

Mia is Not 221

Chapter 221: The Doctor's Diagnosis Report

Ava's mother said that it was not good for boys to pinch a girl's face, so she hoped that Ben's grandma would control him and not do this in the future. Unexpectedly, Ben's grandma said, "What's wrong with children fooling around with each other? Other children are fine with it, but your child is pretentious!"

At that time, many people were watching and pointing. Ava felt embarrassed and a little sad. It was clearly not her fault, but in the end, it was as if she had done something wrong... In the end, Ava's mother had no choice but to tell her to stay away from Ben and not play with him.

Now that Amelia had beaten Ben to the hospital, Ava felt that her parents were quite happy when they found out about this, so she felt that Amelia was amazing. She was a little hero!

When the other children heard this, they also started chatting. The conversation between the children was strange. For example, Ava announced loudly, "From today onwards, Mia is the most powerful little hero! Because she defeated Ben!"

The other children echoed, "Mia is a little hero!"

Ava: "She's the most powerful little hero!"

The other children: "Yes, the most powerful little hero!"

Hence... on the second day of kindergarten, Amelia had loyal supporters.

Amelia: "... " Although she did not understand why, she was very happy that she had four good friends at once! Mia was very happy to play with them all day!

On the other side, in the hospital, Ben's grandmother was furious in the doctor's office. "My grandson already said that it hurts like hell, but you guys can't find anything no matter what you say. You bunch of quacks, useless!"

The doctors were speechless. X-rays were taken, and an MRI scan was performed. They even checked his entire body. There was nothing wrong with this little boy called Ben's body! There was no bleeding inside his body, no internal injuries, and no external injuries. It was just that his knees were a little red.

A doctor persuaded, "Calm down. Your grandson just suffered some external injuries. Don't worry..."

Unexpectedly, Ben's grandma suddenly raised her voice: "What did you say? It's just a little external injury?! How can he keep crying over a little external injury! And he even said that his knee hurts! I spent tens of thousands of yuan to check at your hospital, but in the end, you said that my grandson is fine. Are you scamming my family's money? I'm going to call the media to expose you!"

The doctor: "...". In the end, he was forced to write a very general conclusion on the case report: the patient was suspected to have ligament damage.

Ben's grandmother was still dissatisfied and felt that this conclusion was written too lightly. She said relentlessly, "I've already checked. In my grandson's situation, it's very likely that he has meniscus damage. Hurry up and write it down too."

The doctors were seriously affected by Ben's grandma's actions. The pediatrics department itself was the department that was under the greatest pressure. The doctors had no choice but to do as Ben's grandma said. But just to be on the safe side, he still added a line of words at the back: Suspected ligament injury, suspected meniscus injury. Suggested further examination.

Ben's grandma was not very satisfied with this, but she had gotten what she wanted. Then, she took a photo of the examination report and turned around to post the news of her grandson being beaten to the hospital on the Internet. She even cried to the camera, "My grandson was fine when he went to kindergarten in the morning, but when he came back, he was injured. An old woman like me went to argue with the other party's parents and was even slapped by them. Who did my grandson offend? He just accidentally touched the other party's child's hair in class and was beaten up! That little girl is too violent. She learned it from her father. She hit people without saying a word and only knows how to solve problems with violence. But we're not afraid. I'm already old and not afraid of death. I have to seek justice for my grandson! I demand an apology to me..."

Ben's grandmother wiped her tears in front of the camera. She had a hospitalization video in her hand and a doctor's diagnosis report. She kept wiping her tears. Ben also cried on the hospital bed and said that she was in so much pain.

This video instantly ignited the anger of the netizens!

"This is too much. Like parents, like children! Not to mention anything else, the old lady is already so old, but they still attacked her. Such a person is a bastard. They deserve to die!"

"I've seen many children who hit people without a word. Children nowadays are spoiled. They break things and hit people if they don't like it. It's all because parents spoil them!"

"I suggest that we call the police quickly and teach them a lesson! Don't let her off just because she's a child!"

Chapter 222: Guiding Public Opinion

As the saying went, children who knew how to cry had milk to drink. Shameless people often led better lives. When the people on the Internet heard Ben's grandma's cries, they attacked Amelia and clamored for an explanation from Glorious Star International Kindergarten.

Ben's grandmother was very pleased with herself and was very satisfied with her own wit. Now that the matter had blown up, even the Walton family had to deal with it carefully.

Soon, Ben's parents rushed to the hospital. The couple was really too busy. They usually didn't go anywhere and rarely went home. It was only after Ben's matter blew up on the Internet that they found out.

Ben's mother anxiously said to Ben's grandmother, "Mom, what are you doing?"

Do you know that that's the Walton family! The richest family in Buffalo!"

Ben's grandmother snorted coldly: "Why are you afraid of him? So what if he's rich? Our ancestors are even richer than them!" It was just that they had declined later on. Ever since she married into the family, for some reason, their family had declined more and more. Otherwise, they would also be a family with a foundation!

"Besides, we still have the Burton family to back us up! We're all partners. Old Madam Burton and I have a good relationship," Ben's grandmother said nonchalantly. In any case, they couldn't touch her grandson. She couldn't take this lying down!

