internal Qi, he rushed directly into the river and quickly ran to the foot of the mountain on the other side.

Halfway there, he thought that he would fall onto the riverbed. Unexpectedly, stones and dirt brought here by water had filled the original river.

No wonder the river water would spread out.

Running to the foot of the mountain across the river, Fang Qiu didn't think much about it.

He looked up.

Sure enough, he saw a wooden house halfway up the mountain.

He immediately rushed over.

Right now...

A large area of flowing red mud surrounded the wooden house. Besides, rainwater constantly flowed down from above. It seemed that a mountain torrent would happen soon.

The wooden house had blocked the mountain torrent. Otherwise, a torrential flood would have erupted long ago.

He took a few quick steps forward.

In a twinkle, Fang Qiu came to the door of the wooden house.

When he pushed the door open, he saw an old man lying on a very narrow bed. Though under the quilt, he was shivering with cold. The fire in the stove had long been extinguished by water. At this time, the ground was covered with water.

Fang Qiu hurried over and quickly checked on the elder. He found that the old man had a fever caused by a bad cold. Immediately, he mobilized his internal Qi to bring down his fever and cure him.

Then Fang Qiu removed his coat and put it on the old man. Besides, he wore the raincoat he had brought for him.

He was too hasty to say a word.

At once, he carried the elder on his back and ran out.

Just then...

From the other side of the mountain came a burst of panic footsteps.

Fang Qiu turned around and took a look.

“Villagers. They must come from the village.”

On Fang Qiu's back, the old man pointed at the group of people and said.

"Sir, how many villages are there nearby?"

Fang Qiu hurriedly asked in the local language he had just learned.

"One. Only one."

The old man answered.

Just then...

"Crack!"

A crisp sound was heard.

Fang Qiu turned to look.

A surging torrent crushed the elder's wooden house. Then, it rushed fast toward Fang Qiu at the foot of the mountain!

Chapter 1485 The Highly-skilled Doctor Was Buried!

"Whoosh..."

Streams of rainwater and red mud from the mountaintop converged into torrents, rushing down like water unleashed from a large water dam. As destructive as a raging river, they collapsed the old man's wooden house and came at Fang Qiu with great momentum.

“Damn!”

Fang Qiu was shocked.

He could protect himself from this mighty current. Even if it hit his shins with all its might, he would never let his feet move even an inch.

However, the surging torrents were coming from above down. If Fang Qiu didn’t dodge, he could hold on, but the old man on his back couldn’t withstand the enormous impact.

The elder had just recovered. If the flood lashed against him, wouldn’t it cause a big problem?

Fang Qiu moved his feet.

He instantly ran to the side.

He ran to hide behind a big tree three meters away.

“Clatter...”

The mountain torrent flowed down before Fang Qiu.

Just then...

The few people ran over from the distance and looked down the mountain.

There, they saw the extensive water flow and torrents rushing fast down from the mountain. Their faces turned ghastly pale.

“It’s over. We’re trapped on the mountain.”

“What should we do now?”

“We can’t cross such a big river. Now it’s raining so heavily, and the mountain torrent will only grow bigger and bigger. Where can we hide then?”

Fear appeared on their faces.

They watched fast currents at the foot of the mountain.

But no one was courageous enough to go down there.

For ordinary people, crossing such fast currents was committing suicide.

“Old man, have a rest here first. I’ll find a way to help you cross the river.”

Fang Qiu put the old man down.

Then he turned to look at the anxious people next to him and asked, “I’m a member of the Huaxia rescue team. Are you from the village on the mountain?”

“Yes.”

Although Fang Qiu spoke in Anglanish, everyone here could understand him.

After all, Anglanish was also one of the official languages of Philippeanes.

“Is there anyone else on the mountain?”

Fang Qiu asked.

“No.”

The few people immediately shook their heads and said, “The others have been picked up, and we’re the only ones left.”

“Help me take care of this elder. I’ll think of a way to take you back to the rescue station.”

Fang Qiu nodded after learning about the situation.

Then he looked around.

Soon...

His eyes fell on the river at the foot of the mountain — a wooden board was floating there. It was a piece of the old man’s wooden house. The wooden plank was not small and looked complete. It should be able to support these people.

“Let’s go down the mountain.”

Fang Qiu quickly carried the old man on his back and ran down the mountain.

The others followed him.

Running to the foot of the mountain, Fang Qiu put the elder on the ground. He immediately rushed into the river after telling those people to take care of the old man.

At this time, the river had pushed the wooden board downstream. If he was a little later, he could not catch it.

Fang Qiu secretly used his internal Qi.

He quickly approached the wooden board floating on the water, grabbed it, and turned back.

“Get on the plank. I’ll push you across the river.”

Upon arriving at the shore, Fang Qiu said, “Don’t worry. This wooden board can support your weight.”

But...

This group of people did not dare to get on it.

They were scared.

“What if this wooden board flips over in the river?”

“Come on!”

The old man was the first to come out. He walked to the wooden board and sat down, saying, “Hurry up, all of you. It’ll be too late when the mountain torrent erupts later.”

Hearing this, these people all looked back at the mountain.

Sudden floods seemed to be unleashed from several other directions. Their hearts immediately tightened. They no longer dared to hesitate and stepped onto the wooden plank.

When Fang Qiu entered the water...

He gathered his internal Qi under his feet to reduce the impact of the current on him. Meanwhile, he grasped the wooden board firmly and walked toward the other side of the river.

The water submerged his waist just after he took a few steps, and the water level kept rising.

Fang Qiu waded into the water and pushed the plank. Seeing this, several people on the wooden board were particularly nervous.

They were afraid that the water would accidentally wash Fang Qiu away.

In the meantime...

Of one accord, several people reached out their hands and grabbed the clothes on Fang Qiu's shoulders. In this way, they could deal with unexpected accidents. If Fang Qiu suddenly lost all his strength, they could guarantee the water wouldn't take him away.

"Young man from Huaxia, be careful. Do be careful."

The old man looked at Fang Qiu and said.

"Don't worry. I'll take you to a safe place."

Fang Qiu sped up as he spoke.

The heavy rain fell incessantly.

They had to deal with more things than the mountain torrents. This river was connected to the coastline. Once huge waves came from the coastline, the water level of this river would inevitably rise sharply.

So, he had to quicken the pace.

With internal Qi, Fang Qiu stabilized his lower body and the wooden board. He quickly pushed it forward.

Soon after...

They finally arrived at the center of the river.

The water flow in the middle of the river had reached Fang Qiu's chest.

The people on the wooden board panicked when the surging river flows dashed against Fang Qiu.

Fortunately...

Fang Qiu was fast enough.

Before long, he rushed out from the deepest part of the river, pushing the wooden board to the riverbank.

"Oh, great! We're safe, finally."

The people on the wooden board quickly pulled Fang Qiu up from the river. Then, one by one, they came up to shake Fang Qiu's hands and kept expressing their gratitude to him.

"Everyone, follow me. I'll take you back to the rescue station."

Without hesitation, Fang Qiu carried the old man on his back again.

Then...

He ran all the way to the rescue station.

The others followed closely behind.

They ran about 1,500 to 2,000 meters in more than 10 minutes. Finally, they arrived at the rescue station.

The local official Garro saw Fang Qiu returning with a few people.

He darted out with some people and helped Fang Qiu take these refugees in.

“Phew...”

After others took over the few people, Fang Qiu breathed a sigh of relief.

“Where are the highly-skilled doctors?”

Fang Qiu glanced around the rescue station but didn’t see the three highly-skilled doctors there.

