

Chapter 472 Madness

Camila rose from her bed. The surgery on her neck compelled her to keep her head elevated, obscuring her view of the floor. Unintentionally, she bumped into the table, nearly losing her balance.

At that moment, Isaac entered through the door.

Looking at the woman standing there, he frowned and asked, "What are you doing?"

Camila asked, "Didn't I ask you to buy some food?"

Isaac questioned her, "Did you really send me away just because you needed to use the bathroom?"

"No," Camila denied.

"Really?" Isaac approached her, bending down to lift her and carrying her into the bathroom. There, he gently placed her down and assisted her in removing her pants.

Camila was stunned.

She grabbed the trousers and asked in panic, "What are you doing?"

"I'm helping you pee." Isaac chuckled, finding amusement in the situation, and said, "We're a couple, after all. Haven't I seen your body before?"

Camila was rendered speechless, unable to respond.

She pushed him away.

Isaac's laughter grew even more joyful as he exclaimed, "How can you be shy?"

"Get out."

Camila's face was about to turn red with anger. Isaac decided to stop teasing her and left the room.

After a while, Camila emerged from the bathroom.

Isaac assisted her in sitting back on the bed.

"Lie down!"

Camila questioned, "Don't you have work to attend to?"

Isaac had matters to attend to, but he chose to stay and take care of Camila.

"I can make money if I need to, but losing you is something I can't bear as you're unique in this world."

Camila's brows furrowed as she couldn't decipher Isaac's thoughts.

He was really strange.

"Do you want to undergo an examination?" she inquired

Isaac was taken aback and asked, "Me?"

"Yes. I suggest getting a brain check to determine if you're mentally unstable," Camila replied.

Isaac was rendered speechless.

Was she cursing him?

"Do you plan to run away with your former lover, hoping to make me sick? Huh?"

"Fuck off!" Camila thought he was crazy, always uttering crazy things.

Isaac's smile turned cold as he stated, "It's fine if you don't want to see me, but you'll have to wait until you're discharged from the hospital."

Despite his own frustration, he chose to be patient with her in that moment.

He didn't want anyone taking advantage of the situation.

Camila closed her eyes and pretended to be asleep.

When Isaac received his meal, he urged Camila to eat. However, she ignored it and continued pretending to be asleep.

"Then you can eat when you feel hungry" Isaac remarked.

Harland approached and explained, "I need to examine the patient's wound."

Isaac stood by the bed, observing him intently.

Upon seeing Harland removing Camila's clothes, Isaac came forward to dress her.

dress her.

Harland was at a loss for words.

He smiled and reassured, "I am a doctor. I won't do anything inappropriate"

Isaac paid no heed to his words. "Even doctors can be wicked."

Camila found herself at a loss for words.

With a smile, she apologized to Harland and assured him, "I'm alright."

Harland also sensed Isaac's animosity. He advised Camila to take care of herself before leaving.

Camila was overwhelmed with embarrassment.

"Help me get discharged from the hospital."

Isaac gazed at her, questioning "What are you doing? You haven't fully recovered yet."

"I can go home and recuperate. I'm a doctor, and I know what precautions to take. You need to assist me with the discharge procedures, so it doesn't raise suspicion or lead to unpleasant conversations."

Isaac suggested, "I can find a professional doctor to take care of you..."

"No. It wouldn't be convenient to have a stranger at home," she declined. "I can manage on my own."

Isaac replied, "We won't go through the formalities right away. If you're uncomfortable staying in the hospital, I'll take you back for now, and we can complete the process tomorrow morning"

"It's bothersome."

"It's not a bother."

Camila teased, "Isaac, have you ever looked at yourself in the mirror?"

"What?"

"You act like a discontented housewife."

Isaac was left speechless.

Isaac accompanied Camila to the doorstep of their house, joined by Forrest and Laura.

Coincidentally, Alick and Aldrin also arrived.

Alick was there to give a work report.

Aldrin had come to see Camila.

They all gathered at the door.

Upon catching sight of Laura, Aldrin was utterly shocked.

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