Ben's mother had no choice but to look at Ben's father. Ben's father was wearing a suit, and his beer belly was about to burst through his clothes. He frowned and said unhappily, "My mother is right." The child was the bottom line. His son was already hospitalized, so did they have to endure it? Moreover, his mother had also said that the other party hit him first. They were in the right, so what was there to be afraid of?

With her son's support, Ben's grandmother became even more arrogant. She started to post a second video online: "Today, I went to reason with the other party's parents again, but the other party was very arrogant. They said that they would give me a million yuan and asked me to hand over my grandson so that he could have two more beatings! This child's parents are very powerful. His arms are covered in tattoos, and they even hit an old lady like me! They even knocked out my teeth! Oh my god, is there still justice in this world?" Ben's grandma took a photo of her dentures and posted it online.

The netizens were furious. Wasn't this a proper evil force? The father of this little girl called Amelia was simply violent. He even hit the elderly!

Seeing that this matter was popular, many bloggers on the Internet began to ride on the popularity and spoke up.

"I think the reason why there are so many school bullying incidents is because there are parents who indulge their children like this. When they hit their children for the first time, they didn't teach them a lesson. Instead, they boosted their prestige."

“Aiyo, I heard from the grapevine that this child who hit someone is called Amelia. She’s the little daughter of the Walton family. In the capital, what does the word ‘Walton’ mean? Money! Countless money!”

“I heard a little too. This Walton family dotes on this young lady called Amelia very much. I heard that she has been doted on since she was born. Her feet have never touched the ground. Wherever she goes, she will be carried by the servants and won’t eat by herself. She’s already three years old and doesn’t know how to walk. That’s why she was sent to kindergarten when she was four years old. Moreover, it’s said that she’s very picky when it comes to eating. She doesn’t eat or eat. If she doesn’t like something, she’d rather throw it away than share it with others. It’s not strange for a child who’s been doted on in such family conditions to hit someone without a word.”

Some bloggers knew what to say to gain popularity and attract attention. As long as they could incite the anger and emotions of the netizens, the more likes and comments they received, the more money they would get. Therefore, they did not care about the truth at all. They could even make up nonsense and lie at will. Anyway, it was very difficult for most of them to come into contact with the circle like the Walton family. They did not know what their lives were like. Coupled with the mentality of ordinary people hating the rich, as long as the Walton family crossed the line, the netizens would be even angrier.

As a result, the rumors became more and more ridiculous. There was a very ironic principle in this world, which was that if one lied too much, it would become true.

In the blink of an eye, Amelia became the most hated child on the Internet. Alex also became a bully with tattoos who bullied people everywhere.

“A vermin of society! Such a person deserves to die!”

“Boycott the Walton family! Boycott everything in the Walton Corporation!” “Amelia, go to hell! Children who bully others should go to hell!”

When Ben’s grandma saw the netizens’ comments, she felt even more smug.. Wasn’t the Walton family very powerful? If you have the ability, come!

Chapter 223: Mia Is Not Wrong

The Walton family never expected that their family would be exposed on the Internet one day! The curses on the Internet were very unpleasant. The Walton family tried their best to suppress their anger and pretend that nothing had happened in front of Amelia.

However, William could not. He was still young. When he saw the videos on the Internet and the comments that distorted the truth, especially those that scolded Amelia and asked her to die early and reincarnate early, he was so angry that he could not breathe!

William took his phone and replied to every comment that scolded Amelia. "If you don't know the truth, don't spout nonsense, okay? You're an opinionless person! Idiot!"

However, no matter how much the Walton family hid it, Amelia still saw the videos on the Internet. The smile on her originally smiling face gradually disappeared. She pursed her lips and asked George, "Eldest Uncle, did Mia do something wrong?"

George: "No, Mia didn't do anything wrong."

Amelia: "Then why did they say that? If I'm not wrong, why did they scold us?"

Old Madam Walton rushed over and comforted Amelia. "Because they don't know anything and listen to others..."

Amelia was even more confused. Since they didn't know anything, why did they say it so boldly and confidently, as if they had seen it with their own eyes? Why could they casually scold someone in such unpleasant language when they didn't know anything...

Alex remained silent as he carried Amelia back to her room.

The Walton family's hearts ached, but they could only endure it first. They had to settle the matter online first.

At night, the Walton Corporation's public relations team went online and explained the ins and outs of the matter. They also claimed that Amelia had not injured anyone and could cooperate with Ben's grandmother to go to a higher-level hospital for a checkup. In addition, they also sent out a lawyer's statement to all the online bloggers who participated in this condemnation to pursue the responsibility of spreading rumors! In the end, the Walton family called the police and the police also issued a notice, saying that the truth of the matter was under investigation. It was illegal to spread rumors wantonly. They hoped that the people would be careful with their words and actions.

The Walton family's public relations team was swift and decisive. They cleared the Internet in half a night. When the online bloggers saw the Walton family's stance, they deleted the videos and condemnation words one by one and did not dare to say anything.

However, the Walton family could suppress the bloggers who were trying to ride on the popularity, but they could not suppress the voices of ordinary people.

"What's going on? The video is gone. Is this the superpower of the rich?"