“They went out for emergency treatment.”

With a frown, Garro added, “They heard people in a few villagers there couldn’t get down from the mountain. Besides, many of them were seriously ill. So, they went there by a rescue vehicle.”

Fang Qiu glanced in the direction that Garro was pointing at.

He found that...

It was opposite to the way he had gone just now.

“There is not something like a river, right?”

Fang Qiu hurriedly asked.

“No.”

Garro immediately shook his head and said, “There are only some ditches for drainage. The few mountains over there are all on the coastline. They can block out the sea waves .”

“That’s good.”

Though still a little worried, Fang Qiu nodded with understanding.

After all...

The three highly-skilled doctors were all old.

Moreover...

The rainstorm lasted for several days. Mountain torrents broke out in the surrounding mountains. Fang Qiu hoped the mountain torrents would go to the sea after they broke out. Otherwise, these doctors would be in danger.

“Are there people from the rescue team?”

Fang Qiu asked one more question.

“Sure.”

Garro nodded and said, "Two people from the rescue team and three old Chinese Medicine doctors went there. They took a few people because the space of the rescue vehicle was limited. If too many people went there, there would not have enough room for more refugees."

Fang Qiu turned to look in the direction the three highly-skilled doctors had taken.

Then...

"Beep, beep, beep..."

The hasty phone ringing suddenly sounded in Garro's office.

When Fang Qiu heard the phone ring...

He couldn't help frowning.

Garro hastened to run into the office and answer the phone.

"Hello?"

He picked up the phone.

"Help! We need help! The rain is too heavy. The mountain torrent erupted, and many houses collapsed. Many people have been buried."

A panicked cry for help came from the other end of the line.

"What?"

Upon hearing that, Garro immediately panicked.

“The mountain collapsed and buried many people. When the three elders from Huaxia helped dig out the people, landslides also buried them. We need help. Help!”

The person on the phone repeatedly asked them for help.

“I’ll contact people in Manilla and ask them to send a transport helicopter to rescue you.”

Garro said with a pale face and quickly hung up the phone.

“What happened?”

Garro became so anxious that his face turned deathly pale. Seeing that, Fang Qiu had a bad feeling and hurriedly ran over to ask.

“A landslide. The mountain collapsed and buried them.”

Garro said in a panic.

“What?”

Fang Qiu’s eyes popped with terror.

“The three highly-skilled doctors?”

“Where are they? Take me there right now. I’m going to save them.”

Fang Qiu was so anxious that his eyes turned red in an instant.

“How can you save them alone? Don’t worry. I’ll make a call and get a transport helicopter to help.”

As he spoke, Garro hurried to make a call.

“When the rescue team arrives, they will all be dead.”

Fang Qiu anxiously knocked Garro’s phone away and said, “Take me there immediately. I can get them out.”

Garro saw that Fang Qiu nearly went crazy with anxiety.

He didn’t dare hesitate any longer.

In a hurry, he sent a rescue vehicle driver to drive Fang Qiu there.

He knew that the matter was urgent.

The driver didn’t dare to delay and drove fast all the way.

Before long, they arrived at the foot of the mountain.

“They are over there.”

Large piles of red soil were at the foot of the mountain. After the landslide, torrents washed the soil down the mountain. The driver’s face changed as he asked, “Can we go up?”

“Whoosh.”

Without answering the driver, Fang Qiu zipped up the mountain when knowing their location. He moved forward at full speed.

On the way...

Fang Qiu saw the torrents everywhere on the mountain. Many large chunks of red soil were rushed down from the mountain.

Obviously...

The soil and stones wouldn't have been washed down here if not for the landslide.

He ran wildly all the way.

After running for two minutes, Fang Qiu finally arrived at the place where the mountain collapsed.

It was a completely hollowed-out area.

It looked like...

It used to be a semicircle area. All people of one village must have lived there.

Right now...

The whole area of the mountain had caved in.

It seemed that sea waves had shattered the mountain foot.

In the distance...

Fang Qiu saw a rescue worker digging with his bare hands. His face was full of fear and tears.

“Where are they? Where were they buried?”

Rushing to him, Fang Qiu hurriedly asked.

“Here. Right here.”

The rescue worker pointed to the pile of soil before him and said, “Down there. They are all down there.”

Before them...

There was a pile of yellow soil as large as a small hill. At the sight of it, Fang Qiu nearly went mad.

His hands moved.

He directly activated his internal Qi and began to dig wildly.

Chapter 1486 Golden Internal Qi Permanently Consumed

There were large chunks of red soil mixed with boulders.

They completely covered this area. The torrential rain poured down. Raindrops seeped fast into the red soil, pulling the dirt down.

This situation was critical.

Fang Qiu and the only rescue worker not buried under the collapsed mountain watched anxiously.

On the mountain...

Under the heavy rain, slight landslides continued. They didn't know how bad the result would be. Once a large-scale collapse occurred, the soil and rock that had just been dug up would be buried again.

And most critically...

These people were still below.

No one knew what was going on under the red soil and gravel. Yet, they were sure of one thing: danger would happen any second they stayed down there.

Therefore, Fang Qiu didn't dare to stop at all.

With his bare hands...

He activated his internal Qi and formed two giant energy palms. In the rain, he dug wildly, waving his hands like beasts using their claws. Before long, he excavated a large hole.

The rescue worker nearby was also busy digging. Thus, he didn't notice Fang Qiu's digging speed.

Fang Qiu dug about three or four meters down.

Finally, he saw some things supporting houses, like wooden boards.

"They are down there. Down there!"

The rescue worker shouted excitedly.

At this moment...

Fang Qiu saw something horrifying.

Flows of thick red liquid emerged under those wooden boards. At first glance, they looked like bloodstreams. But in fact, the red soil gave the water flows a bloody appearance.

Fang Qiu saw this.

He immediately reached out, lifted some wooden boards, and looked down.

Right there...

The place was covered by dirt.

He recognized some people's hands, feet, and clothes in the dirt!

Among them, one coat looked particularly familiar. It belonged to Bu Chunqiu, the highly-skilled doctor who had accepted his medical help.

He didn't dare to hesitate.

Fang Qiu propped up the wooden board.

He forcefully lifted the pile of mud on the wooden board and vigorously pressed it backward.

Then he immediately ran in to save them.

First, he pulled the highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu out of the red soil. He hastened to carry him to a safe place and put him down. Then, he returned to look for the other highly-skilled doctors, Yi Banxian and Yu Qing.

Aside, the rescuer hurried to rescue the local people.

Fang Qiu was back.

He raised all the visible wooden boards and other things around. With a glance, he spotted Yi Banxian and Yu Qing.

Upon a closer look...

The two of them lay down together. Each stretched out one hand, pulling a child in his teens pressed down by a pile of yellow soil.

They seemed caught off guard and buried under the collapsed mountain to save this child.

However...

Oddly...

The child was still awake. His eyes were open, and his face was bathed in tears.

Fang Qiu hurried over.

He first held the child in his arms and asked the rescue worker to take the child away. Then he carefully carried Yi Banxian and Yu Qing on his back and put them in a safe place under the tree.

Then, Fang Qiu and the rescue worker pulled the others out of the red soil one by one.

“They’re out! We got them all out!”

After counting the number, the rescuer nodded affirmatively and said, "All of them have been rescued!"

When Fang Qiu heard that...

He hurriedly ran over to examine them.

He went to three highly-skilled doctors. He transferred a part of internal Qi to them without saying superfluous words. First of all, he protected their hearts and opened meridians. Then, he immediately measured his pulse to check their physical condition.

