

Mia is Not 231

Chapter 231: Why Did You Fire Me?

Amelia said softly, "Then... then are they still human?"

Old Madam Walton touched Amelia's soft hair and did not know how to answer. Popularity would drive people crazy and make people imagine that they would become rich overnight. In fact, it was no different from gambling.

"Alright, go down and eat first." Old Madam Walton did not answer this question. Instead, she looked at Amelia and said kindly, "You're not allowed to play with your phone in the future."

Amelia obediently handed over her phone. "Yes, yes!" Then, she ran to the balcony and called out to Seven and Grandpa Turtle. "Seven, Grandpa Turtle, let's go out to eat."

Seven immediately flapped his wings and flew over. He stood on Amelia's shoulder and rubbed his little head against Amelia's face.

Amelia could not help but giggle. Soon, she threw the video she saw on her phone to the back of her mind. Seeing Amelia leave, Grandpa Turtle stuck his head out and slowly followed.

While Amelia was eating, Old Madam Walton quietly turned on her phone and found the video Amelia had just seen. When she saw the content of the video, she was also shocked and angry. How did such a thing get approved? Old Madam Walton immediately reported it!

At this moment, in a dilapidated rented house in the city village, a man's fingers were wrapped in gauze and he was scrolling through his phone proudly.

The video he had just posted had a million views in less than half an hour! There were also more than 70,000 likes. He was going to be famous!

This man was Shawn Peterson. Unfortunately, before he could be smug for long, he received a notification on his phone: Your video has been taken off the shelves because of violations.

Shawn was shocked, but then he felt indignant. What right did they have to take down his video?! He had already changed the bloody part to black and white, but he did not see any blood!

Shawn: "I was clearly the one who said that I wanted to kneel down and apologize, but because the company was in a hurry, I didn't look at my phone for the entire night!" Then, his popularity was snatched away!

Shawn flipped through his phone and looked at the accounts that had become popular because of his apology to Amelia and had gained countless fans. The first person to impersonate him had knelt on the durian and apologized live. Now, he had 100,000 fans! Then, he took the opportunity to sell the durians. Looking at the transaction volume in the past two days, he could earn tens of thousands just from the shares!

"Damn it, shameless!" Shawn was furious. The second person to impersonate him was the person who knelt on the glass shards in the live broadcast. After that, he cried miserably and said that he was pitiful and a tragedy. Then, he brought goods and sold all kinds of porcelain cups, water glasses, and so on. The sales of cups had exceeded 10,000 in the past two days!

"In terms of ruthlessness, are these people as ruthless as me? I even chopped off my fingers live!" Shawn's eyes were glowing green as he said indignantly,

"It's already like this, but I only have ten thousand fans. It's unfair, too unfair!"

The video of him cutting off his finger increased Shawn's fans by more than 10,000. He had tasted the sweetness of it and racked his brains to make another video. He had to seize this wave of traffic. Otherwise, he would not be able to get up after the popularity passed.

In the crowded and messy rented room, the curtains were tightly drawn. The room was dark, giving off a cold feeling.

In the principal's office of Glorious Star International Kindergarten, Ms. Mango looked at the principal in front of her with red eyes and asked in disbelief, "Why? Why did you fire me? Did I not do enough? I was indeed distracted by the matter between Mia and Ben. I'm sorry. Boohoo, please give me another chance."

The principal frowned. "Work negligence is only one reason. Think of the other reasons yourself."

Ms. Mango's tears fell. "I understand. Did I offend the Walton family? Boohoo..."

The principal was annoyed by Ms. Mango's crying and said directly, "It has nothing to do with the Walton family. It was the decision of our school board to fire you. You have three boyfriends at the same time. This has a very bad impact on our school!"

Ms. Mango was stunned. "I didn't..." She tried her best to defend herself. "I only have one boyfriend, Mr. Zhou. The others... are all pestering me. I tried my best to tell them and explain to them that I have a boyfriend, but when I mentioned this, they looked at me very sadly. I couldn't bear to hurt them, so I wanted to take it slow and explain it to them bit by bit..."

The principal sneered. "Explain? Is kissing someone's cheek at the door your way of explaining?"

Ms. Mango's face turned pale.. "No, listen to my explanation..."

Chapter 232: Home Visit

The principal didn't want to hear it and asked Ms. Mango to get lost! Ms. Mango stood at the door and felt very aggrieved. She didn't think that her dismissal had anything to do with her boyfriend. She felt that she had offended the Walton family. She would go to the Walton family now to ask for forgiveness... At the thought that she would be able to see George soon, Ms. Mango's heart beat faster. She turned around and jogged away.

Ms. Mango's name was Megan Brooke. She had named herself Ms. Mango. After leaving Glorious Star International Kindergarten, Megan went home and changed into a pink chiffon off-shoulder dress. Then, she let down her slightly curly hair and even wore a pair of cute cherry earrings.

Megan's visit to the Walton family was also very subtle. At 7:30 p.m., this was usually the time for the teacher to make a home visit. It was also the time when others were most relaxed after eating. Most importantly, everyone had gotten off work at this time.