"I'm impressed. The Walton family can even bribe the police? No wonder everyone wants to become rich!"

"Brothers, I received a lawyer's letter from the Walton family. Aiyo, I'm so afraid. I won't go to jail, right? Hahaha!"

These netizens who were joining in the fun were more willing to believe their guesses and have malicious thoughts. Even with the police's clarification, they still felt that this world was dark. The police could be bribed, so they had to uphold justice!

When Ms. Rose saw the shocking curses on the Internet, especially those untrue words directed at Amelia, she could not hold it in anymore. She stood up and clarified, "I'm the teacher from this incident, Ms. Rose from Class 3 of Glorious Star International Kindergarten. I was at the scene when it happened. I can say responsibly: Things are not as you think!"

Ms. Rose recorded a five-minute video and explained all the details of what happened that day. However, she never expected that not only did her voice not calm the netizens down, but it also welcomed a wave of ridicule. "Aiyo, the Walton family is really impressive. Even the kindergarten teacher was bribed. You're lying through your teeth!"

"Haha, this clarification is too fake! I don't believe a word of it! How can such a person be a kindergarten teacher? Are you worthy? Don't corrupt children!"

"I'm speechless. Now that you have money, you can do whatever you want, right?"

Ms. Rose did not expect things to go in a worse direction. She was dumbfounded.

Ava's mother hesitated for an entire night before finally standing up against the pressure. "I'm the parent of Amelia's classmate. I can testify that Ms. Rose is not lying. In this incident, Ben often bullied other children in class. My daughter has also been bullied by him. Moreover, Ben's grandmother is especially unreasonable. Because she's old, she bullies others and distorts the truth."

As expected, Ava's mother's Weibo post was also attacked by the netizens. As long as they put in a good word for Amelia, they would be attacked by the netizens and think that they had been bribed by the Walton family to work with money..

Chapter 224: Mia Is the Bravest Child

"Is there a surveillance camera?" Old Master Walton asked coldly.

George: "The kindergarten gave the teachers full trust and freedom, so there were no surveillance cameras installed in the classroom." Otherwise, they wouldn't have been so passive.

Upstairs, Amelia lay on the desk and stroked the parrot's feathers. She asked Elmer Stevens with a dark expression, "Master, why did those people do that?"

Elmer Stevens pursed his lips. "This world is like this. It's noisy and messy.

People have all kinds of emotions. We can't control their mouths."

A thousand people meant a thousand Hamlets. They firmly believed in what they "saw" and firmly believed that what they thought was the truth. They didn't look at clarification or pursue the real truth.

Amelia felt aggrieved. "But I didn't do anything wrong." Even so, if she did it again, she would still hit Ben!

This was the first time Amelia had been scolded by so many people. She did not know what was wrong with this world, nor did she understand why those things that she had not done sounded so real from others. She was even a little dazed. Had she really done these things, but she had forgotten...

Alex stood at the door and looked at the unhappy Amelia. His heart ached. His daughter had been hurt.

There were no surveillance cameras in the kindergarten, but there was a Heavenly Eye near the kindergarten. The Heavenly Eye was different from surveillance. The Heavenly Eye was more in the hands of the officials to maintain social order. The high-definition Heavenly Eye could even see the bird's nest on the tree clearly. He could use his authority to check the nearby Heavenly Eye. If he was lucky, he could reconstruct the entire incident.

The matter on the Internet continued to ferment. When the other brothers of the Walton family heard the news, they rushed back to the Walton family.

Andrew was furious. He had never thought that such an obedient Mia would one day be spread like that by people on the Internet!

Eric was so angry that he smashed a hole in the front of the car!

After Chris found out about the news, he immediately used his status as the Best Actor to make a statement to defend Amelia. Then, he was also scolded until he was covered in wounds!

At this moment, the brothers of the Walton family were gathered in the study. George did not let them see Amelia, afraid that their emotions would affect her.

Eric glared. "Big Brother, are we going to let this matter go just like that? I'll go find that damn old woman now! I'll fucking beat her to death!"

Chris adjusted his glasses. "Bring me along."

George stopped them coldly. "The public opinion on the Internet is hot now. We can only take this matter step by step. Don't do anything rash." Now, no matter what they did, the other party could bite back. The situation was very disadvantageous to them. Could they really use money and power to deal with things? If that was the case, wouldn't it confirm those netizens' words!

The best clarification now was to take out the surveillance footage. Otherwise, even if the Walton family could threaten Ben's grandma to change her words, the netizens would not buy it. They would think that the Walton family had taken out money and used their power to threaten people. Then, they would continue to say those words that slandered Amelia.

George did not want Amelia to continue being injured.

The Walton brothers were so worried that they wanted to hit someone!

In the room, Amelia looked listless. She had heard a lot of logic, but she still could not understand this world.

Elmer Stevens sat in front of Amelia in silence and asked, “Mia, what do you think? Do you still have the courage to continue resisting this world?”

Amelia looked up. “Can I?”

Elmer Stevens: “If you think you can, then you can. Courage is the sharp sword that supports your indomitable will. If you’re brave and strong, you can loudly say no to those cyberbullies! You can stand up and defend yourself loudly! As long as you’re brave and strong, no one can hurt you no matter what they say. Even if the storm comes stronger, as long as you’re fearless, there’s nothing to be afraid of.’