Then...

As a result, Fang Qiu found the three highly-skilled doctors had fallen into a deep coma. Worse still, their bodies were gradually getting cold.

This situation worried Fang Qiu.

The three highly-skilled doctors were old, so their bones were fragile. They must have been injured in the landslide just now. Fang Qiu could only pray that the three highly-skilled doctors would not have a big problem.

After Fang Qiu took their pulse...

He began to examine Yi Banxian and Yu Qing in detail.

He used Absolute Touch!

Judging by how they were buried, he knew the stress point should be on their backs. Therefore, Fang Qiu touched the bones on the backs of the two highly-skilled doctors.

As a result...

Fang Qiu's face changed dramatically.

He found that...

The collapsed red soil distorted the spines of the two highly-skilled doctors.

"Heavens, no!"

Fang Qiu touched the bones and frowned.

Well...

The central nervous systems of the two highly-skilled doctors might have been damaged. Perhaps this was the reason why they fell into a coma!

Afterward, he checked Bu Chunqiu and found the same problem.

The spines of the three highly-skilled doctors were not right. They passed out, most likely because their central nervous systems were damaged.

Right now...

The bodies of the three highly-skilled doctors gradually turned cold. They almost had no vital signs. Fortunately, Fang Qiu injected a trace of internal Qi into them. By helping them protect their meridians, he prevented the three highly-skilled doctors from dying.

He didn't dare to waste any time.

At first, Fang Qiu quickly reset their spines with the method of boneset.

Then, he immediately began treating Yi Banxian, the eldest and most seriously injured highly-skilled doctor.

But...

When Fang Qiu controlled his internal Qi and sent it into Yi Banxian, he found nothing wrong inside his spine.

In other words, Yi Banxian's central nervous system was not damaged.

Then...

Why did they sink into a deep coma?

Even after a careful examination, Fang Qiu still couldn't figure out why he fainted.

He examined the other two highly-skilled doctors and found the same thing!

For a moment...

Fang Qiu was stunned.

This was the first time he had encountered such a situation.

Now, he could feel the danger. The three highly-skilled doctors gradually lost their vitality, and they were getting colder and colder.

At this very moment...

“Anyway, I hope you can ensure the safety of the ten highly-skilled doctors.”

What Li Ji had said before he left suddenly sounded in Fang Qiu’s mind. Also, Fang Qiu thought of his positive reply at that time.

At that time...

He made a serious promise — he would not let anything happen to any highly-skilled doctor. These ten highly-skilled doctors would be safe with him.

But what about now?

The three highly-skilled doctors were shocked, but he couldn’t even find the reason!

Fang Qiu’s heart tightened.

Right away, he injected his internal Qi into Yi Banxian. Then, under his control, the internal Qi circulated within Yi Banxian, trying to drive out the cold and mobilizing his viscera.

After the internal Qi made a circle around Yi Banxian, he warmed up a little.

But no matter how Fang Qiu tried to activate it...

Yi Banxian’s internal Qi remained inactive.

Fang Qiu knew it.

Since the three highly-skilled doctors were old, not much internal Qi was left in them. It was indeed challenging to arouse their internal Qi. As such, he could only let his internal Qi run in Yi Banxian.

However...

After the first lap, he went on healing him like this. However, his work was no longer effective.

Yi Banxian's body got a little warm but soon cooled down again. It seemed as if an irresistible force was pulling him to hell.

No matter how Fang Qiu operated his internal Qi and how fast the internal Qi ran in Yi Banxian, his body made no reaction.

For the first time...

It was the first time Fang Qiu felt powerless since he began studying Chinese Medicine.

No matter how powerful he was, he seemed at the end of his resources this time!

This made him feel uncomfortable to the extreme.

"Internal Qi, golden internal Qi?"

This feeling of powerlessness deeply upset Fang Qiu. Suddenly, the golden internal Qi running in him attracted his attention.

Somehow...

Fang Qiu gradually calmed down when the golden internal Qi ran inside him. He no longer felt nervous and flustered.

"Perhaps, it could make it!"

Fang Qiu thought of his golden internal Qi.

Instantly, a glimmer of hope rose in his heart.

His golden internal Qi could even devour the mysterious black substance. Sure enough, it could bring people back to life.

So far, Fang Qiu hadn't figured out what the golden internal Qi was. He had only a stream of golden internal Qi as thick as a little finger. However, Fang Qiu could feel the energy contained in this golden internal Qi.

It had exceptional vitality, more robust than that of the top ten Heaven Treasures.

Since he couldn't find the cause of the injury...

He might as well forcibly pull him back from death with the most potent life energy.

When he thought of this...

Fang Qiu withdrew the internal Qi in Yi Banxian. Then, he spared a hair-thin strand of internal Qi. When it penetrated Yi Banxian, he made it move around within his body.

As Fang Qiu made this move...

He noticed that the golden internal Qi became tiny spots as it swam in Yi Banxian's meridians. These bits and pieces scattered all over his body. Before long, they were absorbed by Yi Banxian's flesh, blood, and meridians.

At the same time...

Yi Banxian became much warmer.

“It vanished?”

Fang Qiu raised his eyebrows.

His golden internal Qi could save people. However, when pieces of golden internal Qi seeped into Yi Banxian, they would turn into life energy and disappear. It was because Yi Banxian’s body absorbed them.

In other words, Fang Qiu could no longer withdraw the golden internal Qi taken by Yi Banxian.

Even so...

Fang Qiu didn’t hesitate at all. Right away, he mobilized another stream of golden internal Qi and injected it into Yi Banxian.

The golden internal Qi once again turned into life energy and was assimilated by Yi Banxian.

He repeated this process more than ten times.

Yi Banxian’s vital signs finally appeared normal. Under the golden internal Qi’s nourishment, his injuries were completely healed, but he had not woken up yet.

After Fang Qiu confirmed this method was useful...

He began to treat Yu Qing and Bu Chunqiu.

Meanwhile, he injected enough golden internal Qi into their bodies.

Fang Qiu circulated the golden internal Qi around his body a few times.

As the two highly-skilled doctors consumed the golden internal Qi, their vital signs returned to normal.

In the end...

More than half of the golden internal Qi in Fang Qiu had been consumed.

He had spent much time and effort cultivating the stream of golden internal Qi as thick as a man's finger, but in the end, only a quarter of it remained.

Fortunately...

The three highly-skilled doctors were all saved.

He could get some by cultivating if the golden internal Qi was gone. At worst, he would have to spend much more time. But he could never make them come back to life if they died.

He closed the practice.

Fang Qiu felt the golden internal Qi in him. A part of it was taken away forever. He gave a wry smile but didn't regret it. Instead, he considered himself lucky and waited for the three highly-skilled doctors to wake up.

Chapter 1487 Never Leave

"Whew, whew..."

Nearby, the breathing of the three highly-skilled doctors beside him gradually stabilized. Finally, Fang Qiu was completely relieved.

“How are they?”

The rescuer came over and asked softly.

“They are all right now.”

Fang Qiu answered.

“Great. That’s good.”

The rescuer nodded with satisfaction and said, “Go and check up on the others.”

Fang Qiu heard that...

Quickly, he got up to examine the others.

“No big deal.”

After a quick examination, Fang Qiu said, “Everyone’s physical quality is not bad. Most of them only have external injuries. When they are back to the rescue station, doctors can bandage their wounds, and they will be alright.”

“How can we go back now?”

