

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1651 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1651-“Okay!”

Rhea agreed without batting an eye.

The man was delighted.

With a slight nod, his gaze softened a lot.”Rhea, do you know what I like most about you?”

“I wouldn’t dare to assume,” she replied lightly.

“I like how heartless and ruthless you are, unlike Mike Corden! People who are destined for great things shouldn’t be so weak.I chose you among many outstanding graduates for how cold- hearted you are.”

Rhea’s face remained unmoved.

“You’re right, Boss.”

“How is R7 doing?”

He suddenly asked, changing the subject.

“The first trial of R7 is obedient and easy.Otherwise, we wouldn’t be able to transfer to the new base so quickly.Boss, rest assured that I have everything under control,” she said confidently.

Taking a deep look at her, the man lightly tapped the back of his hand with his fingers.

“I remember you mentioning that the effect on R7 was unpredictable.How did you manage to get it under control?”

“It’s not out of control.I’m just unsure of the full extent of the effects.So far, the effect is still very satisfactory.Everything is going according to our expectations.You’re seeing it for yourself as well,” she replied.

“Very good! However, Mike is right.R10 is our priority, and you are not making progress.Rhea, time is running out, and so is my patience!”

His tone was calm and non-threatening, but Rhea still shuddered.She lowered her head and said, “I understand.I’m picking up the pace.I will succeed soon.

“It was delayed because of the matter at the experimental base before, but seeing that we’re moving to a new base tomorrow, I believe I will successfully develop Rio!”

She sounded affirmative, almost like she was trying to cheer herself up.

The man paced back and forth in front of her but didn’t speak.

Rhea just hung her head as her fingers slowly clenched.

After an unknown amount of time, the footsteps finally stopped before he lightly said, “Okay! I hope so! I gave Mike Corden three days. How many days should I give you?”

At this moment, Rhea tensed up again as she slowly raised her head.

“Boss...”

“Don’t be scared! I’m just asking a question!”

The man waved his hand and chuckled.

“But you should give me a deadline, right? It’s been a long time, Rhea!”

Rhea gritted her teeth.

“A-A month?”

“Huh?”

“T-Twenty days!”

She hesitantly corrected herself and stretched out two fingers.

The man just looked at her.

Even with the mask covering his face, she could tell his eyebrows were raised slightly.

After a few seconds of silence, Rhea sucked in a breath.

“Half a month!”

“Okay! Half a month!”

The man took her words to heart.

“Rhea, I’m much more tolerant of you than of Mike. I only gave him three days. You get half a month. I hope you won’t let me down. Otherwise, I’ll lose my temper! You know I can’t control myself when I lose my temper!”

Colors immediately drained from her face as she nodded in response.

“I got it.”

“All right, you’re dismissed. There are a lot of things to do. You should be very busy too!”

He waved his hand and turned his back on her.

Looking at his back, Rhea silently took a few steps back and exited the room.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1652 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1652-“Grandpa, tea time.”

The small voice sounded tender and polite.

Dominic turned around and saw Galen holding a big tray while a servant stood carefully behind him to ensure he didn’t drop it.

The little guy was too stubborn and insisted on holding the tray himself.

The servant had no choice but to help him from behind.

“It’s okay. Go ahead and eat,” Dominic replied gently with a smile.

“Grandpa, eat!”

Galen stood on his tiptoes, trying to lift the tray.

However, he couldn’t put it on the table due to his limited stature.

The child wobbled and was about to fall when Dominic hurriedly supported the tray with one hand and caught him with the other.

“Oh, my little treasure!”

The servant on the side also hurried over to help with the tray.

Then Dominic carried the child into his arms.

“You can’t let me relax?”

“Eat!”

Galen sat in Dominic’s arms and continued to reach out for the tray.

In the end, Dominic had no choice but to beckon the servant to put the tray down.

Then he took a small piece of pastry and stuffed it into his mouth.

Finally, Galen laughed and clapped his hands happily.

This made Dominic chuckle.

“You little monster. Only you can make me this happy!” Galen giggled.

Dominic looked into the distance with a long sigh and said, “Back then, that stinking brat was just like you. He would force me to eat, even when I didn’t want to. However, I think he’s just trying to suck up to me. The more he wanted me to eat, the less I would. In the end, he’d get so anxious that he would cry.”

As he spoke, a smile crept onto his face.

Suddenly, he froze, and the glimmer in his eyes gradually faded.

Although Galen had no idea what the old man was yapping about, he could tell Dominic was unhappy.

“Grandpa, smile!”

Galen pushed Dominic’s lips upward.

Dominic sighed as he took his little hands in his.

“I want to smile, but how can I be happy? That brat would always run to me all the time, but now that he’s gone, I can’t get used to his absence!”