Megan stood at the entrance of the Walton family's manor and was stunned. The Walton family's address was not easy to find. She had spent a lot of effort to get Jack to help steal it. Now that she saw the real Walton family's manor, she was shocked. Ordinary villas were already shocking enough in Megan's eyes, but the Walton family's manor was like a castle. It was grand and romantic.

Megan hid her shock and smiled politely and cutely at the guard. "Hello, I'm a teacher in Miss Amelia's class. My name is Megan. This is my business card."

The guard sized up Megan and frowned. Then, he went to inform the butler. After a while, Uncle Smith came out. However, when he saw Megan, he also frowned. If she wasn't Miss Mia's teacher, he would definitely chase her out the moment they met. Who would wear an off-shoulder dress when they came to a student's house for a home visit?

"Follow me," Uncle Smith said.

Megan did not notice the problem and suppressed her excitement. When she entered, she saw her outfit in the mirror in the living room. She only felt that it was gentle and cute, revealing the round curves of her shoulders. The pure pink dress made her look shy and pleasant. She was about to be mesmerized by herself.

After passing through the door and passing through a large lawn and garden, she officially stepped into the main building of the manor. The Walton family was all there. George was dealing with the company's matters on the sofa in the hall on the first floor. Alex was also sitting on the sofa. Amelia was leaning in his arms. Alex held a picture book in one hand and placed his other hand on his knee. He whispered to Mia to teach her how to read.

Suddenly, they saw Butler Smith walking in with a woman in a pink off-shoulder dress. The Walton family was stunned and had strange expressions.

Alex frowned and asked Amelia in a low voice, "Is this your class teacher?"

Amelia nodded. "Yes, it's Ms. Mango." However, she did not like Ms. Mango very much. She felt that she was unreasonable and liked to fool people.

Alex understood this from Amelia's microexpression. His daughter did not like this teacher. Yes, a teacher that even his daughter did not like was probably not a good teacher.

Old Madam Walton pursed her lips and sized Megan up. Her usually kind face was stiff, comparable to Old Master Walton's, cold and unreasonable.

Just now, the guard said that Miss Mia's teacher was here for a home visit. Old Madam Walton found it strange, but she did not think too much about it. Two days ago, the principal of Glorious Star International Kindergarten had said that he hoped to personally visit and apologize for Mia. Old Madam Walton thought that the principal of Glorious Star International Kindergarten was here, but who would have thought that it was a female teacher?

As soon as Megan entered, she was shocked by the scene in front of her! So many handsome men! Her heart pounded, and an image involuntarily appeared in her mind. In the glorious palace, she was wearing a snow-white princess dress and slowly walking down the stairs. Beside her were five tall and handsome men in knight uniforms. The tallest and most handsome knight held her hand. The other four knights also looked at her in fascination and said gently, "Good morning, my dear Princess Mango."

At this moment, a voice sounded. "Ms. Mango?"

Old Madam Walton looked at Megan unhappily. This teacher stared at her sons in a daze the moment she entered. They were both women, so she could understand the glint in Megan's eyes.

Megan quickly came back to her senses and said, "Hello, I'm Mia's class teacher, Megan Brooke. You can call me Little Mango."

Everyone in the Walton family:

Chapter 233: Uncle Smith, See The Guest Off

Old Madam Walton took the business card from Uncle Smith. After glancing at it, she sized up Megan with a sharp gaze. "Why are you suddenly here for a home visit? The school didn't inform us in advance.

Andrew came over with a cup of coffee and nodded. "That's right. Ms. Rose, the homeroom teacher, didn't inform us in advance.

Megan looked over. Andrew was wearing a white shirt and gray home pants. When their eyes met, Megan's heart skipped a beat. She stammered and explained, "This... is our fault. Ms. Rose forgot to inform you."

George's expression was cold, and his eyes were filled with coldness. "Forgot to inform us?"

Megan blushed. It was President Walton, the cold and aloof CEO! Megan couldn't help but sound cute. "Yes, that's right. I'm here on behalf of the school to visit. I'm so sorry about what happened last time. It's all because of our school's mismanagement and my negligence. I'm also very responsible for this matter, so the principal asked me to come over and apologize personally."

George did not say anything. He glanced at Uncle Smith, who understood and went out to call the principal of Glorious Star International Kindergarten.

Old Madam Walton said calmly, "Sit."

Megan was overjoyed. She really wanted to sit on the sofa, but in order to show that she was polite and knew her limits, she still chose to sit on the armchair opposite the sofa. She looked at Old Madam Walton and revealed a cute smile. "Old Madam Walton, have you eaten?" As she spoke, an image involuntarily appeared in Megan's mind. Old Madam Walton was the most authoritative empress in the palace. She liked her very much and had been vexed about which son to betroth her to...

At this moment, Old Madam Walton's cold voice sounded. "What do you think?"

Megan: "...Ah, you should have eaten. Haha, I'm so stupid. I don't even know how to speak well. I've embarrassed myself in front of you." With that, she even punched her little head in frustration. "So stupid, so stupid..."

Everyone from the Walton family: "... Was this woman retarded?"