The rescue worker smiled bitterly. “The landslides of the mountain buried our rescue vehicles. The collapse of the mountain stopped the sudden flood from happening. However, it has triggered mudslides. It’s difficult for us to even go down the mountain now.”

“The rescue vehicle that sent me here should still be at the foot of the mountain.”

Fang Qiu thought for a moment. Then, he stood up and looked around. When he found the innermost mountain was about to collapse again, he instantly said, “Everyone, do me a favor and carry the three elders. I’ll lead the way in front. We must go down the mountain as soon as possible.”

The others also noticed a landslide might happen.

At once...

They didn’t dare to hesitate.

One by one, they stood up and helped to carry the three highly-skilled doctors. They went down the mountain under Fang Qiu’s guidance.

Fang Qiu walked in the front.

On the way, he helped others remove the obstacles and avoid the mud-rock flows.

Soon after...

They arrived at the foot of the mountain.

In the distance, Fang Qiu saw the rescue vehicle he brought here. When he looked further ahead, he found two more rescue vehicles.

At this time, Fang Qiu finally felt relieved.

Over there...

When a large group came down the mountain...

The crowd, led by the local leader Garro, immediately came over.

“How is it? Are you all right?”

Garro asked anxiously.

“We are okay.”

With a nod, Fang Qiu asked, “Where’s the transport helicopter?”

“There was no one around.”

Hurriedly, Garro asked others to help and take everyone to the rescue vehicles. Then, he told Fang Qiu, “Now, disasters happen in many places. We are not the only ones who are suffering.”

“I didn’t know it until I called for help. Many similar disasters have happened in other places. The transport helicopters for rescue have been sent out to help. That was why I quickly got rescue vehicles and hurried here.”

“Fortunately, you are fine. Otherwise, I wouldn’t know what to do.”

Fang Qiu thought about it carefully.

His words made sense.

Actually...

They should have sent a rescue helicopter over a long time ago. When the 15 rescue vehicles sank deep into the mud, one helicopter should have arrived there, ready to assist at any time.

Perhaps because Fang Qiu had pushed out 15 rescue vehicles, they didn't send any transport helicopters here.

Anyway...

That was okay.

At least Fang Qiu was in Bintar and could solve most problems.

The other places had no helpers as mighty as Fang Qiu. In this case, those people there needed rescue planes more than them.

"Are you sure the three highly-skilled doctors are fine?"

Garro asked again.

This time...

Huaxia people helped a lot in the disasters and saved a lot of people. The three highly-skilled doctors also contributed a lot to sending relief to a disaster area. It would be hard for him to explain his major mistake if anything happened to them. Besides, he would feel guilty!

"Something was wrong with them, but they were saved. They will be fine after resting for a while."

Fang Qiu said.

"I'm glad they are fine."

Garro nodded and said, "Here's the thing. I, as well as all the people in our rescue station, are very grateful for the three highly-skilled doctors' hard work. We have seen what you have done.

“However, you have given too much to help us. The three highly-skilled doctors are of advanced age. The weather in the disaster area is very bad, and many unexpected accidents might happen. So I suggest the three highly-skilled doctors go back to their home country. What do you think?”

Fang Qiu heard that.

He thought for a moment and nodded slowly.

The Huaxia leaders didn't want these highly-skilled doctors to come at the very beginning for fear that anything terrible would happen to them.

Now, there was indeed an accident. According to the current situation, more things would happen. Fang Qiu was also worried about the three highly-skilled doctors.

What if anything went wrong again?

Fang Qiu hadn't answered yet.

Over there...

Upon receiving the news, the Huaxia official rushed over in the heavy rain and asked about the situation.

“I agree.”

After hearing Garro's proposal, the Huaxia official nodded without hesitation and said, “Immediately send the three highly-skilled doctors back to recuperate in Huaxia.”

Fang Qiu made no reply.

He also knew it was a reasonable choice. Though he brought the highly-skilled doctors back to life, they were still fragile. It was a good choice to send them back home to rest.

Then...

The refugees they had rescued from the mountain had also settled down.

In a hurry, Garro asked Fang Qiu and the Huaxia official to get in the same car. They headed for the rescue station.

Back at the rescue station...

Everyone got out of the cars.

But the three highly-skilled doctors had not yet woken up. The Huaxia official immediately left with them, ready to send them back to Huaxia!

Garro arranged for Fang Qiu to rest in the lounge.

He saw with his own eyes that Fang Qiu had always been busy. He didn't sleep for even a minute. How many hours had he stayed awake?

He also feared something bad would happen to Fang Qiu.

Garro finally persuaded Fang Qiu to rest in a room.

In the past few days, he had consumed too much energy. Moreover, he had used great effort to save the three highly-skilled doctors. It was time for him to have a good rest for recovery.

As for the patients outside...

Luckily...

Several doctors of brightness and two teams of Western Medicine doctors were also there. They just suffered from external injuries. After their wounds were dressed, they would be okay. Therefore, Fang Qiu didn't worry too much about them.

In the room, Fang Qiu sat down cross-legged. Immediately, he began to run the guiding technique to heal himself through cultivation.

After a short while...

He had regained all the consumed internal Qi.

However, his golden internal Qi didn't grow a bit. Obviously, it could not be recovered.

Fang Qiu felt bitter in his heart.

But he felt it was worth it!

Part of his golden internal Qi saved the lives of the three highly-skilled doctors. It was well worth it!

After a brief recovery...

Fang Qiu felt much better. Then he immediately stepped out and looked out of the rescue station — the rain outside had eased off.

It had been raining solidly for several days. Finally, the rainstorm was going to stop.

After he recovered, Fang Qiu didn't stay idle. Right away, he began to treat the patients.

With his internal Qi...

Fang Qiu treated patients at a pace much faster than before.

...

In Burgyos...

A rescue vehicle drove over quickly at the spacious airport.

Unlike Bintar, there was no rain here. So, a plane was parked at the airport. It was specially used to transport rescue teams from all over the world.

Under the arrangement of the local officials, the plane to Huaxia was ready.

The Huaxia official brought over three highly-skilled doctors, Yi Banxian, Bu Chunqiu, and Yu Qing, ready to board the plane.

Unexpectedly...

They were about to carry the three highly-skilled doctors to the plane. When these people touched three doctors, they immediately came to their senses.

"Where am I?"

Yi Banxian was the first to wake up. He squinted at the sky and asked, "Has the rain stopped?"

“But we are not in the rescue station?”

The highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing also frowned.

“Isn’t this the airport where we arrived at in the very beginning?”

Bu Chunqiu looked around and asked confusedly, “Why did you bring us here?”

The Huaxia official learned that the three highly-skilled doctors had woken up.

He hurried over.

“What great news! It’s good that you’re awake.”

The official said, “You’ve done too much to cure the sickness and save the patients. But we have to send you back home. If Fang Qiu hadn’t gone to save you in a hurry, you wouldn’t have woken up.”

“You have just recovered. Just go back home and recuperate for a period. We’re still here to help.”

When the three highly-skilled doctors heard that...

They were stunned. Then they all pulled a long face and widened their eyes.

“Back home? No! We won’t do that!”

The highly-skilled doctor Yi Banxian immediately said, “We’re not dead yet. How could you drive us back? Do you think we’re a burden to you and Fang Qiu?”

“How could it be?”

The Huaxia official allowed himself a wry smile and said, "I'm doing this for the sake of your health. Besides, the Philippine authorities proposed it on their initiative. They didn't want anything bad to happen to you."

"You said it was an accident."

The highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing shook his head and said, "If we don't leave the rescue station, there won't be any accidents. Though not in good health, we have excellent medical skills. We can cure diseases and save lives."

"That is right."

The highly-skilled doctor Bu Chunqiu echoed, "No matter what, we will never return home. People here are suffering from the disaster. How can we abandon them?"

"But..."

The Huaxia official still tried to persuade them.

"You don't have to say anything more."

Yi Banxian waved his hand and said, "Anyway, we won't leave like this unless we are dead and you carry our bodies back! Even if we die, we will die at our posts!"

After he said that...

The Huaxia official suddenly felt quite helpless.

Since they had said so, what else could he say?

Just then...

The local official also arrived.

He took two reporters. They spoke to them with emotion, trying various ways to persuade the three highly-skilled doctors to return to Huaxia and recuperate.

However...

The three highly-skilled doctors came up with reasonable reasons and refused their offer.

“We would like to go back to heal ourselves, but disaster victims here are still in misery. We are doctors, Chinese Medicine doctors from Huaxia. We really don’t want to return home like this.”

As the officials tried to talk them into giving up, Yi Banxian said, “You don’t have to worry about our health. Since we are doctors, we can check on and take care of each other. We will recover soon. Please trust us.”

These doctors refused to go back even after several rounds of talks.

The officials from Huaxia and Phlippeanes were at a loss for what to do. The three doctors wouldn’t listen to them.

In the end...

The Phlippeanes official could only agree with tears in his eyes.

They sincerely hoped the three highly-skilled doctors could return and rest well. They knew how much they had done to save lives. Even after such a terrible accident, they still insisted on providing medical help here. Seeing all of this, these officials were deeply touched.

Not just the local officials...

The reporters who followed them felt like crying when deeply touched by the three highly-skilled doctors. They quickly recorded this matter, ready to tell the world about the selfless contributions of these three highly-skilled doctors!

Chapter 1488 An Emergency!

Soon...

Landslides buried three highly-skilled doctors from Huaxia when they were rescuing the refugees under the collapsed mountain. The news spread across Phlippeanes like wildfire.

Everyone was anxious about the safety of the three Huaxia highly-skilled doctors.

The news report about this matter was officially released.

The article first thanked Huaxia, Huaxia Chinese Medicine, and the three highly-skilled doctors for their prominent contributions to resisting risks and providing disaster relief. Then it revealed the whole matter in detail. Everyone concerned about the case knew the three highly-skilled doctors were out of danger now.

Besides...

The three highly-skilled doctors couldn't bear to leave the victims in pain behind. Though they had just recovered a little, they refused to return home for recovery. The report said they insisted on staying here to save lives.

Since the reporter was on the scene, every word of the three highly-skilled doctors was recorded.

Through the news...

People all over Phlippeanes learned of this matter.

They felt even more grateful to Huaxia. The selfless devotion of three highly-skilled doctors greatly moved them. One after another, they all said they owed a great debt of gratitude to the three highly-skilled doctors and Huaxia.

In the meantime...

The news quickly spread abroad.

Many countries were paying close attention to this disaster. They were all deeply affected by the spirit of the three highly-skilled doctors.

What Huaxia Chinese Medicine doctors had done was indeed admirable!

On the Internet in foreign countries...

The people who saw this news gave likes.

In Huaxia...

Everyone was giving likes on Weibo, but not many people expressed their opinions.

At this time, silence was the best response.

Most people remained silent because they were worried about the three highly-skilled doctors. In silence, they showed their support to them.

In Bintar...

The temporary rescue station...

“They didn’t leave?”

The local official Garro found Fang Qiu and told him the three highly-skilled doctors refused to get on the plane no matter what. Hearing that, Fang Qiu couldn’t help smiling bitterly.

He knew the three highly-skilled doctors would not be willing to leave like this. Thus, he didn’t say anything when Garro proposed to send the three highly-skilled doctors back for their recovery.

However, Fang Qiu was still very worried about the three highly-skilled doctors. Therefore, he also wanted them to be sent back when they were still in a coma.

Unexpectedly, before getting on the plane, the three highly-skilled doctors woke up.

“Yes.”

Garro nodded vigorously and said with red eyes, “I don’t know how I can possibly thank you enough. Doctors in Huaxia are the most responsible and kindest doctors I have ever seen in my life.”

“How could doctors not be kind?”

Fang Qiu shook his head and asked, “Then will they go back here?”

“No.”

Garro shook his head and said, “Officials in Burgyos had analyzed and discussed this case. Compared with other areas, this area is worse in many aspects.

“For the safety of the three highly-skilled doctors, the local officials had discussed with the Huaxia officials. Finally, they assigned the three doctors to the second and third rescue teams.

“The two teams have more highly-skilled doctors, so there will be people looking after them.”

When Fang Qiu heard that...

He nodded with understanding.

“You don’t have to worry about them when they go there. The emergency rescue deployment of the two places is much better than that of this place. And after this landslide, no one will let the three highly-skilled doctors take risks.”

Garro said.

“That’s good.”

Fang Qiu nodded and asked, “Then, what should we do here?”

“The Huaxia official proposed that you lead the team here for a while.”

Garro said, “Not only the Huaxia officials but all the Philippine officials couldn’t stop praising you. I have reported everything you have done, so everyone admires and feels very grateful to you.”

“Alright.”

Fang Qiu said knowingly, “The patients have been sent here from all over the country. As the heavy rain eases off, more disaster victims will gather here. Before everything, we must find a way to improve the treatment efficiency.”

Garro nodded.

As an official here, he had been thinking about this problem. After the three highly-skilled doctors left, the medical staff here would be far from sufficient.

When many more people affected by the disaster came, how could they treat all of them?

To his surprise...

Before he could find out an effective solution...

Fang Qiu raised this question.

"It's time for everyone to eat something. You first arrange for some people to distribute water and food to everyone. I'll gather them for a meeting and discuss it."

Fang Qiu said.

"Okay."

Garro nodded and said, "I'll arrange it right away."

Here...

Fang Qiu immediately summoned everyone.

Because they were all Huaxia people, everyone could hear Fang Qiu when he called out in the Huaxia language.

Then, the remaining six young Chinese Medicine doctors and two Western Medicine teams gathered together at Fang Qiu's beckon.

“I called you here for a meeting.”

When everyone was present, Fang Qiu said, “The three highly-skilled doctors didn’t return to recuperate in Huaxia. But the situation after the disaster in our area is much worse. The officials in Philippeanes and Huaxia decided to send the three highly-skilled doctors to the other two rescue teams.”

“For the time being, I’ll lead our first team.”

Everyone understood and nodded.

After all...

They all knew Fang Qiu’s strength. After all, they had witnessed Fang Qiu’s contribution in the past few days.

Fang Qiu did a good job of curing diseases, saving lives, and rescuing people outside.

Fang Qiu was undoubtedly a perfect leader for this team.

“Since you have no objection to my leadership, let’s officially start the meeting now. This meeting aims to discuss a systematic treatment method with you.”

Fang Qiu said, “The rain outside is getting smaller. Recently, more and more disaster victims have come from all over the country. With our current manpower and treatment speed, we can’t deal with them in time. Thus, we have to find a faster way to treat them.”

As soon as he stopped...

“I have an idea.”

A young Chinese Medicine doctor stood up and said, “We can divide the work according to the whole treatment process of Chinese Medicine. Firstly, we can pick one to do the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease. When the doctor determines the cause of the patient’s illness, the others can complete the rest of the treatment measures.”

