

TINY GENIUS ALERT! MOM & DAD BETTER MAKE PEACE

Chapter 15: Even More Savage Than Before

Rong Mochen looked at Jin Jumo's glittering yet poorly concealed panicked Taohua eyes, let out a cold chuckle, and suddenly lifted Jin Jumo's chin with his long fingers and kissed her.

"Mmm..."

This kiss was even more savage than the one at the ball.

Then, Jin Jumo deeply understood what it meant to be "better off dead"!

Rong Mochen was indeed a control freak when it came to numbers. His grasp of frequency, speed, time, etc., was shockingly precise, and this was no exception during that act, in fact, he was even more adept at it, leaving Jin Jumo so overwhelmed she couldn't even cry.

The final result was that she fainted disgracefully.

The next day, when Jin Jumo woke up, it was already noon, and Rong Mochen had presumably left the night before.

"Ju Zi, where are you fooling around?"

Jin Jumo had just left her apartment and swallowed an after-morning pill she bought at a convenience pharmacy when her friend Jian Liangtong called.

As Jin Jumo walked to the bus stop, she said, "I'm just about to head back to school. Where are you?"

"Don't go back to school. Let's celebrate at the usual spot," Jian Liangtong's voice was hearty, clearly excited.

Listening to her enthusiastic voice, Jin Jumo couldn't help but smile, "Did you win the lottery?"

"Jin Jumo, is there anything other than money in your head?" Jian Liangtong retorted angrily.

"Yes, there's wisdom in my head too."

"Get lost!"

Bang, the phone call was abruptly ended.

The busy tone from the phone sounded like some pleasing tune, making Jin Jumo smile with her mouth closed.

She needed this bit of genuine and unpretentious joy in her life.

A Chinese restaurant named "Cherish".

The reason the restaurant had an English name was that the owner was from the United States, but he loved Chinese food so much that he opened this Chinese restaurant and became the head chef himself.

The restaurant was in a rather hidden location, and the owner's motive for opening it seemed not to be profit, so the prices were reasonable. People who came here stumbled upon it by accident and found it interesting, so they often came back.

As soon as Jin Jumo entered the restaurant, she saw several familiar faces and Jian Liangtong waving at her flamboyantly from afar.

"Ju Zi," Jian Liangtong shouted enthusiastically.

Jin Jumo had three black lines appear on her forehead, thankful that it wasn't a high-end restaurant; otherwise, she would have been killed by contemptuous glances!

Since Jin Jumo and Jian Liangtong were regulars here, the owner also knew them.

Hearing Jian Liangtong's voice, the owner poked his head out of the kitchen window, smiled warmly at Jin Jumo, and said, "welcome, momo."

The last character of Jin Jumo's name is "Mo," so the owner took it upon himself to give her the English name "Momo," although Jin Jumo had never acknowledged it.

Jin Jumo smiled in return and walked over to Jian Liangtong.

Jian Liangtong was the same height as her, both at 167 cm, but this girl had a supermodel face, with deep features, a high nose, and alluring red lips. Her overly glamorous appearance couldn't even be concealed by deliberately keeping straight, long black hair like a goddess.

"One good news, one even better news, which one do you want to hear first?" As soon as Jin Jumo sat down, Jian Liangtong couldn't contain her excitement and spoke mysteriously.