Chapter 561: Crisis Public Relation!

Liu Tianle, the chairman of the Letian Pharmaceutical Company, also raised his eyebrows and said in a cold tone, "Why only the six of us?"

"Yes." Commander Zuo said, "It's just the six of us. Based on this, it's clear that this boy is coming to us."

Upon hearing that, the leaders of the other five companies nodded quietly.

At this moment, in addition to these six companies, the leaders of other companies all went back to their rooms to sleep at ease after confirming that Fang Qiu would not continue to reveal the news.

There were only six people headed by Commander Zuo in the reception hall.

After the others left, Commander Zuo asked, narrowing his eyes, "How did the boy know about this?"

The other five people shook their heads.

"We kept everything hidden. We only sent someone to contact. We didn't reveal the information about our company at all. How did this guy know?" Ma Guoyong was confused as well.

Commander Zuo analyzed. "At first, he was calm in the face of the rumors, and then he openly confronted those rumors on Weibo and even left his phone number. Then, when things were at their worst, he was even able to appear on the Network News Broadcast. Connecting all these things together, I think this boy may have a powerful background."

The others all nodded.

They didn't pay much attention to it before. When they heard that Fang Qiu was on the Network News Broadcast, they also thought that he was just taking advantage of it while the country was developing Chinese Medicine. But now, after thinking about it carefully, no one was allowed to appear on the Network News Broadcast if they were not decent citizens. Fang Qiu was able to get on the Network News Broadcast while he was libeled, which made them suspicious of his background!

However, it didn't matter how powerful his background was.

They were indeed at a disadvantage in this matter. They didn't even have the chance to fight back. The only thing they could do was to face it head-on.

But they would never forget this enmity.

After this thing was over, they would definitely teach Fang Qiu a bloody lesson no matter what it took. They should let Fang Qiu know that he couldn't afford to mess with the wrong people!

At that very night, the subordinates of the six companies called their leaders one after another.

They were all seeking suggestions, wondering what they should do next.

When the six people answered the phone, they exchanged glances.

Ma Guoyong spoke first. "Now let's do the right crisis public relations. The only way now is to work like a gecko. You have to lose your tail to survive!"

As they heard that, the chairmen of other companies also nodded.

"First, since it is a crisis public relations issue, and the matter has developed to this extent, we should have a good attitude no matter what. First of all, we must thank Fang Qiu and tell people that we really don't know our mistakes. As we know about it, we will definitely correct it right away and project the right image.

“Second, no matter what it takes, issue an announcement to collect the medicine from all over the country.

“Third, for the people who have bought our company’s problem medicine, as long as they have an invoice or a receipt, we will return and compensate them double the price.

“Fourth, strictly investigate the relevant problem and follow the law. We’ll accept all the punishments!”

After Ma Guoyong finished giving his orders, he hung up the phone.

The leaders of the other four companies also gave the same orders.

After the leaders of the five companies finished speaking, Commander Zuo who looked gloomy suddenly asked, “What do you mean by this?”

Ma Guoyong replied, “These are crisis public relations.”

Liu Tianle echoed, “Yes, Commander Zuo, we can only do this now.”

“Humph!” Commander Zuo’s face turned cold and he said, “If you do this, then what about our company? The PR department has sent a lawyer’s letter, and the relevant matter has also been denied in the letter. If you do this, it will only mean that what we did before is wrong. And we’ll be criticized by the public.”

“Commander Zuo, this is the only way.”

Ma Guoyong shook his head with a smile and said, “There’s no other way. The first one Fang Qiu came to is Siqi Pharmaceutical Company. In order to solve this problem, your company can only pay more than ours. For example, you can fire the head of the PR department and some related people who are responsible for this matter.”

As soon as he said that, the chairmen of the other four companies nodded and smiled.

However, Commander Zuo's face became more gloomy as he saw the smirk of the other five people.

Obviously, Siqu Pharmaceutical Company had completely taken a bullet for the other five companies in this matter.

"That's the only way." Commander Zuo stood up and looked haggard. He glanced at the chairmen of the five companies and then turned back to his room.

After that, the chairmen of the six companies returned to their own rooms and then called their staff one after another, telling them how to solve the problem. Moreover, they repeatedly told them that they must get things done perfectly before the opening trade at nine o'clock tomorrow morning, so as to make up for the loss of their companies as much as possible.

In Dormitory 501 of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, Fang Qiu directly turned off his cell phone and fell asleep after posting all the photos.

The only thing he had to do now was to wait and see the reaction of the six major listed companies, as well as the response of the Chinese Medicine merchants.

Different from Fang Qiu, the netizens, who were excited about the breaking news, could not fall asleep at all.

Those who liked to use Weibo kept browsing Weibo and taking part in leaving comments.

Those who liked to use the post-bar would also send a post and invite all the master players to have a discussion.

Just as everyone was engaged in a heated discussion, an eye-catching post suddenly appeared in the post-bar.

"As regards Fang Qiu's revelation, a prediction about the crisis public relations related to the six listed companies."

As the post appeared, it immediately attracted the attention of countless people.

As people took a look at the post, they found that there was a detailed prediction of the public relations of the six companies.

“Prediction of crisis public relations.

“First, the six companies will certainly admit their mistakes and claim that their companies have been dedicated to making contributions to the pharmaceutical industry. This time, it’s the negligence of a department or a staff member of the company. At the same time, they will thank Fang Qiu for his revelation.

“Second, after admitting their mistakes, the six companies will definitely collect the problem drugs and compensate for the loss of the consumers!

“Third, in order to prove the integrity of their companies, the six companies will certainly make a strict investigation and punish related staff and so on so as to express their determination.

“Fourth, those marketing Weibo accounts will take this as an opportunity to promote and compliment these six companies for their contributions to the pharmaceutical industry and help them get out of the trouble. In order not to provoke people, they will definitely praise and thank Fang Qiu in these articles.

“Fifth, except for the above points, the six companies may even invite Fang Qiu to visit their pharmaceutical factories. They may even invite him to be an honorary employee, a quality inspector, or even an honorary manager of the production department, or to take other positions that are meaningless.

“The above-mentioned methods are all the predictions. Let’s wait for the six companies to carry out crisis public relations!”

The post ended here.

After many people read this post, they left messages one after another.

“The post writer is so awesome that he or she can even think of this kind of prediction.”

“It seems that this prediction post is quite reliable. I’m waiting for the results of the prediction.”

“If the six companies really do as what the post writer said, it should be able to reduce the hostility of most of the people toward them.”

“Give it some thoughts. This should be the best crisis public relations method.”

The post didn’t only appear on the post-bar.

With the popularity of this post, someone soon reposted it to Weibo.

For a moment, many netizens on Weibo also participated in the discussion of this post.

The staff of the six companies were busy preparing materials and articles about carrying out the crisis public relations. No one had time to see this prediction. Everyone was working as soon as possible according to the leaders’ requirements.

Early the next morning, it was eight o’clock.

As the netizens who were waiting all night expected, the six companies released statements one after another.

“Letter of Apology About Problem Medicine

“Distinguished consumers:

“First of all, we apologized deeply to all the customers of our company and the people of all fields in regard to the excess of harmful substances such as pesticide residues, heavy metal content, sulfur dioxide, and so on, which appeared in No.1030-1037 drugs.

“Because of the rapid increase in sales, there is great pressure on the production capacity of Siqui Pharmaceutical Company. It is under this pressure that our production department made irreparable mistakes in the processing of drugs. In regard to the mistakes we made in these drugs and the impact and inconvenience we brought to the consumers and other people, we’re deeply sorry.

“The incident this time had not only made us feel ashamed of our company but more importantly, we felt deeply sorry for failing our customers. We felt guilty for the support we had from our customers, and we disappointed the people in society.

“We’re sorry, please accept our sincere apologies.

“Meanwhile, on behalf of our company, we express our sincere gratitude to Fang Qiu who corrected our mistakes.

“Thank you for correcting our mistakes, Fang Qiu.

“We believe, under the guidance of Fang Qiu, Chinese Medicine will have a brilliant future. We, the Siqui Pharmaceutical Company, also hope to follow behind Fang Qiu and be strict with ourselves at all times to supervise the manufacture and tests of our drugs so as to provide better and healthier drugs for the patients all over the country and even around the world.

“We want to thank Fang Qiu again!

“In addition, we also saw the bad impact of this matter. With the discussion of the chairmen of the board, we decided that we would buy all the medicine at the original price from the consumers who bought the medicine of No.1030-1037 batch. And we would give double compensation for the consumers with sincere apologies.

“In the end, we will do our best to find out the cause of the incident and fire the staff responsible for the major mistakes.

“Siqi Pharmaceutical Limited Liability Company.

“June 28, 20XX.”

The first letter of apology was posted by Siqi Pharmaceutical Company.

After that, the other five companies also posted an apology letter of the same type.

After these letters of apology were posted, many paid Internet trolls started to pour into the official Weibo accounts of these companies and led the public opinion.

“It’ll be finished if you can just admit your mistakes earlier.”

“Whoever makes mistakes must be punished. That’s how a listed company does things!”

“You are sincere when it comes to admitting your mistakes, and you are willing to make corresponding compensation. Listed companies are also very humane.”

Chapter 562: Fang Qiu’s Incredible Influence!

With the release of the letters of apology, the paid Internet trolls hired by the six companies all swarmed into Weibo and mobilized the public opinion.

Meanwhile, the PR departments of the six companies took action one after another and spent a lot of money to remove the trending topic on Weibo in order to reduce the impact of the whole incident.

Under such circumstances, netizens also had their own opinions on this matter.

“Not bad, their attitude of admitting mistakes is quite good.”

“It seems that it’s really the staff’s mistake. It has nothing to do with the company.”

“This is what a large company should do. It’s better to admit it openly than to confront each other.”

Some netizens saw that the six companies had a good attitude towards admitting their mistakes, so their views on the six companies had changed slightly. They felt that the nature of the six companies was not bad, otherwise, they couldn’t make it to such a large enterprise.

Of course, in addition to this part of the netizens, there were also a lot of netizens who were against these companies.

“They propagate that their company has a market value of more than billions, but now they played all these tricks to deceive consumers. Now that they were exposed, they finally decided to apologize. What if they didn’t get exposed? Are we going to take problem drugs and won’t know until we die?”

“Humph, that’s it? You just need to apologize and problem solved? How many people have been harmed by these drugs? There are so many people across the country who use your drugs. Who knows if someone was dead by taking your drugs? Do you think it’s all right if you apologize now?”

“It’s indeed a large-scale listed company. It’s only been one night, and they have already sent an apology letter. This issue has been a hot search for a whole night, but now it just disappeared in the trending topic. This is the strength of a big company and the place where the money of a big company would be spent. No wonder their drugs have problems!”

“Why did they quit the hot trending topic? Since they sincerely wanted to admit their mistakes, why would they quit the trending topic?”

“They must be hiding something!”

In the heated discussion of netizens, the six companies remained silent.

At this time, a lot of netizens who had participated in the heated discussion suddenly thought of the hot post in the post-bar last night. They immediately found it in the trending topic on Weibo and went directly to the original prediction post, leaving comments.

“The post starter is incredible. You guessed right!”

“Awesome! Post starter!”

“I’m wondering if the six listed companies have learned from the post starter’s methods, haven’t they?”

“At first, I didn’t believe it. But now I am very sure that the post starter is really a fking genius!”

“Although the public relations means of the six companies are completely the same as the post starter’s prediction, from the current situation, the starter also gave some extra predictions. These six companies haven’t used these methods yet, but I wonder if these large companies will use them eventually!”

“It’s really a trick. The six companies are so good at pretending. Their acting is misleading a lot of people, isn’t it?”

“This is what a big company will do. They’re really good at playing tricks!”

At the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, at eight o’clock in the morning, Fang Qiu finished breakfast and returned to the dormitory after the morning exercise.

“Fang Qiu, bro.” Sun Hao looked at Fang Qiu. While eating the noodles he just bought in the bowl, he looked at the laptop on the desk and said, “They are indeed listed companies. The strength of public relations to deal with the crisis is really powerful. Look at this letter of apology sent just now. Now a lot of netizens have begun to sympathize with them.”

“Is that so?” Fang Qiu smiled slightly.

