

TINY GENIUS ALERT! MOM & DAD BETTER MAKE PEACE

Chapter 16: Good News and Even Better News

Jin Jumo raised an eyebrow and said, "Looks like today's a good day."

"Right, haha." Jian Liangtong laughed heartily in a good mood.

Jin Jumo picked up the hot water on the table and took a sip, then pretended to be troubled and furrowed her brows before saying, "Hmm... let's talk about the good news first."

Jian Liangtong had a "knew it" expression, but couldn't hide the smile at the corner of her mouth, "The admission list for specialized supporting roles that New Talent Film and Television Entertainment Company had recruited from our school is out."

Jin Jumo's eyes flashed slightly.

Jian Liangtong saw this and finally laughed out loud, grabbing Jin Jumo's hand, "Jin Jumo, you've been accepted."

Jin Jumo squinted her eyes slightly, maintaining a faint smile without much change.

Jian Liangtong noticed this, pulling her eyelid down and peering at Jin Jumo, "Come on, can you not be so aloof? New Talent Film and Television Entertainment Company is currently the leader gathering the most top talents in the domestic entertainment industry, with considerable international prestige. It's a place that many people would do anything to get into, and that's your reaction?"

Jin Jumo majored in Broadcasting and Hosting in college, but her main focus was on dubbing, specifically for movies, TV series, or imported anime.

Now, Jin Jumo is in her senior year and will be graduating in less than half a year.

For someone like her, who's just about to graduate, getting a job at such a high-end entertainment company like New Talent Film and Television is as good as it gets.

Jin Jumo shrugged, "So tell me, why did New Talent Film and Television choose me over others?"

"..." Jian Liangtong looked at Jin Jumo with disdain, "Are you one of those people who'll die if they're not praised?"

Jin Jumo pursed her lips and blinked her eyes, "... You saw right through me."

"Get lost!" Jian Liangtong laughed in exasperation.

Jin Jumo's eyes turned crescent-shaped with amusement.

Jian Liangtong squinted at her, pouted, and muttered softly, "Some people can rely on their looks but insist on competing with talent. Some people already have talent and still have a remarkably beautiful face, hmph."

That sour, grumbling little tone amused Jin Jumo, "Liang Tong, I just realized you're the cutest when you're being honest."

"..." Jian Liangtong took a deep breath, already too annoyed to respond to her.

Seeing Jian Liangtong's struggling expression, Jin Jumo pursed her lips, "Okay, I've heard the good news, what's the even better news?"

Jian Liangtong immediately got excited again, rubbing her hands together, "Brace yourself, don't lose your composure."

Jin Jumo raised an eyebrow.

"Do you know Rong Mochen?" Jian Liangtong suddenly asked.

"..." Jin Jumo's heart skipped a beat, her pupils slightly enlarged, "Who?"

"Rong Mochen, the current chief president of the Rong Group, reigning over the financial and business sectors in Z City, consistently topping the Z City wealthy list year after year..."

Jin Jumo stared at her friend's bright and pure face, her expression slightly blank.

Jian Liangtong didn't notice Jin Jumo's odd reaction and continued enthusiastically, "Now the Rong Group has invested billions to formally acquire shares in New Talent Film and Television, quickly becoming the second-largest shareholder. With President Rong's involvement, New Talent Film and Television is now unstoppable, completely overshadowing other entertainment companies with little chance of them making a comeback. The future of the entertainment industry seems to be completely in the hands of New Talent Film and Television."