

TINY GENIUS ALERT! MOM & DAD BETTER MAKE PEACE

Chapter 6: The Ascetic Monk Finally Sees the Light

Vincen, upon hearing this, was infuriated, "Aren't you the best? Why don't you design a dress for yourself when you're designing one for your beloved?"

"Busy."

"..." Vincen was speechless for a while, then growled, "I must have owed you in my past life!"

After shouting, he turned and left, too lazy to glance again at someone's face full of spring bliss.

Not long after Vincen left, someone brought over the dress.

Ying Jingyao glanced at Jin Jumo's dressing room, then took the dress to the men's dressing room.

"Miss Jin, you are truly beautiful."

In the dressing room, the young woman helping Jin Jumo try on clothes couldn't hide her amazement as she looked at Jin Jumo in the mirror.

The nude off-shoulder evening gown reached the ankles, with light and smooth silk clinging to her skin, wrapping her figure exquisitely with curves accentuated.

Her snow-white skin further complemented the nude dress to seem almost invisible, this dress had evidently become one with her. ln(o)v.e!!..com

"Thank you." Jin Jumo's lips curled slightly, seeming quite satisfied with the effect of the dress on her.

"Mr. Ying will be extremely stunned when he sees Miss Jin," the woman said once more.

Jin Jumo smiled but said nothing.

Coming out of the dressing room, Jin Jumo looked toward the spot where Ying Jingyao was previously seated, only to find it empty.

Just as she was puzzled, a string of footsteps approached the fitting room from outside.

Jin Jumo, instinctively about to look toward the door, first caught sight of Ying Jingyao emerging from the other side's men's dressing room at the corner of her eye.

He wore a steady black tailcoat, an exquisite white shirt, and tailored trousers, making the already graceful and distinguished man appear more upright and handsome, charming and attractive.

No one would reject beauty, and Jin Jumo was no exception.

Thus, at the moment of seeing Ying Jingyao, a touch of admiration instinctively passed through her eyes.

When a beautiful woman surrounded by people stood at the door, she gasped in shock.

It was... Yu Yinluo!

Currently the most popular rising star in Z City's entertainment scene, according to a certain milk tea ad, her fan base is astonishing enough to circle the earth three times.

Yu Yinluo glanced at Jin Jumo standing beside him, her gaze sharp and slightly lifted her chin, gracefully walking toward Ying Jingyao, looking up at him with a seemingly innocent yet confrontational gaze, "Jingyao, aren't you going to introduce us?"

Ying Jingyao's expression remained calm, naturally reaching out to hold Jin Jumo's hand, not even giving Jin Jumo a chance to resist, looking at her with a long, tender gaze, "Jin Jumo, my... partner."

Yu Yinluo's mouth muscles twitched suddenly, her gaze landing on Jin Jumo once more, sizing her up and searching her out.

The woman before her is beautiful, with a makeup-free face, snow-white and moist skin, quiet eyes that are clear and pure, her long hair casually draped over her shoulders; she stood quietly beside the equally excellent and handsome Ying Jingyao, instantly reminding people of "a perfect couple," "made for each other."

In Yu Yinluo's eyes appeared a deep red as her lips curled into a small mocking smile, yet naturally mixed with a hint of prideful elegance, "In the past, no matter what, it was always me accompanying you."

"..." Jin Jumo's eye twitched, swiftly looking toward Ying Jingyao.