“Chinese Medicine doctors can deal with injuries like bone fractures because they are faster. Likewise, Western Medicine doctors should handle external wounds, for they can disinfect and bandage them more quickly.”

Everyone listened carefully.

It sounded like a good choice.

This way, they didn’t have to run back and forth, and their treatment speed could be significantly improved.

“I suggest Fang Qiu do the first step.”

A Western Medicine doctor stood up and said, “Too many examinations and procedures are needed when Western Medicine doctors examine the wounded and patients. It is difficult for us to judge the severity and causes of injuries from the surface.”

“We are all well aware of the strength of Fang Qiu. He is the best choice.”

Everyone immediately nodded in agreement.

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu didn’t object to it. At once, he nodded and said, “I’ll do the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease. You can allocate the rest of the treatment procedures as you like.”

After they made the decision...

Fang Qiu found Garro, asking for some wooden tables and chairs. After finding a suitable place, they directly began to treat patients.

Garro issued a notice.

Everyone could see it. Those patients who had not been examined could line up for diagnosis and treatment.

Soon...

The medical treatment of the optimized process began.

Everyone was lining up obediently and orderly.

Before long, there formed a long queue. Fang Qiu quickly diagnosed each patient with the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease. Meanwhile, he wrote down prescriptions, offering all kinds of treatment methods.

Different patients were treated differently. They received treatments with acupuncture, medicine, bandages, or antibiotics.

Fang Qiu was fast.

The others got the prescriptions quickly.

The patients could receive treatments in a much shorter time. Not long after Fang Qiu made the Four Methods to Diagnose a Disease, they could receive treatments.

Under such circumstances...

The whole treatment process often moved very quickly. The efficiency was doubled. Though only Fang Qiu was making diagnoses, he was fast.

As a result, patients soon began to line up with prescriptions before Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine doctors.

Here...

Garro stood aside and saw that the treatment efficiency had greatly improved. With great pleasure, he nodded repeatedly.

With the current speed...

The treatments of patients wouldn't be delayed. Those seriously injured people sent here could be treated first.

In this place...

Chinese Medicine and Western Medicine doctors joined each other to handle patients.

Fang Qiu worked for 16 hours in a row.

Finally, they finished seeing all the patients here for the time being. They all went to rest at Garro's request because they had been tired for a long time.

Originally, Fang Qiu planned to examine some seriously injured people.

But as soon as he got up...

"Beep, beep, beep..."

His phone rang.

He took it out to have a look.

Li Ji called him.

“Hello?”

Fang Qiu immediately answered the phone.

“How’s the situation over there?”

Li Ji asked

“Everything is okay. I just have some time for a rest.”

Fang Qiu answered.

“There’s something very serious.”

Li Ji said severely, “The super typhoon has passed Manilla. At this time, it is wreaking havoc in a coastal city called Larboe.”

“A researcher and senior engineer from Huaxia is trapped there. There are more than 20 people in this group. They are the top talents from Huaxia, responsible for exploring the construction routes in the high-speed railway bidding project in Philippeanes.

“Since the super typhoon invaded, this group has lost contact with us for more than 48 hours.

"If possible, we need you to look for them and confirm their situation. It would be best to ensure their safety!"

When Fang Qiu heard that...

He immediately said, "No problem."

This case mattered to Huaxia. In Fang Qiu's opinion, the rescue mission to save the injured had temporarily ended.

There...

He couldn't bear to see anything wrong happen to top national talents.

This time, he had to go there.

"As for your current affair, we will arrange for two highly-skilled doctors to take over your position. The disaster's impact here is within a controllable range. So, you don't have to worry."

Li Ji said, "When the two highly-skilled doctors come to take over your place here, you can leave."

"Yes."

Fang Qiu nodded.

"Oh, I almost forget."

Li Ji reminded him, "The accident scene is far from where you are now. We can't let Philippeanes send something like transport planes. Therefore, you can only go there by yourself. I'll send you the location later. After that, you're on your own!"

Chapter 1489 Nirvana Organization Members Appeared Again!

After talking to Li Ji on the phone, Fang Qiu continued to accept patients while waiting.

Two hours later...

“Boom...”

In the drizzle, a rescue vehicle stopped outside the temporary rescue station.

Two highly-skilled doctors, Fang Qiu’s acquaintances, got out of the car and entered the rescue station.

Fang Qiu had just finished seeing a patient.

Instantly, he turned his head and was surprised to see Li Zhengtang and Huang Zhengren come.

The two doctors looked a little younger and stronger than the other highly-skilled doctors.

“Seniors.”

Fang Qiu hurried to greet them.

“Alright.”

Li Zhengtang waved his hand and said, “Let’s cut the pleasantries. Hurry up and complete the handover of your work. So many patients are waiting to see doctors. Don’t delay their treatments.”

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu immediately replied, "We've designed a set of procedures. I'm mainly responsible for examining patients and providing treatments. I'll assign patients to Western Medicine or Chinese Medicine doctors according to their situations. We are trying our best to raise the efficiency."

"Not bad."

The highly-skilled doctor Huang Zhengren nodded with satisfaction and said, "This method is good. Doctors here are like workers on the assembly line. This process can enable you to help more injured people."

"My diagnosis speed is not as fast as yours, but the two of us together can do a much better job than you."

Li Zhengtang said with a smile. Then, he took the lead to walk to Fang Qiu's desk and sit down. From then on, he would take over Fang Qiu's job and accept patients there.

Meanwhile, Huang Zhengren immediately found a table and placed it next to the highly-skilled doctor Li Zhengtang. Then, he also sat down to start seeing patients!

After the two highly-skilled doctors took over his job...

Fang Qiu went to the local official Garro and explained the situation.

"Larboe?"

Upon learning that Fang Qiu was going to Larboe, Garro surprisedly said, "That place is hit by a typhoon. Besides, that place is very far away from here. It will take a long time to get there, even by car. There is no car around. How are you going to get there?"

"I'll think of a way."

Fang Qiu said.

“If you insist on going there, I can ask someone to give you a ride.”

Garro thought for a moment and said.

“No need for that.”

Fang Qiu shook his head and said, “It is not raining so hard now. Mountain torrents all over the country have been controlled. However, no one knows if a rainstorm will come again and if there will be any other accidents.”

“I can’t use any rescue vehicle. I’ll figure it out myself.”

Then...

Fang Qiu was ready to go out.

“Hold on.”

Garro shouted out loud. From the storeroom, he quickly took out a raincoat, two bottles of water, and a bag of solid food. While handing them to Fang Qiu, he said, “These supplies are enough for you to hold on until the next temporary rescue station. Don’t forget to collect supplies when you get there.”

“Thank you.”

Fang Qiu took the supplies. With a nod, he thanked him and strode away.

He was wearing a raincoat.

In the misty and continuous rain, Fang Qiu walked to Larboe according to the satellite location sent by Li Ji.

According to the satellite map...

Larboe Island was the largest island in Philippineans. It was near the tail end of the island where Manila, the capital, was located. The land in this area was relatively narrow, and there were many islands around it. It was one of the famous tourist attractions.

Therefore, a high-speed railway station must be built at such a critical point. It was also one of the most challenging places for construction.

Just because of that...

The senior engineer team was trapped in it.

Meanwhile...

The land there was much narrower than this place. With seawater on each side, Larboe was severely affected by the disaster.

Most critically...

The super typhoon was sweeping over the sky above Larboe!

The straight-line distance measured by the satellite between Bintar and Larboe was 500 kilometers.

