Chapter 901: Persuasion to Act in a Movie!

“Eh?”

Li Huawen was stunned. He turned to look at Fang Qiu and asked in surprise, “How do you know?”

“Because of Hero Yang Yizhi.

“Some time ago, Director Chen said that he would make a movie about Hero Yang Yizhi. He was the first one that came to my mind. It seems to be true,” said Fang Qiu.

“Yes, that is Director Chen Xiaogang.”

Li Huawen nodded and added, “Since you have guessed that he wants to meet you, you should also have guessed his purpose, right?”

“To make a movie,” Fang Qiu answered.

“What do you think?” Li Huawen smiled and asked, “Are you interested?”

“I’m a doctor.” Fang Qiu shook his head with a wry smile and said, “I’m neither an actor nor a star. It’s a bit unprofessional for me to perform at the New Year’s Gala and act in a movie.”

“Are you sure you’re not a star?”

Li Huawen glanced at Fang Qiu and said resignedly, "Let me tell you something. You're more famous than a star now. Some people said that this year is the year of Fang Qiu, and I also think so! Look at how popular you are this year. If you weren't a doctor and didn't compete with stars for a job, those stars would have united to crack you down a long time ago!"

Hearing that, Fang Qiu gave a wry smile.

"From your performance on the program, it seems that you respect Yang Yizhi very much. Director Chen Xiaogang chose you because of your respect for Hero Yang Yizhi and your talent showed in the variety show."

While pulling Fang Qiu out, Li Huawen asked again, "Are you really not interested in acting?"

"Not interested."

Fang Qiu shook his head again.

He majored in medicine, and he was a hidden guru in Wulin. Why did he act in a movie?

During the talk, they walked out of the Central Television and got in Li Huawen's car.

Twenty minutes later.

Led by Li Huawen, Fang Qiu came to a tea room hidden in the corner. It looked simple, but it was extremely exquisite.

The two of them came to the early reserved room together and saw the famous director Chen Xiaogang and his personal scriptwriter Zhao Rulong!

"Welcome."

As soon as Fang Qiu and Li Huawen entered the door, Director Chen Xiaogang immediately rose to greet them and said, "Nice to meet you!"

Fang Qiu hurriedly returned a salute.

"Please sit down."

Zhao Rulong echoed and led Fang Qiu and Li Huawen to the table to sit down.

The four people in the room were all seated.

"I can hear Fang Qiu's name at least three times a day. Today, I finally have the honor to see him. He is indeed a talented young man!"

As soon as they sat down, Director Chen Xiaogang immediately began to praise Fang Qiu.

"Director Chen, you're flattering me," Fang Qiu said humbly.

"No, no. Now, everyone in the country knows Fang Qiu!"

Zhao Rulong gave a loud laugh and added, "A talented man can't hide his brilliance."

Fang Qiu smiled.

They praised him so much the first time they met that he felt embarrassed.

At this time, Director Chen Xiaogang glanced at Li Huawen. Li Huawen shook his head gently.

Chen Xiaogang's heart sank after he received the signal.

He asked Director Li to sound out Fang Qiu's attitude toward playing a role in his film. Now it seemed that Fang Qiu was unwilling to act in a movie.

It seemed that he had to play the second trick.

Immediately, Chen Xiaogang sighed deeply. As he poured the wine for Fang Qiu, he said in a low and miserable voice, "Brother Fang Qiu, I am really envious of you. With such a great reputation, you can still restrain yourself and know what you want.

"I'm now overwhelmed by my reputation, close to death. Look at me. I haven't made any good works for so many years. Although I've always wanted to make a good work for the public, the material is hard to find!

"Brother Fang Qiu, to tell you the truth, I invited you here today because of the variety show that you participated in earlier." Director Chen Xiaogang frowned and sighed bitterly as he grabbed Fang Qiu's hand.

His expression was sincere, and his voice was miserable.

Seeing this scene, Director Li Huawen was dumbfounded.

The name of Chen Xiaogang would make all the celebrities in the entertainment circle shudder and scramble for him. If they were to see what Chen Xiaogang looked like now, their eyes would pop out from their sockets.

A big shot in the entertainment circle took the initiative to come here for a meal and praised a newcomer as soon as he sat at the table. After that, he even began to cry for sympathy.

"What is he going to do?

"To persuade Fang Qiu to put on a show by touching him with misery and reasoning with him with the truth?

“What’s more, why did he touch Fang Qiu’s hand?”

“Does he have any moral integrity?”

As Director Chen’s personal scriptwriter, Zhao Rulong knew him well without saying. Therefore, he hurriedly began to open his mouth.

He patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder. Like Chen Xiaogang, he sighed softly and said, “Brother Fang Qiu! You discovered the story of Yang Yizhi. You have really done a great thing for our country!

“We are going to film him for the national audience and let them feel and learn from his spirit and stories. He devoted himself wholeheartedly to his country and people.

“If Director Chen is in charge of giving the audience a perfect picture, then I am in charge of giving Director Chen a perfect picture. The business of writing is really difficult. I’ve followed Director Chen for so many years and have finished all I can write. It’s very difficult to find a topic now, especially one that has both the audience’s affection and positive energy.”

“Since we’ve reached this point, we won’t keep it from you anymore.”

Director Chen looked at Fang Qiu and continued, “We have watched the episode of Run Wild&Survive you have participated in. We watched it because of you at the beginning. But later, when Rulong and I saw Hero Yang Yizhi, who was concerned about the overall national interest, we were surprised pleasantly and admired Hero Yang Yizhi very much from the bottom of our hearts. We can also clearly see that your admiration for Hero Yang Yizhi is sincere too.”

Hearing this, Fang Qiu knew what they were doing.

He was not tempted at the moment.

However, he was still touched by Yang Yizhi.

"It is true that Hero Yang Yizhi is really righteous. Those heroes that we had heard before were either in novels or in TV series. But Hero Yang Yizhi is different. He is flesh and blood and very real. So when I saw the last words written by Hero Yang Yizhi before his death, I really felt that he was worthy of respect, admiration, and immortal fame!"

Especially as a guru like Yang Yizhi and a doctor, he was more respectful to Yang Yizhi.

Hearing that, Chen Xiaogang knew that it was still hopeful!

Immediately, he exchanged a look with Zhao Rulong and then quickly said, "That's right. We have the same idea as you. So after watching the show, I immediately talked to the program group about the copyright. I think I have a responsibility to do something for Hero Yang Yizhi. So I decided to make a movie for him and let his name spread through ages."

"Not only that," Scriptwriter Zhao Rulong immediately chimed in, "in my eyes, Hero Yang Yizhi is the perfect embodiment of the spirit of his countrymen. Not only was he powerful in kung fu, but he also dared to stand up to guarantee the safety of one area and finally died in meditation. He is a real hero, a classic legend that the countrymen should pursue."

"That's true." Fang Qiu nodded in agreement.

"You also agree, don't you?" Director Chen Xiaogang said with a smile at the right time. Then he pretended to be upset, taking a sip of wine, and said, "Such a good subject matter! I really want to make a movie out of this. But it is a pity that I have not been able to find a good actor."

"Come on, don't keep talking. Let's drink!" Zhao Rulong raised his glass and shouted.

The four raised their glasses at the same time and took a sip respectively.

"Brother, you may not know much about the entertainment circle and the industry of film and actor."

After drinking the wine, Chen Xiaogang felt that he was in a perfect situation. He patted Fang Qiu on the shoulder and said earnestly, "The most important factor for a movie to show a perfect picture is an actor. Only the most suitable actor can make the film identify with the audience to the greatest extent. Only by resonating with the audience can they remember the essence of a film. Only by making a large audience remember the essence can a film be called as a classic and the characters and spirits in the film be passed down."

"I understand," Fang Qiu nodded and said.

"Tell me, without a suitable actor, I can't make the film, can I?" Director Chen Xiaogang asked. Then he said, "I can't randomly find an actor to act. If the actor plays badly and does not express the essence of Hero Yang Yizhi, the subject will be wasted. More importantly, the reputation of Hero Yang Yizhi might be affected by it!"

"That's right, it does need to consider and choose actors carefully," Fang Qiu responded.

It was indeed a good thing to make a movie of Hero Yang Yizhi. But if it was ruined by an unsuitable actor, it would be better not to have made one!

"Hero Yang Yizhi is a man of righteousness and boldness. It would be a pity if the character was ruined by an unsuitable actor," Chen Xiaogang continued.

Obviously, his purpose was to use Fang Qiu's admiration for Yang Yizhi to arouse his impulse to act in the film.

However, no matter what he had said, Fang Qiu always echoed and agreed.

He would say things like "I understand" and "Yes", and nodded.

"Since you agree with us so much, show us your attitude!"

This situation made both Chen Xiaogang and Zhao Rulong speechless.

On the other side, Li Huawen was eating alone and didn't participate in the discussion at all. Feeling the awkward atmosphere among the three, he burst into laughter in his heart.

He had known that Fang Qiu was a cunning fox.

While he might appear to be harmless, he was strong-minded and the best to play dumb.

However, Li Huawen had never spoken. He was just a middleman. As long as he brought both sides to the table, his task was completed. As for what would happen next, he'd better not get himself involved.

After they waited for a minute, Fang Qiu still didn't speak.

Seeing this, Chen Xiaogang looked at Fang Qiu helplessly and thought to himself, "Youngsters today are not easy to deceive!"

He went straight to the point and said frankly, "Brother Fang Qiu, in fact, I invited you here this time just because I want to invite you to participate in the movie about Hero Yang Yizhi that I've made preparations for. Because you are a very suitable actor, I want to invite you to act the role of Hero Yang Yizhi in his youth. What do you think?"

"Well..." Fang Qiu muttered to himself.

At this point, he could only express his attitude.

He was unwilling to act in a movie.

However, after hearing what Director Chen Xiaogang had said earlier, he became hesitant. He could feel Director Chen's sincerity. He also knew that Director Chen had said those words to stimulate him. However, they were all true.

Fang Qiu was very respectful to his predecessor Yang Yizhi deep down. Therefore, he did not want an unsuitable actor to ruin the reputation of Hero Yang Yizhi.

So he was considering whether he should act or not.

He was confident that he could perform the essence of Master Yang.

s

It was not because he was a good actor but because he was a guru, a person who wished to help the world. He could just play himself.

“Should I act or not?”

Perhaps it was because Chen Xiaogang dared not interrupt Fang Qiu’s thinking, or perhaps it was because he could sense Fang Qiu’s internal struggle, surprisingly, he did not disturb or urge Fang Qiu at this moment. He knew that Fang Qiu needed some time to think.

Three minutes.

Fang Qiu thought for three good minutes and finally made up his mind.

Chapter 902: Can’t Slander Him!

“Okay!” Fang Qiu nodded and looked at Director Chen, saying, “I agree to act, but I have two requirements.”

He agreed!

Seeing Fang Qiu had agreed, Chen Xiaogang and Zhao Rulong immediately became excited.

“Feel free to ask for anything. I can meet all of your requirements,” Chen Xiaogang quickly said, patting his chest.

“First,” Fang Qiu no more stood on ceremony and said seriously, “I need to see the script in advance. I’ll play only if the script is good.”

He had to ensure that the script could show the style of a chivalrous man faithfully, instead of being made up.

“No problem!” As the chief scriptwriter, Zhao Rulong immediately nodded and said, “I guarantee it will make you satisfied. If not, I will amend it until you are satisfied!”

Director Chen Xiaogang also nodded his head in agreement.

“Second,” Fang Qiu nodded and said, “the action director should be recommended by me.”

Hearing this, Director Chen Xiaogang was stunned.

s

The action director?

It was the key to the success of martial arts movies!

“Brother, when I began to prepare for this movie, I had basically decided on all the staff members before I began to contact actors. That is to say, before today, I have already come into contact with an action director. It is Master Li, a powerful senior of martial arts with a very high position in the entertainment industry,” Chen Xiaogang quickly said.

The implication was that it was a bit difficult to fulfill Fang Qiu’s second demand.

Chen Xiaogang hoped Fang Qiu could make a concession.

Unexpectedly, Fang Qiu shook his head and said immediately after hearing Chen Xiaogang's words, "I hope to show the real kung fu!"

He hoped that the real kung fu of Wulin could be shown.

He wanted everyone to see what real kung fu was!

"Real kung fu?"

Hearing that, Chen Xiaogang was shocked. He asked, "Who?"