Amelia stared at the female ghost on Megan's head. At this moment, the female ghost's movements were synchronized with Megan's. She also had an infatuated gaze. One moment, she looked at Eldest Uncle, and her eyes were filled with shyness. It was unknown what she was thinking. The next moment, she looked at Alex. Suddenly, she covered her face and shook her shoulders shyly. The next moment, she looked at Second Uncle, Eighth Uncle, and Fifth Uncle...

Elmer Stevens sneered. "I wonder what's in this female ghost's mind." He sat cross-legged and flipped through the booklet in his hand as he explained to Amelia, "Most of these flirtatious ghosts live in their fantasies. Looking at this flirtatious ghost in front of me, she's probably watched too many television dramas, those Mary Sue television dramas."

The most classic scene of the so-called Mary Sue television drama was a woman holding the hands of two men and saying, "You've all had the closest relationship with me. In the future, don't talk about which one of you is the child's father, okay? Don't quarrel anymore. I really love you. Let's live happily together in the future, okay?"

At the thought of this, Elmer Stevens's scalp suddenly went numb. Mary Sue was not scary, but the most terrifying thing was that she had no values!

As Amelia listened to Elmer Stevens's nagging, she understood a little. In order to learn Mary Sue better, she decided to get Brother William to find her some Mary Sue television dramas to watch tonight!

At this moment, Uncle Smith, who had finished his call, came over. He walked to George's side and said something in a low voice.

George immediately looked at Megan with a cold expression.

At this moment, Megan was still repenting. "That day, the two children were in front of me, but I couldn't stop them immediately... It's all my fault. Later, when I saw the words scolding Mia on the Internet, my heart was about to break..." As she spoke, her eyes turned red.

At this moment, George's cold voice sounded. "Uncle Smith, see the guest out."

Megan, who was feeling touched, was stunned. Send the guest away? Send her away? That's not right. She blamed herself so much and was so kind. When they saw her so pitiful, shouldn't they comfort her: Be good, don't cry. It's not your fault this time. It's not your fault... Why did they suddenly chase her away? Uncle Smith made an inviting gesture. "Please, Ms. Brooke."

Megan stood up uneasily and looked at George pitifully. She bit her lip and said, "Mr.. Walton, did I do something wrong?"

Chapter 234: Unreliable Father

Megan thought that as expected, they were angry when she mentioned that she did not take good care of Amelia. Therefore, they were blaming her for not taking good care of Amelia. They were the ones who asked the principal to expel her.

Old Madam Walton was expressionless. "You didn't do anything wrong. We did something wrong. We shouldn't have let you in."

Before Megan could figure out what was going on, she was forcefully taken away by Uncle Smith.

Amelia looked at her eldest uncle and then at her grandmother. What was wrong? She had just heard her master say Mary Sue. Why was Ms. Mango taken away? She had yet to catch that flirtatious ghost!

Elmer Stevens said, "Catch her next time. Don't do it at home. It's unlucky."

Amelia blinked to show that she understood. Then, she instinctively waved her hand and said to Megan, "Goodbye, Ms. Mango..."

Alex picked Amelia up and easily carried her to his shoulder. He said, "Let's go. Daddy will bring you back to your room."

Amelia suddenly became tall and exclaimed in surprise. Then, she felt that it was fun and giggled. This was the first time she was so tall! So tall, so tall! She felt that she could reach out and take off the chandelier! If she was outside, would she be able to meet Sister Moon?

Amelia said excitedly, "Daddy! Higher, higher!"

Alex's shoulders moved. Amelia exclaimed and was even happier.

Old Madam Walton was frightened. "Be careful! You'll fall!"

Alex said, "It's fine. I can even carry a plane while running. Carrying Mia is even easier."

Old Madam Walton:

Amelia said excitedly, "Daddy, I can pluck stars now! After I pluck them, give one to Grandma, one to Grandpa, one to Eldest Uncle, Second Uncle, Third Uncle, Fourth Uncle, Fifth Uncle, Little Uncle, and Brothers and Sisters, another to Daddy, one to Seven, and one to Grandpa Turtle..."

Amelia counted everyone in the family, including the parrot, Seven, and the old turtle. Alex curled his lips, grabbed Amelia's two small hands, and raised her up. The father and daughter were like children as they smiled and went upstairs. Then, with a clang...

Amelia covered her head. "Boohoo, Mia also hit the door frame..."

Alex: "... How did this happen? I'm already bending down..."

Amelia: "... Daddy isn't bent low enough. You have to bend a little more..."

Alex smiled. "Alright, it's Dad's fault."

The Walton family was both angry and amused. Alex, this unreliable father! Old Madam Walton laughed and scolded before going to get the first aid kit.

Megan looked at the closed iron door in front of her and tears welled up. She choked. "What did I do wrong?" She was here to sincerely apologize. Why didn't the Walton family listen to her explanation?

Megan felt aggrieved and embarrassed, but more than that, she was sad. She was so sad that the five men did not believe her. A scene could not help but appear in her mind: In the princess's castle, the five men who loved the princess deeply misunderstood the princess because of something. They all left the castle in anger. The princess was so sad that she cried. It started to drizzle. When the princess ran out, she fell and fell to the ground... The rain fell and landed on the princess' curly eyelashes. The five knights hurriedly ran back, but the princess was angry and refused to open her eyes to look at them. The knights were extremely regretful...