According to the current situation, Fang Qiu didn't need to take a detour. He just needed to find a place and fly straight there. After all, the situation was so urgent that he had no time to detour.

Five minutes later...

In the temporary rescue station, Fang Qiu came to a place where no one could see him. He glanced discreetly around. After ensuring no one was around, he rose high into the air. Quickly, he flew out according to the straight route on his mobile phone.

Bintar was on the periphery of Phlippeanes. The rain in Bintar had eased off, but heavy rain continued to pour down in these internal areas.

As Fang Qiu flew forward, he entered the rainstorm area.

Fortunately...

These places were core areas close to the capital of Phlippeanes. Since all kinds of protective measures were taken, he didn't find anyone in serious trouble after the disaster.

He had covered nearly half the distance in the sky.

Whenever he arrived at a place with people, Fang Qiu would land in advance and make an arduous journey by foot. After passing by the crowd, he would fly again.

After flying 250 kilometers, Fang Qiu didn't find anything wrong.

After crossing 250 kilometers of land...

Fang Qiu came to the sea.

It was raining heavily, but no one was on the sea. Better still, the land was very far away now. Therefore, Fang Qiu could fly freely at high speed.

On the way, he passed by three islands. Strangely, no one and no rescue point was on these islands. Fang Qiu felt particularly confused.

In such bad weather...

The people on the islands couldn't go down to the sea. They had no choice but to take refuge on the islands.

However, Fang Qiu couldn't see anyone.

Could it be that something had happened?

Although Fang Qiu was full of doubts, he knew the utmost important thing now was to find the engineer.

The first island of the three islands was only about 100 kilometers from Larboe. At this time, Fang Qiu had to find the engineer and ensure his safety. Then, he would come back and have a look.

After flying over the first and second islands, Fang Qiu happened to fly over the third island.

Unlike the other two islands...

When he flew over the third island, Fang Qiu suddenly saw a large group of people on the reef at the island's edge.

With a closer look...

He saw two men in black and a group of locals.

"Nirvana?"

Seeing the two men in black, Fang Qiu widened his eyes, and his face changed dramatically.

Before he came here...

Fang Qiu had been worried.

Would Nirvana Organization wantonly slaughter people in Philippineans? They would do it with the excuse of relieving people from pain.

But...

He hadn't seen such a case in the past few days.

Unexpectedly, Nirvana Organization members had infiltrated here!

In great surprise...

Fang Qiu immediately stopped and looked down carefully.

It turned out that...

The two men in black were about to throw the local refugees into the sea one by one.

Right now...

Waves became excessively tumultuous in the bad weather. One after another, they crashed against the reef by the sea, and the seawater was icy.

It was a wholesale massacre without blood spilling to throw people into the sea.

The Nirvana Organization massacred these disaster victims. However, they wanted to create an illusion that these people were drowned!

Instantly...

Fang Qiu became very heated.

Without any hesitation, Fang Qiu quietly put on his mask and rushed over. He caught the first person thrown by the Nirvana Organization members in midair. When he sent the person back to the island, he moved. Instantly, he slayed the two men in black on the spot and threw them into the sea.

After Fang Qiu killed the two people...

He faced all the refugees at the scene.

“Where are their accomplices?”

Fang Qiu asked in Tagalog.

“No, no more.”

A middle-aged man shook his head and said.

“No?”

Fang Qiu was stunned and asked, “Only the two of them?”

“Yes.”

The middle-aged man nodded and said, “They caught the people on the other two islands nearby and brought us to this island. They said they would take us to a safe place.

“After arriving here, we found they wanted to kill us.

“All the people on this island were captured and taken here. We haven’t seen anyone else except for the two of them.”

Fang Qiu turned to the other refugees.

As a result, everyone nodded.

No more Nirvana Organization members were on this island. After ensuring that, Fang Qiu asked these refugees to look for shelter. Then he flew up and rushed to Larboe, which was 80 kilometers away.

He hated the Nirvana Organization members to the very marrow of his bones.

However, Fang Qiu had no time to look for the headquarters of the Nirvana Organization. He had to find the team with the senior engineer first.

After he flew for another 15 minutes...

Fang Qiu finally arrived at Larboe.

Fang Qiu was shocked by the scene before him when he saw Larboe’s coastline.

Before him...

The entire coastal city was in a mess.

Roads were damaged. In his sight, thousands of houses, like hospitals, shopping malls, and hotels, had collapsed. Water flows could be seen everywhere. The drainage system seemed to have been ruined because of too much rain.

Fang Qiu even saw several huge buildings had collapsed into several pieces!

According to the information given by Li Ji...

The communications in this city had been completely cut off.

In addition, since roads were damaged, rescue equipment could not enter the disaster area. It was unprecedentedly difficult to send relief to this disaster area!

And most importantly...

In the distance...

Fang Qiu saw a massive tornado of water sweeping wildly in the terrible rainstorm in the dilapidated city.

Wherever it went, all kinds of things flew all over the sky. The scene looked particularly terrifying!

Not just the typhoon in the distance...

The typhoon caused gigantic waves. Flying in midair, Fang Qiu saw them raze many houses by the sea to the ground.

The typhoon was slowly moving away...

But the vast sea waves were still hitting the city mercilessly!

“Beep, beep!”

Just as Fang Qiu stepped on Larboe’s coastline, his cell phone suddenly rang.

He took it out to have a look.

It was a text message from Li Ji.

The message showed the last location and a more detailed map before the signal of the Huaxia team with the senior engineer was cut off.

Fang Qiu observed it carefully.

He found that the location where the signal disappeared was in the center of Larboe. It was the place that had suffered the greatest damage.

But accordingly...

This place had been in great danger. But after these buildings collapsed, that area became relatively safe.

After those high-rise buildings fell, their ruins blocked the danger. Under their protection, many houses were very safe.

But...

At this time, that area was still on the edge of the typhoon, and it was still pretty windy.

“Phew...”

After taking a deep breath, Fang Qiu got ready and flew quickly toward the area marked on the map!

Chapter 1490 Fortunately, He Came Just in Time

“Buzz, buzz...”

As Fang Qiu got closer, the wind around him became increasingly louder. Before reaching the periphery, he saw various items like the surrounding wooden boards and broken plastic products flying wildly in the sky with the wind. Even stones on the ground were rolling.

This situation was surprising.

It looked quite scary.

He looked around but didn't see anyone.

No one was in these collapsed houses.

It seemed that...

These people should have received the notice and were fully prepared for the disaster. There might be a rescue team searching for and saving people here. Along the way, Fang Qiu didn't see anyone who was trapped.

Perhaps because the wind was too strong, most people hid in a safe place.

He moved on.

Fang Qiu directly activated his internal Qi. While stabilizing himself, he rushed deeper into this place.

There was a stiff wind blowing. But fortunately, he could find many places to hide from the wind among those collapsed buildings along the way.

Each time Fang Qiu passed by a block, he would find a place out of the wind. There, he carefully observed the surroundings and looked for traces of people.

And even...

When he arrived outside some houses that he could enter, Fang Qiu would find a way to get into them and search around. After making sure no one was around, he would leave.

On the way...

Fang Qiu accidentally broke into several rooms with people, but they were all locals.

Luckily, most of them had stored some water and food at home. Thus, these people could still hold on for a long time without water and electricity supply.

Finally, Fang Qiu approached the location shown by the satellite phone. Since then, he began to ask people he met if they had seen a Huaxia team of about 20 people.

To his dismay...

He asked several times in a row, but there was no news.

Helplessly, Fang Qiu could only go to the point where the signal disappeared. He wanted to see what the environment there was like.