Fang Qiu pointed to himself.

"You?"

Chen Xiaogang was stunned for a moment and then became embarrassed.

Did Fang Qiu not only agree to act in the film but also plan to act as the action director?

"Brother, I'm making a movie. Don't play with me!

"Or you didn't agree to act at all!"

"Wait a minute."

Hearing that, Fang Qiu smiled and took out his mobile phone to surf the Internet. He found the video of Chen Cong's performance of martial arts at school last year, handed it to Chen Xiaogang, and asked, "Director Chen, what do you think of this?"

Chen Xiaogang quickly began watching it with doubt.

Zhao Rulong also paid attention to it.

After watching it, both of them were shocked.

Their eyes lit up when they looked at Fang Qiu.

“That’s amazing. It was instructed by you?” Chen Xiaogang asked.

But he was still not convinced in his heart. After all, mastering kung fu was not sufficient to be an action director!

Otherwise, finding an action director would be a piece of cake!

“It’s just showy but impractical.” Fang Qiu smiled faintly.

“Is this still showy?” Zhao Rulong asked in surprise.

“The actions and smoothness can not be completed so splendidly at all unless one is a top master of martial arts,” Chen Xiaogang agreed.

“A real master is much more powerful than this,” Fang Qiu said.

“Are you a master?” Chen Xiaogang looked at Fang Qiu in surprise and disbelief.

“No,” Fang Qiu shook his head and added, “but I know them. So I want to recommend the action director! I will show you what real kung fu is!”

“Well...”

Director Chen Xiaogang hesitated for a moment and turned to him again. “Are you sure that you’re going to recommend the action director?”

Fang Qiu nodded.

He insisted on this point.

Seeing that, Chen Xiaogang gritted his teeth and said, “I have to return to consult this carefully before making the final decision.”

“Okay, I’ll wait for your answer.” Fang Qiu nodded.

He knew that a movie involved various aspects which could not be decided at once.

Chen Xiaogang said, “Well, I will let Zhao Rulong write down the script first. As for the action director, I will answer you after the end of the year. What do you think?”

“Okay, no problem!” Fang Qiu nodded in agreement.

“Alright.” Director Chen Xiaogang smiled. When pouring the wine for everyone, he said, “The dishes have already turned cold. I’ll ask the chef to change them. Let’s have a nice drink!”

“You don’t have to. Just heat them,” Fang Qiu said hurriedly. “It’s shameful to waste so much food.”

“Okay!”

Chen Xiaogang cast a surprised look at Fang Qiu.

He didn't expect him to be so frugal.

He couldn't help thinking more highly of Fang Qiu in his heart.

Without more words, he smiled and asked the waiter to heat them again.

When the dishes were served again, they ate and talked happily with each other.

After the meal, the four of them left together.

However, as soon as they walked out of the tea room, they saw a paparazzo hiding in a car across the street. The paparazzo quickly recorded everything with a camera and drove away immediately.

A staff member went forward and asked, "Director Chen, should we catch him?"

Hearing this, Director Chen Xiaogang immediately turned to look at Fang Qiu. Obviously, he was seeking Fang Qiu's opinion.

To his surprise, Fang Qiu shrugged, indicating that he didn't mind.

"Then let him go," Chen Xiaogang smiled and informed the staff member. After that, he turned around and shook hands with Fang Qiu.

In fact, Chen Xiaogang had long known that there was a paparazzo. If it was harmful to him, he would ask someone to drive the paparazzo away as soon as possible. Since he hadn't, it meant that it was beneficial to him.

Being exposed was the best way to promote a movie especially for him who wanted to make an excellent movie again.

The appearance of the paparazzo was the best way to promote both Director Chen Xiaogang himself and the movie he was about to begin shooting.

Such a great publicity means could help him maintain the attention of the movie for free. He had no reason to stop the propaganda.

As expected, in the evening, the paparazzo, who had not received the public relation money, immediately began to expose the news on the Internet.

“Amazing! Director Chen Xiaogang, Scriptwriter Zhao Rulong, and Fang Qiu are having a meal together. Li Huawen, the director of the New Year’s Gala of this year, is also accompanying them!”

As soon as the news came out, it was reposted by countless public accounts.

In just five minutes, Weibo was flooded with the news!

The attention rose sharply even like an ignited rocket.

As the news traveled, the fans of Run Wild&Survive and Fang Qiu all burst into an uproar!

“Dear God, is it the concrete proof?”

“Good news comes one by one. First, Fang Qiu participated in the variety show and had brought it far more attention than before. Then, the ratings of the variety show have gone up rapidly. Next, there came the good news that the famous director Chen Xiaogang was going to make a movie about Yang Yizhi. Now, there’s the news that Fang Qiu is going to act in the film! What I have always dreamed of is going to finally happen!”

“Great. With the skills Fang Qiu has shown on the show, he is definitely qualified to play the leading role.”

“Haha, it’s just as I thought. Fang Qiu is perfect to act in the film.”

"I didn't expect that Fang Qiu would act. I'm looking forward to the film!"

...

Meanwhile, Fang Qiu returned to the hotel and took a shower. When he was about to rest, his mobile phone suddenly rang. "Beep-beep-beep..."

He took it out and had a look.

It was Liu Qingshi, the host of Run Wild&Survive.

"Hello?" Fang Qiu answered the phone.

"Master Fang, are you going to act in Director Chen Xiaogang's new movie?" Liu Qingshi's voice, filled with surprise, came over through the mobile phone.

"It's just a meeting with Director Chen. It hasn't been decided yet," Fang Qiu said.

"You are not bad." Liu Qingshi laughed loudly and added, "You must seize such a good opportunity. You mustn't leave it to others, okay? When the time comes, we'll be able to rely on you."

"Uh... I'll try my best." Fang Qiu gave a wry smile.

...

However, as soon as he hung up the phone, Ying'er called him up, followed by Zheng Weilian, Huang Huachao, Gu Jianguo, and Zhang Junhe.

Their purpose was the same as Liu Qingshi's. First, they wanted to confirm if Fang Qiu was going to act in the movie. And then they all indicated that they looked forward to riding on his coattails. Fang Qiu responded to them patiently one by one.

At the same time, many stars in the entertainment circle were annoyed because of this.

"Fuck, it's this Fang Qiu again!"

"Why is he everywhere?"

"You've gone too far. You'd better go back to be a traditional Chinese Medicine doctor. Why did you come to our entertainment circle for no reason?"

"Crossing industries to rob, do you have any moral integrity?"

...

Many celebrities in the entertainment circle were competing for the opportunity to participate in Director Chen Xiaogang's new movie.

Since the news of the movie came out, they had begun to use all kinds of means to fight for it privately.

They were still striving for the opportunity. However, it was gotten by an outsider and even a traditional Chinese Medicine doctor first.

Angry!

Aggrieved!

Speechless!

They had those feelings at that moment.

“However, since you dare to take our roles, we will slander you!”

So they all employed Internet trolls to slander Fang Qiu.

They said that Fang Qiu was not good at acting, that he would definitely mess up such a big movie, and so on.

Although they did hire Internet trolls, they couldn’t slander Fang Qiu at all!

Those Internet trolls were familiar to Fang Qiu’s fans. In the beginning, they could barely slander him. But as Fang Qiu’s fans and passers-by who tended to like Fang Qiu became more and more powerful, those Internet trolls had been useless.

As soon as the Internet trolls started slandering Fang Qiu, they were surrounded and cursed by Fang Qiu’s fans without further ado!

Where there were Internet trolls, there would be the army of Fang Qiu’s fans. The Internet trolls, who had held a place in the Internet world, were unexpectedly beaten by Fang Qiu’s fans so hard that they could not return a blow!

This scene became an Internet wonder.

After seeing this, the onlookers were amazed.

The stars were exhausted.

“Who on earth is the star?

“Who makes a living from fans?”

“Why do you have so many fans?”

The Internet had been bustling all night.

“Beep, beep, beep...”

The next day, early in the morning, Fang Qiu was having breakfast in the hotel when he suddenly received a call from the press.

“Hello, Manager Zhang?” Fang Qiu answered the phone.

“Hello, Mr. Fang Qiu.” Zhang Xingjie’s voice came. “Excuse me, your book has been finished. If it’s convenient for you, I’d like to invite you to come here and have a look at it. If there’s anything wrong with it, we can modify it.”

“The book is ready?”

Fang Qiu counted the days and found that it was indeed almost a month. He immediately said, “I’m happened to be in the capital. I’ll be there in a minute.”

After having a quick breakfast, he immediately left the hotel and rushed to the press.

The road in the capital was relatively clear in the morning.

Twenty minutes later, Fang Qiu, with a cap and a mask, arrived at the press.

Zhang Xingjie, the manager of the press, was waiting at the door again.

As soon as he saw Fang Qiu, he immediately took Fang Qiu to his office.

“This is the finished book. Please take a look and see if there’s anything you want to modify.”

After entering the office, Zhang Xingjie invited Fang Qiu to sit down. Then he immediately picked up the new book from the desk and handed it to Fang Qiu for a check.

Fang Qiu took the book.

Quickly, he looked at it carefully from the cover of the book to the inside pages as well as the words and pictures, which were all very good.

s

Not a single word he had written had been changed.

Only the illustrations were redrawn by someone. These illustrations were especially exquisite and technical. The herbs in the picture looked vivid at first glance. It was really good.

After reading it, Fang Qiu said with a satisfied smile, “Not bad. It’s OK!”

“That’s good.” Zhang Xingjie immediately nodded with a smile and said, “Since there is no problem and no need to change anything, it will be ready to be sold in about five days. Before the release, do you want to hold a book launch?”

For Zhang Xingjie and the press, the publicity effect of a book launch was extremely great, especially when Fang Qiu occupied the trending list on Weibo again in the past two days. The effect of the book launch was definitely much better than spending a lot of money to promote it.

Medical Master

Chapter 903 The New Book on Sale!

A book launch?

Fang Qiu shook his head directly. "No."

Zhang Xingjie was stunned for a moment and then said with a smile, "I had forgotten that you are busy preparing for the New Year's Gala now, aren't you?"

But after thinking about it, Zhang Xingjie wouldn't be disappointed even if Fang Qiu didn't want to hold a book launch. After all, the publicity effect of Fang Qiu at the New Year's Gala was obviously much better than that of holding a book launch.

"Everyone in the world knows about it, right?" Hearing Zhang Xingjie's question, Fang Qiu was speechless.

There was no other way.

After all, this was an era of information transmission.

"Does that mean the signing session cannot be held either?" Zhang Xingjie asked again.

Fang Qiu nodded.

He really didn't want to show up and be regarded as someone "not doing the right things" to earn money.

Zhang Xingjie thought for a moment with a wry smile. After a long while, he gritted his teeth and said, "Then it can only be directly sold. Without any propaganda, the sales might be a little low before the end of the year. But I believe that as long as you show up in the New Year's Gala, the sales will definitely rise quickly after the end of the year."

"Sell directly?"

Fang Qiu was confused and didn't know how to sell it directly. After all, he had never published a book before.

"Yes!" Zhang Xingjie nodded and added, "I'm going to presell books online first, and then I'll put them on sale at major bookstores in five days. At the same time, I'll start selling the electronic edition of the book. What do you think?"

"Okay." Fang Qiu nodded and said, "If you need some help without my presence, you can call me at any time. In addition, when the books have been released, please leave me dozens of books so that I can give them to others as gifts."

"Okay, no problem!" Zhang Xingjie immediately nodded in agreement.

After the talk, Fang Qiu left directly.

As soon as Fang Qiu left, the news of the new book immediately broke out on the Internet.

"Fang Qiu's new book will be officially released in five days!"

As soon as the news came out, netizens burst into an uproar on the Internet again.

"Dear God. Is the new book going to be on sale?"

"Really? Too many good things have happened in the past two days. They just came one after another. Three pieces of great news have come in just two days."

"First attend the New Year's Gala, then act in a movie, and now publish a new book. Fang Qiu is going to occupy the first three hot topics in the New Year!"

"I am waiting for it for so long. It's finally on sale."

“Five days! Only in five days can I buy Master Fang’s book. I’m so excited.”

“Don’t just mention the date. Where can I buy Master Fang Qiu’s book?”

“Oh yes, where can we buy it?”

For a time, everyone asked the same question.

Soon, Dangran, a very famous bookstore in the country, which was in cooperation with Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company answered the netizens’ most concerned question on Weibo.