Boohoo, Megan cried even harder and cried all the way home. Jack was waiting anxiously. When he saw her come back crying, he hurriedly hugged her. "What's wrong? I couldn't get through to you..."

Megan threw herself into Jack's arms and cried until she was out of breath. "Brother Jack, could it be that I was wrong? But why? I really didn't do it on purpose... Why did the principal expel me? Why didn't the Walton family forgive me..." The more she spoke, the more she cried.

Jack hugged her and comforted her with heartache. "Don't cry. It's not your fault. It's not your fault. Be good..."

Megan cried for a while and suddenly saw her pitiful appearance in the dressing mirror. However, Jack, who was hugging her, was an ordinary man. In the past, she thought that Jack was bright and handsome, the most handsome of her boyfriends. However, after seeing George and Alex, she felt that Jack was not worthy of her.

Megan felt that it was boring and suddenly couldn't cry anymore. There was an indescribable feeling in her heart. She was such a good girl. When she cried, it should be men like George and Alex who hugged her..

Chapter 235: Can't Afford to Offend

Megan suddenly pushed Jack away and ran out!

Jack: 'I???' He hurriedly chased after her, but Megan was no longer in the corridor. He hurriedly pressed the elevator button and chased after her.

After Jack left, the lights on the dark stairs lit up. A figure stood there faintly. It was Megan. She pressed her chest in pain. "I'm sorry, Brother Jack. We can't be together anymore. Fate arranged for us to meet, but we couldn't reach the end.

Boohoo..."

The heartbroken Megan went to Tom's house. Tom was surprised and happy. "Little Mango, why are you here?"

Megan looked delicately at Tom. When she realized that he was even more unworthy, she immediately burst into tears again. However, it was too late. She decided to make do with Tom for the night and leave tomorrow. She and Tom were destined to have no outcome...

In Amelia's room.

Old Madam Walton took a towel wrapped in ice and placed it on Amelia's forehead. Alex reached out. "Let me do it?" It was already so late, but the old lady was still taking care of the child. How could that do?

Old Madam Walton glared at Alex. "Don't speak!"

Alex touched his nose and retreated.

Amelia obediently raised her head and let Old Madam Walton make ice for her. She even whispered, "Grandma, don't worry. Mia is fine..."

Old Madam Walton: "Shut up too."

Amelia and Alex: "... They could not afford to offend her.

Alex coughed and changed the topic. "Daughter, let Daddy tell you a story. What do you want to hear?" He reached out and took a few picture books from the table.

Amelia immediately raised her hand. "Daddy, Mia wants to hear Mary Sue's story! I want that kind of story where an auntie grabs the hands of two men and tells them that the three of us will live happily in the future!" Alex:

Old Madam Walton: "I ????" A story of a woman living with two men?!

Old Madam Walton was furious. "Alex! What nonsense did you show Mia?!"

Alex was dumbfounded. How could he show such indecent things to a child?!

Amelia looked to the side in confusion. She clasped her hands and asked softly,

"Master, is there anything wrong with this story?"

Old Madam Walton paused. Together with Alex, she looked sharply at... Air!

Elmer Stevens: "...” He felt wronged too. The Mary Sue story he was talking about was a love triangle story, not some indecent film. But thinking about it, a love triangle didn't seem too good, right?

The corners of Elmer Stevens's mouth twitched. He said to Amelia, "Be good,

Mia. I heard that we don't read that kind of story."

Amelia pursed her lips and understood. Indeed, her unreliable master had taught her indecent things again... She turned to Old Madam Walton and said, "Grandma, I won't read Mary Sue's story anymore. I want to hear 5,000 kilometers under the sea..."

Alex felt relieved and found the picture book that Amelia had mentioned.

"Alright, Daddy will read you 5,000 kilometers under the sea."

Old Madam Walton saw Amelia lying on the bed obediently. Alex opened the picture book. At this moment, the unrestrained man was obediently telling a story to his child. The scene was quite harmonious... Old Madam Walton quietly left and closed the door. At this moment, she felt that her legs were a little numb. She felt strange. It seemed that ever since Amelia massaged her legs every day, her legs had become stronger and stronger. She did not know if it was her imagination...

Old Madam Walton didn't know what was going on either. She suddenly wanted to stand up, but her legs still didn't have the strength... She couldn't help but shake her head. It seemed that she was thinking too much.

In the room, Alex leaned against the head of the bed and hugged Amelia. He casually made up a story about 5,000 kilometers under the sea. His voice was low, very pleasant to the ears, and very hypnotic... Amelia quickly yawned and slowly fell asleep.

Alex slowly stopped talking and lowered his eyes to look at Amelia, who had become even more obedient after falling asleep. She was like a little angel. He couldn't help but bend down and kiss her forehead. He whispered, "Goodnight, my little angel." He was very grateful for her appearance in his life. The only regret was that he couldn't accompany her when she was born and watch her grow up. He didn't appear by her side when she needed him the most, but he would always be there in the future.