“He’s right.” Zhou Xiaotian walked to Sun Hao with noodles in his mouth, looked at the Weibo comments on the laptop screen, and then said, “Now it seems to ignore this matter on Weibo. I think there must be something wrong with these comments.”

“I think so.” Zhu Benzhen also nodded and asked, “Bro, what are you going to do?”

“There’s no rush.” Fang Qiu shook his head and said with a chuckle, “The show hasn’t been put on yet.”

“What show?” His three roommates’ eyes lit up at the same time as they stared at Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu said, “The stock!”

It was 9:30 am when the stock market opened.

The stock exchanges across the country were much more crowded than usual. As soon as the door opened, a large number of shareholders poured in.

In addition to the shareholders who liked to enter the stock exchanges, there were also countless shareholders sitting in front of computers or holding mobile phones. All of them were frightened.

Just as the stock analysts in the stock groups expected, the stocks of the six pharmaceutical companies headed by the Siqi Pharmaceutical Company immediately began to decline greatly as the stock market opened. Numerous shareholders sold their stocks crazily. The more the shareholders sold the shares of these companies, the more the stock price would slump. It was a huge decline.

The stock of all the six pharmaceutical companies reached limit down!

After that, the trend of the crazy decline of the stock price didn’t stop. Instead, it was transferred from the six companies to other pharmaceutical companies. As a result, the stock prices of other pharmaceutical companies began to rapidly decline.

In the blink of an eye, the whole pharmaceutical industry's stock became a bear market. Each company's stock fell in different degrees, and no pharmaceutical company could get away with it.

It broke the hearts of countless shareholders.

Among them, many people wanted to sell their shares, but it was too late.

In Dormitory 501, because Fang Qiu mentioned the stock before, Zhu Benzhen, Sun Hao, and Zhou Xiaotian had been following the stock prices of the six companies that Fang Qiu had exposed. As a result, soon after the opening of the stock exchanges, the stocks of all the six companies reached the limit down. And the stock prices of other companies that had not been exposed also fell rapidly.

"What the fk!" Seeing such a terrifying scene, Zhu Benzhen and the other two roommates were suddenly dumbfounded.

"Fang Qiu, you're awesome." Sun Hao looked at Fang Qiu in shock.

"You're amazing!" Zhou Xiaotian was also stunned by what he saw.

"I bet the six companies will suffer a lot." Zhu Benzhen laughed out loud.

"Why didn't we notice it before?" Sun Hao was so shocked and walked to Fang Qiu's side. He looked at Fang Qiu carefully and said, "Why didn't we notice that you are so awesome that you can even confront a large listed company, and you even took down six of them at one time. You're unstoppable."

"No one can stop him." Zhou Xiaotian also came up and said to Sun Hao, "I announce that from now on, Fang Qiu will have another nickname."

"What is it?" Zhu Benzhen was confused, and so was Fang Qiu.

Zhou Xiaotian loved chattering and he especially liked to give people nicknames.

“What else can I call him?” Zhou Xiaotian glanced at the three of them and said naturally, “Of course it’s the Jinx of the Stock Market. Look at what he has done. The market value of these six large listed companies would lose at least hundreds of millions in just one night, even billions!”

“That being said,” The shocked expression on Zhu Benzhen’s face changed. He frowned and looked at Fang Qiu with worry. “Do you know how many shareholders will suffer losses and how many people will curse you?”

“If they want to curse me, curse me.” Fang Qiu shook his head with a chuckle and said, “I’m helping them get out of trouble. If you look at the six companies’ medicines, they will be exposed sooner or later even if it weren’t me. Now it’s the rising period of the stocks of the six companies. Without my revelation, those shareholders will definitely invest more money in it. If they put more money into it and then someone exposes these drugs, it will be a total loss.”

Upon hearing that, his three roommates all nodded.

Fang Qiu was right. It was still not too late to see the true colors of these six companies. The later the shareholders found out, the more unfavorable it would be for them!

In the entertainment circle, it also caused great turmoil due to the incident of Fang Qiu exposing six listed companies.

In addition to some normal stars who were related to the six companies, some big stars also paid special attention to this matter. The reason why they followed this matter was not that they also bought or used the medicines of the six companies, but because of Fang Qiu’s influence.

This kind of influence was the true influence!

He confronted six listed companies with his own strength, causing the share prices of all the other related companies to fall.

This was the actual influence!

As celebrities, in addition to the A-list stars, they couldn't do it at all.

However, did the A-list stars dare to confront the large listed company so openly?

Obviously, they didn't dare to do that!

In the whole Huaxia, and even in the whole world, Fang Qiu was the only one who dared to do this.

Compared with the attention of the entertainment circle, the focus of people in the Chinese Medicine industry was completely different.

"I didn't expect Fang Qiu's influence to be so enormous."

"He's harming Chinese medicine. Only the companies producing Chinese Medicine have problems. There's nothing wrong with Western Medicine, but he exposed that it's a company that specializes in the production of Western Medicine. This is really against Chinese medicine, isn't it?"

"Fang Qiu is a doctor of Chinese Medicine himself. How can he do such a thing?"

"There's nothing wrong with Fang Qiu doing this. After all, there's indeed something wrong with the medicine of the six companies. If things go on like this, the medical problem will indeed have a great impact on our Chinese Medicine. If it's exposed now, it can be regarded as stopping them in advance."

"Traditional Chinese medicine is orthodox. I support Fang Qiu, fighting against these drugs producers that only use little effort to produce Chinese Medicine!"

"Although I can't tell if what Fang Qiu did is good or bad, I have to admit that Fang Qiu's influence is really powerful. It can be said that he is the first person who has such an influence in the medical field!"

"At least Fang Qiu can take the first place in terms of influence."

“The most terrifying thing is that Fang Qiu can take down whoever he wants to take.”

In the Central Television’s building of the capital, Director Li Huawen didn’t go home until late in the night yesterday. Today, he was eager to read the news as soon as he came to work and was shocked to see that the stocks of the six companies had fallen.

He didn’t expect that Fang Qiu would make such a big scene.

However, after being shocked for a while, Director Li Huawen immediately laughed happily.

In his opinion, Fang Qiu was the person publicizing the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor. The greater Fang Qiu’s influence was, the greater the influence of the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor would be.

There was no doubt that, from now on, all the people ranging from leaders of Central Television to the staff of all televisions, and to ordinary people should treat the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor seriously.

“Now, you all know how awesome our show is, don’t you? The leaders should also see it clearly, right?” Director Li Huawen murmured proudly.

Medical Master

Chapter 563: There’s No Residues, No Excess!

“Wow, it’s so green.”

“Today’s stock market is too environmentally friendly.”

“Ha-ha, I haven’t seen such a bear market for a long time.”

“Serves you right! That’s not the end. It’s only the first day. You’ll reach limit down again tomorrow!”

“Master Fang Qiu, you’re awesome and domineering!”

“Fang Qiu is so cruel and merciless this time.”

“I don’t know if Fang Qiu speculates on the stock market or not, but I do know that from now on, Fang Qiu has become the new generation of ‘Stock Master’. Although he isn’t in the stock speculation field, there is still a legend about him.”

Whether it was on Weibo or post-bar, netizens were very happy. They not only made a joke about the decline of the stocks of the six companies but also openly began to tease Fang Qiu.

With the opening of the stock market, the staff of the six companies paid attention to the share price in the first place. After seeing that their company’s share price was falling rapidly and didn’t slow down until it hit bottom, leaders and employees of the six companies were all frustrated.

The people in the PR department looked even worse.

They were good at dealing with crisis public relations. From last night to now, they had been planning to minimize the loss of the company and had been busy for a whole night. When they saw the share price, they found that the perfect public relations trick that they had worked so hard to make was actually useless!

Undoubtedly, with the decline of the stock price, the market value also lost a lot. The chairmen of the six companies were all furious.

In Siqu Pharmaceutical Company, “Ask leaders of all departments to have a meeting right now!” As soon as he returned to the company and saw the stock price, Commander Zuo, with a gloomy face, picked up the phone and roared.

The secretary hurriedly notified the leaders of all the departments.

Soon, the leaders of all the departments of the company all rushed to the meeting room.

“PR department!” As soon as the personnel arrived, Commander Zuo stared straight at the director of the PR department and then asked in a cold voice, “I pay you with such a high salary, and I gave you a whole night to deal with it. And this is the stock market you want me to see?”

The director of the PR department fell silent.

He had tried his best to work out every possible solution.

However, he wasn’t able to control the stock market.

Moreover, the methods of public relations were also instructed by Commander Zuo himself.

“Humph!” Commander Zuo was furious. He slapped on the conference table and shouted at the executives present, “Today, you have to think of a way to deal with it. If you don’t give the public a perfect explanation and things continue to follow like this, the stock price will also fall tomorrow. The amount of market value which we lose for a day is enough for you to work for a lifetime!”

It was not just the Siqi Pharmaceutical Company.

The other five listed companies were also doing the same thing.

However, except for the six listed companies, people of other pharmaceutical companies were all extremely depressed.

They didn’t do anything but their stock price dropped for no reason.

They just suffered from a calamity without any reason!

“Damn, it’s not that there’s something wrong with our medicine. Why do we have to lose our stock prices?”

“We’re so wronged.”

“It’s all those six companies’ fault. If it weren’t for them, how could our share prices fall?”

In addition, some of the companies that only sold Western Medicine were also implicated.

“We didn’t f*cking produce Chinese Medicine, but why does our share price also decline?”

Companies with the same situation were not few.

Even the pesticide companies’ share price also fell, which became one of the bear markets.

For a moment, people of the companies that were implicated were speechless and depressed.

This was simply an unexpected calamity!

Under public opinion, the stock price plummeted and it became everyone’s laughing stock.

Just when the six companies began to search for solutions desperately, another more serious problem that was beyond their expectation appeared.

At first, everyone just regarded this matter as a simple revelation on the Internet.

However, while they were discussing fiercely, a person followed Fang Qiu’s path and suddenly exposed another type of problem medicine.

After that, there was a gradually rising trend of resisting the black-hearted drug producers and exposing the problem drugs on the Internet.

It didn’t matter if it was the drug producer or a drug.

As long as they had been harmed by a drug, everyone began to expose one after another.

Some people even exposed a black-hearted hospital.

In the beginning, the revelation of black-hearted drug producers and medicine caused a lot of turmoil, but it was not severe. However, with the exposure of the black-heart hospital, it immediately triggered a terrible wave of opposition online.

An ordinary worker went to the hospital because he was sick. However, the doctor of the hospital directly gave him a prescription without even confirming what kind of illness he had.

As a result, not only the patient's disease had not been cured, but the more he was treated, the worse his illness became. In the end, there was a serious consequence, which made the worker disable.

Once this matter was exposed, it immediately made a large number of netizens scold.

Under such circumstances, almost all the Weibo exposing black-hearted drug producers, problem drugs, and hospitals had been crazily reposted by all netizens.

For a moment, the stock prices of those black-hearted pharmaceutical companies decline and hit bottom one after another. And the black-hearted hospital was even madly boycotted by netizens. It suffered a great loss and was even made a special report by a TV station.

For a moment, all the people of pharmaceutical companies or hospitals were trembling with fear. They were afraid that they would be exposed.

Now it was time that all the people in the country focused on their industry.

Once it was exposed, it would attract the attention of all the people.

By that time, they would be over.

While they were worried, those companies which had not been exposed yet secretly ridiculed those peers who had been exposed.

After all, for them, those were all competitors.

They couldn't wait for all their competitors to be eliminated, leaving themselves to dominate this industry.

With the development of the situation, the National Food and Drug Administration responded very quickly.

An article was posted at 12 o'clock at noon.

It said that the National Food and Drug Administration would officially carry out a thorough examination to inspect the quality of Chinese Medicine.

At the same time, it would also check all other medicines with different levels of intensity.

They would punish the company if they found there was a problem.

The Administration also asked people to supervise.

Actually, when Fang Qiu began to expose Siqi Pharmaceutical Limited Liability Company, some netizens went to leave comments below the official Weibo account of the National Food and Drug Administration, requesting a thorough investigation of it.

However, at that time, the people of the National Food and Drug Administration obviously did not expect that things would develop to this extent.

In the beginning, they thought that Fang Qiu would stop until he revealed one or two companies. Besides, Fang Qiu was only a college student. Of course, he had some influence, but he certainly couldn't compete with a large listed company like the Siqi Pharmaceutical Company.