“Dangran will officially start online booking at 8 o’clock tonight. Everyone can book Fang Qiu’s new book at Dangran!”

The first ones to pay attention to this news were not the netizens and Fang Qiu’s fans who were looking forward to his first book, but the major publishing companies and selling companies.

For a moment, the WeChat group of the publishing industry suddenly became active.

“The book seems to be very popular on Weibo.”

“Although Fang Qiu’s book seems to be quite good from the introduction published before, the content of the book is quite different from the introduction. Maybe Fang Qiu is just trying to make the money of his fans.”

“It can be judged when the book comes out.”

“Guess, how many books can be booked in an hour?”

“Based on Fang Qiu’s current reputation, I think it should be 100,000 books. I bet a red envelope of 100 yuan!”

“100,000? That’s a small number. I think it should be 150,000.”

“No way. Fang Qiu is now a big hit. He has more than 55 million fans on Weibo. It is estimated that he will obtain more than 60 million fans after the New Year. With such a huge fan base, it’s not too much for me to bet 500,000 books, isn’t it?”

Then everyone in the group was shocked.

“!!!”

The WeChat group was flooded with a series of exclamation marks instantly.

“500,000 books? Do you think our publishing industry is still what it was ten years ago?”

“If it were ten years ago, I would believe it even if it were 600,000 or 700,000 books, let alone 500,000 books. But now, it’s quite satisfying that the total sales of a book can reach 500,000. How can the book volume be so high in an hour? Booking costs money!”

“500,000 books? Are you kidding me?”

Everyone began to question this.

Seeing that his words had caused a heated discussion in the group, the person who made that guess immediately sent an embarrassed emoji and said, “I bet a red envelope of 20 yuan!”

Hearing this, everyone laughed.

Although he spoke confidently, it seemed that he couldn’t guarantee it!

Meanwhile, various s such as banners, communication tools, and various comments had been placed on the Dangran website.

Obviously, they had spent a lot of money on it.

After all, this was Fang Qiu's book. And it was the first time that Fang Qiu had published a book. Not to mention the popularity of Fang Qiu this year, the topics about him were exploded in the past two days.

Therefore, they felt that Fang Qiu's book could be a hit!

However, Dangran, as the most popular online bookstore present, had a piece of clear knowledge of book sales. They also knew that if hundreds of thousands of books were to be sold online and offline together, the book could be recognized as a very popular one.

But this time, the hero was Fang Qiu, a person who was so well-known!

Therefore, Dangran had also estimated in advance that 300,000 books of Fang Qiu should be reserved in an hour and about 500,000 in 24 hours.

It was also because they had estimated in advance that they paid a lot of money for s.

Seeing the heat on the Internet, Dangran and Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company were full of confidence. But they still had some concerns. After all, physical books were really hard to sell these days!

On the other side, Fang Qiu didn't care about these.

He waited in the capital for an hour before Zhang Xingjie had asked someone to send the dozens of books he needed to the hotel.

After receiving them, he immediately began to pack and mail them out.

The recipients were Liu Qingshi and the other five hosts of Run Wild&Survive, as well as Jiang Mengjie, Jiang Miaoyu, his parents, and so on. He sent a book to almost everyone he knew.

After that, he took the rest of the books and boarded the plane to return to Jiangjing.

When arriving at school, he first went to the dormitory to place the rest of the books. Then he took one and walked to the library to find Xu Miaolin.

He remembered that only Xu Miaolin had his first draft.

It was not a good thing to keep reading the draft. Now that the finished book was out, he had to send one to the teacher in person.

He came to the reading room of the library.

“Mr. Xu,” Fang Qiu shouted. Without waiting for Xu Miaolin to raise his head, he walked up and handed the book to Xu Miaolin.

“Huh?” Xu Miaolin glanced at it, and then immediately took it and asked, “Is the finished product out?”

“Yes.” Fang Qiu nodded.

Xu Miaolin looked through it for a while, then stood up suddenly, and walked out holding the book.

“Hey, Mr. Xu, what are you going to do?” asked Fang Qiu with a puzzled face.

“I have to take your book to see my father-in-law and show it off,” Xu Miaolin said with a grin.

Hearing this, Fang Qiu was speechless.

To his surprise, Xu Miaolin actually went there.

Dangran did an update at 7 p.m.

The booking web page was officially opened.

When entering the website, people could find that the web page was gorgeous and attractive.

But there was still no reservation button on the page.

There were only two sentences: On sale at 8 p.m.! Please look forward to it!

By the side of the words, there was a countdown in progress.

The moment the web page was opened, a link was immediately published on Dangran's Weibo.

For a moment, countless people surged in and began to wait.

They managed to wait for an hour.

Finally, it was time.

In addition to the people who were waiting on the reservation page, countless people rushed in.

As a result, they found that the page was white and there was nothing. They had no access to it at all.

Meanwhile, the people who had entered the page in advance to prepare for booking found that after the time was up, the countdown had stopped, but there was still no button for the reservation.

If they refreshed the page, it turned white!

Now everyone understood.

Because there were too many people who wanted to book Fang Qiu's new book, the page stopped working the moment the reservation began.

Everyone was stunned when they saw the white page.

"Start working. Be quick!"

On the other side, a fan of Fang Qiu who was also a young man interested in traditional Chinese Medicine had been paying attention to the news of the book. As soon as it was the time, he immediately clicked on the reservation page, only to find that it was unavailable.

Though he felt frustrated, he kept refreshing it.

But after clicking through the page with difficulty, he found that there was a line of big words on the page: Because of the excessive traffic, the page collapsed. The staff is working on it. Please wait patiently!

"Shit!"

Seeing this line of words, the fan was suddenly speechless.

"What the fuck! Can it work?"

In a traditional Chinese Medicine school, a student couldn't help swearing when he saw this line of words after managing to enter the page.

The same thing happened all over the world.

Everyone couldn't stand it at once.

They all rushed into Weibo to complain about it.

As a result, these people found that not only themselves but all the people could not enter the page. The reservation page had been completely collapsed.

This situation immediately caused huge public discussion online.

"What the hell is Dangran doing?"

"As the largest online bookstore in the country, it's collapsed at the beginning of the sale. Isn't it too weak?"

"Damn, can I buy it or not?"

"You can't even make a web page well. You are lousy."

"What a rotten online bookstore!"

For a moment, netizens began to complain about Dangran together.

On the other hand, Fang Qiu's fans were very happy.

"Haha, Master Fang Qiu is so awesome!"

"He deserves to be the master of ours. He can cause the website to collapse even if he just sells a book. No one is more popular than him."

“See? This is the real master!”

“It seems that we don’t have to worry about the sales at all. The popularity is amazing.”

“Do we need to worry about that? Master Fang has so many fans. If each of us buys one, it will be 55 million which can be able to strive for the first place in the world!”

Chapter 904 Sold Out in Three Minutes!

“How did this happen?!”

In the president’s office in the headquarter of Dangran in the capital, a middle-aged man pounded the table angrily and questioned the people standing in the office. “Is our company so weak? How can our company’s website crash because of a book? What the hell is going on? Tell me clearly!”

In an instant, all the people in the room fell silent and wore a bitter smile on their faces.

Who would have thought that Fang Qiu had such great public appeal!

The person in charge of the project stood up with a wry smile and said, “It’s really because there were too many people entering the pre-order webpage. Of course, not all of them wanted to buy the book. There must be some people clicking on the website out of curiosity. After all, Fang Qiu has been too popular this year. Recently, he has made three big events, so there are naturally many people interested in his book. We failed to anticipate this, and it’s our fault.”

“Humph.” Hearing this explanation, the president snorted and said angrily, “Hurry up and repair it. This is too shameful!”

“Certainly. It’s in urgent repair and will be fixed soon.” The person in charge promised hurriedly.

Then the meeting was over and the staff went to repair the website.

The repair was complete soon.

The person in charge of the project even added two separate servers to ensure the pre-order website in a steady state.

The pre-ordering website naturally returned to normal after the repair.

All the people who were waiting to buy the book began to pre-order it.

The young man who was Fang Qiu's fan and Chinese Medicine enthusiast refreshed the website and found that it was repaired. He immediately clicked to place an order.

"100,001?"

Seeing the number of his order after the order was made, the young man couldn't help but be surprised as he said, "The book is really popular. More than one hundred thousand copies have been sold as soon as the website was repaired. My idol's book is really great."

In a Chinese Medicine school, a student immediately refreshed the website after receiving the notice that the website had been repaired. When he was about to place an order, he found that there was no pre-order button on the website. Instead, there were two big words on it: Sold Out.

He took a closer look and saw a line of words: The first batch of 500,000 copies is all sold out.

Seeing that, the student was immediately angry.

"F*ck! I could have gotten it. This Dangran website really sucks! It went wrong during pre-order. Such a piece of junk."

Besides the student, many people who failed to pre-order the book also began to complain one after another on the internet.

“Dangran, why didn’t you say in advance that the number of copies was limited? Your website even crashed. We could have gotten it but we didn’t. It’s so disgusting!”

“Five hundred thousand copies are sold out in the blink of an eye? Did you take them yourself?”

“Are you all so fast?”

In addition to complaining, of course, there were also people questioning.

“Has anyone successfully bought a copy? Is the sales volume fake? Is this hunger marketing?”

However, soon they were proved to be wrong.

Fang Qiu’s fans who successfully pre-ordered the book began to reply to those comments. Though their order numbers were not sequential, they covered the range from 10,000 to 490,000.

At the sight of this, those questioning people immediately fell silent.

This thing told them not to question things about Fang Qiu because they would be proved to be wrong.

The people who failed to pre-order the book were particularly envious of those who were showing their orders online.

At the same time, a person in the publishing industry who was paying attention to this matter also took part in pre-ordering the book as soon as the website was repaired, only to find that all the copies were sold out.

He was so shocked that he screenshotted a picture and uploaded it to the WeChat group to tag everyone in the group.

Seeing the picture, everyone fell silent.

The sales volume they had estimated was far below the real one, and it seemed a little ironic now.

After a long while, someone replied.

“Miracle! Who won the bet?”

Seeing this, everyone fell silent again.

That was because none of them had won, including the person who bet 20 yuan on it. He was right about the sales volume but wrong about how long those copies would be sold out. There were still many people on the Internet complaining that they had failed to pre-order the book.

In fact, 500,000 should not have been the ultimate number, and the sales volume would have reached 600,000, or even 700,000 if there had been enough copies.

Everyone in the group knew that this time, they were slapped in the face by an unprofessional writer.

“This guy... is trying to create a miracle!” a big shot in the publishing industry said in the group.

Everyone remained silent.

“Great, this is great!!!”

Seeing the words “sold out” on the pre-order webpage, Zhang Xingjie, in Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company in the capital, immediately jumped up in front of his desk in surprise. He clenched his right fist and swung it a few times. He was in a state of great ecstasy and excitement.

This time, he won!

He really won in a fair and just way.

His publishing company was resurrected!

His beloved career was resurrected!

The employees were also very excited outside his office.

They were also paying close attention to the pre-order and did not expect that 500,000 copies would be sold out in just three minutes.

This speed was simply unparalleled!

This was definitely a miracle in the publishing industry, and they were the ones who had created this miracle!

“Beep, beep, beep...”

Just as Zhang Xingjie was extremely excited, the telephone on his desk suddenly rang.

Zhang Xingjie calmed down after hearing the ringing of his phone, suppressing his excitement.

“Hello?”

Zhang Xingjie ran to his desk to answer the phone.

“Mr. Zhang, it’s me.”

A familiar voice came from the other end of the line. The voice continued, “I am Huang Yingnan from Dangran. You might be paying attention to the sales volume of the pre-order. This book is too popular. 500,000 copies are sold out in the blink of an eye. The first round of preorder has been an unprecedented success!”

“Yes, yes!” Zhang Xingjie immediately said with a smile. “I’m also very surprised. I thought Fang Qiu’s books would be popular, but I didn’t expect it to be so popular!”

“You didn’t expect it?”

“Neither did I!”

“Our website crashed because of him!” Huang Yingnan thought.

Then, he brought the conversation back to the topic.

“I’m calling you just to ask if there’s a second round of pre-order?”

“Well...” Zhang Xingjie gave a wry smile and said, “Mr. Huang, the first batch of copies have been pre-ordered. Now, I can’t even deliver copies to the offline bookstores in five days.”