Alex got out of bed quietly and covered Amelia with a blanket. Then, he stretched and habitually walked towards the balcony. The sleeping parrot,

Seven, sensed it and opened its eyes.. It moved to the side and cawed,

"Grandpa, do you want to sleep together?"

Chapter 236: Can't Be So Selfish

Alex: "... Who wants to sleep with a parrot!

Alex reached out and flicked the parrot's head. He said speechlessly, "Find a female parrot to sleep with!" With that, he closed the screen door of the balcony and gently walked out of Amelia's room.

At this moment, Elmer Stevens was still vexed by the booklet. "That shouldn't be the case, that shouldn't be the case. Why can't I find her..." Where did Su Jiayu's ghost go? He didn't believe that he could really shatter her soul!

The next day, Megan, who had cried all night, regained her spirits. She looked at herself in the mirror and made a cheering gesture for herself. She said loudly, "You have to work hard today too. You're the best! Nothing in this world can defeat you! Go, go, go!"

Tom made breakfast and brought it in. He happened to see Megan cheering herself on in the mirror. He couldn't help but smile. "Little Mango is so cute."

He put the breakfast aside and hugged Megan from behind. "Don't leave, okay?"

Megan looked at him sadly and shook her head. "No, Tom, you're really, really good to me. How I wish I could be with you forever... I'll get up in the morning and you make breakfast. We still have a child. When you go out to work, I'll clean the room at home and wait for you to get off work with the child..."

Tom tightened his arms and said hoarsely, "Alright, we'll live like this. As long as you stay, I'll work hard to give you the life you want..."

Megan shook her head. "Then what about Jack? He has a very serious depression and has always closed himself off. Although he smiles at everyone, but... I'm the only courage he has to live. If I leave, he will commit suicide." She covered her face and cried. "I really love you, Tom. I really love you. I want to ignore everything and continue to be happy with you like this, but I have no choice, Tom. I can't watch Jack die..."

As Megan spoke, she imagined a life-and-death love scene in her mind. She was the female lead in a television drama. She loved one of the men deeply, but the other man had a terminal illness. She couldn't abandon him... Megan cried beautifully. "What should I do, Tom? I can't be so selfish..."

Tom hugged Megan with heartache. "I'll go talk to Jack."

Megan immediately shook her head. "No, if you go and provoke him, what if he says on the spot that he will fulfill our wish but jumps off the building? If that happens, I won't forgive myself for the rest of my life." As she spoke, she pushed Tom away. She looked at him deeply and turned to run.

Tom chased after her, but he did not manage to catch up to Megan.

At the corner of the stairs, Megan covered her mouth with a sad expression. She was destined to not be able to be with Tom. Feeling sad, she went to look for Robert Dixon. Robert was Megan's third boyfriend other than Jack and Tom.

Seeing Megan come over, Robert, who was about to go to work, was very surprised. He said in silence, "Little Mango, didn't you say that you would never see me again?"

Megan said desolately, "I don't know why, but I can't find anyone to talk to. My foot was disobedient and walked here on its own..." As she spoke, her tears fell.

Robert endured it and did not move. He only said self-deprecatingly, "Where's Jack and Tom? Aren't they..."

"Stop talking!" Megan covered her face and said with a pained expression, "I had nothing to do with them to begin with. After you left, I didn't contact them either. I shouldn't have looked for you today, but I didn't know what to do. I suddenly miss you so much. I can't lie to myself..."

A hint of struggle flashed across Robert's eyes. In the end, he hugged Megan. Megan leaned into Robert's arms. At this moment, she felt like the female lead of a love-abuse television drama who had reunited with the male lead after experiencing all kinds of misunderstandings... She looked up in a daze, but she was suddenly woken up by Robert's appearance. There was still stubble at the corner of his mouth. It was not clean at all and was even a little sloppy.

Megan's heart immediately ached. As expected, Alex and George had already occupied her heart. She could not fall in love with anyone else.

"I'm sorry. I shouldn't have disturbed your peaceful life. I..." Megan turned around and left first. However, this playing hard to get drove Robert crazy. He grabbed Megan's wrist and pressed her against the wall to kiss her..

Chapter 237: Always the First Time

This violent collision of lips and teeth instantly infatuated Megan. She closed her eyes and imagined that the person who was forcing a kiss on her was Alex.

“Oh...” Megan’s heart raced as she replied shyly. Her response was like dry firewood meeting a raging fire that burned with a whoosh!

Megan, who had her eyes closed the entire time, imagined herself as the female lead who was trapped in George’s arms and forced to kiss him... Then, she was half-pushed upstairs by Robert and entered the bedroom.

Half an hour later, Megan covered herself with the blanket, revealing half of her red face.

Robert’s eyes were filled with surprise. He said in disbelief, “Little Mango, I’m sorry. I... This is your first time...”

Megan immediately said, “Annoying, stop talking!”

Of course, this was not her first time. Or rather, Megan had a first time with every boyfriend of hers. Anyway, this society was so developed that anything could be repaired. It was just that she had just finished her surgery this time. Thinking of Alex and George, she had to go to the hospital twice more.