“Sir.”

A servant walked through the door.

“There are people at the door who want to see you.”

“No!”

Dominic snapped impatiently.

“Send them away! Why are you reporting everything to me? Don’t you have anything better to do?”

“Sir, it’s...your brother’s family,” the servant added after a pause.

“My brother?”

He raised his eyebrows in surprise.

“The whole family?”

“Yeah! Even his wife is here.Maybe...”

The servant did not continue.

After all, the servant knew she shouldn’t meddle in Dominic’s affairs.

However, Dominic knew what she was thinking about.

However, Dominic did not intervene with the search, seeing that it was Operose and they were in Hyderland.

Although the Fike family today isn’t as renowned as they were a century ago, their decades of hard work still left a mark on society.

The police also intervened.

It was unlikely that there had been no news yet.

Today, they even came knocking at his front door.

“Should I send them away?”

The servant asked tentatively, seeing that he was silent.

Unexpectedly, Dominic stood up.

“Let them in!”

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1653 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1653-Daniel had not set foot in Dominic’s vast house for years.

Now trembling on his crutches, Daniel slowly walked in with the support of his son and daughter-in-law. He did not sit down.

Instead, he slowly looked around until he heard footsteps and saw Dominic walking out.

Daniel immediately felt his eyes burning as he hurried forward to meet Dominic, wanting to hold his hand.

“Dom!”

However, Daniel could not stand on his own and almost fell before taking more than two steps forward.

Fortunately, someone managed to catch him.

Elijah hurriedly over to steady him.

“Dad, slow down.”

“Why are you still so easily excitable at this age?”

Dominic grumbled with a frown, casting Daniel a sideways glance.

Then he took Galen’s hand and sat down unhurriedly with a frown still on his face.

Everyone was surprised to see the child, especially Daniel. He could not help but fix his gaze on Galen.

“Dom, this is…”

“This is none of your business!” Dominic snapped.

“You’re already so old. Why don’t you stay home instead of wandering around like this? We haven’t seen each other for decades. There’s no need for you to trouble yourself visiting me like this!”

With distaste in his mouth, he turned to glare at the couple.

“Forget the old man. Look at you two! Why are you two just following him around like this?!”

“Uncle Dom! Please save Austin! Please!”

Ultimately, the woman could no longer take it and dropped to her knees, crying bitterly.

“What are you doing?!”

Dominic retracted his feet and said with a frown.

“Get up! Get up now!”

“Dom, we’re running out of options! That’s why I’m here to beg you. Please, just help us!”

Daniel coughed twice.

Although he had already sat down, he still held his crutches as he leaned forward, struggling to speak.

“What can I do?! You guys have lost your mind. If that brat, Austin, is missing, go to the police! Didn’t you call them for help? What makes you think I can find him if they can’t?”

Dominic frowned before turning his gaze toward Galen and gently stroking his tiny head.

“Dom, I know what you’re capable of! You have your ways and connections. You’ve traveled far and wide over the years, and I’m sure you’ve made many friends.

Sometimes, you can find things that are impossible to find.

“Austin had been missing for too long, and police couldn’t trace his whereabouts. We aren’t dealing with ordinary people, so you must help me! He’s also a Fike. For the sake of our family...”

“For our family’s sake?!” Dominic interrupted him angrily.

“What rights do you have to talk about us being a family?! When I left, you said I was not part of the Fike Family! You said everything belonged to you, and I won’t get a share. From then on, I had nothing to do with the Fike family! Now, you’re telling me for the sake of our family?!” Daniel frowned.

With a sigh, he said, “It’s been so many years...”

“I will never forget it, no matter how many years have passed! With how you treated me back then, how dare you come to me for help now?” Dominic replied with a snort.

“Dom, I’m the one that has wronged you. All these years, Austin has been...”

Daniel paused and wiped the corners of his eyes before continuing, “You’ve watched him grow, and he has always clung to you since he was a child.

He’s also the only one in our family who is most like you, the most talented one.

“He has always been respectful to you and would always come running to you, even after all these years. You’re the first person he thinks about whenever something good happens. Even if it’s not for the sake of the Fikes, you should consider Austin’s loyalty to you over the years. You must help him. If anything happens to him...”

“If anything happens to him, it is fated to happen!” Dominic snapped bluntly.

Elijah was speechless.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1654 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1654-“How can you say that, Uncle Dom?!”

Elijah could not stand and watch any longer.

“You’re an elder. Austin even calls you his granduncle. We’ve never once disrupted your peace because we know you dislike us.

“We’ve never taken any credit for your doings because we know you don’t see us as your family, but what did Austin do?”