After all, it was a listed company with a market value of billions. How could it be taken down by a college student? As long as Siqi Pharmaceutical Company did its crisis public relations, it could easily resolve this matter.

It was also because of this that the National Food and Drug Administration didn't take it seriously.

But they didn't expect it at all.

Fang Qiu didn't only reveal the Siqi Pharmaceutical Company, but also exposed Letian Pharmaceutical Company, Taikang Pharmaceutical Company, and so on. Every one of them was a large-scale listed enterprise.

In the end, seeing that Fang Qiu had exposed six companies in succession, the leaders of the National Food and Drug Administration could not sit still anymore. They immediately asked someone to discuss what should be done.

After all, this matter was getting out of control.

If they punished the six listed companies at the same time, it would cause a serious chain reaction, so they had to consider clearly if they wanted to deal with each listed company.

That night, people of the National Food and Drug Administration were also waiting.

They were waiting for the public relations of the six companies to give a reason to convince the netizens.

However, under the lead of paid Internet trolls, the online public opinion still didn't get better.

In addition, the share price of the six companies had fallen, and the netizens had spontaneously resisted them. In addition, more and more people had left comments on their Weibo accounts, which led to the final decision of the National Food and Drug Administration to thoroughly investigate!

Since the matter had already gotten out of hand, then they would solve them all at once. They would also want to warn the other companies with crooked ideas and tell them to behave themselves.

As expected, with the announcement of the Administration, people started to exclaim on the Internet.

“Great, you guys did a good job this time!”

“I support you! This kind of harmful company must be thoroughly investigated.”

“This is the first time I’ve fallen in love with the Administration. I’m so impressed by this decision. Now, it’s up to the government departments to carry it out!”

The netizens were very happy and excited.

At least Fang Qiu’s revelation and their spontaneous resistance to the black-hearted drug producers had indeed been approved by the national department.

Meanwhile, those exposed companies were frightened by the post of the Administration.

“What the fk!”

“Is it really going to take it seriously?”

“It’s over, it’s really over this time!”

So many things happened in those companies that had not been exposed.

Some guilty companies didn't dare to think much about it and immediately stopped production in order to avoid inspection.

Some companies had to improve the production line as soon as possible, followed the country's procedures of production standard, and collected and destroyed all the previous problem medicines.

In addition, there were also drug merchants who knew that there was pesticide residue in their drugs. But in order to avoid being investigated, they immediately stopped cooperating with pharmaceutical companies. Although the price of this unqualified drug was very cheap, how dare they continue to sell the problem drugs in such a tense environment?

At the same time, there were also some very rigorous pharmaceutical companies. Although they were confident about their own company, in order to make sure there was no problem, they also began to investigate themselves.

For a moment, it seemed that the entire pharmaceutical industry was experiencing a metamorphosis. Although it seemed difficult, once the metamorphosis was completed, the Chinese Medicine industry would become much better.

But when all the pharmaceutical companies were looking for self-examination and changes, a Chinese Medicine pharmaceutical company named Nine Herbs Hall suddenly posted a Weibo. "No residue, no excess, no problem. Feel free to inspect. Don't worry about taking our medicine!"

A miracle appeared as soon as this Weibo was posted.

The share price of this Chinese Medicine company, named Nine Herbs Hall, actually stopped declining. Instead, it slowly began to rise!

Medical Master

Chapter 564: A Solution: A Sincere Invitation To Fang Qiu!

The stock of Nine Herbs Hall was the only one rising among all the pharmaceutical companies' stocks which were falling.

Seeing that the stock price of Nine Herbs Hall which kept falling before actually began to rise, people of other pharmaceutical companies were suddenly very surprised.

Why was Nine Herbs Hall's stock able to rise at such a time when the stocks of all the other pharmaceutical companies were slumping?

What was going on?

In the midst of confusion, people of the major pharmaceutical companies all logged into their Weibo accounts and entered the official Weibo page of Nine Herbs Hall to see what happened.

As they saw the Weibo posted by Nine Herbs Hall, they were also surprised to find that there were favorable comments below the post.

It was filled with compliments.

Some said that Nine Herbs Hall specialized in processing Chinese Medicine and had medical ethics.

Some people said that they dared to post such a Weibo at this moment, which showed that Nine Herbs Hall was absolutely confident about their medicine.

After searching for a while, they found that there was no comment trying to slander this company.

All the pharmaceutical companies were speechless.

How could they do this?

Nine Herbs Hall was obviously going to take advantage of this matter. To be blunt, they were trying to rise while other companies were suffering.

Although it sounded a little inappropriate, Nine Herbs Hall stood out because they were more open and above board.

It seemed that they were actually saying, “Our company strictly follows the national policies of production drugs, and we aren’t afraid of being investigated. We’re indeed considerate of our consumers. That’s how we do. How about that? If you can’t accept it, why don’t you do the same?”

Undoubtedly, as they were in a bear market, many companies wanted to imitate this method to restore public confidence and their share prices.

Unfortunately, to think about it was one thing, but to do it was quite another thing.

No matter how much they thought about it, they still didn’t dare to do it.

After all, most people in this business would play some tricks.

As the owners of these companies, they were clear whether they could guarantee that there was a problem with their own medicine or not.

They had a guilty conscience!

Especially now, when all the people were paying attention to the quality of the medicine, how could they dare to be the first to stand out?

If they became the first one to stand out and then was investigated by the National Food and Drug Administration, they would be over.

Helplessly, those companies could only continue to remain silent. They needed to carry out a thorough inspection by themselves and first ensure that their own problems could be solved before the inspection of the National Food and Drug Administration came.

In any case, these pharmaceutical companies dared not to produce medicines with problems in this period.

In the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, as the source of the whole incident, Fang Qiu didn't care about what happened on the Internet. After breakfast, he ran directly into the school library to find Xu Miaolin to study.

In the reading room of the library, "Don't you need to record the show this week?"

Looking at Fang Qiu who just entered the door, Xu Miaolin asked curiously.

"No, I don't." Fang Qiu shook his head and said, "The recording material last week is enough. We have to wait for the notice of the show before going back to record. But the day after tomorrow, I need to follow the school to attend a Consulting Session for College Admission in Qilu Province."

"Oh, I see." Xu Miaolin nodded with understanding.

"Mr. Xu?" After answering Xu Miaolin's question, Fang Qiu suddenly smiled and asked, "What do you think of what I did this time?"

"Humph!" Xu Miaolin snorted and rolled his eyes at Fang Qiu, saying, "Kid, you really can make trouble everywhere."

"Well. You're the one who helped me register an account on Weibo."

Fang Qiu twitched his mouth and said, "If it weren't for this Weibo, many things wouldn't have happened. The source of this matter is really not on me."

Upon hearing that, Xu Miaolin widened his eyes and looked extremely embarrassed.

If Xu Miaolin really wanted to find out the source of the trouble, he was really the one to blame.

“All right, go and read your books.” In embarrassment, Xu Miaolin quickly changed the topic and said, “Don’t forget that you only have less than a year left. You are still far from being a highly-skilled doctor now.”

“Okay.” Fang Qiu nodded with a smile.

In fact, there was no need for Xu Miaolin to remind him. He had been thinking about this thing all the time. After all, as for Fang Qiu, the old master’s injury was the most important thing.

All the things he had done over the years was to treat the old master’s illness!

After that, Fang Qiu left the reading room and found a quiet spot in the library to read books.

The pharmaceutical companies held meetings for a whole day. The leaders and people of the PR departments of each company were almost crazy.

On this day, there were nearly a thousand different coping schemes proposed by people in countless pharmaceutical companies.

However, all of the proposals were quickly rejected as they were put forward!

Under such circumstances, other employees in the company all got off work, but these leaders and staff of PR departments were still in a meeting.

There was no other way.

This was the order giving by the chairman of the board.

No one was allowed to leave without working out a solution!

In Taikang Pharmaceutical Company, the bald and fat man, Ma Guoyong, was sitting in the conference room, looking at all the leaders and staff of the PR department in the conference room with a gloomy face.

“Solution, I want a solution. What did you give me? I spent so much money paying you guys. Did I pay you to stay here in silence?”

Ma Guoyong was furious.

If these things didn’t happen, he would be in a hotel now, holding a beautiful lady and eating delicious food.

But now, the decline of the stock price made him start to panic, just like the leaders of other companies.

Especially when he heard the news that the National Food and Drug Administration was going to strictly crack down the companies with problems, he was even more worried.

Once they really found out something, the Taikang Pharmaceutical Company he had worked so hard to build would be finished!

“Pa!” With a slap on the meeting table, Ma Guoyong stood up and glared at all the people present, saying, “I’ll give you three more hours. If you can’t work out a practical solution, then all of you will be fired!”

After that, he strode out of the conference room and slammed the door heavily.

In the conference room, the leaders of all the departments, as well as all the employees of the PR Department, looked at each other in dismay. Each of them had a very unpleasant look on their faces.

It was not that they didn't want to give a solution. But they really couldn't find a perfect solution!

The atmosphere was solemn.

After Ma Guoyong slammed the door and walked out, the people in the meeting room were still silent.

At this time, an employee of the PR department suddenly stood up.

He had been in the meeting room for so long. In this extremely depressing atmosphere, he couldn't stand it anymore. Just when he was so desperate and wanted to quit his job, he somehow suddenly thought of his grandfather.

His grandfather was a Tai Chi master.

In the past, his grandfather often told him some principles about Tai Chi, but he didn't listen to it seriously. He felt annoyed every time he heard about it, not to mention learning from his grandfather.

But now, in the face of such a difficult situation, he suddenly thought of his grandfather and came up with an idea. He then rose to his feet.

"I have a plan!" The employee opened his mouth.

"What is it?" The PR manager immediately asked.

The leaders and colleagues of other departments also turned their heads to look.

"I suggest that we write a letter of appointment to Fang Qiu."

The staff said, "We can employ Fang Qiu as the Quality Control Manager of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company. Everyone knows that our company doesn't have such a position at all. It is because of this that we have to especially create such a post for Fang Qiu."

When he heard that, the PR manager's eyes lit up.

The leaders of the other departments nodded in agreement.

"That's a good idea! With the strength of our company, there is no problem to hire Fang Qiu."

The employee continued, "As long as he agrees, I believe the chairman will offer him the money he wants. Of course, we don't need to worry that he won't agree. As long as the letter of appointment is issued, we can reverse the situation. First of all, we can use this matter to let everyone be confident in our company and let them see our company's determination to change. At the same time, we can also use Fang Qiu's image of being a righteous Chinese Medicine doctor to improve the image of our company."

"Perhaps, if we do this, the company will benefit from this matter."

"Of course, we all hope that Fang Qiu will agree because this is absolutely a good deed. But even if Fang Qiu doesn't agree, it will be favorable to our company as long as we send an invitation. On the contrary, it will be bad for Fang Qiu, which can be considered a counterattack of our company."

Upon hearing that, everyone nodded in succession.

All the staff in the PR department cast admiring glances at the employee.

Of course, compared with these employees, the company executives in the room thought more about it.

If Fang Qiu agreed and demanded an exorbitant price, they wouldn't hesitate to give him as much money as he wanted. As long as they signed a contract, they could directly trick Fang Qiu.

When the time came, what would he do if something went wrong with the drug that Fang Qiu represented?

In the eyes of these executives, if they really wanted to do this, they must not implicate the company. After all, the Taikang Pharmaceutical Company was a large-scale listed enterprise. If they really wanted to frame Fang Qiu, they could use the problem drugs to start a new company!

What if Fang Qiu disagreed?

Then the company could completely use his rejection as a topic.

They might say something like, “As the representative of Chinese Medicine, Fang Qiu didn’t dare to accept the appointment of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company. Didn’t you just say that there was something wrong with the drugs of our company? Then you should supervise it. If you don’t dare to supervise, it’ll mean that you’re afraid that you can’t make good medicine yourself.”

After thinking about it carefully, the staff thought this was really a perfect solution.

Soon, when he was informed by the secretary at the door, Ma Guoyong rushed over from his office.

“Great!” Hearing the plan proposed by the staff, Ma Guoyong immediately walked to him, patted the shoulders of the staff with satisfaction, and praised, “Well, this is a great solution. Do your job well in the future, and I will give what you deserve.”

Upon hearing that, the employee felt flattered.