When Amelia heard Elmer Stevens’s words, the light in her eyes lit up again. No one knew that this would be Amelia’s most important transformation.

Amelia clenched her fists and said firmly, “I can! I’m very brave! I want to clarify for myself! I want to tell the truth!”

Seven, who was on the balcony, flapped his wings and cawed. “Mia is awesome! Mia, you can do it! Mia is brave!”

Amelia: “Yes! I’m the bravest! I’m the bravest child in the world!”

With that, Amelia ran to William’s room. At this moment, William’s hair was in a mess. He was still holding his phone and scolding the netizens.. His mouth was dry and he was seeing stars!

Chapter 225: I Want to Solve It Myself

Seeing Amelia come over, William quickly put away his phone and asked, “Mia, what’s wrong?”

Amelia said, “Brother, you don’t have to hide. Mia already knows.”

William was silent and tried his best to comfort her. "Mia, don't listen to those people on the Internet. Those people don't know anything. My father will resolve the matter!"

Amelia shook her head. "No, Brother, I want to settle it myself."

William was a little confused. "What?"

Amelia said loudly, "I want to face it bravely myself! What I didn't do, I want to stand up bravely and make it clear. They can't wrong me! I can't be bullied by them either!" Her father was right. If she didn't do anything, she couldn't admit it. People could suffer anything in their lives, but they couldn't suffer!

William opened his mouth and suddenly became excited. He slapped the table. "Alright! I'll help you get it now!" With that, he began to look for a tripod and turned on the recording mode on his phone! Without any hesitation!

If Amelia was looking for George, George would definitely not let her do anything rash. However, she was looking for William. William was not old, and he would not consider all kinds of consequences like an adult. Instead, he had the bravery of a child and charged forward. Even if he did something wrong and was injured, he had the aura of a newborn calf that was not afraid of tigers!

When George realized what Amelia had done, it was too late to stop her.

The Walton family was in the study with dark faces, thinking of all sorts of ways to suppress their anger with their rationality and try their best to think of a solution to the problem. At this moment, their phones rang. It was a new news notification.

When they opened it, the Walton family was stunned.

Amelia sat obediently in front of the camera with her small hands on her knees. She blinked her big eyes and stared at the camera on her phone. It was obvious that she was very nervous. She looked behind the camera and asked, "Are you done? Brother, can we start?"

William's voice sounded. "Done."

Only then did Amelia look at the camera again and say, "Hello, uncles and aunties, brothers and sisters... I'm Amelia, Mia, and also the bad child you're talking about..."

Amelia bit her lip nervously. In the beginning, she did not dare to look directly at the camera, but slowly, she became braver and spoke more smoothly. "I did hit Ben, but I don't think I did anything wrong. In the beginning, when I was having breakfast in class, Ben said that I was a big-bellied woman and that there was nothing left of what I ate. I was very angry and asked him not to say anything, but he was still talking, so I ignored him. Coincidentally, Ms. Rose was about to take attendance, so I ran over to take attendance."

Amelia's voice was soft and she was very quiet, but every time she was so quiet, Old Madam Walton's heart ached so much that she wanted to cry. What did her Mia do wrong? Why did she have to experience so many disasters?

On the camera, Amelia continued in a childish voice, "That day was Mia's first day in kindergarten. Ms. Rose asked Mia to introduce herself. I was very happy to introduce myself to everyone. I said, "Hello, everyone. I'm Amelia. You can call me Mia. I'm very happy to be friends with everyone! However, at this moment, Ben hooted and said that I'm a big-bellied woman who eats until she poops! Ms. Rose said that it was wrong of Ben to say that about me and asked Ben to apologize to me. Ben said that he was sorry, but I didn't want to forgive him because he wasn't sincere at all, so I ignored him. However, during class, Ben suddenly reached out and pulled my hair clip."

Amelia touched her head and said, "It's here. Ben pulled my little rabbit hair clip off and even broke a lot of my hair. It hurts so much. I asked Ben why he did this. I said that it was wrong of him to do this, but he didn't listen to me. He even grabbed my hair and said that he wanted to untie my hair. I was very angry, so I grabbed his hair too. He hit me, and then I hit him too."

Amelia's small face was filled with stubbornness. "I think I didn't do anything wrong. Dad told me that we can't bully others, but when others bully us, we can't let others think that we're easy to bully. We have to resist bravely." As she spoke, tears welled up in Amelia's eyes. "But Uncle, Auntie, Brothers, and Sisters, you all say that Mia did something wrong. You all call Mia a bad child. My uncles are very anxious, and Dad is also very worried. They don't want Mia to be hurt and want to protect me. They've been trying their best to tell the truth online, but you don't believe me.."

Chapter 226: We're Not Wrong

Amelia choked for a moment. "Mia wants to ask Uncle, Auntie, Brothers, and Sisters, did you see Mia fight with Ben with your own eyes? Do you know why we fought? You don't know anything or understand anything. Why do you have to say that Mia is a bad child?"