Dominic glanced at Elijah and sneered before coldly answering, “How should I say it? Okay, what about this? Your father said the same thing to me. I’m just repeating after him. What’s wrong with that?”

Elijah did not understand what Dominic meant.

When Elijah turned to look at his father, Daniel lowered his gaze.

After a deep sigh, he slowly raised his head again.

“Dom, you don’t plan on forgiving me, do you?”

“Since we’ve cut ties, we should keep our distance. There’s no point in forgiving!”

Looking at Galen’s cute and innocent face, Dominic smiled, but the smile never reached his eyes.

Galen looked up at him, and although he could not understand what the adults were talking about, he could tell the older man was unhappy. He rubbed Dominic’s cheeks, attempting to make him happy.

Galen noticed Dominic had been unhappy in the past few days because Dominic did not say much or yell like he used to.

Dominic would often be in a daze.

Although Galen was young, he could read the room.

Therefore, he had also been very well-behaved and sensible.

Dominic gently grabbed the little kid's hands and tried to force a smile that was still stiff.

"All right! Okay!"

Nodding, Daniel pushed himself up.

"I was wrong. I was wrong!"

With that, he turned around and walked out the door with Elijah supporting him.

"Dad..."

At this point, Elijah's wife, Michelle, became anxious.

"Dad, Uncle Dom..."

Her eyes darted back and forth as she could not decide between chasing after her father-in-law and persuading Dominic to learn her son's whereabouts.

Tears soon began to stream down her cheeks.

Then Daniel, already at the front door, suddenly turned again and dropped his crutches before falling onto his knees with a plop.

"Dom, I'm begging you!"

"Dad!"

Elijah was startled.

He did not expect his father to do this.

In the end, he had no choice but to kneel alongside him.

"I was wrong. You can blame and punish me any way you like, but Austin is still a kid! He didn't do anything wrong. We have no idea whether he's alive or dead. Please, help us if you can. Take it as me begging you. Please!"

Daniel repeatedly bowed, knocking his head on the floor as he spoke.

That scared Elijah, Michelle, and even Dominic.

Dominic quickly got up before sitting down again.

“What are you doing?! Are you trying to guilt-trip me? Daniel Fike, I’m telling you, I won’t buy it! Get up!”

However, it was as if Daniel had turned deaf and continued i knocking his head on the floor.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1655 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1655-Elijah and Michelle immediately followed suit.

Soon, the room echoed with the sounds of heads knocking on the ground.

Galen blinked at the sight before him.

Although curious, he saw Dominic’s anger and pursed his lips in silence.

“Get up, all of you! Get up now!” Dominic roared.

His voice was so loud that everyone froze and looked up at him.

“Daniel Fike! You’re something else, aren’t you?!”

As he began to pace back and forth, he continued, “Even at this age, you’re still pulling this trick on me? Do you think I will agree with you this way?!”

“No.I’m genuinely begging you! I’m running out of options! We’ve checked everywhere, and there’s still no sign of him.It’s been so many days, and you know how Austin is.He won’t make us worry like this.

“Something terrible must have happened! Also, that lab...That laboratory has been abandoned.I’ve had people investigate that place, but it was wiped clean.Not a single soul remains there.There’s a basement in the building.Although the rooms were empty, it looked like someone had lived there.

“A professor from the laboratory died a while ago, so it’s hard not to assume it has something to do with the lab.Dom, I’ve never asked anything from you for decades.I know you resent and hate me, but this is different! I will do whatever it takes to get Austin back, even if it means giving up my life!”

“why would I want your life?! Can I make anything out of it?!” Dominic replied angrily.

Then he shot Daniel a glare and said, "Get up! Get up, and we'll talk!"

"Dom..."

"I didn't say I wasn't going to look for him!"

Dominic grumbled.

Although it was in a negative annotation, it was still a great relief.

The whole family brightened up upon hearing this and helped each other up.

"Uncle Dom..."

Elijah was about to speak, but Dominic's angry gaze immediately shut him up.

"I agree that the case with the lab is weird, but everyone in the research institute has withdrawn. As for Austin, I think he should still be in Kingsland," Dominic said thoughtfully.

"He is?!" Elijah's eyes lit up.

"B-But we couldn't find anything on him. If there were something, the police would have found it long ago. What underground organization is this?! Why are they running so rampantly in Kingsland?!" Elijah glowered.

"Who do they think they are? How dare they mess with the Fikes?!" Dominic glanced at him and snorted.

"Who said they're in Kingsland?"

"Are you saying they're an international organization?!" Elijah was shocked to hear this.

Then, tremblingly, he asked, "Did Austin offend an international force? Did he..."