It was the first time that he had been praised by the chairman, which made him very excited and grateful to his grandfather at the same time.

He thought and exclaimed to himself, “You really live up to your reputation as a master of Tai Chi. You’re really something, Grandpa!”

As a matter of fact, what he used was exactly the principle of Tai Chi—Accomplish a great task with little effort by clever maneuvers, which could change the momentum and use the counterforce to fight back!

Ma Guoyong was very satisfied with the solution.

The people who had a meeting for a whole day also sighed with relief. Finally, they could go home.

Soon, the official Weibo account of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company had posted a Weibo according to the request of the high-up.

“Mr. Fang Qiu, thank you for your supervision in our company. In order to produce better medicine, serve the consumers better, and show our firm determination to serve the people, we sincerely invited Mr. Fang Qiu to be our Quality Control Manager so that we can produce good medicines that can reassure the consumers. Of course, in this medical case, we have made a mistake. In the future, we will definitely learn from the lessons and give priority to patients’ needs. Finally, we sincerely hope Mr. Fang Qiu @Who do you think you are can consider the appointment of our company.”

Chapter 565: Playing Tai Chi with Me?

Taikang Pharmaceutical Company was a large pharmaceutical enterprise mainly specialized in Western Medicine in the country. Also, it was the one that had received the most attention among the six pharmaceutical companies involved in Fang Qiu’s explosive revelations apart from Siqi Pharmaceutical Company.

It was also for this reason that the moment Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry’s post on Weibo was released, it immediately attracted a lot of netizens’ attention.

After reading that post on Weibo, the netizens were all stunned.

“What is happening now?”

“I never knew that a large company like Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry could have such a good attitude to admit its mistake. The company did swallow its pride and openly acknowledge its blunder.”

“They’ve done a nice job of admitting their mistake.”

“Although it’s still undecided whether Fang Qiu is willing to forgive them, based on their sincere apology alone, I decide to quit opposing them.”

When the people of other companies saw this post, they were all dumbfounded at once.

No one had expected Taikang Pharmaceutical Company to be so shameless to do such a thing. It was just too despicable!

At this time, the leaders and the public relations departments of other companies were still having meetings in the conference room. When these people saw this post, they all secretly scolded Taikang Pharmaceutical Company and sighed regretfully. How come their own company’s public relations department failed to come up with such a good solution?

However, since Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry had made its move first, the others would wait and see how Fang Qiu would respond. If Fang Qiu agreed to be the so-called Quality Control Manager of Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry, the other companies could immediately post on Weibo and give Fang Qiu the same offer.

Previously, when Fang Qiu first disclosed the news, Siqi Pharmaceutical Company tried condemning Fang Qiu but was later rebuked in return. This matter had already been spread among the major companies. They were warned that they should not provoke Fang Qiu when they had no idea what Fang Qiu was going to do. Even if they did it with good intentions, they might be given a downright talking-to anyway!

Therefore, even though the big companies knew it was a perfect plan to invite Fang Qiu to be their Quality Control Manager, they still did not dare to act rashly. Instead, they were all waiting for Fang Qiu’s response.

In the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine.

Fang Qiu didn’t leave the library until it was dinner time. After dinner, he went for a walk on the Yaowang Mountain.

As soon as he climbed to the top of the mountain—

“Beep, beep, beep...”

His phone rang all of a sudden.

Fang Qiu took it out and looked at the screen.

It was from Jiang Miaoyu.

“Hello?”

Fang Qiu picked up the phone.

“Where are you?” asked Jiang Miaoyu.

“I just had dinner, and I’m taking a walk on the Yaowang Mountain,” Fang Qiu answered with a smile.

“You do have nothing to do. You’re the first person to have dinner in the entire university.” Jiang Miaoyu teased.

“Well, it’s because I don’t have to go to classes given my good grades.” Fang Qiu gloated, laughing.

“Humph.” Jiang Miaoyu snorted haughtily, then said, “By the way, I heard that you’ve become the Quality Control Manager of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company, haven’t you?”

“Ah?”

Fang Qiu was stupefied.

“Nice, very nice. You already have a generous salary while in school, so you won’t have too much pressure providing for me in the future. But as the paycheck this job gives you seems to be very impressive, it might tempt you to have a mistress. Thus, after the company starts paying you, you must quickly spend the money by purchasing an apartment...”

The more Jiang Miaoyu talked, the more farfetched it seemed to Fang Qiu.

“Hold on, hold on!”

Fang Qiu hurriedly called for a stop. He could tell that Jiang Miaoyu was teasing him, making him a laughing stock.

“Haha!”

Sure enough, as soon as Fang Qiu called for a pause, Jiang Miaoyu couldn’t help but burst out laughing.

“Do you have any idea what the matter with the Quality Control Manager is?” Fang Qiu asked, raising his eyebrows.

“I knew it. I knew you didn’t know.”

Jiang Miaoyu giggled, then clarified the issue. “Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry has posted a post on Weibo. They first thanked you and then apologized to the public. In order to show their sincerity, they also invited you to be their Quality Control Manager.”

“How could that be?”

Fang Qiu was dazed. A moment later, he suddenly laughed and said, “Okay, I’ll go and have a look.”

“Well, I’m going to have dinner, too,” Jiang Miaoyu answered and then hung up the phone.

After talking to Jiang Miaoyu, Fang Qiu immediately logged into his Weibo account with his mobile phone to check the post.

As expected, he saw the post released by Taikang Pharmaceutical Company.

By this time, a ton of people had left comments below and reposted this post. Fang Qiu's Weibo account had received a lot of attention. Many people were waiting anxiously, wondering how Fang Qiu would reply.

After reading the post, Fang Qiu smiled.

"Interesting. How come they came up with such an idea. They are just playing Tai Chi with me, aren't they?"

With a chuckle, Fang Qiu whispered, "However, do you think that I will be at my wit's end after this?"

"Since we're going to do that, let's see whose technique is more excellent!"

After that, Fang Qiu went down the mountain.

Then, he directly turned around and headed out of the campus.

He came to the street near the university and visited all the drug stores, such as the "First-class Hall" and the "XX Grand Pharmacy".

This time, Fang Qiu looked specifically for the drugs produced by Taikang Pharmaceutical Company.

He bought a box of almost every kind of medicine produced by Taikang Pharmaceutical Company that had not been tested before, as long as they were available in the drug stores. After that, he brought the medicine back to the dormitory.

As Zhu Benzhen, Sun Hao, and Zhou Xiaotian hadn't returned yet, Fang Qiu seized the time to test the medicine at once.

It turned out that there was something wrong with all of these drugs.

Without further ado, Fang Qiu took pictures of these drugs after ascertaining that they all had quality problems.

At 10 o'clock p.m., Fang Qiu released another post.

Aside from uploading the pictures of those drugs in question, Fang Qiu also specifically pointed out the problem of each of the drugs. Some of them had excessive pesticide residues; some contained excessive heavy metal, and so on.

Anyway, Fang Qiu practically listed all the sub-quality products of Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry.

Although this time he didn't have the test sheets of the Capital University of Science and Technology as evidence, Fang Qiu was not worried at all because he had bought a copy of each of the drugs, and he didn't intend to throw them away. If the other party refuted that Fang Qiu had no solid proof, he would find a chemical laboratory to test the drugs right away, or even pay another visit to the Capital University of Science and Technology.

After all, this matter had not only aroused people's attention to Chinese Medicine but also helped the Capital University of Science and Technology to rise to fame. Inadvertently, it gave people the impression that the Capital University of Science and Technology was the number one institution in the field of the laboratory test.

Fang Qiu believed that the Capital University of Science and Technology would not turn him down once he made the request.

The post appeared on Weibo.

Fang Qiu smiled.

Looking at the post that he had just sent, he inwardly denounced, “You tried to turn my force against me, but you didn’t know that your move happened to serve for my use. This is the real art of accomplishing a great task with little effort by clever maneuvers.

“In fact, the person who came up with this method is quite impressive. But it’s a pity that his foundation is not stable. Without a solid foundation, no matter how powerful the means are, it’s useless.

“Tai Chi is all about stance training!

“When the stance training is not well learned, the rest of the effort will be in vain.

“It’s the same as practicing martial arts. If you want to break through forcibly with an unstable foundation, you can only suffer Qi deviation and draw the fire upon yourself!”

On the Internet, countless netizens had waited for hours before Fang Qiu’s reply finally arrived.

At the sight of Fang Qiu’s reply, the netizens immediately burst into laughter.

“Holy cow, such a slap in the face!”

“Person A: ‘I’ll give you a piece of candy, so please don’t hit me, okay?’ Person B: ‘I’ll give you a slap in the face!’ Person A: ‘Well then, I’ll give you a truck of candy, please don’t hit me, okay?’ Person B: ‘I’ll give you a slap in the face!’”

“My face hurts. Even I feel so embarrassed for Taikang Pharmaceutical Company!”

“This slap in the face is really one of a kind.”

“Taikang Pharmaceutical Industry thought that giving Fang Qiu a smiling face would be rewarded with the same smiling face. Yet, they didn’t expect that Fang Qiu was not a normal person. He likes to slap others in the face, especially when they are smiling!”

“Haha, Master Fang Qiu is demonstrating his power again!”

“Congratulations, master, your face-slapping skill has improved again, and you’ve already had mastery of it!”

Netizens made fun of the matter like mad.

Some people even had a stomachache because they laughed too hard.

For a time, all kinds of jokes were left in the comment area of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company’s account.

It had to be said that netizens were really talented. In just a few minutes, they made up hundreds and thousands of different versions of the story.

However, just as everyone was having a great time embellishing the story, a person suddenly replied with a motion graph.

In the picture, a black boy smiled and tried to please the other child, but he was slapped by the child. The expression on the black boy’s face immediately changed. He felt very wronged. However, he was immediately slapped again.

The netizen who posted the motion graph even fixed the picture with the story.

Everyone took a look at that motion graph.

Then, they laughed even harder.

Soon, some busied themselves writing the story, while the others engaged in making motion graphs. In the end, there came a set of “Fang Qiu’s face-slapping emoji packages”.

Netizens were having so much fun.

At first, as far as the netizens knew, in the face of this job offer sent by Taikang Pharmaceutical Company, Fang Qiu could only accept or reject this offer.

Some netizens had even analyzed the two options for Fang Qiu in advance, and they found that neither of the options was good for Fang Qiu.

But to their surprise, now there was a third way to answer.

This was a reply that no one had expected.

Fang Qiu seemed to be saying that he did not really wish to work for a company that was so careless about the quality of its products!

At the same time, other pharmaceutical companies were also amused.

“Serves them right!”

“Haha, they’ve already been scolded, but they dared to poke that hornet’s nest. They’re really looking for death!”

“The bullet hits the bird that pokes its head first. Fortunately, we laid low and waited.”

In private, those companies were all excited that Taikang Pharmaceutical Company got a slap in the face again. In the meantime, they also felt thankful for themselves because they refrained from contacting Fang Qiu and offering him a payment. Otherwise, who knew what would happen to them.

In Taikang Pharmaceutical Company.

Believing that the dust had settled, all the employees went home to have a rest. Ma Guoyong, the chairman of the board, also went off for a sauna and a massage.

Yet, the emergence of Fang Qiu's post immediately made all the members of the company thunderstruck.

Seeing this post, those in the public relations department of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company were all dumbfounded!

"Beep, beep, beep..."

At once, the phone of the staff member who proposed the plan began ringing.

The call was made by the Public Relations Manager.

"Is this the good idea you've come up with?"

A demanding voice came from the other end of the line.

"I don't know Fang Qiu is so difficult to deal with. And I've already presented my plan. He is too cunning. Besides, this mess is caused by other drugs with quality problems. It has nothing to do with my plan. At worst, I can resign!"

The staff member was irked, too.

"Um?"

The manager was stunned, and then his tone immediately softened. He quickly said, "I didn't mean to blame you. It's just that this Fang Qiu is too wily. Your plan is very good, but it didn't work as it was supposed to. I just said something unpleasant to the ear because I was really anxious. Don't do anything rash. Could you please rack your brain to see if there is any other way out?"

"Give me 10 minutes."

The staff member considered it for a moment and then quickly hung up the phone.

Chapter 566: Consulting Session for College Admission

"Now I can only consult Grandpa."

Hanging up the phone, the staff member gave a wry smile.