“Then print more. How can you give up the money that you can earn properly?” Huang Yingnan suggested at once.

“Uh...” Zhang Xingjie frowned and was tempted. He immediately began to consider it carefully.

“Because this is Fang Qiu’s first book and it’s a new book, the printing requirements were very demanding. The printing factory of the previous six books could not print it in large quantities. Printing 500,000 copies in five days was the limit of their capability.

“But Huang Yingnan is right. How can I give up the money that I can earn properly?”

“Wasn’t it just a book?”

“I could contact a few more printing factories, spend more money and let them print at the same time!”

Thinking of this, Zhang Xingjie no longer hesitated. He gritted his teeth and said, “Okay! The second round of 700,000 copies will be available for pre-order at 8 o’clock tomorrow night. I promise you’ll be able to deliver those copies on time within five days!”

“Good! It’s nice working with you!” Huang Yingnan laughed with satisfaction and said. “I’ll arrange it right away!” Then, he hung up the phone.

After hanging up the phone, Zhang Xingjie was no longer as excited as before. Instead, he looked serious. He didn’t dare to waste any time and immediately called his staff for a meeting.

After the meeting, the staff didn’t dare to hesitate. They immediately took their luggage and got ready for a business trip, to visit the printing factories all over the country and talk about the cooperation!

By the time Fang Qiu finished selecting the place where he was going to see patients this month, it was already 8:10 p.m. Thinking that his book would be available for pre-order today, he immediately logged onto the website, ready to see how many people pre-ordered it.

He entered the webpage, only to find two gray words: Sold Out!

Seeing these two words, Fang Qiu was stunned.

“Have all the copies been sold out so quickly?”

“Didn’t they say that physical books weren’t popular?”

Then he couldn't help but laugh bitterly.

"I seem to have done something great again!"

Then, Fang Qiu gave up the idea of pre-ordering one and began to call the local Chinese Medicine Hospital where he was going to see patients.

The announcement of Dangran was officially released and was updated on their Weibo account at the same time.

Everyone saw the post.

"#Pre-order of Fang Qiu's new book# The first batch of 500,000 copies were sold out in three minutes. It's so popular! But the first round of pre-order was closed because we only printed 500,000 copies. However, the second round of pre-order of 700,000 copies will start at 8:00 p.m. tomorrow night. It's no more than 24 hours left. Stay tuned!"

Seeing this, everyone was not shocked at first but they immediately started calculating the downtime of Dangran's website!

"500,000 copies sold out in three minutes and it sounds awesome, but in fact, what's more awesome is that the website had been shut down for two whole minutes. So, in fact, the 500,000 copies have been sold out in just one minute!"

"Dangran is really shameless. They even counted the downtime. How shameless!"

"Master Fang Qiu's popularity is far beyond that of an ordinary writer."

"Fang Qiu is awesome!"

"I hope that when the second round of pre-order is coming, Dangran's website won't crash."

Gradually, everyone stopped criticizing Dangran and began to feel surprised about the selling speed of the copies.

Undoubtedly, among them, the most shocked people were from the publishing industry.

“500,000 copies sold out in one minute?”

“Did I go back to the publishing industry ten years ago?”

“No, even at that time, the most popular writers couldn’t make such a hit!”

“It’s too amazing! This is simply earth-shaking!”

“How is this even possible? How can anyone make such an achievement in this era?”

“A wolf is entering our publishing industry.”

“No, I think he is more like a catfish.”

While some people were stunned, others were pessimistic.

“Although there is no doubt that the first round of pre-order is really impressive, aren’t they being a little too arrogant as they dare to put 700,000 copies online for the second round when 500,000 copies have been sold out in the first round.”

“Yes, the pre-order volume in the publishing industry is getting less and less each time. The first volume is 500,000, and the second one will be no more than 300,000. Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company and Dangran are blinded by the current success, aren’t they?”

“According to the current situation of the publishing industry, 500,000 copies could be sold on the first day totally because everyone is curious about the book that Fang Qiu has published. After people’s craze, it will be difficult to sell another 200,000 copies. With sales volume generated by offline stores, the total sales can reach no more than 800,000.”

“Even if it’s about 800,000 copies, it will be the top seller of this year. Amazing!”

Obviously, those people in the publishing industry were not optimistic about the second round of pre-order.

After all, they were more familiar with this industry than others. Naturally, they had their own thoughts and right to speak. However, it was not certain if the result would be the same as what they had thought.

Chapter 905: Even Fang Qiu’s Fans Can’t Stand This Advertisement Anymore!

At noon the next day, Zhang Xingjie was finally relieved.

He finally made cooperation with all the printing factories after he and his staff spent the whole night visiting those factories.

On the way, he also carefully calculated that he would get 1.5 million copies printed in five days. 1.2 million copies of them would be sold online, while the remaining 300,000 copies would be sold in offline bookstores.

This time, with so many copies to be sold, he had really struck it rich.

After negotiating with all the printing factories and confirming that they would print 1.5 million copies in five days, Zhang Xingjie immediately transferred nine million yuan to Fang Qiu’s account without thinking.

The nine million yuan was the copyright royalty that Fang Qiu deserved, completely according to the contract.

After they paid for the copyright royalty and the printing fees, all the liquid capital of their publishing company was used, and they couldn't even take out an extra penny.

This time, he wanted to make a big bet!

Although he had made a lot of money from the 500,000 copies that had been sold, he might not have such a good opportunity again in 10 years. In addition, the pre-order was such a success that he made up his mind to bet all his assets on the book.

Everything depended on whether the 700,000 copies would be sold out during the pre-order tonight.

Success or failure would all depend on this!

Fang Qiu saw the text message from the bank.

Finding that someone had transferred him nine million yuan, he was immediately stunned.

"Beep, beep, beep..."

At this moment, his phone suddenly rang.

It was Zhang Xingjie.

"Hello?" Fang Qiu answered the phone.

"Congratulations, congratulations!"

As soon as he got through, Zhang Xingjie said, "Mr. Fang, congratulations in advance. Your book will be the top seller of this year."

“Thank you,” said Fang Qiu with a smile.

“By the way,” Zhang Xingjie added with a smile, “I transferred nine million yuan to your bank account just now. Your book is such a hit that I contacted several printing factories and prepared to print another 1.5 million copies first. The nine million yuan is the copyright royalty.”

“Got it.” Fang Qiu nodded and said, “I was wondering why I got nine million yuan. I didn’t expect that it was easy to make money by writing books. Plus the previous copyright royalty, I have got 13.5 million yuan from this book.”

Hearing this, Zhang Xingjie was suddenly speechless.

He thought to himself, “Easy to make money? Do you know the sales volume and royalty of the other writers?”

“It’s okay if you think so.

“If you don’t make money, how can I make money?”

Zhang Xingjie changed the topic to tonight’s pre-order and said, “Now, the second round of pre-order is ready. I promised that it’s limited to 700,000 copies. Since 500,000 copies have been pre-ordered in the first round, to be honest, I don’t have much confidence in the second round. So, can you help me make an on your Weibo account?”

“You don’t have to worry about the . Some people will help us,” hearing Zhang Xingjie’s request, Fang Qiu said with a smile.

“Hmm?” Zhang Xingjie was stunned.

“Some people would help us?”

He thought about it carefully.

“Fang Qiu seemed to have built good relationships with many people in the entertainment industry, and now most of the buyers were his fans. Although using his Weibo account to advertise might have a good effect, the effect will be limited.

“If those who have a large number of fans in the entertainment industry are going to advertise, the effect would be completely different.”

Thinking of this, Zhang Xingjie was slightly relieved.

Xu Miaolin came to the gate of Holy Doctor Chu’s house in the northeast.

Before he entered the door, he glanced at the book in his hand and then walked in proudly. When he saw Holy Doctor Chu, he even snorted at him and went straight over.

“What are you doing here?” Holy Doctor Chu asked without raising his head.

“One of my students wrote a book recently. I came here especially to show it to you,” Xu Miaolin said with pride and then handed the book to Holy Doctor Chu.

Hearing this, Holy Doctor Chu glanced at Xu Miaolin and then reached out to take Fang Qiu’s book from Xu Miaolin’s hand. He opened it and read the first page, then the second page, and then... he was fascinated.

Standing in the room, Holy Doctor Chu held the book motionlessly and read it carefully page by page. He was totally immersed in reading the book and even forgot to sit down.

Seeing this, Xu Miaolin grinned silently, found a chair to sit down, and waited quietly for a few hours.

“Phew...”

A few hours later, Holy Doctor Chu let out a long breath and carefully made a mark on the page. Then he looked up at Xu Miaolin and asked, "Have you found the way?"

"Yes," Xu Miaolin nodded with certainty and said. "Becoming a Holy Doctor is possible for me now!"

"Then why don't you piss off?"

Holy Doctor Chu glared at him and immediately shouted, "Why are you still here?"

"Hee hee..."

Xu Miaolin was not afraid of Holy Doctor Chu's pretended anger at all. Instead, he chuckled and said to him, "How is the book? Are you amazed?"

"Is my student awesome? As his teacher, am I awesome?" he asked.

"Ha-ha..."

He asked four questions in a row, tossed his head back, and laughed very happily.

Holy Doctor Chu was speechless.

He glared at Xu Miaolin fiercely and said, "Your talent is ordinary, but you found a good student."

Then Holy Doctor Chu directly raised his hand and said, "Get out of here!"

Seeing that his father-in-law was going to make a move, Xu Miaolin immediately turned around and ran away, laughing triumphantly.

After Xu Miaolin left, Holy Doctor Chu then focused his attention on the book in his hand and said, "It's... the blessing of Chinese Medicine!"

He quickly walked to the desk, sat down, opened the book, and continued to read it with relish.

From 7:00 to 7:30 p.m. in the evening, Liu Qingshi was the first one to write a post on his Weibo.

"Am I the first one to get Fang Qiu's book? I've read it. If I have to appraise this book, I can only say one word: amazing!"

This post included a photo of the book sent to him by Fang Qiu.

It was obvious that he was showing off.

Then, Ying'er also wrote a post, "Master Fang's new book is very interesting. Let's support it!"

Gu Jianguo wrote a post, too. "I didn't expect that Master Fang had another identity as a writer and that his literature accomplishment was so amazing. What's more, the quality of this book is completely beyond my expectations. It's a good book worth reading!"

A post from Zheng Weilian said, "New book from my good friend Fang Qiu. If you don't buy it, you'll suffer a loss. If you buy one, you can read it yourself and let your children read it! You can also pass it to your grandson or even your great-grandson..."

"This is a magical book. I was fascinated even if I don't like reading books," Zhang Junhe wrote in his post.

"It's undeniable that this book has completely changed my view on Chinese Medicine. It's a very good book. I declare that from today on, I am a huge Chinese Medicine fan." Huang Huachao wrote in his post.

With those posts, even the official Weibo account of Run Wild&Survive had uploaded a photo to advertise Fang Qiu's book!

At the same time, Song Yaqi wrote on her Weibo, "Thank you, Fang Qiu. When I needed help the most, you gave me this book. Then I miraculously cured my cold according to the prescription in this book!"

People started to comment when they saw this post.

"It's so amazing?"

"That is to say, is Fang Qiu's book a codex?"

"If that's the case, it's great. I also want to buy one. When I'm sick, I can buy medicine for myself without seeing a doctor."

In less than half an hour, all the fans of those celebrities began to repost one after another, helping their idols advertise for Fang Qiu.

Fang Qiu's fans also left comments and thanks on these posts.

"Thank you for advertising for our idol, but you seem to have gone a little too far by saying that you cured your illness with the help of this book."

As soon as this comment appeared, it immediately caused a burst of laughter.

"Haha... Even Fang Qiu's fans can't stand this anymore!"

People left amusing comments one after another.

Fang Qiu was praised so much that even his fans felt embarrassed.

“What the f*ck!”

In Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company in the capital, Zhang Xingjie didn't go home after work. He had been sitting in his office. When he saw the released by those big stars on Weibo, he was immediately shocked.

“The total number of these people's fans is more than 100 million. It will produce a fantastic advertising effect.”

“Fang Qiu really helped a lot!”

Zhang Xingjie couldn't help getting excited.

With so many stars advertising the book, he didn't need to worry about the sales volume.

Even if half of those 700,000 copies were sold out during the second round of pre-order, it would be good. The rest would be sold out someday in the offline bookstore.