After all, this city was nearly 200 kilometers away from Manilla, the capital of Philippine. People in Manilla received the news in time and had enough time to protect themselves. This city must have also received the information that the super typhoon was about to sweep over.

The whole city had received the message. How could this team of Huaxia engineers not know about it?

From this point...

The Huaxia engineers should have known that a super typhoon would hit this area. As senior engineers, they should know which is the most resistant wind-proof building and would take refuge before the typhoon arrived.

The place where they disappeared was very likely the shelter they picked up.

He looked out.

Right there...

A huge tornado was about 100 meters ahead.

At this time, the tornado was slowly moving forward. Seemingly, it was about to leave the city.

If Fang Qiu waited for another three to five hours, the typhoon might leave. However, he couldn't afford to wait for such a long period.

In his home country, many people were still waiting for news about the senior engineer and his team!

He stood out of the wind.

While observing the location on his mobile phone, Fang Qiu kept looking for a place ahead that looked like the location.

Soon...

He found it.

It was a three-story building, like a small fortress. The entire roof was semi-circle with very smooth lines. The wind could easily blow over because its wind flow resistance was very small.

He looked around.

No high-rise building with more than 10 floors was within a radius of 50 meters.

In other words, the wind or collapsed high-rise buildings wouldn't damage the small structure!

"The senior engineer lives up to his reputation. He picked up an excellent place."

Fang Qiu beamed and nodded.

He felt a little relieved.

That place...

It looked like a library or something similar. Anyway, it was not a private place. There shouldn't be any problems.

He took a closer look.

The windows on both sides of the building were all broken but covered with proof fabric. Therefore, no wind could break into it.

"Divine Consciousness!"

When he found it, Fang Qiu immediately released his Divine Consciousness. He knew this group must be safe, but still, Fang Qiu wanted to check what was going on inside with his Divine Consciousness.

But as soon as his Divine Consciousness spread out...

Fang Qiu couldn't help trembling all over.

He did sense a team of 20 people in that building, but near them appeared more than a dozen flows of energy aura.

Moreover, those energy auras were not weak!

"It can't be so coincidental!"

Fang Qiu was shocked.

He immediately thought of the Nirvana Organization.

Besides...

With Divine Consciousness, he could sense that those people oozing energy aura from every pore were besieging the team of 20 people.

"Whoosh."

Without any hesitation, Fang Qiu immediately darted forward.

He went against the strong wind.

In a flash, Fang Qiu rushed to the periphery of the building. There, he found that a window out of the wind was broken, revealing an entrance.

These Nirvana Organization members must have entered the building through this window. They did it not long ago. At least they hadn't yet attacked anyone!

An idea popped up into Fang Qiu's mind.

He quietly slipped in.

As soon as he entered, he saw a very spacious hall.

This was indeed a library with all the bookshelves by the wall. There were no bookshelves in the middle. This arrangement indirectly strengthened the wind-resistant ability of the whole building.

In addition to the bookshelves around the wall, many tables and chairs were placed inside the hall. They were especially used for quiet reading.

Right now...

Fang Qiu was next to a bookshelf.

To ensure air circulation, the places before the windows were empty. Therefore, as soon as Fang Qiu came in, he appeared in a blind corner.

In the main hall...

More than 20 Huaxia people were sitting back to back feebly. With cautious eyes, they looked at those men in black approaching them from all sides.

Fang Qiu could sense the hostile atmosphere in the hall.

“Hee, hee...”

The men in black laughed grimly, and several of them showed sharp blades with chilly light in their hands.

“You are courting death!”

Fang Qiu snorted in his heart.

First of all, he checked the surroundings with his Divine Consciousness. He ensured no more people were nearby. The strongest among these people was only a guru. Then he flashed over.

He rushed straight to the only guru. Before the guru could react, he pierced his heart with his sword.

After that...

As unpredictable as a ghost, he flashed to the other men in black and killed each of them with merely one sword strike.

“Swish! Swish! Swish!”

His sword kept ringing. One after another, those men in black didn’t even have time to react before they fell dead onto the ground.

In an instant...

More than a dozen men in black were all dead.

Their blood splattered in all directions, and a pungent smell of blood quickly spread.

Just then...

The 20 people led by the senior engineer witnessed this massacre, and their faces instantly turned ghastly pale. Then they looked toward Fang Qiu in panic and fear.

Before coming here, Fang Qiu had already put on a human skin mask.

Therefore, these people couldn't recognize Fang Qiu at all.

"Don't be afraid. I'm here to save you."

After finishing off these Nirvana Organization members, Fang Qiu walked up to them and said, "Domestic leaders sent me over. I was told you had lost contact with the domestic people for more than 48 hours."

When the 20 people heard that...

They relaxed a little and leaned against each other weakly. Several people's mouths had cracked open.

"This must be the refuge you chose. But it seems you haven't brought any water and food."

Fang Qiu asked with a puzzled look.

"We brought water and food."

The senior engineer, who was the leader, came forward and said, "But these people broke in and took everything."

"Had they been here for a long time?"

Fang Qiu was startled.

If these Nirvana Organization members had been here for a long time, why did they wait so long to kill?

“At first, one of them came.”

The senior engineer smiled bitterly and said, “I pitied him and gave him something to eat, but I didn’t expect him to ask for all our water and food. We were unwilling to do that, but we couldn’t defeat him. In the end, we could only negotiate with him.

“As a result, he brought a large group of people here and took away all our water and food.

“They finished all the water and food. Just now, they said the wind outside abated, and they were ready to leave.

“But they planned to kill us before leaving.”

When Fang Qiu heard that...

He knew what had happened.

These Nirvana Organization members wanted to stay here. Yet, they disliked the smell of blood after killing so many people. Thus, they temporarily spared their lives and planned to wipe them out before leaving.

“Now, can you walk?”

Fang Qiu asked.

Everyone smiled wryly and shook their heads. Some of them even glanced at the corpses next to them in horror.

“If you don’t want to stay with these dead bodies, hold on there. You should follow me to another safe place first. I’m afraid that accomplices of these men in black would come over.”

When the 20 people heard that...

They were immediately frightened. In a hurry, they stood up and followed Fang Qiu with weak limbs.

They left the library.

Fang Qiu mobilized his internal Qi and turned it into an energy shield. It covered everyone as they rushed to the coastline.

Fang Qiu found a safe building after leaving the zone with the strong wind. When the others rested there, he ran out to look for food.

At first, he intended to get some food from those who had stored supplies at their homes.

But on second thought...

How could he get food for 20 people from them?

Helplessly, Fang Qiu could only walk to the seaside, hoping to catch several fish washed up on shore by the waves.

In the end...

He really found a few fish.

He held the fish.

On the way back, Fang Qiu looked around for a long time. Finally, he found a large vat of clear water in a broken house. Then he lifted the vat, protected it with internal Qi, and returned to where everyone rested.

Upon arrival...

Fang Qiu let everyone take a few sips of water slowly. Then he found a pot and bowls in this room to cook fish soup for them.

Everything was done.

The others were busy eating and drinking.

Fang Qiu took the time to call Li Ji with the satellite phone in his hand.

"Hello?"

Li Ji answered the phone in no time.

"I've found them. They're all safe."

Fang Qiu said.

"That's great!"

Hearing that, Li Ji heaved a sigh of relief and said, "Send them back home immediately."

“Okay.”

Fang Qiu replied with a nod.

“I’ll get a transport plane. A location will be sent to you later. You only need to bring them there and wait for the transport plane to pick them up.”