At this point, Amelia's tears fell. However, she forcefully wiped them away with the back of her hand, but her tears seemed to be unable to be wiped clean. More and more flowed. In the end, she burst into tears. "Why? Why isn't the truth believed? Why do so many people support those who are spouting nonsense? Am I really wrong?"

In the camera, the little Amelia was crying very sadly. She did not know what she had done wrong, nor did she know why the uncles and aunties on the Internet would say that she was a bad child. She felt very aggrieved and did not understand what was wrong with the world.

When William saw that Amelia was crying so sadly, he hurriedly went to get her a tissue. "Sister, don't cry. Be good..."

However, Amelia's tears fell like beans, crying very sadly.

"Brother, Mia didn't do anything wrong." Amelia sobbed. "If Ben bullies me again, I'll still hit him!"

William did not know how to comfort her. He could only try his best to hug Amelia. "Yes, yes. Mia didn't do anything wrong. If he bullies you again, there's no need for Mia to do anything. Brother will hit him first!"

William wiped Amelia's tears and said firmly, "We're protecting ourselves. There's nothing wrong!"

At the end of the video, William kept wiping Amelia's tears. Then, he remembered that he did not turn off the video recorder. Then, he ran over and turned off the video recorder. The entire video was not edited, so the last scene was also inside.

On the Internet, many netizens who saw this video fell silent. In the video, Amelia sat obediently, her small hands placed very obediently. She was so quiet that it made their hearts ache. The sentence "Why isn't the truth believed? Why do so many people support those who are spouting nonsense? Am I really wrong?" poked at their hearts. They could not answer Amelia's question.

Someone hesitantly commented, "I think there's really a misunderstanding here."

"Looking at this little girl called Amelia in the video, she still has injuries on her face. She's much worse than that Ben."

"For some reason, when I saw Amelia cry, I cried too. Yes, why? Are the one-sided words we heard and saw on the Internet really the truth?"

"Although I don't know what happened, seeing Amelia crying so sadly and seeing how sincere and sad she is, I choose to believe her! The grievance in her eyes can't be faked!"

"That's right. When this little girl called Amelia cries, I want to cry too. If the truth is really as she said, then it's not wrong for her to hit someone! If it were my child, I would also support her hitting back!"

However, some of the netizens' comments were kind, and of course, there were malicious ones.

"Aiyo, you're still coming out to clear your name now? Rich people are really amazing. How long has this child cried and practiced for to have such an effect?"

"Look at what this little girl said. How can a child have such deep knowledge?"

It's obvious that the adults wrote the lines for her to memorize!"

“She’s so young and already knows how to act. Why doesn’t she enter the entertainment industry?! Oh, oh, oh, I forgot. This girl has an uncle who’s the Best Actor. Her uncle must have taught her to act like this!”

“Hahaha, I’m dying of laughter. If anything this Amelia says is true, I’ll livestream kneeling down and kowtowing to her!”

On the other side, Ben’s grandma, who was still in the hospital, also saw Amelia’s video. When she saw Amelia crying and explaining, she laughed very loudly. Hehe, crying, now you know how to cry? Weren’t you quite impressive yesterday? Without evidence, what’s the use of crying?! I’ll say this today. If they have the ability, they can take out evidence to prove their innocence and prove that their Ben attacked first! Otherwise, they can forget about clearing their names!

Unfortunately, there were no surveillance cameras in the kindergarten! They would never be able to clear their names! Ben’s grandma smiled very happily.

At the Walton family’s residence.

After Old Madam Walton finished watching the video, she could not help but control her wheelchair to rush to Amelia’s side. The brothers of the Walton family also clenched their fists. Their hearts felt like they had been dug out by someone, and their bodies tightened in pain.

Amelia had already calmed down and was sitting on the sofa in a daze..

Chapter 227: Let Me Do It

“Mia, Grandma’s good Mia...” Old Madam Walton came in crying.

“Grandma...” Amelia was shocked. “Grandma, why are you crying? You’re not in good health. Don’t cry.” She frantically took a tissue to wipe Old Madam Walton’s tears.

Old Madam Walton couldn't help but cry. Her granddaughter was really kind. She was already very sad, but she still had to comfort her.

"Mia, don't worry about those people on the Internet. Your eldest uncle and the others will handle it well." Old Master Walton also felt very upset.

"That's right, Mia. You just have to grow up happily. Leave the rest to Eldest Uncle." George also comforted her.

Eric had a bad temper. He patted the door frame and said, "That's right, Mia. If anyone dares to say that you're a bad child, Fifth Uncle will run to their house overnight and smash their phones!"

Amelia looked at her grandparents and uncles in front of her and felt like she could rely on them. She nodded. "Yes, yes, but I still want to see if Uncles, Aunties, Brothers, and Sisters know that they were wrong. Do they know that they misunderstood Mia?" She had already tried her best to explain. She felt that her uncles and aunties had been deceived previously. Now that they knew the truth, they would not scold her anymore.

George hesitated, not wanting to show Amelia those comments. Amelia could not read, so she needed them to read them to her. They could not say those vicious words, but Amelia insisted on listening.

The adults looked at each other. Nobody wanted to read it.

