

Chapter 522 I Made A Mistake

"It's him."

Laura felt no remorse.

She really didn't do it.

"Are you kidding me? Was he out of his mind? Stabbing himself with a knife? Would anyone believe that?" Hana replied.

"I do believe it," Laura answered.

Hana's brow creased. "What..."

Their conversation was interrupted by the nurse. "Please sign here."

Concerned for her son, Hana quickly signed, saying, "Please, you must save my son."

"Don't worry. The doctors will do everything they can, and his injuries aren't critical."

With that, the nurse left with the surgery consent form.

Hana's expression remained troubled.

She said nothing further about Laura.

However, she couldn't help but think that perhaps she and Laura were never meant to be family.

Despite accepting Laura as her daughter-in-law, Laura's actions had eroded that goodwill.

Laura strongly wanted her to die and had repeatedly caused pain to her and Forrest.

Now, Hana feared even the thought of sleep, anxious that Laura might harm them again.

This time it was Forrest.

Who would it be next?

What if it was her?

In her eyes, Laura wasn't just a bad daughter-in-law. She was a curse!

Hana suddenly asked, "Since you hurt Forrest so hard, it means you don't really love him, do you?" Hana suddenly asked.

Laura was taken aback, but quickly regained her composure. She answered, "How could I still have feelings for him?"

"If you don't love him, it's best to keep your distance. Don't let him catch up to you," Hana retorted.

"Are you saying I should spend my life hiding from him?" Laura questioned.

Hana suggested, "You could go study in another country, or pick a place you like and settle there. I can offer you a good amount of money, enough for a comfortable life. What do you think?"

Laura stood up and declared, "I don't need your money. I won't bother your son. But you should know, he's the one who's been after me. It's high time you got him to back off and leave me alone."

With that, she walked away briskly.

Hana understood Laura's words.

Forrest had always been in love with her.

She wondered why Forrest behaved this way.

His father had a mistress and had betrayed her.

Hana herself had never strayed.

Yet, she didn't feel much love for her husband anymore.

But Forrest, he was so full of love and affection.

Forrest's feelings for Laura had always remained the same.

Her influence was what made him tough.

He was deeply smitten with Laura, but being with her was impossible.

If it weren't for that, many things would have been different.

Half an hour later, Forrest found himself in a hospital ward.

"When's he going to come around?" Hana inquired.

"The doctor thinks he'll wake up shortly after the anesthesia wears off," the nurse answered.

Hana nodded, her concern evident.

Sensing her anxiety, the nurse reassured her, "No need to worry. It was a minor surgery. He'll be ready to go home as soon as he's up."

"Okay, thanks," Hana replied, settling in to wait for Forrest's awakening.

Meanwhile, Isaac managed to destroy the videos and the email Jaylen was planning to send.

Jaylen hadn't lied.

He had hidden everything in the study's cubicle.

Without Jaylen's tip, Isaac would have struggled to find them.

He meticulously inspected the room, ensuring no photos or videos were left, and then departed.

His phone rang while he was on his way back.

Pulling it out, he saw Alick's call and answered.

"I... I've messed up," Alick blurted out.

Isaac's brow furrowed. "What happened?" he asked.