Though working in the public relations department, he was a kind-hearted man. Since he heard that there was something wrong with the drugs produced by his company, he had some bad feelings about the company.

He wanted to resign, but he knew how hard life was. He could never get such a high wage in other places, so he just forced himself to bear it the whole time.

Now, he was still putting up with it.

For the sake of his own future, he could only compromise.

He dialed a phone number and the call got through.

"Grandpa," the staff member called out respectfully.

Then, he said, "I want to ask you to do me a favor."

He quickly told his grandfather the situation he was facing and asked him to help him find a way out.

However, he had never expected that after his grandfather listened to the whole story, a roar of anger was suddenly heard at the other end of the line.

“You damn kid, do you want to irritate me to death?”

“I have been practicing martial arts all my life, and have always put virtue and morality before anything else. But you damn kid actually ask me to help you to perpetuate wicked deeds?”

“No, it’s you who have been holding the candle to the devil all the time. Now you want to drag me into this. You think your wings have grown strong enough to support yourself fly, don’t you? When you come back, I’ll definitely snap your wings!”

Hearing the angry reprimand, the staff member forced a smile and said, “Grandpa, I have no choice. Your grandson also has to make a living, as well as fulfill my filial responsibility for you. If I don’t keep this job, I won’t even be able to support myself. Then, how can I look after you? Do you want to see your grandson accomplish nothing for the rest of his life?”

“What’s wrong with that? It’s better than holding the candle to the devil!”

On the other end of the line, the old man’s anger had not faded yet.

“Well then.”

The staff member smiled apologetically and said, “Grandpa, I promise this will be the first and also last time. This sort of thing will never happen again in the future. I’ll tap into a different industry the moment I find a job that provides almost the same paycheck. Are you satisfied?”

“That’s more like it.”

The old man's voice came from the other end of the phone.

"Grandpa, see, I'm being pressed by my superior now. If you have any idea, please give me some advice. If you can't even help me, then your grandson will really lose his job," said the staff member.

"Nothing comes to my mind!"

A very straightforward voice came from the other side of the phone, saying, "The opponent must also be a master of Tai Chi. Even if he is not a master of the actual combat skills, at least he is a master of the theory. You can't win him at all."

"Even you can't do it?"

The staff member gave a hollow laugh.

"I can't."

On the other end of the phone, the voice said, "Because the other party has caught the 'sore point' of your company. No matter how hard your company struggles, it won't work. After all, your company is so corrupt. This kind of corrupt company should go bankrupt. How do you have the face to talk about losing your job with me? Now, move your ass back home. I forbid you to work for this kind of corrupted company. If I can't see you in three days, I will surely break your legs!"

With that, he directly hung up the phone.

"Humph!"

At the other end of the phone, a gray-haired old man, who had just hung up the phone, snorted angrily and snarled, "Who said there is no way out? But the premise is that you get something on the other party so that he will have to withdraw his own 'force'. Yet, can you really get anything on him?"

"Even if you can, I won't give you any advice!"

“This kind of evil-minded company should be shut down as soon as possible!”

The staff member of Taikang Pharmaceutical Company who had been hung up upon felt very helpless.

He had no alternative but to call the manager of the public relations department again.

“Do you have a solution?”

As soon as the call got through, the manager’s urgent question came from the other end.

“There’s nothing I can do,” the staff member said helplessly.

“Think again. There must be a way.”

The manager continued, “As long as you can find a good solution, I will recommend you to the chairman of the board and let you be the deputy manager of the public relations department. What do you think?”

“Manager, I’m sorry, I really have no way to fix this.”

The staff member shook his head and said, “If I have a way, I will definitely bring it up.”

“Humph!”

On the other end of the line came the vexed snort of the manager. He yelled, “Since you have no solution, come to the company and complete the resignation procedures tomorrow!”

“Manager...”

“Beep, beep, beep!”

The line was disconnected.

“Psst...”

Taking a deep breath, the staff member shook his head with a bitter smile and muttered, “I should have resigned earlier. What the hell with my getting fired now?”

In fact, he had already seen it coming.

The plan to hire Fang Qiu was put forward by him. But now Fang Qiu’s reply had caused a great loss to the company. If as expected, the company’s share price would continue to drop tomorrow, and its reputation on the Internet would only become worse and worse.

Although it had nothing to do with him, he was, anyway, the one who proposed this plan. So, he was the most suited person to take the blame.

The next day.

Surely, as soon as the stock market opened, the stocks of the six companies once again fell in a trice!

“Is it like the Milky Way falling from the highest heaven?”

“The stock price has dropped to a f*cking miserable level.”

“If it weren’t for the limit-down, these six companies would probably have gone bankrupt in a day’s time, wouldn’t they?”

On the third day.

The stock price of the six companies fell staying again!

Without any other choice, the six companies could only halt their stock trading.

Meanwhile, the National Food and Drug Administration also began to fiercely sweep the market, resulting in a violent tsunami in the domestic pharmaceutical market.

With the operation of the National Food and Drug Administration, the news about the discovery and confiscation of all sorts of substandard drugs appeared every day. A lot of pharmaceutical factories, whether unknown or famous, were immediately shut down after being found guilty.

Soon, the National Food and Drug Administration came to investigate the six companies led by Siqui Pharmaceutical Company that Fang Qiu had blown the whistle for. They even did not inform these six companies beforehand but directly entered the companies and started the investigation.

This kind of abrupt investigation gave the chairmen of the board of the six companies a great shock.

For a time, the executives, including the chairmen, board of directors, general managers, and directors of the six companies all hurriedly tried to bribe the investigation officers through their connections, hoping to leave a chance for their companies to stay open.

But in the end, no matter how hard they bribed or asked help from their connections, the officers were still resolute.

The National Food and Drug Administration was unshakable in its determination.

The investigation was non-negotiable!

For some time, the whole pharmaceutical industry was extremely jittery. The small companies and factories that had been secretly producing substandard drugs all closed their doors in haste. Some even hurried to change to other industries, trying to cover up their previous business of making substandard drugs.

In this situation, Fang Qiu undoubtedly became the common enemy of these evil-minded businessmen in the pharmaceutical industry. Many people were secretly cursing Fang Qiu.

Also, because of the great influence caused by this matter, the sales of all Chinese Medicines in the country fell sharply, and even the number of patients who asked for Chinese Medicine prescriptions decreased a lot.

The development of Chinese Medicine, which used to be feeble, had finally gone a little bit better recently. However, because of Fang Qiu's breaking news, it once again became downtrodden. From the current situation, it was even more feeble than before.

This led to many doctors of Chinese Medicine to be speechless with Fang Qiu.

They thought that Fang Qiu's act was uncalled for.

Yet, of course, those who felt speechless to Fang Qiu and even had a grudge against him were those who wanted to make money by means of Chinese Medicine rather than real Chinese Medicine doctors.

Those really wise doctors of Chinese Medicine were all praising Fang Qiu in private.

"Seems that this medicine storm will last for a long time."

"The longer it lasts, the better. It's better to completely take this tumor out."

"Yes, Fang Qiu did a good job this time."

"After this event, people will not dare to use defective Chinese Medicine for a long time in the future. In the long run, this will be very beneficial for Chinese Medicine. As long as the period of pain is over, the development of Chinese Medicine will officially enter a brand new stage."

A day later.

In Jiquan, Qilu Province.

The annual Consulting Session for College Admission took place.

The Consulting Session for College Admission was held in the International Exhibition Center of Jiquan.

That very day, those in charge of enrollment from more than 300 colleges and international educational institutions came to the scene to answer all the questions of all the students who had taken the college entrance examination.

Early in the morning, the International Exhibition Center received teachers and students from more than 300 schools.

As the consulting session had been determined a long time ago, the exhibition center had allocated all its resources according to the requirements.

The exhibition center had a total of two floors.

The stalls of the 300 universities had been assigned.

As a result, the representatives from the assorted universities just needed to find the stall assigned to them and set up a table.

Around 8 o'clock, the exhibition was closed.

That allowed the teachers and students from the 300 schools to make the final preparations.

In order to attract the candidates to consult at their stalls, the teachers and students of each university placed the recruitment handbooks in front of their own seats, as well as the introduction handbooks of that university. They also put up banners that said "Welcome Junior Classmates Come Home" and so on.

There was no surprise that the best-positioned stall in this consultation session was the one at the entrance of the International Exhibition Center.

Unfortunately, the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine was not assigned there. By contrast, it was placed on a relatively remote spot on the second floor.

The exhibition center was so big that even if some students came to look for the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine out of admiration, it was also very difficult for them to locate UJCM among more than stalls of 300 universities.

At this time, two teachers and three students were already sitting at the enrollment stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. The other universities had almost all dispatched such a team. Most of those sitting behind each stall were two teachers and three or four students.

“UJCM?”

During the preparation, many of the staff of the universities saw the board of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine and were staggered despite themselves.

UJCM was definitely one of the most competitive universities in this term’s recruitment!

After all, UJCM’s Fang Qiu had made a hit this year.

Up to now, the big revelation Fang Qiu made was still shocking the whole country.

“Never knew that UJCM’s stall is just next to ours. Do you think that Fang Qiu will come to the session?” asked a girl next to the stall.

“Don’t reveal your goo-goo eyes. How could Fang Qiu come here?”

“Yeah. If Fang Qiu comes, how can the other universities recruit any students?”

“You never know. Fang Qiu is now the spokesperson of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. It’s possible that he will come to take part in such a big event like recruiting students.”

“Take a look yourself. The teachers and students from UJCM who came for the consulting session are all seated there. But Fang Qiu is nowhere to be seen, am I right?”

At those words, the girl who asked the question deliberated for a while, then, she also felt that the hope was dim. So, she held her cheeks with both hands and lapsed into a beautiful fantasy.

Over here, the two teachers and two sophomores from UJCM looked left and right with a confused look on their faces!

Chapter 567: Fang Qiu Giving out Leaflets

“Professor, why have we been sent here?”

At the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, a sophomore looked blankly at the teacher sitting next to him.

The other two students and the two teachers also looked puzzled.

The University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine was at least a school with some fame. How come its stall was assigned to this darn place?

They did not really mind being placed on the second floor. But since the stall was also assigned on a rather remote spot, they could not help but doubt whether the exhibition center wanted them to have a chance to recruit new students.

The two teachers from the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine also appeared to be depressed.

Originally, with Fang Qiu's fame, the university could definitely attract a lot of people to consult about the recruitment. But who knew that their stall was placed here?

"There's nothing we can do."

Another teacher who knew the inside story gave a wry smile and remarked, "I heard that it's rumored that the other universities have reached a unanimous opinion. They said that the influence of our university is so great that it will affect their admission consultation, so they have unanimously decided to place us here."

Upon hearing that, the three sophomores of UJCM at the stall immediately felt both proud and indignant.

They were proud because their university had fully shown its influence and it even started to scare other universities.

And what made them indignant was that those universities actually joined hands to suppress UJCM. It was really shameless!

"It's understandable if you think about it."

A teacher nodded and said, "It seems that this year's enrollment is relatively easy. In the past few years, very few people came to our place to consult. Moreover, many of the students we recruited were those who accepted redeployment. But things might be a little different this year."

"After all, there is a Fang Qiu in our university." The other teacher chuckled.

At the thought of Fang Qiu, they couldn't help being proud.

In contrast to the two teachers, the three students just looked at each other and smiled bitterly.

Judging from the conversation of the two teachers, the three of them were all the students who had been redeployed there.

Even so, the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine's minimum passing score was usually a little higher than those of the first-rate universities. There were slight differences between various majors, but generally speaking, the enrollment marks were more or less the same.

Therefore, those who were admitted to UJCM all had real capabilities. Yet, compared with Fang Qiu, they could only be regarded as redeployed appliers.

"By the way," a slightly flabby teacher, who was already sitting behind the consulting desk, said while unscrewing his bottle of water, "I heard from the school that there will be another student coming later."

"Em?"

The three students were dazed. One of them immediately asked, "Professor Yang, if so, why didn't he come with us?"

Professor Yang shook his head, then, said with some curiosity, "Maybe he has other things to attend to first. Anyway, it's good to have one more helping hand. Otherwise, the five of us might not be enough to handle this consulting session."

"Yeah."

Another well-proportioned teacher nodded.

Shortly, it was 9 o'clock in the morning.

The consultation meeting officially began.