"Let me do it." At this moment, a voice sounded at the door. It was Lucas. He had a straight face, somewhat similar to George and Old Master Walton's serious appearance. He walked in with steady steps.

Before turning on his phone, Lucas glanced at Amelia and asked, "Are you sure you won't cry after hearing this?"

Amelia shook her head. "No, Mia is already very brave!" After recording the video and crying, she felt that she could do it. She felt that she had gained a lot of courage! She could face many bad things! Face those unpleasant words!

Lucas nodded and slowly read out the comments. There were good ones and bad ones. The bad ones had ugly words. At first, Amelia was quite happy because someone believed her. Later, when she heard the bad comments and harsh curses, she began to feel sad again, but she quickly adjusted.

Amelia: "It's okay. There are already uncles and aunties who believe Mia."

The Walton family's noses stung even more. She was clearly so sad, but she still tried her best to comfort them with a smile. How could those people bear to scold such a good Mia?!

At this moment, the Walton family prayed in their hearts that there was retribution in this world.

Amelia smiled, but her heart was inevitably enveloped in darkness. Those comments were like needles that pierced her heart. The more she thought about it, the more her nose stung and she felt sad... She was only four years old, but she experienced what it meant to be powerless. She felt that the world was dark, as if her efforts were useless...

At this moment, another video on the Internet swept over with an unstoppable aura!

In the video, half of Alex's body was in the darkness. Only his eyes were abnormally bright. He said, "Mia, don't be afraid. Daddy is here."

Immediately after, Alex opened the Heavenly Eye and released all the videos taken by the Heavenly Eye he had found! These videos were not complete. Some were only taken at the entrance of the classroom, some at the back of the classroom, and some were only taken at a window. Fortunately, the Heavenly Eye had billions of pixels. It pieced together the enlarged images and finally pieced together the complete truth!

In the surveillance footage of the Heavenly Eye, Amelia was sitting at a small table and eating. Ben, who was beside her, was saying something. Then, he laughed out loud. The surrounding children also laughed. Amelia was angry and said something seriously. However, not only did Ben not restrain herself, but he even made a face at Amelia. At this moment, a teacher came over and the little boy ran away.

The video turned to Amelia standing on the podium and talking to her classmates. Ben, who was below, began to laugh again. Although they could not hear what he said, the expression on her face was despicable. It was infuriating to watch. The teacher said something to Amelia and Ben. Ben reluctantly said a few words to Amelia and this matter passed.

Soon, it was time for the main event. It was Ben who pulled the hair clip off Amelia's head from behind. Amelia seemed to be in pain. Her face was wrinkled as she covered her head and turned around in surprise. She said a few words, but Ben did not restrain himself at all. He even continued to reach out to pull her hair..

Chapter 228: The True Truth

At this moment, Amelia, who was in the video, stood up politely and moved the small chair to the side. Only then did she pull Ben's hair and the two of them started fighting..

This surveillance footage was no different from what Amelia had described! The mocking, sarcastic, and unpleasant-sounding people on the Internet instantly fell silent. All of them tried their best to delete their comments...

The kindergarten video had finished playing, but it was not over yet. Alex played the hospital video again! It was too troublesome to go through the process of obtaining the hospital's surveillance cameras. Alex did not have the patience. He directly hacked the hospital's network!

The hospital's video was much more exciting than the Heavenly Eye. There were images and sounds. Ben's grandma changed her pitiful crying appearance on the Internet and asked the doctor to change the diagnosis for no reason. Immediately after that, in the ward, their family was talking, and Ben's grandma's attitude became even more arrogant. As for the video of Ben crying because of pain on the Internet, it turned out that it was not because his wound hurt, but because he wanted to eat fried chicken. However, Ben's grandma could not buy it for a while, so he cried...

This time, the entire Internet was shocked!

“Oh my god, my worldview has exploded! This is the worst time I’ve been misled by the Internet!”

“So what Amelia said was true. The Walton family’s clarification was also true. It’s laughable that at that time, we all thought that they were clearing their names...”

“My heart suddenly feels so heavy. I think of what Amelia cried and said: Why doesn’t anyone believe the truth? Why do so many people support the liar...”

At this moment, countless people were silent and did not dare to make a sound, but there were still people who jumped out to curse. Previously, they had scolded the Walton family for being rich and covering the sky with one hand. They had scolded Amelia for knowing how to act and lie at such a young age. Now, they were no longer scolding the Walton family or Amelia. Instead, they were scolding Ben’s grandmother and Ben!

Some people were curious and compared these accounts. They realized that the person who scolded Ben’s family and the person who scolded Amelia were the same group of people! These people were fence-sitters and did not have any backbone at all!

On the Internet, some people were disdainful, some were arguing, but there were also people who were brave enough to admit their mistakes.

“Amelia, I’m sorry. You’re not in the wrong. It’s our fault. It’s this impetuous society’s fault.”

“Mia, I’m sorry. Auntie didn’t understand anything before and scolded you. I was wrong. I’m sorry. Boohoo...”

Seeing these apologies, tears were still on Amelia’s eyelashes, but the corners of her mouth curled up. She smiled very happily. So hard work could really achieve her wish!