Robert did not know the inside story and hugged Megan happily. At this moment, no matter what Megan said, he would believe her. The two of them chatted sweetly for a while. Megan told him about offending the Walton family and being expelled from kindergarten.

Robert’s heart ached. “Is that why you came to look for me?”

Megan cried. “I really don’t know what to do. I blame myself so much. I really wanted to apologize to the Walton family, but they didn’t listen and even chased me out without a word... I really don’t know what to do. I walked aimlessly on the street, not knowing where to go. When I came back to my senses, I realized that I was already here...”

Robert was overjoyed. “So the person you believe in the deepest part of your heart is me...”

Megan nodded and suddenly said excitedly, “By the way, Robert, aren’t you working at the Walton Corporation? Can you secretly bring me in? I want to apologize to Mr. George personally.”

Robert said helplessly, "You don't have to blame yourself or apologize to anyone."

Megan's eyes were red as she shook her head. "No, you don't know how Amelia was exposed by the Internet those days. I blame myself too much. It's all my fault for not taking good care of the children. Amelia is only four years old. Such a young child was exposed by the Internet because of me... Boohoo, if I hadn't been in a daze because I missed you back then, I could have stopped the two children from fighting. Amelia wouldn't have suffered so much, Boohoo..."

Robert felt that Megan was too kind. How could there be such a kind girl in this society? He couldn't bear for her to continue crying, nor could he bear for her to continue blaming herself. He could only say, "I'll try, but our ordinary administrative office is not on the same floor as the president's office. The president's office is on the 66th floor. Ordinary employees can't go up."

"It's okay. It's good that you can bring me into the Walton Corporation's building!" Megan kissed Robert happily. "I believe the heavens will take care of me!"

Robert kissed Megan dotingly. Since he was already late, he asked his supervisor for half a day off before bringing Megan to the company in the afternoon.

In the center of Buffalo's new economic district, there was a symbolic building in the shape of an arch. Two tall buildings that were like sails of a boat were connected at the top. The lines were beautiful and filled with design, like a heavenly gate.

This was the location of the Walton Corporation. This landmark building was huge. Below the thirtieth floor were hotels and shopping malls, and above the thirtieth floor were office buildings. In addition to the Walton Corporation's huge system, they were rented to other companies because there was a huge flow of people and internal members were complicated. However, the employees of the Walton Corporation had their own internal elevators and were different from other external rental companies. Therefore, employees who entered this work area would have their own access card. Those who did not have access cards could not enter.

Megan's face was filled with surprise. "Wow, this place is amazing!"

Robert looked at Megan's innocent and cute appearance, and the expression on his face became even more dotting. He made up his mind to earn more money in the future and bring Megan around the world.

At this moment, Megan asked curiously, "Does President Walton also go up from here?" She was wearing a white dress today, like a fairy. Her hair had been specially styled, and her makeup was very intentional. She felt that she was prettier today..

Chapter 238: Bad Luck

Megan began to imagine the scene of her meeting George in the elevator. George responded to the employees' greetings expressionlessly, but he suddenly lowered his eyes to look at her. A trace of surprise flashed across his eyes... However, at this moment, Robert suddenly said, "No, President Walton and the others have their own private elevators. They're just a few elevators over there."

The Walton Corporation was very big, and it was an entire industry. For example, he was only an employee of the sales department of the clothing industry. The headquarters and the president's office were on the 66th floor. They belonged to the "headquarters" and were in charge of managing these subsidiaries.

Robert: "President Walton isn't that unreasonable. He doesn't have a personal elevator. Instead, he takes the elevator with the employees of the headquarters." However, even so, those elevators were not something employees like them could take.

Megan's eyes flickered as she exclaimed, "Impressive." It turned out that the Walton Corporation was divided into headquarters and other companies. Since it was a headquarters, there must be an attribute department! For example, there must be an assistant department. Coincidentally, she didn't want to work in kindergarten anymore. She could apply for the position of the Walton Corporation's secretary! At that time, she would have a chance to meet George. She even imagined the sweet script of a domineering president and a delicate female secretary...

George came out of the meeting and dealt with his work in the CEO's office as usual. However, his eyelids kept twitching. He couldn't help but press between his eyebrows. He wondered strangely if something bad was about to happen.

At this moment, the door was pushed open and a small head poked in.

"Eldest Uncle!" Amelia's cute voice sounded. She was wearing a small white T-shirt and twisted dungarees today. She was also carrying a transparent pet bag behind her. Inside were the parrot, Seven, and Grandpa Turtle.

"Mia?" George quickly stood up. "Why are you here?"

Behind Amelia was Old Madam Walton. Old Madam Walton was holding a food box in her hand. As she walked in, she said, "Mia said at home that she calculated with her fingers that luck isn't on your side today, so she came to see you."

Old Madam Walton knew that Amelia had an invisible master by her side, but she did not believe in divination. After all, Amelia was too young! She felt that that master was teaching Amelia nonsense!

George didn't say anything, but he had already pressed the pause button for what he was planning to do today. Since Mia said that luck wasn't on his side, he wouldn't do anything.