At the high-speed railway station in Jiquan, Fang Qiu, wearing a cap and a mask, just got off the train.

Walking out of the high-speed railway station, Fang Qiu took out his mobile phone and logged into his Weibo account.

“The students who have taken this year’s college entrance examination, my future junior classmates, and the lovely staff working hard at the Consulting Session for College Admission, here I come!”

The post was sent.

Then, Fang Qiu put his phone away.

He just went out of the high-speed railway station. Without hesitation, Fang Qiu got into a taxi waiting for guests at the gate and headed straight for the International Exhibition Center in Jiquan.

A long time ago, Chen Yinsheng talked with Fang Qiu about college enrollment. At that time, Fang Qiu had already promised to help with the enrollment. So, as soon as the Consulting Session for College Admission began, Chen Yinsheng immediately asked Fang Qiu to rush to the session. His purpose was to recruit more students from Qilu Province, for those students were down-to-earth, diligent, and hard-working. Also, the passing score was quite favorable for Qilu Province. Those students were very suitable to study Chinese Medicine. Therefore, Chen Yinsheng wanted Fang Qiu to go to this event in person.

When the consulting session officially began, countless students and their parents, who had been waiting outside the exhibition center, immediately rushed in and began to consult the minimum passing score of each university to see if they had a chance to be admitted.

However, most of those students and parents stayed on the first floor.

In comparison, people on the second floor were much fewer.

The most important thing was that the universities arranged on the first floor were obviously the top ones.

When the students and parents saw the names of those first-rate universities, their feet were simply glued on the first floor. Regardless of the high passing score, they still squeezed their way to the stalls to ask all sorts of questions. After confirming that they had no hope of being admitted, they bitterly turned to the next university. And for those who were sure to get into that university, they would still consult at the stall for a long time, and then went to the next one to consult the same issues for comparison.

On the second floor, the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine was not busy at all.

Because there were not many people on the second floor and their stall was located in a remote position, few people came to consult for the time being.

Nevertheless, though the consulting session had already begun, there was still a student who hadn't arrived.

The two teachers were both slightly dissatisfied.

"Why hasn't this guy come yet? Do all the students like to put on airs now?"

Professor Yang, the slightly overweight teacher, complained to himself.

"Alas, our students nowadays don't even pay attention to enrollment. How could he be still late on such an important day!"

The other teacher began to criticize the student being late.

"By the way," Professor Yang suddenly asked, "Old Li, do you have the last student's phone number?"

"No, I don't."

Professor Li shook his head and said, "I was going to ask you. Well, the students nowadays know nothing about punctuality."

“Never mind it.”

Professor Yang shook his head and said with a smile, “We don’t have many visitors at the stall. And there is certainly not a shortage of manpower yet. Let’s just do the work by ourselves for a while.”

After that, everyone began to perform their duties.

As time went on, more and more people came to the second floor.

Soon, a few students gathered around the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. They all admired the university and came specifically to look for its consulting stall.

The first that came to the stall was a very comely young man.

“Hello, professors.”

The young man took a look at the banner first. After making sure that he had found the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, he headed toward the consulting desk with a smile and took a seat. The young man greeted the two professors first and then inquired, “I really, really want to apply for a Chinese Medicine university. I’ve got 600 marks in the science major. Could I be admitted?”

“There should be no problem.”

Professor Yang smiled merrily and said to the young man, “600 is already a high score. This year’s passing line is 440. And we no longer have different passing lines for differently-rated majors as we had in previous years. So, this passing line is basically the line for second-rate majors. And based on the previous cases, the line for first-rate majors is around 540. So, 600 is a very good score. There shouldn’t be any problem for your admission.”

“Really?”

The young man’s eyes lit up at once.

“Really. Since you have the intention of applying for the Chinese Medicine major, I will introduce the majors of our university to you first,” Professor Yang said with a smile.

“Professor, don’t bother. All I want is to see Fang Qiu.”

The young man immediately shook his head and waved his hand to stop Professor Yang from getting to the introduction of the majors. After that, he quickly asked, “Will I see Fang Qiu in the university if I get admitted?”

“Yes, you will!”

At the side, a sophomore student nodded with great certainty and said, “Fang Qiu will become a sophomore next term.”

“That’s great.”

The young man was very happy.

Afterward, the two teachers and three students received a couple of students who had taken the college entrance examination. Those people had looked specifically for UJCM. As expected, they had all come here for Fang Qiu.

On the other side, when Fang Qiu’s post was released, it immediately caused a big stir in his fan group.

“Gee! Fang Qiu actually went to the Consulting Session for College Admission?”

“Which place’s Consulting Session for College Admission did he go?”

“Did he really go there?”

“Those in the third year of high school, do take a good look around when you go to the Consulting Session for College Admission. Maybe Fang Qiu is next to you.”

In all kinds of exclamations, some people proposed such an idea. As a result, all the students attending the consulting session began to check around for Fang Qiu.

Many college-student-to-be responded with enthusiasm.

“Didn’t see him at the one in Shangqiu, Zhongzhou Province!”

“Not in Linzi, Qilu Province.”

At 9:30 a.m., after half an hour’s taxi drive, Fang Qiu finally arrived at the gate of the International Exhibition Center in Jiquan.

On the way, he had already been informed of the position of the stall, so he didn’t need to look for it. After getting out of the car, without even taking the hat or the mask off, Fang Qiu directly weaved his way through the crowd and went up to the second floor.

“Professors and fellow students, sorry I’m late.”

Before he arrived at the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, Fang Qiu quickly apologized to the two teachers and students before even removing his hat and mask.

“You’re not too late.”

Professor Yang smiled and said, “Change your clothes first.”

Fang Qiu hurriedly went to change his clothes.

“The student who just arrived—”

As soon as Fang Qiu went out after changing his clothes, Professor Li handed him a stack of leaflets and said, "There are too few people coming to the second floor. The stall of our university is not well-located. It can't go on like this. You go to those crowded places and distribute these leaflets. Let's see how it works then."

"All right."

Fang Qiu took the leaflets, and then, went to the first floor at once.

Although he had changed his clothes, his hat and mask were still on.

Of course, Fang Qiu had no intention of exposing his identity.

If he pompously showed who he was in public but no one turned out to know him or gave him face though they knew him, how embarrassing it would be!

In order to prevent this possible embarrassment, Fang Qiu could only start distributing the leaflets as he was told.

"Hello. Nice to meet you..."

Coming to the first floor, Fang Qiu sent out leaflets while greeting the people who cast curious looks at him from both sides.

"Hey, the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine?"

A young man took a leaflet, glanced at it, then, immediately ran back to Fang Qiu and asked, "Are you a senior at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine?"

"Yes."

Fang Qiu nodded as confirmation.

“Great, I’ve been looking for the stall of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, but I haven’t found it yet. Can you tell me where the consulting desk of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine is?” asked the young man.

Fang Qiu held up his hand and pointed at the stall.

“Thank you. I’ll go and have a look later.”

The young man thanked him, then turned around and left with a smile.

After that, Fang Qiu continued to distribute the leaflets.

Yet, every time Fang Qiu handed out a leaflet, the people taking the leaflet came to ask where the consulting desk of UJCM was. Everyone showed great interest in UJCM and said that they would definitely go to have a look.

Fang Qiu gradually came to the gate while handing out the leaflets.

Fang Qiu casually offered another person a leaflet and was about to move forward. Just then, his arm was suddenly grabbed by someone.

He turned around to have a look.

It was the precise young man who took his leaflet a moment ago!

Medical Master

Chapter 568: Treating a Patient Right on the Spot!

“What can I do for you?” asked Fang Qiu.

“Psst...”

The young man snuffled hard, rubbed his red nose, and then asked in an obviously sick voice, “You are from the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. Have you ever seen Fang Qiu?”

Looking at the young man, Fang Qiu gave a furtive smile behind the mask.

Apparently, this young man had caught a cold, and the cold was quite severe. It seemed that he didn’t want to miss the consulting session, so he came over despite his illness.

“Yes, I have.”

Fang Qiu nodded at once and said, “If you get admitted, you will see him as well.”

“Thank you.”

The young man nodded, thanked him, then turned around and left.

Fang Qiu continued to distribute leaflets.

After staying on the first floor for about half an hour, Fang Qiu finally handed out all the leaflets he had.

As a matter of fact, the leaflets did have led a lot of people to the consulting desk of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine.

“Seems that I don’t need to show my face at all!”

With a stir of his mind, Fang Qiu murmured to himself, “Well, it appears that I don’t really need to rely on my good looks to make a living. Although I didn’t show my face here, there are still legends about me in this place!”

At this thought, Fang Qiu smiled gleefully behind the mask, ready to go back to the second floor to get more leaflets.

However, just as he walked to the staircase, he heard a sudden commotion from not far away.

Hearing the disturbance, Fang Qiu immediately looked over his shoulder.

Immediately, he saw that the young man who had a serious cold abruptly collapsed to the ground while walking, which gave the people nearby quite a turn.

And the young man’s parents, who had been by his side all along, instantly panicked.

They quickly bent over and helped the young man get up.

Seeing this, Fang Qiu hurriedly ran to him.

Upon taking a closer look, Fang Qiu came to the conclusion that the young man surely had caught a cold. Adding that there were too many people here, the ventilation was not very well, and the crowds were very noisy, the young man couldn’t hold on any longer and fell unconscious onto the ground.

“Leave it to me. I can treat him.”

Rushing to the center of the racket, Fang Qiu immediately told the father of the young man.

The crowd nearby who had just recovered from the shock and was stunned.

“Who is this person?”

“Is he a doctor?”

“Hey, he seems to wear the uniform of University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine!”

Everyone rested their eyes at Fang Qiu.

The clothes Fang Qiu was wearing were indeed printed with the words “University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine”.

Instantly, everyone was enlightened.

“This is the university that Fang Qiu is studying at, isn’t it?”

“Are you a student at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine?”

The young man’s father asked.

“Yes.”

Fang Qiu nodded affirmatively.

“Come on, take a look. Why did my kid faint?”

Without any hesitation, the young man’s father quickly handed him over to Fang Qiu.

Having obtained the consent of the patient’s parents, Fang Qiu did not hesitate anymore.

He took a big step forward and came to the young man's father.

"Leave it to me."

Grasping the young man's shoulder with one hand, Fang Qiu assured the young man's father. Then he quickly peeled off the young man's shirt so that his back was completely exposed.

After that, Fang Qiu directly steadied the young man's body with his left hand, while his right hand swiftly pressed against the upper side of the spine.

"Up you go!"

With a stir of his mind, the internal Qi inside Fang Qiu started running quickly to the palm of his right hand.

With the internal Qi pouring in, Fang Qiu felt that his entire palm had slightly hardened.

A glint flashed in his eyes.

Fang Qiu's right hand suddenly slid down along the spine and tore straight to the rump bone!

As Fang Qiu's hand slid down the spine, two streaks of black and purple immediately appeared on the young man's back, which seemed to be dyed, or as if he had been heavily hit.

Next to him, the faces of the young man's parents instantly turned pale at this scene. They were afraid that Fang Qiu might hurt their children even more.

The people around also gasped one after another.

But of course, among the spectators, many teachers from various universities and parents with sharp eyes could see that what Fang Qiu was doing now was Scraping Treatment!

It was widely known among the folks as a way to cure patients.

In the field of Chinese Medicine, the Scraping Treatment was guided by the theories on meridians and acupoints. With the special scraping tools and the corresponding hand-moving method, the therapist dipped the tool in a certain medium and repeatedly scraped and rubbed on the skin, causing the skin to be covered by red dots or crimson bloodspots. This was a way of detoxing and improving blood circulation.

Although many people had known about the Scraping Treatment, yet no one had seen someone performing the treatment solely with his hand!

Moreover, by scraping just once, blatant red dots already emerged. How great the force was? It was no wonder that the young man's parents were frightened.

"Ah..."

Just when the young man's parents were going to go forward to take a look and stop Fang Qiu from continuing, the unconscious young man suddenly woke up. He opened his mouth and uttered a painful groan, and his limbs began to struggle, but he had no strength to support himself at all.

Seeing his reaction, Fang Qiu continued to hold him with his left hand, preventing him from moving.

"Don't move."

Fang Qiu whispered in the young man's ear as he held him steady.