Alex’s words were like a ray of light that illuminated the darkness and warmed her heart! Just as she was thinking, the door was pushed open. Alex was dressed in black, and his slightly curly hair hung unruly on his forehead. His slender figure covered the entire door. He curled his lips slightly and spread his hands. “Daughter, Daddy is back.”

Amelia pounced over. Alex easily picked her up and raised her in the air. Alex hugged Alex's neck tightly.

"Daughter, we won this battle." Alex looked at Amelia like a general who had just won.

Amelia cheered. "Yay! We won! We won! Daddy is awesome! Mia is also awesome! Eldest Uncle is also awesome! Grandpa, Grandma, Second Uncle, Third Uncle... Eighth Uncle, Master, Seven, and Grandpa Turtle are all awesome!" Amelia excitedly named everyone.

Old Madam Walton smiled and couldn't help but choke up. Their family was rich, but what was the use of money? They were restricted by all kinds of conditions. They couldn't even help if their granddaughter was bullied. Fortunately, there was Alex. Although Alex was a little rash, it didn't matter! It was fine as long as he could protect Mia!

Amidst the cheers, Alex's phone rang. It was Ryan. His voice was on the verge of breaking down. "Master! What did you do this time?! That's the police department and the military's network. How dare you hack it! Someone from the higher-ups wants you to go over for a meeting... Where are you?! Come over quickly!"

Alex touched his nose.

Amelia looked at him with sparkling eyes. "Daddy, what's wrong with Uncle

Ryan? His voice is so miserable..."

Alex's expression did not change. "Nothing. Your Uncle Ryan is hungry. He asked me to bring him to dinner."

Amelia:

George looked at Alex and Amelia gently. The most important problem had already been resolved by Alex. Next, it was his turn. The truth was already out, and he could do whatever he wanted with money like the netizens said..

Chapter 229: I'm Sorry, My Ancestors

Elmer Stevens, who had been silent all this time, also silently retreated. Well, the dark clouds had finally dissipated. The moon had come out. It was a good time to see a ghost.

Unlike the relaxed and cheering of the Walton family, at this moment, the atmosphere of Ben's family was terrifyingly oppressive. Ben's grandmother saw that the Internet was filled with words that were scolding her. Those words were too unpleasant for her to accept.

"This group of blind people! You're the bad one! Your entire family is bad! You even cursed me to die! You die early!" Ben's grandmother cursed. She was so angry at the comments online. What kind of people were these? They scolded people so badly. Didn't they know that she was old and her heart couldn't take Ben's grandmother did not expect Amelia's father to be so powerful that he could really find the video! What should she do! Now that Ben's grandmother was in the wrong, she did not know how to explain even if she wanted to record a video!

Ben's grandma paced back and forth anxiously.

Ben's father was also angry. He questioned Ben's grandmother, "Mom, didn't you say that it was the other party's fault? Why did it become like this now!"

Ben's mother also said, "That's right, Mom. Previously, you said that the other party hit our Ben for no reason, but that's not the case at all!" This old woman was going to kill their family! The Walton family was so rich and powerful. If they made a move on their family, their family would go bankrupt!

Ben's grandma immediately threw away her walking stick and sat on the ground, wailing, "Oh, I'm usually the one who takes care of Ben. You guys didn't even ask me. Now that something has happened, you know to blame me? Boohoo, my life is so bitter! I've been looked down on by my son and scolded by my daughter-in-law. It's my fault for not taking good care of Ben. I've let my ancestors down, alright!"

Ben's mother rolled her eyes. This trick again! She had really had enough! If there were really ghosts of her ancestors, she prayed that they would come over tonight and take this old woman away!

Ben's grandma cried for a while and realized that no one was paying attention to her. Ben was watching cartoons at the side. He kicked the things off the coffee table and said, "It's so noisy! Can you be quieter!"

Ben's grandma's voice couldn't help but become softer.

Ben's father was on the phone and saying in distress, "I don't know what's going on, but President Burton hasn't picked up the phone." The President

Burton he was talking about was the eldest young master of the Burton family, Ulysses Burton.

Ben's mother also sighed. "The most important thing now is to quickly find a backer. This matter has blown up too much. The Walton family will not let it go. With their family's ability, it will be a matter of minutes before our family goes bankrupt." Previously, they thought that they were in the right. If the Walton family dared to make them go bankrupt, they would announce the matter online, saying that the Walton family could do whatever they wanted.

But now, they were the ones being scolded by the entire Internet. Even if the Walton family made their family go bankrupt, the netizens would only clap and cheer!

The more Ben's father and mother thought about it, the more regretful they became. It was all Ben's grandma's fault for causing so much harm!

Ben's grandma immediately said, "I'll call the Old Madam of the Burton family. I'm familiar with her." With that, she called the Old Madam of the Burton family. It took a few tries to get through.

Ben's grandma immediately smiled. "Aiyo, Old Madam Burton, it's me..."

On the other end of the phone, Old Madam Burton said, "Don't call our family anymore. Are you trying to kill us?" With that, she hung up without even explaining!

Ben's grandmother was stunned. "What does Old Madam Burton mean? Their family is so powerful. Are they afraid of the Walton family?"

