

Medical M 1914

Chapter 1914 Two Flowers, Breakthrough!

Very true.

A sense of breakthrough suddenly surged through his mind.

Even Fang Qiu himself felt surprised when this hint of a breakthrough feeling surged up in his heart in an unguarded situation.

He didn't do anything, he just went with the flow of what he saw in front of him and he just soaked it all in with total relaxation.

Even more, he didn't know what he was doing.

The sense of breakthrough just came out of nowhere.

To know.

Fang Qiu's strength had long since reached the peak great circle of the First Flower, and there would be almost no other enhancements outside of a breakthrough.

This, in turn, was the major reason why Fang Qiu chose to go out and travel to various holy places of ancient civilizations to travel and learn.

Whether it's a succession of great battles, or traveling out to learn.

None of these behaviors helped Fang Qiu feel a tangible sense of breakthrough.

Sure.

Fang Qiu also knew that it was because of the seal in his body.

But Fang Qiu believed that the old master would never harm him, since the old master had left a seal in his body, it meant that this seal had to exist.

The old master had spent so much time teaching him to become a Zong Shi, there was absolutely no way that he would use the seal to limit Fang Qiu's advancement.

In Fang Qiu's opinion.

The seal within his body that restricted his advancement was actually a hard requirement that the old man had put forth for himself.

Only when the old man's requirements were met could he continue to move up the ladder.

Only.

Fang Qiu had absolutely no idea what this request was.

What direction should one take?

Even the three elders of the Sword Pavilion were unable to crack it.

Original.

Fang Qiu thought that it was because his cultivation was not enough, it was because he still had too many things he hadn't learned, so he went to all the major ancient civilizations to learn, but after learning everything from all the major ancient civilizations' holy places, he still didn't have half the effect.

Later on, Fang Qiu thought that it was because he had used heavenly materials on his way to re-cultivate himself that caused his foundation to be unstable, so he continuously consolidated and stabilized himself on the snowy mountain, practically cultivating everything, every inch of his entire body to the peak state of perfection.

And it still doesn't work.

But today.

The sense of breakthrough that he had worked so hard for so long but had not gotten was actually appearing at this time, and it had come so suddenly.

This situation made Fang Qiu particularly surprised.

The entire person, too, was caught up in the memories of that which he had just experienced.

Everything around.

Gradually it became darker.

The sky and the earth were dark.

Sitting in the pitch black space, Fang Qiu closed these eyes tightly, very carefully recalling that which he had just experienced, he saw the evolution of the heaven and earth, he saw the ice age, he saw the spring going and the fall coming, he saw the death and the new birth, and he saw himself becoming part of the rules of the heaven and earth.

Right!

It is the rule of heaven and earth.

With this in mind, Fang Qiu was suddenly touched.

That's right.

He perceived that he was a part of the whole of time, that he was as much a part of the earth as it was in ancient times, that he was as much a part of the birds in the emerald forests, that he was as much a part of the dew on the green leaves as he was of the green grass that was watered by the dew.

Everything in nature is imbued with all sorts of joys and sorrows by the ego and complexity of man, and is constantly being interpreted in all sorts of ways that can elicit human emotions.

But actually.

It's all, it doesn't even require that much interpretation, it's not even that much of a joy or a sorrow.

Because, it's all just nature.

All of this is as it should be; the green grass enjoys wilting as well as new life, the birds enjoy flying as well as nurturing, the earth enjoys the rushing of the ocean, the winds, and the splitting of the polymerization.

Fang Qiu understood.

He saw it, what he wanted to see, he saw what he was missing.

It's just natural.

Taoism is natural!

Thinking clearly about all this, the sense of breakthrough in Fang Qiu's heart became even more intense.

In this moment.

Although his eyes were tightly closed, Fang Qiu still felt as if his whole body was being washed by something, and that feeling was particularly magical.

It's soul lifting!

"Buzz"

Inside his head, an inexplicable buzzing came.

As the buzzing spread.

Fang Qiu inexplicably felt as if his body was vibrating rapidly.

"What's the situation?"

Feeling the vibrations coming from within this body, Fang Qiu immediately looked inward to find the source that triggered the vibrations.

This search, surprisingly, found its way inside the dantian.

In the case of internal vision.

Fang Qiu could very clearly see that his entire dantian was trembling madly, and the frequency of that trembling looked particularly frightening.

Look in again towards the inside of the dantian.

Full of golden internal qi, with the tremor of the dantian and the rapid rippling, every time the rippling, there will be a stream of golden internal qi, like ripples from the dantian rushed out, quickly rippling to the whole body, the body inside all the blood, bones, tendons, meridians, all to clean up again.

Looks.

The effect of this clearing was not good, or even ineffective, but after each layer of internal qi waves passed, Fang Qiu felt that his whole body was especially comfortable, as if his tired body, under the hands of an old Chinese doctor, received a full massage, especially cool.

In his heart, that feeling of a breakthrough was becoming more and more intense.

Fang Qiu knew it too.

The strange movement in the dantian was caused by the fact that he was about to make a breakthrough.

