

Chapter 506 An Eye For An Eye

Laura shook his hand off, but Forrest grabbed her again.

At this moment, he wrapped his arms tightly around her waist and said, "Laura, I know I've hurt you, and I admit I was wrong. But we loved each other. Won't you give me a chance?"

"Why should I give the person who hurt me a chance?" Laura replied.

Forrest could not refute her.

"I don't deny it. But who's perfect? How could one not make any mistake? I admit I was wrong, and I'm willing to correct it."

Laura pursed her lips and asked, "How did I fall in love with you in the first place?"

She was confused.

Was she a fool back then?

How could she have fallen in love with him?

"No matter what you say, I won't let you go," Forrest insisted.

"Are you mad?!" Laura scoffed.

"Whatever."

Forrest did not seem to care about what she said.

When Hana returned from the hospital, she happened to see the argument in the livingroom. "What's happening?" she asked with a frown.

Upon seeing Hana, an idea occurred to Laura.

"You want me to stay, right?" she asked, staring at Forrest with an accusatory look.

"It would be better if the person who hurt me gets punished An eye for an eye."

Forrest was taken aback by Laura's bold suggestion.

Meanwhile, Hana's face turned as white as a sheet.

It did not take a genius to understand what Laura was implying.

"Look at you. You want to keep me, but you can't avenge me. What am I going to do with a man who can't protect me? Are you an ornament on the table meant for me to look at?"

Laura was aware it was Hana who had hurt her. However, she taunted Forrest, manipulating him into letting her go.

Forrest couldn't find an answer.

Could he really send his mother to prison?

Laura pushed him away, her expression filled with sarcasm.

Without another word, she stormed out of the room.

Forrest stood still, torn between his loyalty to his mother and his feelings for Laura.

On one side was his mother, and on the other was the woman he liked.

How was he supposed to choose?

At that moment, Hana realized how terribly wrong she had been.

It was because of her that her son was now so passive.

"What if I apologize to her?" she asked, feeling remorseful.

"You nearly killed her. You should at least show some remorse, you know?"

"What? Do you want me to die for it?"

Forrest paused for a brief moment and advised, "Try your best to make up for it next time."

"Fine."

Forrest took a deep breath and stepped out. He needed to find Laura again.

At last, Camila had woken from her coma.

Her black curled lashes trembled slightly as her eyes fluttered open.

When she opened her eyes, all she could see was white light on the ceiling.

It was as if a halo of radiance descended in cascading circles one after another.

At that moment, her deep eyes displayed calmness.

Silence enveloped the room, so profound that she could hear her own breath.

However, each breath was accompanied by pain.

Slowly, she got up from the bed and meticulously fastened each button of her clothes.

Then, she stepped away from the bed and made her way out of the hospital.

In the car, she calmly asked the driver to take her back home.

Upon arriving home, she ascended the stairs and disappeared into the restroom, where she remained for a long time.

Meanwhile, in the CEO Office of Isaac's company, Alick stood before Isaac's desk, delivering updates on their progress. "Jaylen's electronic devices have been hacked successfully, and the video has been deleted. However, it may still exist if he has stored a backup on a U disk. As for Lilith's tragic jump, the news has been effectively suppressed, and negotiations with the police are underway. The case is expected to be closed soon, with the official verdict pointing towards suicide."

Isaac, though not entirely satisfied, expressed his frustration to Alick. "Search his house thoroughly. I want to be certain."

Alick lowered his gaze in submission "Okay."

Isaac waved him off impatiently, urgently urging him to act.

Without another word, Alick left the office to carry out the orders.

Isaac checked the time on his watch, stood up, and then grabbed his suit jacket. But just as he was about to leave, an unread email notification popped up on his computer screen.

He grabbed the mouse, hovered over the notification, and clicked to open it.

< Chapter 506 An Eye For An Eye

 +120 Points at most

To his surprise, it was a video e-mail.

As soon as he clicked it, the video began to play.

✓ You have unlocked exclusive limited-time offer >>

Claim Now