Little did they know that the Burton family was almost scared to death! After Old Madam Burton's sixtieth birthday, their family had lost all their face. The big families that had begged them to cooperate in the past had all run away, and the government relationship they were so proud of had been cut off from them. At first, they even said behind their backs that Alex was their grandson, but they were warned by Alex. They no longer dared to speak nonsense.

The Burton family had no choice but to cooperate with the small families who were not present at the time. Previously, when they held the birthday banquet, they did not send an invitation to these small families and thought that they were not qualified. Now, more than half of the small families ignored them. The Burton family was like a leaf hanging on a tree branch, swaying from the wind. They might fall one day.

Later on, Old Madam Burton finally found Ben's grandma. Ben's family had some money and some foundation.. Most importantly, they were easy to fool! In the end! Their family was actually blind enough to provoke Amelia!

Chapter 230: The Person in Shrouds

The more Old Madam Burton thought about it, the angrier she became. She said gloomily, "This Amelia said that she wanted to acknowledge me as her great-grandmother back then, but in the end, she didn't even ask about my wellbeing. Heartless! She's so heartless at such a young age!" She regretted it to death now. If she had acknowledged Amelia back then, she would be the Old Madam with the highest status in the capital now! Who wouldn't greet her when they saw her?! How could she be like this?

That night, it was unknown how many people could not sleep. Ben's grandma lay on the bed and tossed and turned. The more she thought about it, the more aggrieved she felt. She just wanted to protect her grandson. What did she do wrong? After tossing and turning for half the night, she slowly fell asleep.

However, just as she closed her eyes, she saw a person in a white robe with a pale face standing in front of her, staring straight at her.

Ben's grandma was so frightened that she opened her eyes immediately!

"You scared me to death. So it was a dream..." Ben's grandma patted her chest. At this moment, there was a soft thud on her chest. Something fell. Ben's grandma subconsciously turned her head to look. What she saw almost scared her out of her wits!

Outside the window stood a row of "people" in shrouds. Green shrouds, blue shrouds, and bright red shrouds... They all looked at Ben's grandma coldly. When the wind blew, the curtains swayed. In the blink of an eye, they moved into the room together from the window.

Ben's grandma screamed and felt her blanket heat up. She actually peed her pants!

"Help! Help..." Ben's grandmother tried to get up on all fours and run, but her limbs were sore and she fell to the ground. She struggled to crawl out. "Help... there's ghosts, there's ghosts!"

At this moment, a pair of shoes that didn't touch the ground stood in front of her. Ben's grandma was so frightened that she whimpered. She raised her head shakily and saw a pair of eyes staring straight at her. She was too familiar with this person. It was her mother-in-law who fought with her to death when she was young and was finally angered to death by her!

"Mother-in-law..." Ben's grandma was scared out of her wits...

Her mother-in-law smiled sinisterly and gritted her teeth. “You’re very powerful! Do you think our Li family hasn’t suffered enough because of you?!”

The ancestors of the Li family also looked at Ben’s grandma coldly. There was a reincarnation system in hell. The purer the composition, the more benevolent the ghost, the sooner it could be reincarnated. When the ancestors of the Li family were alive, they had done many bad things, so they had to guard the ghost’s life and repay their debts. Seeing that they were about to repay their debts and reincarnate, they never expected to be pulled up collectively!

The ancestors of the Li family cursed, “If you don’t marry a virtuous wife, you’ll destroy three generations! What a sin! What a sin!”

“Don’t let her continue to harm our Li family! Take her away!” The ancestors of the Li family cursed. When one married, they would harm three generations. First, they would anger the first generation of their elders to death, then they would kill their husbands and raise their sons to be trash! Then, these ancestors would work in hell to accumulate merits. Finally, they had accumulated enough merits and found a more virtuous wife for their descendants. In the end? Not only did Ben’s grandma go against her daughter-in-law every day, but she also instigated her son and grandson to go against her daughter-in-law. She even raised her grandson to be even more useless! Other ghosts with merits would have long gone to reincarnate. Even the excess merits could protect their descendants, but what about them? They couldn’t rest in peace even if they died! Even in this state, she still burned incense for them every day and asked them to bless her! What protection! They could barely protect themselves!

The more one of the Li family’s ancestors thought about it, the angrier he became. He grabbed Ben’s grandmother’s foot and was about to pull her out:

“Let’s go! I’ll take you away now!”

Ben’s grandma screamed, “No! No! Help! I don’t want to die! I haven’t lived enough! I don’t want to die!”

Ben's grandmother's miserable cry cut through the sky! Unfortunately, no one heard it. In the middle of the night, Ben's father and mother received a call from the company and rushed to the company. As for Ben, he was tired from playing and was lying on the bed sleeping like a dead pig.

In the room, only Ben's grandmother's shrill cries could be heard.

The next day, Ben was woken up by hunger. She rubbed her stomach and knocked on Grandma's room door in a daze, but there was no response. He pushed open the door and went in, but he smelled a stench... Then, he saw Grandma lying on the ground with the corner of her mouth crooked.. He jumped up in fright and ran out screaming, "Grandma! Grandma is dead!

Grandma has become an evil ghost!"