After checking out on Weibo, Zhang Xingjie immediately began to check the pre-order webpage of Dangran, waiting to see the result of the second round of pre-order.

At the same time, the major publishers in the publishing industry were also paying attention to the second round of pre-order on Dangran's website.

Everyone was waiting to see if the pre-order would be as successful as the previous one and if Fang Qiu could stand out from other writers or not.

Everything depended on the pre-order tonight.

Soon, it was eight o'clock in the evening.

The second round of pre-order began!

In the office of Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company, Zhang Xingjie refreshed the pre-order webpage at once.

This time, Dangran was fully prepared and there was no problem with their website at all.

As soon as it was refreshed, the pre-order webpage appeared immediately.

Zhang Xingjie saw that above the pre-order button, there was a countdown timer of 700,000 copies.

The number began to jump rapidly as soon as the pre-order started.

Seeing this, Zhang Xingjie was excited at once.

"Oh my god... It is simply too fast!"

Zhang Xingjie found that tens of thousands of copies were ordered per second judging by the jumping number.

In the blink of an eye, there was only half of the 700,000 copies left.

Soon there were even fewer.

It lasted for three good minutes.

Zhang Xingjie was deeply immersed in excitement and agitation.

Medical Master

Chapter 906: Recommendation of Three Holy Doctors!

Three minutes later, 700,000 books of the second round were all sold out.

Seeing this, Zhang Xingjie was overwhelmed by a strong sense of happiness.

When Zhang Xingjie saw the words “sold out” appearing on the pre-order page again, he was so ecstatic that his mind went blank.

He was so exhilarated that he had so many things to say, but he failed to utter a word for a long while!

There was only one simplest word to express his excitement in his mind—alive!

Not only Zhang Xingjie, but all the people in the publishing house who were paying attention to this round of preordering were also nonplussed!

No one could expect this.

While the publishing business remained extremely slack these days, there were still so many people who were so enthusiastic about buying books.

For a moment, all the people in the publishing industry were thinking, “Does this mean that Fang Qiu’s book still has a lot of potentials that hasn’t been fully achieved?”

The second round of pre-order came after the first round.

Was there a third round after the second round of pre-order ended?

Could this book complete the third round of pre-order?

However, these big shots were fully aware that there would never be the third round of pre-order of Fang Qiu's book.

Because the current publishing industry was too stagnant, the printing industry was not as popular as expected. They could only start the pre-order based on the number of new books that the printing company could finish printing at a certain time. According to the news released by Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company and Dangran, there were only five days left before the new book was released.

That was to say, in these five days, Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company had expedited the printing of 1.2 million books. Even if there were still some extra books left, they must sell them in physical stores. Otherwise, the announcement of the release date would be completely meaningless.

Therefore, the third round of pre-order would never happen.

However, even though there was no pre-order, people could still buy the book in brick and mortar bookstores.

Soon, everyone in the publishing industry thought of the business of brick and mortar stores.

Without the third round of pre-order, people couldn't buy it online. The only place where they could buy it could only be brick and mortar stores.

At that time, those bookstores...

At the thought of this, everyone was shocked.

"If that's the case, Fang Qiu... is going to make history!"

The second round of pre-order ended.

700,000 books sold out in 3 minutes.

Even though the books were sold out so quickly, there were still many people who couldn't buy Fang Qiu's book, which made everyone go to complain on Dangran's website.

"When will the third round of pre-order come?"

"Can't it be supplied unlimitedly? Why are you doing hunger marketing?"

"Isn't that too few? There are only 1.2 million books in two rounds. It's not enough at all!"

"Start the third round quickly."

"Please launch the third round of pre-order!"

As the company couldn't stand the crazy bombardment of requests from netizens, Dangran hurriedly made a statement on its official website and official Weibo.

"#Fang Qiu's new book# The second round of pre-order is over. 700,000 new books have sold out in 3 minutes! Thank you for your support. Also, we're sorry to tell you that there will not be a third round of pre-order. If you like the book, please buy it from physical bookstores 4 days later. Thank you for your support again!"

Seeing the statement, everyone felt helpless.

If they couldn't order it online, they could only wait until tomorrow to reserve it in the nearest bookstores.

Just when the netizens were having a heated discussion about Fang Qiu's new book, in the house of Holy Doctor Chu's house in the northeast, since Xu Miaolin left, Holy Doctor Chu, who had been sitting and reading the book for several hours, suddenly stood up, took the book, and ran out.

At this moment, a young man, who came from the field of medicinal plants outside, just took back the herbs that had been dried in the sun for a day.

This person was Luo Jie, the apprentice of Holy Doctor Chu, who took part in the Young Chinese Medicine Doctor with Fang Qiu and won second place in the end.

"Eh?" Seeing Holy Doctor Chu running out crazily, Luo Jie was stunned at first. Watching that Holy Doctor Chu had no intention of stopping, he immediately shouted at his back, "Master, what are you going to do?"

"I'll let the other two old men read this book!" Holy Doctor Chu raised the book in his hand and replied loudly without looking back.

"Master, you have to book a flight ticket. You can't get there by running!" Luo Jie was speechless.

He naturally knew who the two old fellows his master mentioned were.

They were the other two remaining holy doctors.

But how could he reach them by running like this?

Holy Doctor Chu stopped at once after hearing that.

He turned around and said to Luo Jie, "Book me a flight ticket right now. I'm going to the airport first!"

After that, he turned around and continued to run wildly.

Watching his master leave in excitement, Luo Jie was speechless and amazed.

What made him speechless was that his master was so exhilarated because of a book.

What amazed him was that a book could actually make his master behave like this.

“What kind of book is this?”

Fang Qiu didn’t focus on the sales performance of the book. Instead, he focused on everything he should do.

Because he had contacted the Chinese Medicine hospital that he would go to see patients this month, Fang Qiu posted a notice on his Weibo in advance.

Seeing this post, everyone began to complain.

“Billion Fang, you don’t promote your book, but only know where to see patients. Aren’t you too irresponsible for your career?”

“You’re still in the mood to see patients. Hurry up and go to print more new books. We can’t buy it!”

“Master Fang, you’re really a newsmaker. Big things happened one after another in the past few days. Don’t you need to take a rest?”

While complaining, there were also many people who envied the selected city and felt that the people in that city were so blessed.

Just like before, the local patients immediately began to prepare to register to see him as soon as Fang Qiu posted the news on Weibo.

That night, a large number of patients arrived at the local Chinese Medicine hospital. In order to get in line ahead of time, some people even especially went to stay in hospital. Their purpose was to occupy the position. After all, the hospital would only allow people to register at 7:30 a.m. the next day. At about 7:00 a.m., the medical hall of the hospital would be open. Only when the hall was open could people enter and line up. Therefore, patients who were hospitalized could line up as soon as the hall was open.

Of course, many people also gathered in the emergency clinic hall, ready to rest there and wait for the hall to open.

Fortunately, no patient with an emergency showed up all night.

At six o'clock the next morning, a large group of people gathered in front of the clinic hall of the local Chinese Medicine hospital, waiting for the hall to open.

At seven o'clock, the open space in front of the Chinese Medicine hospital was completely occupied by patients.

With the opening of the clinic hall, a dense stream of people poured in.

The security department of the Chinese Medicine hospital immediately came to maintain order.

Soon, there were several long lines in the clinic hall.

This scene wasn't inferior to that of the other cities in the slightest.

Of course, there were also a lot of patients flying over from other cities. They all came to find Fang Qiu.

At 7:30 in the morning, led by the doctors of the Chinese Medicine hospital, Fang Qiu came to the consulting room prepared for him by the hospital, ready to see patients.

Such a popular scene was once again posted on the Internet.

However, everyone got used to this kind of scene.

After all, that was Fang Qiu.

It would be strange if Fang Qiu was not popular during his consultation.

At eight o'clock, the consultation began!

Fang Qiu didn't dare to slack off at all, making every effort to treat his patients.

It seemed that because Fang Qiu had caused so much news recently, many patients liked to chat with him. Most of the time, they talked about Fang Qiu's new book, Chinese Medicine in Human Body, which made Fang Qiu feel quite helpless.

Fortunately, this did not affect the speed of Fang Qiu seeing patients.

One day passed.

Fang Qiu also saw hundreds of patients.

The next morning, after seeing all the patients, Fang Qiu didn't even have time to rest. After saying goodbye to the Director of the Chinese Medicine hospital, he immediately took a plane to Beijiāng.

According to the time, it was about time for the Tianshan Snow Lotus to mature.

This was the first time that the Tianshan Snow Lotus was cultivated, so Fang Qiu had to go back and see what was going on. He had to see if the efficacy of the Snow Lotus was as good as he had imagined.

However, just as Fang Qiu was flying to Beijiang, something caused a sensation in the entire Chinese Medicine industry.

The three holy doctors who hadn't shown up for a long time actually spoke at the same time, promoting Fang Qiu's new book, Chinese Medicine in Human Body. They also said that a highly-skilled doctor must read this book because it contained the knowledge of becoming a holy doctor!

As this news spread, it caused a sensation in the entire Chinese Medicine industry.

All the people in the Chinese Medicine industry were deeply astonished!

Xu Miaolin, who had just arrived in Jiangjing, was also completely dumbfounded when he heard the news.

"What the f*ck. My father-in-law is going to make a fuss."

Countless people went crazy!

Those who had constantly failed to become highly-skilled doctors for a long time were crazy, so were the people who failed to break through to become holy doctors. And those who had studied hard in the Chinese Medicine industry also went wild!

The holy doctors spoke at the same time to promote a book together.

"Is Fang Qiu's book so awesome?"

"How could the three holy doctors promote the same book and claim that there is a path which shows how to become a holy doctor in the book?"

"Oh my God. The three holy doctors think too highly of Fang Qiu's Chinese Medicine in Human Body, don't they?"

“Are you kidding? Fang Qiu is still in college. He is not a highly-skilled doctor himself. How can he write a book containing the method of becoming a holy doctor?”

“What the hell is this book about?”

“Does anyone know the content of Chinese Medicine in Human Body?”

For a moment, countless people asked in shock.

However, Chinese Medicine in Human Body had just finished preordering and had not been officially sold yet, so no one knew what the content was.

Although some people had received the books in advance, those people were all celebrities and big shots in the entertainment circle. How could ordinary people contact them?

Those celebrities were not fools. When Fang Qiu sent books to them, they could also gain popularity, in addition to helping Fang Qiu promote it, which was beneficial to their popularity. Therefore, before Chinese Medicine in Human Body officially started being sold, they would never reveal the contents because it would affect the sales of the book. They did not dare to act recklessly.

Even when they helped Fang Qiu promote the new book, there was only a cover on the photos they took. There were no extra words, not even the name of the book.

As people couldn't get any information after asking countless people online, they had to search online on their own.

But when they searched, they found that tomorrow was the day of the formal sale of the book. It was almost impossible to see the contents now.

Ultimately, countless Chinese Medicine doctors raced to the nearest physical bookstores to reserve the book.

Chapter 907: People in the Chinese Medicine Industry Are Crazy!

At the same time, in all the bookstores in provincial capitals, first-tier cities, first-tier cities, and even county cities, there were a lot of people who came to pre-order the book in case they couldn't buy it. They even insisted on giving the deposit first.

As soon as a batch of people paid a deposit forcibly, the second batch came.

It made all the bookstore owners stunned.

There were hundreds of people gathered at the door of Huaxia Bookstore—the largest bookstore in the country.

“Why are people coming one after another? This group of people hasn't finished their ordering, and another group of people is coming.” Looking at the crowd outside, the bookstore owner couldn't help but smile bitterly.

The queue grew longer and longer, but there were fewer and fewer copies of the book left.

In a while, all the copies of the book were ordered.

“Dear customers, I'm sorry.”

Helplessly, the manager had to hurry out and said to the people who were lining up, “All the copies in our store have all been ordered. If you still want to order one, please wait in line. Is this acceptable?”

Hearing this, all the Chinese Medicine practitioners outside the bookstore nodded and answered, “Yes!”

Some highly-skilled doctors who failed to pre-order the book in the local cities asked their students and friends to go to the bookstores in their cities to order it and so on.

After all, this book was recommended jointly by the three holy doctors! They wanted to see what the path of becoming a holy doctor was in this book!

“Yao Xue.”