"Then where is Mia going to bring Eldest Uncle?" George asked with a smile. Amelia tilted her head and said seriously, "Bring Eldest Uncle to buy medicine!"

George paused for a moment and recalled the note Amelia had given him last time. There was a pile of messy drawings on it...

"Eldest Uncle didn't buy medicine, right?" Amelia asked. Her face was serious and she looked a little angry.

George said in amusement, "Buy, buy, buy. We'll buy it today."

Amelia snorted. “Eldest Uncle always says that to brush me off! Hmph, it’s fine if you don’t go, so I’m here today to supervise you!”

George thought about what Amelia had said about not being lucky for today. Since he could not do anything else, he might as well accompany her to buy medicine. Actually, the medicine George took was from the best experts. There was really no need to buy any Chinese medicine.

“Let’s go.” George picked up his phone and keys and brought Amelia and Old Madam Walton out.

On Megan’s side, after obediently accompanying Robert to work for a while, she made an excuse that she wanted to go out for some fresh air and leave the office on that floor. She thought of many ways, but she could not go up to the 66th floor. She pouted unhappily. “Annoying, why so strict...”

Megan even went to the parking lot to see if she could go up from the parking lot, but she realized that she couldn’t go up either! Not only did she have to swipe a card, but she also couldn’t go through the elevator there. There was a guardhouse between them!

Just as Megan was about to give up, she heard a ding. The elevator door opened and a tall figure walked out.

George was wearing a dark shirt and ironed straight trousers, making him look even more handsome and tall. Megan’s eyes lit up. Indeed, the heavens favored hardworking people!

Megan looked at George and hurriedly chased after him. “Mr. Walton, please wait!” She was panting from running and wiping her forehead..

Chapter 239: Give Me Another Chance

George turned around and saw Megan frowning. Old Madam Walton also cursed under her breath. Then, she couldn't help but recall that Amelia had said that George's luck today was bad. Had Mia really predicted it?

"Hurry up and leave!" Old Madam Walton said angrily.

Amelia stared at the flirtatious ghost on Megan's head and suddenly said, 'Grandma, wait a moment.'

Megan ran up to George in small steps. She thought that they would turn around and leave, but she did not expect George to be waiting for her! He was waiting for her!

Megan bounced around happily and brushed her hair behind her ear. She said,

"Mr. Walton, what a coincidence. You're here too? Where are you going?"

Old Madam Walton was about to speak expressionlessly when she heard

Amelia say with a smile, "Ms. Mango, we're going to buy Chinese medicine!"

Megan was stunned. Traditional Chinese medicine? She subconsciously asked, "Are we going to the Traditional Chinese Medicine Market on Sunset Road?"

Amelia nodded. "Yes, yes!"

George glanced at Amelia and found it a little strange. Did Amelia ask them to wait just to tell Megan where they were going?

Megan was overjoyed. Children were so easy to coax! She made a concerned expression. "Is something wrong with Old Madam's health? Do you want me to accompany you to the hospital? I can take care of you..."

Impatience appeared in Old Madam Walton's eyes. She said coldly, "Who are you to me? Who are you to take care of me?"

Megan immediately bit her lip aggrievedly and said weakly, "Old Madam Walton, don't be so fierce. I know I was wrong... As Amelia's teacher, I didn't take good care of Amelia. Please give me another chance to take care of you."

Old Madam Walton was powerless to complain. Was there something wrong with this Ms. Mango's brain?!

"Let's go!" Old Madam Walton couldn't stay any longer.

Amelia had just calculated with her fingers that it was the best time to go to the Traditional Chinese Medicine Market on Sunset Road to catch a flirtatious ghost, so she specially stopped. Now that she had already informed them, they could set off! She believed that Ms. Mango would definitely follow!

Seeing that George was about to leave, how could Megan be willing? It was not easy for her to see George! She immediately rushed up and blocked George.

On the other side, Robert, who had realized that Megan was gone, found her. He searched for a few rounds before seeing Megan in the underground parking lot. He also happened to see her apologizing to George with a sobbing tone. "I'm sorry, Mr. Walton. Please give me another chance. I'll definitely take good care of Mia and Old Madam Walton. I can definitely do it well!"

Megan cried pitifully, her eyes filled with stubbornness. She was about to be touched by herself. Wasn't this the female lead in television dramas who had no choice but to lower her head to life and work hard on her own? Seeing her like this, George would definitely admire her and fall in love with her before agreeing to her...

Unexpectedly, before George could speak, Old Madam Walton said sternly,

"Firstly, I don't need you to take care of me, and Mia doesn't need you to take care of her. Who do you think you are? Do you have the right to take care of Mia? Secondly, you didn't do your duty as an assistant teacher well and was expelled from the school. What has it got to do with our Mia? You've come to apologize time and time again, but you're pestering my son. What do you want?!"

Megan's face was pale as she clutched her chest, looking like she had suffered a blow. Boohoo, how could Old Madam say that about her?

Not far away, Robert heard this and felt that Old Madam Walton's words were too harsh! His Little Mango had already apologized so pitifully. If they didn't want to hear it, they could just leave Why did they scold her?!