Upon hearing that, the young man, who had just woken up, immediately turned around. He looked at Fang Qiu with a puzzled face and asked, "What are you doing?"

“I’m treating you.”

Fang Qiu smiled.

Then, his right hand moved again, and the surge of internal Qi instantly made his palm heat up.

As his arm waved, Fang Qiu’s palm immediately pressed down on the young man’s Dazhui point.

“Um?”

The young man shuddered and shouted feebly, “It’s so hot!”

He felt that Fang Qiu’s hand was burning his spine like a fire.

Unable to bear the incredible heat, the young man struggled to get out of Fang Qiu’s grip. Yet, all of a sudden, he no longer felt burningly hot. That flow of heat seemed to be lessened a lot in an instant.

Moreover, he also felt a cool airflow coming from the hand on his back, going down along his spine and then down to his legs. Then, it ran up in a circle, directly flowed to his chest, then and poured into his arms. At last, it went through his head and returned to Fang Qiu’s hand.

At that moment, the young man only felt refreshed from head to toe!

The previous pain was gone, and the heat was gone, too.

Even the weakness the cold had brought him had also vanished.

Now, it was replaced with warmth and a particularly comfortable feeling.

Soon, beads of perspiration seeped out from his forehead. His stuffed-up nose now completely returned to normal.

It was as if he had been reborn.

The young man turned his head and stared at Fang Qiu in shock.

“You... are amazing!”

Fang Qiu beamed at him.

In fact, it was the first time for Fang Qiu to treat a patient with the Scraping Treatment. Although there were no special scraping instruments or mediums, he still got his internal Qi.

With the help of the internal qi, performing the Scraping Treatment was obviously much easier.

The reason why Fang Qiu chose the Scraping Treatment was that he noticed this young man had a serious cold. Since he had caught a cold, the treatment was to get rid of the cold.

There was no doubt that, as a Chinese Medicine major, Fang Qiu naturally knew that discharging the cold from the Governing Vessel was the best.

So he chose to directly start with the spine, employing his mental power to observe the patient's insides. Then, he utilized his internal Qi to expel all the cold from the patient.

After that, he injected his internal Qi into the young man's body, which could somewhat nourish the young man's weak body, and remove the small amount of remaining cold in the young man's body as well!

After doing all this, Fang Qiu let go of the patient and heaved with a sigh of relief.

The young man in front of him was no longer the same person he saw before. “I, I...”

The young man was not weak anymore. Instead, he stood on his own feet, sniffing hard but not as worn out as he was. Then, he turned to Fang Qiu and asked, “I’m all healed?”

“Yes!”

Fang Qiu nodded his head as if it were a matter of course.

At that, everyone in the surroundings was amazed.

They just saw with their own eyes that this young man had fainted because of serious cold. How could he recover in a blink of an eye?

And it was the Scraping Treatment that cured him!

Because many people had learned about the Scraping Treatment, the crowd was aware that the Scraping Treatment could indeed cure a cold, but the effect could not kick in so quickly.

And the most crucial part was that no one had ever seen anyone perform the Scraping Treatment like this.

His treatment actually removed the illness that plagued the patient. That was the most amazing part.

No, it was not just amazing. It was simply magic!

“Whoa, the students at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine are really outstanding. Any one of them is so awesome.”

“He really knows his stuff!”

“If I learned this method, would I ever be afraid of catching a cold in the future?”

For a moment, everyone began to discuss the incident.

At this time, the young man’s parents hurriedly walked up to him and fetched him a glass of hot water from nowhere. They helped the young man take two sips.

“Mom, Dad, I’m healed,” the young man said with a grin.

“Really?”

While asking, the young man’s mother reached out and touched the young man’s forehead. She found that it was not as hot as before. Then, she said, “It seems that you’re really cured.”

“You’re really a young hero!”

The young man’s father immediately strode over, patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder, and remarked, “Thank you very much for treating my son. Thank you so much.”

“I’m a Chinese Medicine major.”

Fang Qiu answered with a nod.

Upon hearing that, the students around suddenly widened their eyes.

They felt that what Fang Qiu just did was very cool. And when matched with that “I am a Chinese Medicine major”, Fang Qiu appeared to be so cool that words had failed the crowd.

Apart from the students applying for college, their parents present were also discussing and nodding their heads.

“In fact, it’s not bad to let our child study medicine. At least, it won’t be troublesome when he needs to see a doctor.”

“Yeah. The University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine is great. To say the least, with this skill the boy just performed, you can save the money of buying cold cures for a lifetime.”

“Chinese Medicine is pretty popular recently. Why don’t we go and have a look?”

“In the past, there is a saying that if you don’t have good looks, just try to be a good doctor!”

“Come on, let’s go to the consulting desk of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine to ask about the admission.”

The crowd stirred.

“Hi, student, where is the consulting desk of your University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine?”

A parent asked Fang Qiu.

“It’s on the second floor. Over there.”

Fang Qiu pointed it out.

As soon as he pointed the way, the parents and students around him immediately rushed up to the second floor.

The first floor, which was originally packed, became a lot emptier in an instant.

When the teachers and students of the other universities saw this scene, they were all flabbergasted!

“What the hell is going on?”

“Why are these people all dashing to the second floor?”

Medical Master

Chapter 569: Fang Qiu Was Recognized!

On the first floor, the teachers and students of all universities were all confused.

“This is the place with the most famous schools gathering. It’s already crowded in the early morning. With the development of the Consulting Session for College Admission, there should be more and more students coming to consult the people of each university.”

Why did they all run to the second floor in just a blink of an eye?

On the second floor, which had been quiet for a long time, suddenly came so many people. It immediately attracted the attention of the teachers and students of the universities on the second floor.

Seeing so many people, the students of the universities on the second floor began to introduce their schools to the people coming to their direction.

However, when one of them just grabbed one person and was ready to introduce his university, the student asked first, “Where is the consultation desk of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine?”

The students of all the other universities had already encountered such an awkward situation at the same time.

Helplessly, they could only guide the way.

As a result, a large group of people ran to the consulting desk of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine.

Just a few minutes later, the corridor in front of the consulting desk of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine was crowded with people.

Although the place was remote and the corridor was relatively shorter, one could still clearly see a large group of people outside the corridor.

Under the envious eyes of the teachers and students of other universities, a dense crowd rushed to the consulting desk of UJCM.

As they saw this, the two teachers and three students of the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine were dumbfounded.

There were only a few people at the last moment. How could there be so many people in the blink of an eye?

“Don’t push, everyone. Safety first.”

Seeing the dense crowd, Mr. Yang immediately stood up and shouted.

When everyone quieted down, he asked the student and his parents who were the first to rush to the desk, “What’s wrong? Why did all the people on the first floor come to the second floor?”

“You tell me.” The parents of the student smiled amiably and said, “Your school’s students are really amazing. Just now, the student who handed out leaflets of your school cured a student who had a severe cold on the spot. Everyone saw that an ordinary student could be so powerful, so they all came here to consult you and see if their children are suitable for your school.”

Upon hearing that, Mr. Yang turned around in surprise.

But he found that Mr. Li and the three students next to him were also very surprised.

“Are you saying that he just cured the student on the spot?” Mr. Yang asked again.

“Yes, he was cured. His severe cold has been completely cured. He also caught up with us. He is just behind us.” The student’s parents answered.

The two teachers and three students were even more amazed.

Was there such a talent in their university? They had never heard of him.

Although they were very confused at the moment, the teachers and students didn’t dare to say it. After all, it was a bit inappropriate to say it at this moment.

So many people came here to consult because of their reputation. If they doubted this matter, they would be embarrassed.

They had to ask who this powerful student was after they finished the consultation.

Then the two teachers immediately called the students together to deal with the consultation.

The consultation began.

After many students taking the college entrance examination learned something about the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine, they all filled in the forms and left their contact information.

Such a heated consultation scene made people of the other universities around so jealous!

On the first floor, Fang Qiu saw more than half of the people walking away. He didn't hesitate and hurried to go upstairs to help.

After being busy for more than an hour, he finally finished dealing with all the people who came up to consult about their university.

The crowd finally scattered.

The teachers and students of UJCM, as well as Fang Qiu, heaved a sigh of relief at the same time.

Actually, it was because there were too many people in line, so lots of people went to other places to consult first. It was estimated that there would be another group of people coming later.

"Come on, come on. Drink some water and rest for a while." Mr. Yang shouted.

Upon hearing that, a student immediately carried a box of mineral water that had been prepared and handed over a bottle to Fang Qiu.

Everyone was thirsty after a busy morning.

Fang Qiu didn't say anything and directly took off his mask to drink.

Standing next to him, the student who handed the water to Fang Qiu took a gulp of water. He then took a deep breath and relaxed a little. Then he turned his head and wanted to ask Fang Qiu what had happened on the first floor. But as soon as his eyes fell on Fang Qiu's face, he was immediately stunned!

Then, "Fang Qiu!" As if seeing something incredible, the student suddenly burst out a roar with his eyes full of surprise.

In front of the consulting desk, the two teachers, who were also drinking water, turned their heads and saw Fang Qiu drinking water. They were caught off guard and directly squirted out a mouthful of water.

The other two students were also dumbfounded!

“It’s actually Fang Qiu?”

The student who was assigned by the school and was late for a long while was actually Fang Qiu?

There was no doubt that everyone in the school knew Fang Qiu.

He was not only a student at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine but also a popular star on Weibo now. Although he didn’t release an album or shoot a film, he got over ten million followers on Weibo.

How could they not be surprised at that such a superstar had come to the consultation?

“Fang Qiu, why are you here?” Mr. Yang stood up and asked in surprise.

“The school arranged it.”

Fang Qiu smiled at Mr. Yang and said, “The school leader asked me to enroll more students.”

Upon hearing that, the teachers and three students immediately thought of what had happened on the first floor, which they just heard from the student’s father.

At this moment, everyone suddenly understood.

It turned out to be Fang Qiu.

It was no wonder that the patient could be cured on the spot.

However, he must be seriously ill as he could pass out when he caught a cold. How did Fang Qiu cure him?

“Fang Qiu?” Mr. Li, who had not spoken for a long time, also stood up and asked, “Just now, a student’s father said that you cured a student who fainted because of serious cold on the first floor. Is that true?”

“Yes.” Fang Qiu nodded and said, “At that time, I just finished handing out the leaflets. As I saw him pass out, I went over to treat him.”

“What method did you use?”

Mr. Li continued to ask with curiosity, “How can you cure him right on the spot?”

“The Scraping Treatment.”

Fang Qiu replied with a smile, “And I used a little Qi.”

As they heard that, the two teachers were shocked at first, and then they nodded at the same time.

It wasn’t impossible to cure a serious cold with the scraping method. Plus, with the mysterious Qi, it was normal to cure it on the spot.

After all, his Qi could even cure cancer.

Just when everyone was staring at Fang Qiu and inquiring about what had just happened, a student of another school also heard the noise and immediately turned around to see what was going on.

First, he took a look at Fang Qiu, and then he looked at the other people of UJCM.

After looking through all the people, he found that something was wrong.

“What’s going on?” He thought.

Suddenly, he felt that a boy seemed to be very familiar.

Then, he turned to see Fang Qiu’s face.

In an instant, the student suddenly widened his eyes. As he stared at Fang Qiu, he suddenly shouted in surprise, “Fang Qiu!”

As he shouted, the students of the other universities also turned around one after another.

When they saw Fang Qiu, they were all very surprised and shouted loudly.

“Fang Qiu, it’s Fang Qiu!”

“That’s why he looks so familiar. It turns out to be Fang Qiu!”

“Fang Qiu actually came?”

With an exclamation of the teachers and students of the nearby universities, the news of Fang Qiu’s appearance quickly spread.

Some students who were inquiring on the second floor heard it.

Without any hesitation, they ran over to him one after another.

In less than a minute, all the people present in the session knew that Fang Qiu had come!

“Really? Did Fang Qiu really come?”

“Is it that Fang Qiu of the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor?”

“Fang Qiu from the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine actually came?”

“Oh, my god. It’s really Fang Qiu!”

“Master Fang Qiu? I can’t believe I can actually run into Master Fang Qiu. I’m so lucky!”

For a moment, all the people present burst into an uproar.

Not only the examinees who came to consult, but even the parents who accompanied these examinees to consult were excited.

He was a star, an idol!