Early in the morning, Yu Qing, a highly-skilled doctor who was sitting in the backyard in his clinic in Fukang, Beijiāng and taking care of the herbs, said to his disciple who had just got up and was ready to open the door to see patients, “I heard that Fang Qiu wrote a book, which seemed to have been recommended by the three holy doctors. It’s said that there was the path of being a holy doctor hidden in it. Go to the bookstore today and order one for me.”

“Master, you want to read it too?” Yao Xue asked with a smile.

“Fang Qiu is so mean. I gave him a book, but he didn’t give me one in return. Did he forget me?” Yu Qing muttered.

Suddenly, there came a rat-a-tat on the door.

“Who is it?” Yao Xue hurriedly ran to open the door.

“You got a parcel.”

The voice of a courier came from outside the door, saying, “The recipient is Yuqing Clinic without further information. Can anyone come out and sign for it?”

Wonderingly, Yao Xue opened the door and signed for the package.

He began to open it as he walked to the backyard. When he arrived, he just opened it.

Then, he saw a book in the package.

Chinese Medicine in Human Body!

“Master, look.” Yao Xue took out the book and hurriedly handed it to Yu Qing. He said with a smile, “You just mentioned the book, and now, here is it.”

“Haha, I didn’t give him the treasure book for nothing. Fang Qiu is grateful!”

Yu Qing took the book with a smile and then said, “I won’t be seeing patients today. I will read this book. Well... I guess I can’t stop once I start reading it.”

Then he took the book and ran into the room to read it.

On the other side, the three highly-skilled doctors, Li Zhengtang, Yang Juanyong, and Huang Zhengren, also received books sent by Fang Qiu at the same time. Originally, they were trying their best to ask someone to buy it and even wanted to call Fang Qiu directly to ask for one, but they did not do so because they thought it was embarrassing.

However, they didn’t expect that Fang Qiu would take the initiative to send them the books.

The three highly-skilled doctors were extremely excited after receiving those books.

They each found a quiet space, sat down, and began to read as if they were doing closed-door training. They could not stop reading the book at all.

At the same time, the shocking news of the Chinese Medicine industry quickly spread on Weibo.

Fan Zhixing, a famous expert in regimen in Huaxia, was also a professor of the Nutrition and Food Security Department of Huaxia Agricultural University, a doctor of Food Science, a member of the Nutrition Support Council of Huaxia Food and Technology Association, as well as an expert-level member of the nutrition committee of Huaxia Cooking Association.

The regimen was inevitable to be associated with Chinese Medicine.

Therefore, Fan Zhixing often paid close attention to the Chinese Medicine industry, and also had many friends in it.

After knowing the shocking news in the Chinese Medicine industry, Fan Zhixing immediately posted on Weibo, “Crazy! People in the Chinese Medicine industry are crazy because of Fang Qiu’s new book, Chinese Medicine in Human Body!”

He just wanted to express his feeling.

He didn’t expect that as soon as this post was posted, he, who usually didn’t pursue any popularity, attracted a lot of attention in an instant. Then a large number of people reposted it crazily.

Soon, this post became very hot.

That was because the title of Fang Qiu’s new book was Chinese Medicine in Human Body!

Everyone only knew that Fang Qiu had published a new book and also saw its introduction, but they didn’t know its name.

Only the people in the Chinese Medicine industry knew the name in advance because of the recommendation from the three holy doctors.

Once Fan Zhixing posted it on Weibo, everyone on Weibo knew that the name of Fang Qiu’s new book was Chinese Medicine in Human Body!

Soon, countless netizens commented on Fan Zhixing’s Weibo following the repost.

“Mr. Fan, thank you for telling us the name of Fang Qiu’s new book.”

“Mr. Fan, why are people in the Chinese Medicine industry crazy about Fang Qiu’s new book?”

“Mr. Fan, could you please tell us something about the current situation in the Chinese Medicine industry? Are there really so many people who think highly of Fang Qiu’s new book?”

Fan Zhixing’s fans, Fang Qiu’s fans, onlookers, and all the people who saw the news and were curious about the Chinese Medicine industry asked what was going on.

Fan Zhixing didn’t expect that his post caused such a hit.

Originally, he was not going to respond to those comments, and he even wanted to delete the post. But after thinking about it carefully, he found that it was obviously too late to delete it now, so there was no need to delete it. Since the netizens were so curious, he might as well reply briefly to them.

Then Fan Zhixing immediately gave a brief reply on Weibo.

“I won’t talk in detail about the Chinese Medicine industry. In general, the three men with the highest level of medical skills in the industry jointly recommended Fang Qiu’s books and said that Fang Qiu’s book is a must-to-read for all Chinese Medicine practitioners!”

Such a short sentence immediately caused a sensation on Weibo.

“Oh my, isn’t Fang Qiu too awesome?”

“The three men with the highest level of medical skills in the Chinese Medicine industry?”

“Awesome. Although we don’t know much about the Chinese Medicine industry, the three men with the highest level of medical skills sound very impressive.”

“What kind of book is that?”

“Could it be an ?”

“The three men with the highest level of medical skills? They are absolutely the best ones. Obviously, such super masters disdain to carry out such promotion. It seems that Fang Qiu’s book is really awesome!”

Everyone praised Fang Qiu’s book.

At the same time, many people became more and more curious about what kind of book it was.

The people who had been hesitating to buy Fang Qiu’s books were now all determined to order one upon seeing the news. However, they found that they were no longer able to make an order. The fact that the book was selling so well caused them to clench their teeth and refuse to give up.

In the end, they all decided to queue up to order it.

The flight Fang Qiu took landed at Beijiang Airport.

“Beep, beep, beep...”

As soon as he turned on the phone, Fang Qiu received a call from Xu Miaolin.

“Hello, Mr. Xu?” Fang Qiu answered.

“Are you on the plane? Why can’t I get through to you?” Xu Miaolin asked.

“Yes, I just got off the plane,” Fang Qiu said.

“Let me tell you something.”

Xu Miaolin didn't hesitate and said directly, "I showed your book to my father-in-law, and then he took your book to the other two holy doctors. Unexpectedly, the three holy doctors recommended your book together. Now the people in the Chinese Medicine industry are crazy about your book. Do you know?"

"What?!" Fang Qiu was also shocked.

"Three holy doctors recommended my book together?"

"This seems to be a big event!"

"Now it seems that you don't even have to become a highly-skilled doctor."

Xu Miaolin sighed and said, "The joint recommendation from the three holy doctors is a first in the Chinese Medicine industry. I guess you can directly attend the exchange meeting next year."

"I am honored. But if we don't force ourselves, we will never know whether we can succeed. That would be a reserve choice," Fang Qiu said.

"Good."

Xu Miaolin nodded with satisfaction and said, "You still have time, come on!"

"I will." Fang Qiu nodded, hung up the phone, and then rushed to the cultivation base.

He was still shocked that the three holy doctors jointly recommended his book.

However, as soon as he returned to the cultivation base, he was stopped at the door by Zhu Benzhen and the other two men.

At the sight of Fang Qiu, they directly reached out their hands to him.

“What are you doing?” Fang Qiu looked at them with a puzzled face.

“Where are the books?” asked the three in unison.

“Books?”

Fang Qiu was stunned. Then, he immediately took out three copies of his book from his bag and handed each of them one.

After entering the cultivation base, he also gave Zhao Shanlin one.

Hearing the news, He Xue immediately rushed over and reached out her hand to Fang Qiu, saying, “Give me one.”

“You don’t know much about Chinese Medicine. Why are you asking for one?” Fang Qiu asked.

“I’m just curious to see what you’ve written. Why are the people thinking so highly of it? What? You don’t want to give me one?” He Xue asked with a smile.

“No, here you are.” Fang Qiu gave a wry smile and also gave her one copy.

After getting the book, everyone went to read it.

Seeing that everyone was immersed in reading, Fang Qiu was speechless. He said, “Why don’t you tell me about the snow lotus herb first?”

No one answered him.

Helplessly, Fang Qiu went to the snow lotus base to check it out in person.

At six o'clock in the evening, the bookstores in all the provinces and cities were closed.

At the same time, the pre-order data of all the books was summarized and given to Zhang Xingjie, the manager of Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company.

Seeing the data, Zhang Xingjie took a deep breath and made more than a dozen phone calls in succession.

The only purpose of those calls was to let each printing factory print another 100,000 copies!

He thought it would be good enough if 300,000 copies were sold out during the pre-order in the offline bookstores since the online pre-order was so hot. However, he didn't expect that the 300,000 copies were sold out on the first day of the pre-order. All the bookstore owners called one after another to ask for more copies. Zhang Xingjie had to hurry to increase the portion allocated to them.

But he didn't expect that as soon as he started, he couldn't stop.

In three days, more than a million copies were sold out during the pre-order in offline stores!

Even Zhang Xingjie himself was completely shocked by this number!

Therefore, he quickly made phone calls to have more copies printed.

The offline sales volume alone had exceeded one million.

There was no doubt that Fang Qiu's book had already created a miracle in the physical book industry and publishing industry which were going down.

Next, they would wait to see how great this miracle would be!

Medical Master

Chapter 908: A Wondrous Book of Chinese Medicine Anatomy

The next day, the sale began all over the country.

At 8:30 in the morning, when the bookstores opened, there were already long lines of people outside their doors.

The bookstores' clerks were all stunned.

"What's going on? Haven't all the copies been ordered? Why are there so many people here?"

With the question in mind, the clerks began to work.

The moment they opened the door, those people swarmed in.

"Where is Chinese Medicine in Human Body?"

"I want to buy Chinese Medicine in Human Body!"

The people who rushed into the stores asked.

"Well, only 20 copies arrived today, so I could only give them to the buyers according to the scheduled order, sorry."

The clerk was embarrassed but he apologized politely and then made phone calls according to the buyer list. Unexpectedly, the first 20 people who ordered the book were all present.

They were extremely excited to get the copies. Those who didn't get the copies all gathered around them, wanting to see the content.

However, the 20 people who got the books didn't allow others to read them at all, afraid that the books would be robbed or torn apart. They took the books and ran away.

Helplessly, others could only continue to wait, and those who had not ordered the book before also rushed over to order it, even though they were ranked at the end of the pre-order list.

There were also many people who offered high prices to buy the books from the first 20 people, but they were refused.

Everyone could only urge the bookstores in unison to stock up as soon as possible. So many people were still waiting to buy the book.

They were so eager that the clerk could only report the situation in the bookstore to his superior.

Similar scenes happened in bookstores of major cities all over the country.

Everyone wanted to see what kind of book it was as soon as possible.

Soon, there was another uproar on Weibo.

Countless people complained that they failed to get Fang Qiu's book. Although they had pre-ordered it, it's unknown when they would receive it.

Of course, most of the Chinese Medicine practitioners with high expectations for the book failed to buy it either, because when they went to make an order, there was already a long line of people before them. They failed to buy it even if they offered a high price, so they could only continue to wait to get the book.

300,000 copies were distributed to bookstores all over the country and each store's portion was few.

In just a few minutes, the 300,000 copies were all sold out!

At the same time, the data about Chinese Medicine in Human Body also spread on the internet.

“The total online pre-order volume of Chinese Medicine in Human Body was 1.2 million copies.”

“And it’s about one million copies offline.”

The data once again shocked everyone in the publishing industry!

Someone uploaded the data into the WeChat group of people from the publishing industry.

They all remained silent when they see it.

It was not that they had nothing to say, but that they were too shocked to speak.

What did this data mean?

It was simply a miracle that all the people in the industry thought impossible to achieve.

However, a guy named Fang Qiu made it.

All the publishers across the country were shocked and quickly made a decision to follow the trend!

No matter what, they must know the content of Fang Qiu’s book ahead of others and then find a suitable person to write a similar book as soon as possible!

That was because Fang Qiu’s book was so popular that they were jealous.

2.2 million copies were pre-ordered and this was just pre-order. There would be a long period of selling in the future. According to the trend, the total sales volume might even exceed three million!

They didn't even dare to think about that they could sell so many copies.

Therefore, they wanted to follow the trend. Even if they couldn't sell three million copies, they could make a killing by selling three hundred thousand copies.

Of course, in the publishing industry, they all felt very shameless about the idea of following the trend when they came up with it.

This was how the movie industry in Xiangjiang went down and how the physical book industry was ruined.

But most importantly, they could make money!

Anyway, they would do it!

