

Ex-husband Loves Me Again (Miral)

Chapter 9: Join A Cast

Theo turned and left Celestie with an icy expression.

Celestie got furious that she cursed him and mouthed, "What a coincidence for you to meet again, considering how far you were from each other. But a reunion? Who would want to reunite with you?"

Danica had suffered because of this man.

And she made up her mind not to have anything to do with him for the rest of her life.

Meanwhile, Danica was having a chat with Manuel in his office.

Manuel asked her, "Mr. Dalton just came over. Did you see him?"

Manuel knew what had happened between Danica and Theo, so he was a little concerned.

Danica nodded calmly.

"Yes."

Manuel thought for a moment and said, "He just came to sign a contract with me. The company has been planning for a historical drama, and he is an investor"

Danica smiled and looked at Manuel.

"You don't want me to be the screenwriter of this drama, do you?"

If he really wanted her to be the screenwriter, he would not have mentioned this matter to her.

Manuel also laughed, "Since you have already guessed it, then I will not beat around the bush. I will let other screenwriters do the job if you don't want to. But I personally think that you are well suited for this drama, especially it's a historical drama that focuses on the female lead. It is right up your alley! You already have a steady personality and a wide array of experience. In addition, most of your writings always make their way into people's hearts. You will definitely make this drama popular"

Danica smiled gently and said, "Director Shaw, thank you for the compliments. Actually, I will take it no matter what the circumstances are. Work is work. I will not let my personal feelings get in the way"

Theo was already a stranger to her, so she would not give up a chance to work because of him.

Although she had already written a few dramas in the past years, she could only be considered as a small-time screenwriter.

If she could make a series that many people would like, it would truly be a success.

Manuel gave her an appreciative nod.

"Well...good."

When Manuel and Danica met a year ago, Danica's face was full of misery and exhaustion from being tied in a marriage without love.

Now the spark of her eyes radiated confidence and vigor.

Because Danica had shown him composure and confidence, Manuel believed that she would be able to do her job and could interact with Theo.

He then gave Danica a copy of the project proposal.

After Danica finished reading it, she asked Manuel, "Is the female lead going to be played by Venice?"

Danica asked not because she cared about Venice but mainly because, as a screenwriter herself, she needed to know who the female lead was to have an outline or flow planned on her mind.

And also, after Theo had wholly established the film and television department in his company, Venice would often act as the female lead in the dramas, so she naturally thought that it would be Venice who would be acting.

"Venice hasn't taken part in any drama recently. Actually, there has been a rumor spreading that she's going to marry Mr. Dalton"

Danica curved her lips into a self-mocking smile.

"That's true. She and Theo had been divorced for a year, so it was indeed time for him to marry again. This was good, so there was no need for her to bump into Venice anymore. It would just cause unnecessary drama and awkwardness."