There were mixed feelings of surprise and excitement.

Everyone ran to the second floor one after another.

This time, there were more people than the last time!

The examinees on the first floor and their parents ran to the second floor without any hesitation.

Just a few minutes later, the first floor, which had just a little lively atmosphere, was empty in an instant. It was even emptier than last time. There were only a few people who were still consulting. If it were not for too many people who rushed up to the second floor, perhaps even these people wouldn’t stay.

On Weibo, everyone was still excluding the consulting sessions one by one. They were all waiting to know which Consulting Session for College Admission Fang Qiu would go. At once, someone left a comment on Fang Qiu's Weibo.

"Found it! Master Fang Qiu showed up at the Consulting Session for College Admission in Jiquan of Qilu Province!"

This comment was attached to a photo of Fang Qiu standing behind a booth of UJCM. Although the photo was not very clear, it could be confirmed that the person in the photo was Fang Qiu!

After this message was posted, people who saw it all gave likes one after another. In just two or three minutes, it was sent directly to the top position of the hot comments, so that everyone could see it clearly.

It was confirmed that Fang Qiu was in the International Exhibition Center of Jiquan city.

All of a sudden, all the netizens on Weibo went crazy.

Some complained that why Fang Qiu didn't go to their city and some expressed their envy to the people in Jiquan City.

Of course, the people in Jiquan City started a group in surprise and excitement to go to the International Exhibition Center to find Fang Qiu!

At the same time, in a cafe 500 meters away from the International Exhibition Center of Jiquan City, "Zhang Guangshou, nice to meet you. I am the person in charge of the enrollment office of Capital University. This is our student in the school."

In front of a square table, a middle-aged man and a young man sat opposite a young man of 17 or 18 years old.

"Nice to meet you." The young boy named Zhang Guangshou greeted them very politely.

“Our purpose here this time is to tell you about the information about different majors at Capital University and the study progress of our school.”

The middle-aged man said with a smile, “You should know that the Liberal arts and Sciences of our university is the best. You are the top scorer of Sciences in Jiquan City this year. Compared with other universities, Capital University is undoubtedly your best choice.”

As he spoke, the middle-aged man introduced information on all majors of Capital University, as well as various possible benefits that the young boy could get if he got into the university.

Medical Master

Chapter 570: Let’s See How You Treat A Patient!

Meanwhile, in a restaurant not far from the International Exhibition Center of Jiquan City, there was also a middle-aged man and a young man sitting by the same table as a 17-year-old teenager.

The middle-aged man asked, “Wang Pei, where are your parents?”

“My parents won’t affect my choice, so they want me to make my own decision about the national college application,” The teenager named Wang Pei said.

“You’re quite independent.” The middle-aged man glanced at the person next to him with a smile and said, “Let’s get down to business then. You are the top scorer of liberal arts in Jiquan City this year. I believe you have already compared the information about Qinghua University with Capital University. You are studying liberal arts, and the applied subjects of our school are the best. If you want to choose an engineering major, you must come to Qinghua.”

“I did learn something about the Qinghua University.”

Wang Pei nodded politely and said, “I know that Qinghua University has a relatively detailed division of the subjects of engineering, which has great strength.”

“This is the information about Qinghua University. Let me give you a detailed introduction.”

The middle-aged man took out the materials and handed them to Wang Pei, ready to elaborate.

But at this moment, “Buzz buzz...”

Wang Pei’s phone was vibrating.

“Excuse me.” Wang Pei smiled embarrassedly and took out his phone to take a look, only to find a text message from his classmate.

The content of the text message was, “Fang Qiu appeared at the Consulting Session for College Admission. He’s still in the International Exhibition Center. Hurry up!”

As he saw this text message, Wang Pei was slightly taken aback. Then, he immediately put away his phone and stood up.

“What happened?” The middle-aged man from Qinghua University’s enrollment office was also taken aback. Confused, he asked, “Is, is something wrong?”

“Sorry, I’ve got an emergency.” Wang Pei said apologetically.

“What’s the matter? Why are you in such a hurry?” The middle-aged man raised his eyebrows and asked, “Do you need any help?”

“There’s no need.” Wang Pei hurriedly shook his head and said, “It’s Fang Qiu. I have to go and have a look. I’m really sorry.”

After that, he directly turned around and ran all the way to the International Exhibition Center.

Zhang Guangshou, the top scorer of sciences in Jiquan City, was talking with the teacher from the enrollment office of Capital University and also saw that his class’s WeChat group was flashing with messages.

As he asked, it turned out that Fang Qiu had come!

“Sir.” With his mobile phone in hand, Zhang Guangshou stood up and called the teacher of the Capital University’s enrollment office. He bowed respectfully to the teacher and said, “Sorry, I have something to do and I need to leave now.”

“What’s that?” The teacher was dumbfounded.

“Here’s the thing.” Zhang Guangshou said with a smile, “Fang Qiu has come to Consulting Session for College Admission. I’m going to have a look.”

After that, he started to run.

At this moment, both the teachers and students from the enrollment office of Capital University and Qinghua University frowned, feeling that something was off.

Immediately, all of them chased after the students.

As a result, they didn’t catch up with the students but ran into each other instead.

As soon as the people of the two universities met, they found that the situation they encountered was exactly the same.

It should be known that these two were the top scorers of the whole Jiquan City.

Although the people of these two universities didn’t discuss, they tacitly chose a suitable one for their own university and tried to get them to apply. But they didn’t expect that before they could persuade them, the two top scorers actually ran away.

However, they ran away because of Fang Qiu.

Both the people of the two universities were anxious.

They were worried that Fang Qiu would make the two top scorers of college entrance examination apply for UJCM, so they immediately walked together to the Jiquan City's International Exhibition Center.

A few minutes later, when they walked into the International Exhibition Center, the people of the two universities were all stunned.

In front of them, the entire first floor of the center was almost empty. There were only several people. The teachers and students of other schools smiled wryly.

As they looked up, compared with the empty first floor, the second floor was crowded with people. It seemed that there was not even a single spot that could fit one more person.

Not only the people of the enrollment offices of the two universities but the two top scorers who came to the center in advance were also shocked by the scene in front of them!

The organizers sensed that something was wrong and were afraid that there would be an accident with so many people on the second floor. Therefore, they could only send security guards all the way to the second floor and quickly protect Fang Qiu.

"Fang Qiu." A staff member of the organizer came up with the security guards and called Fang Qiu, "There are too many people here. We're afraid that something bad will happen if they keep squeezing. Besides, most of this space has been occupied by the consulting booth of the universities, so it's not easy to make an arrangement here now. Therefore, we want to invite you to the B1 exhibition hall next to us. There is no event being held there, which is safer."

"All right." Fang Qiu nodded at once.

"Watch out, everyone. Don't push." Under the protection of the security guard, Fang Qiu told the crowd around him as he went out.

Fortunately, there were a lot of parents present, so the order was maintained quite well.

A few minutes later, under the lead of the security guard, Fang Qiu came to another exhibition hall next door.

Just as the staff said, there was nothing in the hall, which was particularly empty.

But as soon as Fang Qiu entered, the students and parents of the Consulting Session for College Admission also came, and soon the entire hall was crowded with people.

As for the hall where Consulting Session for College Admission should be held, the first and second floors of the hall were empty as soon as people had left.

Even many students from universities who came to recruit freshmen also followed Fang Qiu to the examination hall here.

There was no other way.

It was not that they didn't want to recruit students, but there was really no one coming to them.

Everyone wanted to see Fang Qiu.

Since they couldn't recruit students anyway, they might as well go with them to see what Fang Qiu would do.

They went to another exhibition hall.

Under the leading of the security guard, Fang Qiu came directly to the stage in the center of the hall.

At this time, the audio equipment had been prepared on the stage.

A staff member came forward and handed the microphone to Fang Qiu while saying, "Everything is ready here. We can't let people follow you everywhere. The Consulting Session for College Admission still has to go on. You can do whatever you want and say a few words to people."

"All right." Fang Qiu took the microphone with a wry smile.

If it were a celebrity in the entertainment circle, it would be regarded as a commercial performance, wouldn't it?

Although he was still in a daze about why he suddenly appeared on the stage, he could only do at the request of the organizers since the staff said so and there were so many people at the scene.

However, all the people who came to participate in the Consulting Session for College Admission were gathered here. Wasn't it a great opportunity to publicize Chinese Medicine?

A thought flashed through his mind.

Fang Qiu turned on the microphone and said, "Thank you for your warm welcome. Thank you very much."

As soon as Fang Qiu opened his mouth, all the people present focused on him at once.

The noise gradually faded, and the hall soon became quiet.

"Actually." On the stage, Fang Qiu looked at all the people and said, "This time, I am arranged by the school leaders to serve you. They told me that the students of Qilu Province are very suitable for studying Chinese Medicine because they are earnest and hard-working. You must be living up to the reputation, right?"

Under the stage, the students nodded and their parents were also very happy.

Fang Qiu took a deep breath, pressed his lips, and continued with a smile, “A year ago, like every one of you, I was also a college candidate. But at that time, my purpose was very clear. I wanted to apply for the University of Chinese Medicine, so I became a student at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine. I can tell you that I don’t have any regrets this year, because I have seen the charm of Chinese Medicine in the past year, and I have experienced the achievement and happiness of saving lives and healing injuries.”

“I know that in today’s society, we need all kinds of talents. Everyone has different talents and interests. And each of us has our own preferences.”

“However, Chinese Medicine is the precious wealth left by our ancestors in Huaxia. It needs to be inherited and carried forward by descendants. My ability is limited. Now there are only a few talents in the whole Chinese medicine industry, so we need more ambitious people.”

Speaking of this, Fang Qiu slightly frowned and revealed a trace of sadness on his face, as if he was sad for the decline of talents in Chinese Medicine. He continued, “Of course, I won’t deliberately persuade you to choose Chinese Medicine as your major. I know that you have your own choices. I just want to ask those students who are interested in Chinese Medicine to take Chinese Medicine into consideration.”

“Not only the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine but also other Chinese Medicine colleges are the same!”

Speaking of this, Fang Qiu glanced at the audience and found that everyone began to discuss in a low voice.

It seemed that they were discussing whether they should apply for the University of Chinese Medicine or not.

As he saw this, Fang Qiu didn’t dare to stay any longer.

After all, the rental of the exhibition center was not cheap. It was a quite large place. And the organizers of the Consulting Session for College Admission were also worried. Therefore, the first thing he should do was to scatter the crowd as soon as possible.

“All right.” Fang Qiu spoke again earnestly, “Today, it is the Consulting Session for College Admission. I can’t take up too much of your time, because this is a critical moment for you to make an important choice in your life. What you need to do now is to go back and continue to consult. On behalf of the Chinese Medicine industry, I would like to thank you all.”

After that, Fang Qiu bowed to all the people present and was ready to leave.

However, as soon as he moved his feet, the people in the front row were not happy.

“Don’t go!”

“We’ll follow you wherever you go.”

“You’ve only spoken a few words and you’re leaving?”

People kept shouting.

Upon hearing that, Fang Qiu gave a wry smile at once.

As soon as he left, he would go back to continue to help. And this group of people would definitely follow behind him. If he didn’t go back, these people certainly wouldn’t go back to continue to participate in the Consulting Session for College Admission.

Helplessly, Fang Qiu stopped and turned around.

Suddenly, a person shouted, “Fang Qiu, why don’t you perform?”

As soon as he said that, everyone started to follow him at once.

“Yes! Come on! Show us!”

Looking at the enthusiastic crowd, Fang Qiu had no choice but to ask with a wry smile, "What should I show?"

A loud roar came from the crowd. "Let's see how you treat a patient."

As soon as he said that, all the people in the hall instantly laughed out loud.

On the stage, Fang Qiu smiled even more wryly.

How could he perform treating patients?

Just when Fang Qiu was helpless, "Ouch, my head hurts."

"Ouch, my feet hurt."

"Ouch, I feel pain in my ass."

"Ouch, my ass hurts!"

"Oh, why do I feel like I'm getting fat?"

For a moment, people were making all kinds of noises.

Of course, Fang Qiu knew it.

They were just joking, so he naturally wouldn't care about it.

However, since everyone wanted to watch the performance so badly, in order to let the Consulting Session for College Admission continue, Fang Qiu had to seriously sweep the crowd to see if there were any suitable students for their school.
