

Mr. President's Sweet Wife Novel

Chapter 13 I only want you

Layla had been in the same scenario for so many times that she started to feel like she was used to it. Whatever she thought; she was numb and angry at Nora at the same time.

She looked at William sadly, how badly she hoped that the man she loved would stand by her side to protect her.

But he won't. All he had in his eyes and heart was Nora.

Layla felt ironic explaining herself here.

William had already divorced her and there was no use to do such a thing anymore.

With that, she turned around and left the ward.

Just when she closed the door, she heard someone call her.

"Doctor Layla, the president of the hospital is expecting you." One nurse said.

Layla quickly soothed her emotions down and walked to the president's office.

She knocked gently on the door and after the president said come in, she opened the door and walked in.

The second she walked in; she saw the president of the hospital who was in his fifties. The president of the hospital is an experienced doctor and he is very good with William's father, so Layla had met him a few times at the Jones' mansion.

"Layla." The president greeted her.

"Sir." Layla greeted him politely.

"I have a very important mission for you, Layla."

The president smiled and said.

"Me?" Layla was surprised.

She is hard working but she is not experienced so she was surprised that the president would give her some important work to do.

"Come, I will introduce you to someone." He said.

He led Layla to the sofa and Layla saw a familiar figure.

Blake Spencer.

How could he come straight to the hospital to find her?! She was embarrassed by the incident this morning so she sneaked out on him and went straight to work.

She was still afraid of him even though he is very good to her, but how could he sleep in the same bed with her without permission?

Luckily nothing happened last night, otherwise she really doesn't know what to do.

"Mr. Spencer has nominated you to be his doctor.

You release all your work now and focus on Mr. Spencer."

The president said.

Blake Spencer is an important person. If Layla could help him, it would be a big help to the hospital.

"But I still have a few patients now, President."

She needs to be responsible.

"I will let another doctor take care of your work. You just focus on Mr. Spencer now."

"But....."

"This is a very good opportunity. You should try your best." The president didn't give Layla time to protest.

Layla was speechless when she walked out of the office.

This is not how a hospital works. People like Blake Spencer wouldn't be assigned to a doctor who is not experienced like Layla.

The only reason this happened is because of Blake Spencer.

"Mr. Spencer!" Layla called in him.

Just when she was about to talk, she saw that he was smiling at her.

He seemed to be in a good mood when she was about to explode because of anger.

Layla sighed and said patiently, "You can't do it like this, Mr. Spencer. You have a lot of experienced doctors to help you, I don't suit this work."

She didn't want to be close to this dangerous man.

Blake Spencer arched his eyebrow and said, "I am just here to seek help to remember everything. Would you reject me as a doctor?"

"I know a few professionals in this department. I can help you contact them, maybe they can help you."

Blake looked at her and said, "I don't need a professional. I only want you."

"Are you here to seek help or to flirt with a woman!" Layla said angrily.

"I am here to seek help and to flirt with you. I want to see my wife." Blake feels happy whenever he sees Layla, even though she is angry.

"I told you I am not your wife!" Why can't Blake Spencer understand this!

"You are if I say so!" He said stubbornly.

"Whatever." Layla gave up.

She turned around and walked away but Blake Spencer followed her.

"Doctor Layla." He called from behind.

She turned around and faced him, "What?"

"It's almost lunch time. Have lunch with me." He invited her.

"No." She wasn't that good with him, so why would she have lunch with him?

"If you don't, I will tell the president that you didn't focus on work and your attitude towards me isn't nice." He threatened.

If someone complains, it will affect her grade. She doesn't want her grade to get affected.

She looked at him and said, "I still have work."

"I will wait for you." He said patiently.

Layla couldn't reject him so she asked for help from her colleague to help do the work.

The president said she just has to focus on Blake Spencer now.

"Doctor Layla, are you going out?" One of the nurses asked.

"Yes, why?"

"Your mom came and visited your cousin. It seemed like they were fighting, you should go and see what happened."

Comments

Gift