After making the decision, the major publishers began to take action. On the one hand, they sent someone to contact the writers who could follow the trend and write a similar book, and on the other hand, they sent someone to hurry to order Fang Qiu's book at the bookstores. At the same time, they offered a high price online to purchase the book. If they could get the book before other publishers, they could seize the initiative.

400,000 new copies were delivered the next day.

Although it sounded much more than 300,000, the 400,000 copies were all taken away in just a few minutes by the customers who had ordered them.

Among them, many Chinese Medicine practitioners got the book.

However, most of them were students who regarded Fang Qiu as their idol, and a small number of them were skeptical about Fang Qiu's book. The rest were lucky ones.

In addition to these people, of course, a small number of scalpers also got the ordered books.

Scalpers were at any places where there was money to earn.

When they heard that Fang Qiu had written a book and 500,000 copies were pre-ordered in just one minute, they aimed at this profitable business.

But they were still too late, and they could only pre-order it in the offline bookstores.

Now, the scalpers got the copies and immediately sold them at a high price on the internet.

Because someone had raised the price to several times higher than the actual price on the internet before, as soon as the scalpers got the copies, they immediately sold them at the price ten times higher than the actual price.

Some people really bought the copies from scalpers.

Many people thus were able to get a copy through this method. Especially those highly-skilled doctors who had been looking forward to the book for a long time got some copies through the scalpers and acquaintances.

After getting the copies, the highly-skilled doctors began to read it in a hurry.

As soon as they read it, these highly-skilled doctors were all shocked!

In the Chinese Medicine industry, they could be regarded as experts and professors, even talents who were more outstanding. But after reading this book, they found that it was difficult for them to evaluate it.

The book made them feel that the human body was very magical, and so was Chinese Medicine!

It was so magical that they couldn't help asking, "Is this true?"

Everyone who read this book was excited.

"Oh my God, this book is amazing. It actually contains the changes of a hundred prescriptions in the human body?"

"Awesome. This is the only book I have read that records the changes of viscera in the human body in twenty-four hours!"

"It's amazing. In this book, there are manifestations of 12 meridians flowing in the human body, opening and closing changes of acupuncture points at a certain time, and even pictures attached to them! How did Fang Qiu do it?"

The whole Chinese Medicine industry was filled with exclamations.

No one dared to believe that Fang Qiu had explained all the abstract and incomprehensible things of Chinese Medicine in this book and displayed them in front of everyone.

This was like doing a surgery in Western medicine, which would dissect everything thoroughly!

With this book, people got to understand traditional Chinese Medicine, which used to be hard to understand for most people. They used to think that Chinese Medicine was fantasy and superstition, but they found the most reasonable and truthful answers in this book.

How could they not be shocked?

There was no doubt that Chinese Medicine in Human Body could be a book about dissecting Chinese Medicine.

It dissected human body from the perspective of Chinese Medicine.

Only then did everyone understand why Fang Qiu chose Chinese Medicine in Human Body as the name of this book.

Even those doctors of Chinese Medicine themselves were confused. They didn't know whether what Fang Qiu said in the book was true or not because they didn't know those things before. For example, they did not know what kind of changes of medicine would take place in body.

But they believed that Fang Qiu knew it.

That was because Fang Qiu had already shown it on an international stage. He could use Insight for others and it would be much easier for him to use it himself.

Of course, there were also many people who doubted that Fang Qiu was lying about what no one knew.

However, since this book was recommended by the three holy doctors, these people no longer dared to question him.

The recommendation of the three holy doctors endorsed this book.

The path of becoming a holy doctor was in the book!

Since the three holy doctors said so, it must be true!

There were also many people from the school of empiricism who compared their medical experience with the content in the book. They were surprised to find that the two really matched!

Some people even found the illnesses they could not cure in this book. Because they failed to cure them, they had been puzzled for a long time.

But after reading the changes of human body written in the book, they were suddenly enlightened!

“So that’s how it is!” they thought happily.

The book had only been on sale for two days and was like a treasure for Chinese Medicine practitioners.

This was a marvelous book!

With the help of the book, not only could they clear their doubts, but they could also clearly see many things that they could not see before.

The most important thing was that the more they read it, the more they felt that this book was profound, the more clearly they understood Chinese Medicine, and the more they felt that Chinese Medicine was alive, just like a living person standing in front of them!

Many people who didn’t know much about Chinese Medicine began to feel that learning Chinese Medicine was no longer so hard. Instead, they had a clear understanding of the basic knowledge about Chinese Medicine, including the usage, purpose, and effect of the medicines and what would happen after a part of body experienced something, and so on.

It seemed that this book was a textbook that could let people understand Chinese Medicine!

Of course, among all the readers, those highly-skilled doctors had gained the most.

Because they had more experience and knowledge, they would have more exchanges through the book. At the same time, they would have a clearer understanding of the book than ordinary people and have their own analysis of the content of the book. So, they gained several times more than them.

Learning so much from the book made them so excited that they even used their meal time to read the book, thinking hard about what they needed to think about.

Meanwhile, those young Chinese Medicine doctors who participated in Young Chinese Medicine Doctor with Fang Qiu also got the book.

They were defeated by Fang Qiu in Young Chinese Medicine Doctor, but they were not convinced!

Therefore, after getting off the stage of the show, they began to study desperately, trying to prove that they were not worse than Fang Qiu. But when they got Fang Qiu's book and read the content, they, especially the top ten participants of Young Chinese Medicine Doctor, were all shocked!

Medical Master

Chapter 909: A Mania for Chinese Medicine in Human Body

"Is, is this book really written by Fang Qiu?" said Gu Shaoyu, who had won third place in the final competition of Young Chinese Medicine Doctor. He was completely shocked when he read Fang Qiu's new book and couldn't believe that Fang Qiu became so awesome after half a year.

"Fang Qiu!" said Leng Wenzhuo. Although she was a woman, she couldn't help but clench her fists tightly after reading the book. When she attended Young Chinese Medicine Doctor, she had been looking forward to competing with Fang Qiu. Unexpectedly, Fang Qiu was completely different in such a short time.

"Hee hee... Fang Qiu is very awesome," said Li Sanxiao, who won fifth place in the show. He laughed while happily reading the book with great interest but no envy or jealousy.

"How is this possible? How can Fang Qiu reach such a level?" Lin Dan, who won seventh place in the show, was dumbfounded. He even felt that even his master couldn't write such an awesome book because the book was so amazing and helped him more than his master did!

Wang Shijie, who was ranked eighth, Chen Ziju, who was ranked ninth, and Yang Chenxiang, who was ranked tenth, were all conquered by Fang Qiu's book.

Everyone also understood that Fang Qiu was so strong because he knew empirical knowledge.

In Jingbei, Jiang Mengjie also received the book sent to her by Fang Qiu. She read it in front of the window sill at home and said with a smile, "Fang Qiu, you've finally revealed what you know this time. I'll learn it secretly. Don't worry."

Although it was holiday, Chen Yinsheng still lived at the University of Jiangjing Chinese Medicine.

After receiving the book from Fang Qiu, Chen Yinsheng spent a few hours reading it. Then he immediately left a line of big, red words on his notebook: Everyone in the school must read the book next semester!

Because of the scalpers' sales, many people in the publishing industry got some copies of the book.

"What the fuck is this?!"

When they opened it and took a look, all the major publishers were stunned at the first sight of it.

That was because this book was too f*cking unique. After working in the publishing industry for so many years, they really had never seen a book like this. Not only did it contain medical knowledge, but it also clearly explained what had happened to the medicine and what effects the medicine had caused in the body!

How could they imitate this book?

"This book is too unique."

"It's nothing special for me. Is it really so amazing?"

"That's right. It's just about a hundred prescriptions with some pictures. There's no literary aspect about it. Why is it so popular?"

The publishers were all complaining in the WeChat group.

After all, they were not in the field of Chinese Medicine, nor did they know anything about it. Thus, they could only understand its literal meaning.

Almost all the people who ordered the book crazily knew about Chinese Medicine. Fang Qiu's fans learned about Chinese Medicine because of Fang Qiu and fell in love with it.

There were also students of the School of Chinese Medicine and Chinese Medicine enthusiasts who were originally interested in it.

Of course, it seemed that these people only accounted for a small part of all the people who ordered the book. However, according to the current sales situation, there were only more than two million copies sold out. Fang Qiu had more than 50 million followers on Weibo, 20 times more than the number of the copies, not to mention more than 100 million fans of other stars and advertising effect.

The publishers knew little about Chinese Medicine and they were also disgruntled.

They sold good books which told good stories that readers would enjoy. But what kind of book was Fang Qiu's? How would anyone read such a book?

"Look."

Just as everyone was criticizing Fang Qiu's book in the WeChat group, a publisher who got the book suddenly posted a photo into the group. The photo was about some sections of Chinese Medicine in Human Body, and it obviously contained superstition.

"Isn't this superstitious?"

Everyone agreed.

"It will definitely be banned!"

"It's amazing that you can find out about it."

“There are many similar contents in the book. It’s not literary but about feudal superstition. How did it get the approval to be published?”

“Now that the review criteria in the publishing industry are so strict, I believe that this book will be banned!”

“I’ll report it right away. I believe that the government will deal with him!”

For a moment, all the people in the publishing industry were looking forward to hearing the explanation from the relevant departments.

That was because everyone knew that at the end of each year, the list of banned books would be announced. The books on the list would not be allowed to be published anymore.

Obviously, Fang Qiu’s book should be banned!

They would have to wait and see whether it would be banned or not.

However, on the third day, the 600,000 new copies in the bookstores all over the country were all sold out.

Meanwhile, the 1.2 million copies ordered on Dangran’s website were also delivered.

That was to say, 2.5 million copies of Chinese Medicine in Human Body had been sold so far!

2.5 million copies meant that Fang Qiu had created an unbelievable sales miracle in this era!

Such incredible data might appear more than ten years ago when the Internet was not developed and there was no electronic book.

Fang Qiu's book was the top seller in the physical book market this decade!

According to the current trend, it might be able to break another record, and the sales volume might reach three million, or even four million copies!

This speculation made all the people in the publishing industry fall silent!

More and more doctors of Chinese Medicine began to read Chinese Medicine in Human Body all night long. They read it again and again because they knew that the more they read it, the more benefits they would get.

Those highly-skilled doctors spent a long time reading the book and closed their eyes to digest the content.

After thinking carefully, they laughed.

"There is indeed a way of becoming a holy doctor in the book." Li Zhengtang laughed with excitement. He didn't expect Fang Qiu to write such a magical book, which deserved the joint recommendation of the three holy doctors.

Yang Juanyong and Huang Zhengren were also extremely excited.

They were all very old. After working hard for their whole lives, they were not satisfied with just being highly-skilled doctors, and they had always wanted to break through to become holy doctors, but they could not find a way.

Now Fang Qiu's book did give them hope, a great hope, which made them particularly excited.

In Beijiang, the highly-skilled doctor Yu Qing had been reading the book with his door closed for a whole day and night.

When he finished reading, his excited laughter resounded in the clinic.

“There is indeed the path of becoming a holy doctor!”

“Ha ha...”

At the same time, the other highly-skilled doctors also gained a lot from the book.

All the highly-skilled doctors in the country recommended this book as a must-to-read just like the three holy doctors did and said that one would get a lot if he grasped this book.

In a Chinese Medicine clinic in Huaxia.

“Doctor, this... prescription?”

A patient was sitting by the doctor’s desk. Looking at the doctor who was sitting still with a pen in his hand, he called out softly.

“Your condition is a little special. Let me think carefully about how to write a prescription,” said the doctor.

He checked on the patient and found that his condition was very special, so he didn’t know how to write a prescription and hesitated.

After thinking for a while, the doctor still had no idea and immediately frowned.

Seeing that the patient was a little anxious and there was a long line of patients waiting there, the doctor became more anxious.

“Yes, Chinese Medicine in Human Body!”

Right at this moment, the doctor thought of Fang Qiu's book.

He also bought this book as soon as it was released. After reading it once, he really learned a lot.

At this moment, he immediately thought of the introduction of functional activities of Qi in the book, as well as the different effects of the prescriptions recorded in the book, so he immediately got an idea and tried to write a prescription for the patient according to the knowledge of Chinese Medicine written in Chinese Medicine in Human Body.

Soon, he finished writing the prescription. The patient asked several questions worriedly. After making sure that there was nothing wrong with the prescription, he filled the prescription and went home.

But at night, the patient who had just taken a dose of medicine suddenly called the doctor.