Fang Qiu was playing without thinking that the breakthrough that he had worked so hard for so long and had not been able to usher in had not only come to the door on its own at this time, but had even pressed forward step by step, as if it was frantically urging for a breakthrough.

This feeling made Fang Qiu particularly uncomfortable.

It's like.

Before.

Every time he made a breakthrough, Fang Qiu was able to forcefully suppress it, and then after making all the full preparations, he would steadily break through.

But this time.

He wanted to make preparations, but he was pushed by this sense of breakthrough, forcibly, without even a tiny bit of preparation time, and was instantly pushed to the cliff of the breakthrough, and saw that he was about to be pushed to jump in.

As the sense of breakthrough amplified rapidly.

Fang Qiu, who had tightly closed these eyes, suddenly felt his brain shake and fell directly into the space of consciousness.

“Boom Boom Boom

Inside the space of consciousness, before Fang Qiu even opened his eyes, he heard a furious rolling sound of water coming from his ears.

Open your eyes.

Fang Qiu realized.

I can't believe I'm actually standing on the edge of a high cliff.

Looking down towards the bottom, below the cliff was a pick of a rushing river.

The current in the river was incomparably violent.

Raise your eyes.

Distance to the opposite side, thousands of meters.

This means that the width of the river, reaches thousands of meters!

And at the other end of the river flow.

It's a vast, immense expanse of earth.

Once you cross the river, everything will be clear!

"Want me to come over?"

"You can't cross this river current."

Fang Qiu raised his eyebrows.

Next moment.

He took a sudden step.

"All laws of heaven and earth return to nature."

"A river is a river, and I am nature!"

Fang Qiu smiled, took a step, and his body plunged down, falling down towards the tidal surging river below.

Even if you fall from a great height.

Fang Qiu's face, however, didn't have a trace of fear on it.

Instead, still smiling.

The second step is taken.

“Boo!”

Just as he was about to fall into the river, a layer of golden energy ripples suddenly rippled out from beneath Fang Qiu’s second step.

The ripples gently rippled out in all directions, gently caressing the surface of the surging river.

That surging river water actually calmed down instantly.

In the blink of an eye.

This layer of energy ripples rippled out.

The originally incomparably violent, let a person look at from afar are afraid of the violent river current, unexpectedly at this moment, completely calm down, the water flow is very smooth and smooth flow toward the bottom.

It was as if, a frenzied tiger had suddenly turned into a well-behaved kitten.

The river water, which was originally incomparably turbid due to the violent surges, instantly became incomparably clear and transparent after it smoothly smoothed down.

Take a step and walk on the river.

At the corner of Fang Qiu’s mouth, he always wore a bland and confident smile.

Each step, one step up.

In the blink of an eye.

Fang Qiu then crossed the border by a distance of a thousand meters and came to the bank on the other side of the river flow.

.....

In the Cangjie ruins.

“Buzz

A buzzing wind came from all directions.

Look up.

See only.

That piece of green sky, unexpectedly is converging to a huge storm, the entire sky completely shrouded, this storm by incomparably dense heaven and earth qi condensed, in the slow rotation, seems to be waiting for this what.

Oddly enough, though.

Let the qi of the heavens and earth move differently, let the energy storm rotate.

The thatched cottage in this relic space, there was not a single movement, the huge green stone monument did not move half a bit, and even the lake not far away was unusually calm and did not ripple the slightest bit.

Sitting in front of a green, wordless stone tablet.

Fang Qiu still closed his eyes tightly, his body was trembling rapidly, as if he was trying to break free from something with borrowed strength.

Three minutes later.

Finally.

In the space of consciousness.

“Pop!”

Fang Qiu, who had already walked to the edge of the river flow, took a step and stepped onto the river bank.

Inside.

Crazy vibrating dantian.

Also at this moment, there was an incomparably ferocious and violent tremor.

In the dantian.

That one flower that had already pulled off heavy shadows was instantly torn out and coalesced into two illusory lotuses with this tremor in the dantian.

Look closely.

The golden inner qi in the dantian surged madly, but the two lotuses, however, were slightly shrunken when they were torn out, lined up side by side in the center of the dantian, and loomed large!

In the remains of Cangjie.

As the dantian shook violently, Fang Qiu's body also shook violently for a moment, then instantly stopped trembling.

Next moment.

"Boom!"

A muffled thunderous sound came.

In the sky, the incomparably dense Qi of Heaven and Earth suddenly transformed into a dragon scroll, descending from the sky and rushing directly into Fang Qiu's body, madly pouring towards the two lotus flowers in the dantian.

I don't know how long it lasted.

When all of the Qi of Heaven and Earth was poured into the two lotus flowers in the dantian, the shadows of the two lotus flowers finally solidified by one point.

"Breakthrough"

With a movement of his mouth, some stunned words came from Fang Qiu's mouth.

Next moment.

Fang Qiu opened his eyes.

Everything that was energized just a moment ago has all disappeared.

The moment he opened his eyes, Fang Qiu clearly saw above his head, two golden lotuses that were slowly rotating above his head, flickering away.