Chapter 1913 Seems to have a destiny in it?

“This relic, take it or leave it.”

The Sacred Lord narrowed his eyes, his complexion obviously a bit gloomy, but his tone was extremely flat as he said, “Have we gotten fewer relics, just one Cangjie relic.”

“Yes.”

The Great Exalted One immediately nodded his head and said, “With the Holy Lord around, even if they were given ten Cangjie relics, the end would be the same.”

“That’s what the words say, though.”

The Holy Lord didn’t have a hint of enjoyment, instead, he continued to frown and said, “But this matter is a bit fishy, there seems to be a destiny in it.”

Hear this.

The Great Venerable One’s face changed.

Completely unanticipated, the Holy Lord’s mind was not on the Cangjie relics at all, but on destiny.

But what does this destiny mean?

What does Our Lord mean by this?

“Check.”

As the Grand Exalted One was filled with doubt, the Holy Lord directly opened his mouth and said, “I want to know what’s going on!”

“As you wish.”

The Great Venerable One immediately responded.

Although he didn’t know, what exactly the Holy Lord meant when he said destiny, he knew very well that the thing the Holy Lord wanted him to check was this encounter.

Why would the three Sword Pavilion Elders bring someone to the scene ahead of time to stop them?

Why the space lanes are breaking up.

What kind of person enters the Cangjie ruins and destroys the space passage.

Is it Nameless?

Based on the information he had received earlier, the Grand Exalted One was almost certain that the person who had entered the Cangjie Ruins and completely destroyed the spatial passageway was Nameless.

But speculation is just that, speculation, and you have to get enough information that you can be sure of before you can report accurate information back.

Because.

The Holy Lord didn’t like speculation; he only needed accurate and unambiguous information.

Cangjie ruins.

“Phew”

Only after completely destroying the chalcedony and destroying the spatial channel linking to the outside did Fang Qiu completely settle down, turning around and starting to carefully observe and survey the entire relic.

Because of being in the relics and being completely unaware of what was really happening outside, Fang Qiu could only wholeheartedly focus all of his mind on dismantling this relic.

He still remembered very clearly what Qing Yun had said before entering the relic.

Get what you can!

Sweep a glance from side to side.

Fang Qiu realized that there didn't seem to be anything peculiar present inside the entire relic.

Although he hadn't deliberately massed the entire relic before, he had long since familiarized himself with everything in the entire relic in the process of constantly flying and exploring.

It doesn't look that peculiar now.

But.

The only three places inside the ruins seemed well worth exploring.

First, there's the lake.

Fang Qiu still clearly remembered that the first ancient relic he entered had a very strong relationship with the lake, and at that time, that lake could not help but seal a secret place inside it, but it was also a passageway to the outside world.

Then.

Is this lake that exists in the Cangjie ruins also hiding something?

Mindfulness.

Fang Qiu immediately flew out and surrounded the lake and began to search and probe carefully.

After looking around, Fang Qiu found nothing.

Eventually.

The eyes settled on the shore of the lake, a rock-strewn bank.

The body moved.

Coming to this area, Fang Qiu carefully looked down.

It was found that set in the ground, besides some stones, there were surprisingly many tortoise shells!

These tortoiseshells were not set in the ground like stones, but were very simply placed on the ground.

Tortoises come in large and small sizes, and don't seem to have any peculiarities.

Only after carefully looking at all the tortoiseshells did Fang Qiu put down the tortoiseshells and turned around to look towards other places.

“That monolith

Fang Qiu, who originally wanted to enter the thatched hut to take a look, was immediately attracted when his eyes touched that one green-colored stone tablet.

The body moved.

Fang Qiu came directly to the green-colored stone tablet.

“The existence of the stone monument must have a meaning, just like the stone monument inside Laozi’s relics, which might have recorded something on it.”

Standing about twenty meters from the monolith.

This is just the right distance.

Fang Qiu wouldn’t feel the pressure because of the monolith’s immensity.

Look closely.

There wasn’t a single word on this huge monolith.

The cross-section of all four sides was exceptionally smooth, and although it was lapis lazuli, all sides of the monument looked as smooth as a mirror when scrutinized.

Although he couldn't reflect his own appearance, Fang Qiu, who was staring at the stone monument, always felt as if there was something inside the monument.

It seemed to be attracted by what was in the stone tablet.

Fang Qiu sat down on the ground.

Without even blinking, he stared at the stone tablet and scrutinized it.

This look.

Fang Qiu really realized that there was something inside the stone tablet.

It seems to flow.

Looks like it's alive?

This situation made Fang Qiu more and more curious, not knowing at all what was going on, focusing all his mind, wanting to take a closer look at what was inside the stone tablet.

However.

Just as Fang Qiu placed his entire mind on the stone tablet.

An attraction that came out of nowhere.

"Swish."

Fang Qiu only felt a blackness before his eyes, and everything around him changed in an instant.