"Little Mango!" Robert shouted and ran over.

At this moment, George had already pushed Old Madam Walton while carrying Amelia in one arm. He got into the car, closed the door, and left.

Megan chased after the car unwillingly. "President Walton, President Walton, listen to me..." Looking at the car leaving, Megan cried and begged, "Robert, isn't your car parked nearby? Quick, can you bring me to catch up?"

Robert: "Little Mango, forget it. Give up."

Megan cried. "No, no, I won't give up. I must obtain the forgiveness of the Walton family. Robert, help me..."

Robert was helpless and could only chase after them in his car. He had no idea that he was indirectly helping Megan "chase a man" ..

Chapter 240: All Three Boyfriends Are Here

Sunset Road Traditional Chinese Medicine Market was one of the largest and most professional trading markets for Chinese medicinal herbs in the country.

The entire market occupied more than a hundred acres and was extremely lively.

Amelia held George's hand and looked around. Elmer Stevens floated beside her and helped her recognize the medicinal herbs. "This is panax ginseng and this is western ginseng. It's very easy for unfamiliar people to mix the two..."

Amelia memorized as she listened. After walking through a few medicinal shops, she had already memorized more than half of the Chinese herbs. At the same time, she also learned the theoretical knowledge of how to differentiate the quality of the herbs. However, in Old Madam Walton's eyes, she saw

Amelia picking up the herbs and asking, "What is this? What is this?"

Old Madam Walton hurriedly picked up her phone and searched on Baidu. However, oftentimes, before she could find the results, Amelia would change to the next medicinal herb. Old Madam Walton shook her head and laughed. What was she doing? Children were just playing. Did she really expect Amelia to know these medicinal herbs?

They walked all the way and quickly arrived at a pharmacy. A worker in work clothes carried a large bag of medicinal herbs and walked over silently. The sack blocked his face and he happened to brush past George, Amelia, and the others. However, his left hand, which was pressed against the sack, was shockingly missing an index finger. The white bandage was also slowly dyed red by blood. He carried the medicinal herbs to a truck and threw them up impatiently. Just as he was about to turn around and continue, he suddenly stopped and narrowed his eyes at Amelia in the pharmacy before hurriedly hiding to the side.

This man was Shawn, the man who had cut off his finger in the live broadcast. He watched for a while, and a trace of excitement appeared in his eyes. He hurriedly took out his phone and turned on the live broadcast. He took a photo of Amelia. "Look, I bumped into Little Friend Amelia! Friends who want to apologize, come quickly!"

There were many people in the medicinal herbs trading market, so George did not notice anything else. Coincidentally, the owner of the pharmacy they went to walked out and asked enthusiastically, "Hello, do you need any medicinal herbs?" Then, he looked at Amelia and suddenly exclaimed, "You're Mia?" Amelia looked up at him and smiled. "That's right, we finally found him."

Elmer Stevens also stared at the pharmacy owner and said, "It's most likely him."

The owner of the pharmacy in front of him was none other than one of Megan's boyfriends: Tom.

Because of Megan's matter, Tom had also searched online for the matter of Amelia being exposed online, so he recognized Amelia. Tom did not like Amelia, who had caused his girlfriend, Megan, to feel guilty and blame herself. Not to mention that yesterday, Little Mango went to the Walton family to apologize and was chased out.

"Then look around," Tom said and turned to walk back. He couldn't be bothered to greet them.

On the other side, Robert held Megan's hand and arrived at the medicinal herb market. Megan suddenly stopped. She remembered! She knew it! Why was this medicinal herb market so familiar? Tom opened a pharmacy in this medicinal herb market! It couldn't be that coincidental, right? This medicinal herb market was so big...

Megan hesitated for a moment. In the end, she could not resist George's temptation and gritted her teeth to enter.

Megan said, "There are so many people. Robert, let's search separately, okay? If I miss today's opportunity, it will be very difficult for me to see President Walton..."

Robert nodded helplessly and separated from Megan.

Megan was overjoyed. She had finally gotten rid of Robert! However, she did not see Jack standing in front of a pharmacy. Jack was here to buy Chinese medicine for his mother. He was a very kind and filial person. At this moment, he was choosing herbs seriously and did not see Megan walking over.

“You don’t have this herb? Alright, I’ll look for it again. Thank you.” Jack smiled.

At this moment, Megan did not know that all three of her boyfriends were here.

Amelia looked around Tom’s pharmacy. Tom was sitting inside drinking tea and looking at her with his lips pursed. She acted like she seemed to know these herbs.

Suddenly, Amelia picked up a medicinal herb and took a bite. Old Madam

Walton hurriedly stopped her. “Aiyo, this can’t be eaten. Hurry up and spit it out...”

Amelia said crisply, “Grandma, I’m choosing medicinal herbs!”

As Old Madam Walton wiped her mouth with a tissue, she said, “How can you choose herbs like this...”

Amelia said, “This is dangshen. There are many patterns here. The ring-shaped horizontal patterns are dense and fat. Then, the taste is sweet. It’s a good dangshen.” She recited the knowledge that Elmer Stevens had taught her..