At first, the doctor thought that there was something wrong with the prescription and that he had written a wrong prescription.

However, he heard a voice full of surprise and gratitude from the other end of the line.

"You're really a miracle-working doctor. I've only taken one dose of medicine, and I feel much better now. The prescription is really amazing."

Hearing the patient's praise, the doctor was also shocked.

He didn't expect what was written in Fang Qiu's book actually to be so useful.

He immediately regarded Chinese Medicine in Human Body as the most precious treasure!

A doctor in a Chinese Medicine Hospital who specialized in studying classical prescriptions couldn't figure out some of the theories in the ancient books. Helplessly, he hurriedly took out Fang Qiu's book and compared it with the ancient books. After that, he suddenly understood those theories. Then, he directly regarded Fang Qiu's book as a reference book when reading the ancient books. If there was anything that he didn't understand, he could check it in and compare it with Fang Qiu's book, and then he would find those problems no longer so hard.

After reading Fang Qiu's book, a teacher of the Department of Chinese Medicine at a famous university also took out his notebook that was used to prepare courses and began to modify his next year's teaching plan. He was ready to add the content of Fang Qiu's book into the teaching plan and give a more detailed and profound lecture to the students during class.

Similar things happened in all the cities across the country.

The mania of Chinese Medicine in Human Body was continuing.

Medical Master

Chapter 910: Half a Million Year-end Bonus!

As time went by, people paid more attention to Fang Qiu's book. They finally knew why the three holy doctors jointly recommended it.

Because it was really an incredible book that had never appeared in the Chinese Medicine industry!

No one had ever shown the mysterious theory of Chinese Medicine in front of all the readers with pictures of real human body changes. This was really an epoch-making wonderful book!

Of course, other than Chinese Medicine practitioners, there were also a lot of ordinary readers.

Because their understanding of Chinese Medicine was not deep enough, they spent two days reading the book.

After finishing reading, ordinary readers could only sigh with emotion without commenting on it at all.

They felt from the bottom of their heart that this book was too awesome. No one could write this kind of book except Fang Qiu, a new genius.

Doujia was a website that specialized in collecting information about books, movies, music, and other works. It was a very unique website that users provided comments.

In the past ten years, as long as all kinds of new works about books, movies, and music appeared, they would be immediately posted on Doujia for the public to grade and discuss.

Therefore, Doujia gradually became a holy place for all netizens to check the quality of works!

Without a doubt, on the day when Chinese Medicine in Human Body was officially launched, it was posted on Doujia.

Only three days had passed, but when netizens checked it again, they found that there were hundreds of thousands of comments about Chinese Medicine in Human Body and the book was rated a terrifying 9 out of 10!

This score really shocked many popular writers.

There were also many high evaluations among them.

“It’s a miraculous book written by a miraculous person, which can be said to be the internal anatomy of Chinese Medicine. Just as the author Fang Qiu mentioned at the end of the book, this book has been explained very thoroughly in terms of results and phenomena!”

“If it’s possible, I’ll give it ten stars! Under the comprehensive description of internal factors, this book observes the rules of human meridians, as well as the rules of traditional Taoism of Huaxia about Yin and Yang, the five elements, the seven planets, the twenty-eight constellations, the explanation of the picture of cultivation, and so on. It’s a book of real learning which is really helpful to me.”

“At first, I felt it was very mysterious, but when I read it, I felt it was very reasonable. In the end, it was really amazing. There is no doubt that it is a really good book, a wonderful book!”

The public praise on the Internet continued to grow.

Almost all the trending topics before the New Year were all about Fang Qiu.

He attended the New Year's Gala, acted in a movie, published a book, and making it a trending topic.

And these happened in a row!

Those stars were full of resentment and envy again.

In Beijiang, after returning from the Tianshan Snow Lotus cultivation area, Fang Qiu planned to gather everyone and discuss the Snow Lotuses in a meeting. After all, the first batch of Tianshan Snow Lotuses was about to mature.

"Beep, beep, beep..."

However, as soon as he returned to the office of the cultivation base, his cell phone suddenly rang.

He took out his phone and found that it was a call from Yang Ningyuan.

"Hello?"

Fang Qiu answered the phone.

"Fang Qiu."

Yang Ningyuan's laughter came from the other end of the phone. He said, "It's going to be the New Year in ten days. As your elder brother, I'll pay you my New Year greetings first."

"I wanted to pay you a New Year's visit and didn't expect you to be the first." Fang Qiu gave a wry smile.

"We're brothers. It doesn't matter." Yang Ningyuan laughed out loud.

“Alright.”

Fang Qiu nodded with a smile and asked curiously, “The atmosphere of the New Year is getting stronger and stronger. Shouldn’t you be busy preparing New Year’s gifts for your subordinates? Why did you have time to call me?”

Yang Ningyuan laughed heartily and said, “I have something else to discuss with you in addition to the greetings.”

“What is it?” Fang Qiu was confused.

“I want to buy your books,” Yang Ningyuan said directly, “I want a million of your new books.”

“One million?” Fang Qiu was stunned.

Why did Yang Ningyuan buy so many copies?

He was not a doctor of Chinese Medicine. Although his company had something to do with Chinese Medicine, he did not need so many copies!

“Why do you need so many books?” asked Fang Qiu curiously.

“Buy one get one free!”

Yang Ningyuan chuckled and said, “I’ve read the news online these days and found that your book is so popular!

“Now everyone is very supportive of your book. Even many people who don’t believe in Chinese Medicine start to believe in it because they have read your book. The power of your book is really amazing, so I have decided to cooperate with you. Every time a customer buys a box of my company’s health care products, I will give him a copy of your Chinese Medicine in Human Body. In this way, with the help of your book, both Trillium Root-Securing Pill and Life-prolonging Earth Pill will attract a large number of loyal followers.

“Your book and my health products both can sell well. As long as we do it, it will definitely be a win-win situation for us!”

Fang Qiu was surprised.

He didn’t expect Yang Ningyuan to come up with such an idea.

He had to admit that a businessman’s sense was really acute.

He knew very well that if he did what Yang Ningyuan said, not only would he and Yang Ningyuan benefit, but also the consumers and the press would benefit from it. It was simply a good way to kill two birds with one stone.

Most importantly, Yang Ningyuan did not directly contact the press. Instead, he took the lead in contacting him and did him a big favor by the way. This guy was simply shrewd!

“Okay, I’ll send you the phone number of the press,” said Fang Qiu.

“Okay.” Yang Ningyuan nodded with satisfaction.

After hanging up the phone, Fang Qiu immediately sent the number of Zhang Xingjie, the manager of Complex Characters Culture Publishing Company, to Yang Ningyuan.

After receiving the number, Yang Ningyuan immediately dialed it.

“Hello, I’m Zhang Xingjie.” The phone was connected.

“Hello, I’m Yang Ningyuan from Hua Yuan Pharmaceutical Corporation.”

Yang Ningyuan answered and said, "Here's the thing. I want to reserve a million copies of Fang Qiu's new book, Chinese Medicine in Human Body. I've contacted Fang Qiu, and he gave me the number of your company. Will you take this order?"

"Yes, yes, yes!" Hearing this, Zhang Xingjie was shocked. He immediately nodded and said, "Of course!"

"A million copies.

"Fang Qiu is really awesome. In the blink of an eye, he brought us an order of a million copies. He is amazing!"

After discussing the details with Yang Ningyuan, Zhang Xingjie hung up the phone. Without thinking, he immediately transferred 18 million to Fang Qiu, including the previously reprinted taxes. He also specially sent a thank-you message to Fang Qiu and told him that his cooperation with Hua Yuan Pharmaceutical Corporation had been settled.

In the cultivation base's office, after receiving the text message, Fang Qiu smiled and immediately called Zhu Benzhen, Sun Hao, Zhou Xiaotian, Zhao Shanlin, and He Xue to his office.

"The purpose of calling you here today is to discuss the plan of Tianshan Snow Lotus with you," said Fang Qiu.

"I don't think it's urgent."

He Xue sat down casually and added, "It's only going to be ten days before the New Year. Besides, aren't you going to perform at the New Year's Gala? There's not much time left before the New Year. Why don't you put it on hold for now and make plans after the New Year?"

"I agree." Zhu Benzhen and the other two nodded in agreement.

Zhao Shanlin also nodded and said, "I don't think it's urgent about the Snow Lotuses. After all, this is the first batch of Snow Lotuses. After they grow for a period of time, their quality and effect will be greatly improved, which is good for our company."

"Okay." Seeing that everyone had agreed, Fang Qiu didn't say anything more.

After all, Zhao Shanlin was right.

Ordinary Snow Lotuses took a long time to mature, but the one they cultivated only took a month to mature. All this was because of the rich Qi of Heaven and Earth. Even if they stayed in the cultivation area for another month, the Snow Lotuses would never wither, so Fang Qiu was not in a hurry.

Most importantly, Mr. Zhao was right. The longer the Snow Lotuses were cultivated in the cultivation area, the more effective they would be. It was not only because of their growth but also because as time went on, they could absorb more Qi of Heaven and Earth.

The more Qi of Heaven and Earth they absorbed, the better the effect would be. When they started to be sold, they would cause a greater shock!

"In addition, there is one thing I need Manager He to analyze for me," said Fang Qiu with a smile.

"What is it?" asked He Xue.

"You know that I published a new book recently."

Fang Qiu looked at He Xue and said, "Today, Yang Ningyuan of Hua Yuan Pharmaceutical Corporation called me and asked to order one million copies. The book would be sold with two health products of Hua Yuan Pharmaceutical Corporation!"

"Buy a box of health care products and get one book free."

He Xue paused, then shook her head and snorted, "Sly old fox!"

Fang Qiu smiled.

It seemed that He Xue knew this trick well. He was relieved.

“All right.”

Fang Qiu stood up, took out a stack of red envelopes from his inner pocket, and said, “The New Year is coming. I’ll give everyone a red packet before the New Year.”

After that, he handed one to each of them.

“So thin?”

Taking the red envelope, Zhou Xiaotian pinched it and looked at Fang Qiu with disdain, and said, “Is it just 100 yuan?”

In spite of his words, Fang Qiu’s three roommates thought a red packet of 100 yuan was actually enough.

“Hmm?”

Zhu Benzhen opened the red envelope. Instead of taking out the money from it, he took out a check.

He saw that it was 500,000!

“What the f*ck! The youngest, is this check real?”

Sun Hao was shocked.

“Is he still the youngest who is particularly stingy even when treating us to a meal at school?”

Zhou Xiaotian stared at Fang Qiu in disbelief.

Fang Qiu was speechless in an instant.

“How could you say I’m stingy!

“I didn’t have money at that time!”

“Fang Qiu, is there something wrong with you?”

Zhu Benzhen also looked at Fang Qiu seriously and asked, “Did you mistakenly write a few more zeros?”

“No, it’s 500,000,” Fang Qiu said with a smile, “I hope everyone can have a happy new year!”

“What the f*ck!” Getting out of the shock, Zhou Xiaotian jumped up in surprise and rushed straight to Fang Qiu, almost kissing Fang Qiu’s face.

Sun Hao was also very excited.

They looked at each other, carefully put away the check, and rushed to Fang Qiu together.

Fang Qiu quickly stepped aside.

After playing for a while and congratulating each other on the New Year, his three roommates and Zhao Shanlin left with smiles.

Only He Xue did not leave.

After they had left, there were only He Xue and Fang Qiu in the office. He Xue held the check with two fingers and asked, "Why is it a million?"

"Because you will have to work hard next year. You can take it as an early reward," said Fang Qiu.

"How much is Mr. Zhao's?" He Xue continued.

"Is this something you can inquire about?" said Fang Qiu with a smile.

This was a business secret. In a large company, everyone's salary would be secret, let alone a bonus.

"I'm curious." He Xue glanced at Fang Qiu and asked, "Are you going to tell me or not?"

"It's also one million," said Fang Qiu helplessly.

"Little brat, you know what's important." Looking at Fang Qiu, He Xue smiled. During this period of time when she was here, she naturally knew how important Mr. Zhao was.

He couldn't be treated badly!

It seemed that Fang Qiu knew what was good for him.

"Happy New Year. I'm looking forward to your performance at the New Year's Gala. I'll take my leave!"

After that, she got up and left.

Fang Qiu took out his mobile phone. Looking at the text and seeing the money belonging to the royalty, he was lost in thought.