The monolith disappeared.

The thatched cottage disappeared, as did the lake.

Everything in the Cangjie Ruins all disappeared.

Careful brick looking.

Fang Qiu realized that he was in a high place.

It was as if they were 10,000 meters in the air, surrounded by an empty, vacuous blue sky with a few more clouds floating below.

The bottom line is this.

It was surprising that Fang Qiu himself couldn't see himself.

He even felt like he was transparent, that he didn't exist at all.

Just as Fang Qiu was filled with doubt.

The view of the party changed.

See only.

Beneath the clouds, the vast, boundless earth began to crack, and some areas that were originally sunken down began to rise up in a deafening burst of crustal movement.

Some of the mountains and rivers that were originally raised high up in the earth's crustal movement were mercilessly pulled and torn apart, and eventually slowly sank down and turned into flat land.

Everything.

It all seems to be evolving, all changing into something completely different with the passage of time.

I don't know how long it's been.

Finally.

The earth calmed down.

On the ground, a hint of green appeared and expanded rapidly, rivers appeared, and animals appeared.

And with these things.

Fang Qiu suddenly felt as if he had received another huge pull of attraction and continued to rise upwards.

Getting farther and farther from the ground.

The ground was turning slowly as he rose himself.

To a certain height.

The image in front of Fang Qiu's eyes turned into a glacier.

Countless huge and incomparable glaciers, began to gradually melt, the original hard and incomparable icebergs, with the melting of the glaciers, and gradually turned into a floating island in the glacier ocean, in the glacier melting the ocean generated by the floating back and forth, and on the other side of the glacier ocean, the water flow in a huge glacier area, layer by layer, condensed into ice, for the glacier to contribute to the expansion of the glacier a power.

And when the glacier expands to a certain point.

An entire glacial continent suddenly began to break apart, shattering into many pieces before each drifted out in one direction amidst the rush of icy cold seawater.

See here.

Fangchu rises again once more.

This time the ascent was very fast, in a flash.

Fang Qiu came into the sky.

Even though it was already very high, the sky Fang Qiu saw was still the same as what he saw on the ground, the stars in the sky were still so small, the only difference was that Fang Qiu could clearly see that these stars were moving incredibly slowly, in accordance with the law that they obeyed, running in a different way.

Watch and see.

Suddenly.

Everything around them began to recede at a rapid pace.

Fang Qiu felt as if he was sitting on a roller coaster, just a speed that he was completely unable to control, from high in the air and crazy dive down towards the ground.

“Swish.”

A short moment.

That incomparably real feeling made Fang Qiu’s heart couldn’t help but thump.

When he saw himself reaching a rapid speed and was about to collide with the ground fiercely, everything around him suddenly came to a standstill.

Everything, stopped.

Fang Qiu gasped this out loud and slowly tried to raise his head.

This lift.

Immediately, he realized that he was in a jungle.

In the sky, bright sunlight, unstintingly pouring on the earth, shone warmly.

“Twitter

In the jungle, there was a burst of crisp and pleasant sounds of insects and birds chirping, accompanied by a breeze that made people feel especially comfortable, and it traveled towards the distance.

A turn of the head.

Fang Qiu saw that next to him, on the branch of a big uncle, inside a bird’s nest, three freshly-born bird cubs were making chirping noises with their mouths wide open, and all the time the big bird was carrying a worm in its beak and flew in from the distance.

A lowered head.

Fang Qiu saw that on the ground, some ants were arranging themselves in formation to carry something that was very large for them.

Next to this queue of ants.

Fang Qiu saw that above the leaves of a plant, a drop of dew dripped down and landed right on a shoot that had just emerged from the soil.

With drops of dew.

This shoot, in the light of the sun, began to grow slowly.

Everything around us was a blur.

This shoot, quickly under the attention of Fang Qiu, grew into a mature green grass, after maturity began to decline, gradually began to become yellow, then frost appeared, yellow green grass completely fell to the ground, in the soil fusion together, as if buried.

However, just as the withered blades of grass were completely buried by the yellow map, another shoot appeared on the ground.

Not in the same place, but with the same roots!

This scene is coming together.

It immersed Fang Qiu completely.

I don't know how long it took for Fang Qiu to come out of the repeated rounds of that one green grass, and then he saw the animals, he saw the cubs and the growth of the animals, he saw the cubs coming of age and giving birth to cubs

He saw the grandeur of the river as a tidal wave and the desolation of the river drying up into a flatland.

Watch and see.

It was as if Fang Qiu had become one with heaven and earth, and he felt that everything in heaven and earth was nature, and he was only an insignificant part of nature.

It is as if, one is a speck of dust, a breeze, and nature!

With this surge of feeling.

Inside Fang Qiu's dantian.

The flower shadow, faintly, began to vibrate.

A hint of a breakthrough that was countless times more obvious and real than before finally surged through his heart.