"Sometimes, you don't need to offend someone for something to happen. If you stand in the way of others, they will naturally deal with you. To them, it's like crushing an ant to its death,"

Dominic responded flatly. He had calmly made such a reference that made the Fike family turn pale in fright.

Michelle almost fainted.

Elijah quickly supported her and asked cautiously, "Uncle Dom, what do you mean? Is Austin in danger?"

“Probably not!”

Dominic shook his head.

“I don’t think he’s dead.If he were, they would not need to hide the body.It’s more convenient if they dispose of him.”

That was something he had been thinking about over the past few days.

If Austin were already dead, his body would inevitably get disposed of.

Since there were no traces of him or his dead body, it meant he was still alive but hidden.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1656 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1656-“Then, he...”

Michelle’s face turned pale.

Although she was relieved to hear her son might still be alive, her heart couldn’t take Dominic’s repeated mentions of a corpse.

“I’ve already sent someone to look for him.I’ll inform you as soon as I hear back.”

Dominic sat down and took a sip of tea from his teacup.

Then he paused and raised his head to see everyone staring at him.

“What?! I already said I’ll tell you if I hear-“

“Dom, thank you so much!” Daniel cried emotionally.

“I knew it! I knew you wouldn’t let him die!”

“Thank you, Uncle Dom!”

Elijah also thanked Dominic gratefully.

However, Dominic waved his hands around impatiently.

“Enough! Stop with all this! Just don’t show up at my door anymore! I can’t see you crying and wailing like this.And you! What are you doing, walking around like this, at your age?! If something happens to you, whose fault will it be?!”

“I know my limits!”

Daniel replied happily.

“You do, but I don’t! The next time you show up, I won’t let you in. How annoying!”

With that, Dominic took a big gulp of tea to moisten his throat.

Daniel nodded.

“Okay, we won’t bother you any longer. If you hear anything, please tell us as soon as possible. As soon as...”

“Yes, yes, I know! Why are you so long-winded?”

The whole family was delighted.

Although there was no news of Austin, knowing that Dominic was willing to help and hearing from him that Austin was still alive was enough of a reassurance.

However, after they left, a dark cloud loomed over Dominic again.

Things were more complex than they seemed.

The situation that Austin was in was difficult to get out of.

This organization was intricate and powerful.

It is not as simple as a terrorist organization.

Dominic wasn’t clear on how many foreign forces were involved.

On top of that, there was Lily.

He had not heard anything from her, and he had no idea what was happening on her side of things.

Then there was the damn virus.

“Grandpa...”

The room finally became quiet before Galen called out to him softly.

Only this child’s voice could calm Dominic’s restless heart.

Dominic pulled Galen up and sat him on his lap.

Looking at his little face, Dominic asked, "Hey, kid. Do you miss Mommy?"

"Mhm."

Galen nodded.

"When will Mommy come back?"

"I don't know. I think she'll come back soon," Dominic replied with a sigh.

"Before your mother returns, we only have each other to depend on! I'll take good care of you while you remain obedient, okay?" Everything is a blur right now. If something happened to Galen, Dominic wouldn't know how to explain himself. They might be fine in the manor, but he couldn't guarantee Galen's safety outside of it.

"Okay!"

Galen nodded obediently.

Dominic let out a long sigh of relief before letting him go.

"Come. Let's go see the pigeons!"

Galen was delighted to hear that as he held onto Dominic's hands, giggling.

The two men, one old and one young, walked out to the backyard without further ado.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1657 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1657-Waking up from the nightmare, he opened his eyes and looked numbly at the ceiling. He was used to this.

Day and night.

It was the same thing over and over again. He could no longer tell whether he was asleep or awake.

Maybe he was living his nightmare.

After all, if he was asleep and knew that he was dreaming, he still had hopes of waking up.

However, even when he opened his eyes, he was still stuck in an endless loop of torture. He still remembered what Mike had said.

Mike's words replayed in his head repeatedly, but he still wasn't sure if he should believe Mike.

After two days, there was no sign of her leaving.

Was he getting played again? However, what good would that do for someone like Mike? Was it another cat-and-mouse game? Just as he was starting to get lost in his thoughts, there was the sound of the door opening.

This time, unlike most others, it was accompanied by the sharp sound of high heels.

Although his face was numb, he could still move his eyes.

This woman's voice was the most terrifying.

"Dr.Fike."

The woman's voice was clear and melodious, but to Austin, it sounded like a voice from hell.

Austin did not answer.

"What? Did the medicine deafen your ears, or have your nerves been so paralyzed that you can't even understand human speech?" Rhea asked mockingly as she stared coldly at the motionless man.

Austin remained quiet.

"Tie him up and take him away!"

Rhea ordered the nearby people away and turned away.

His ears twitched.

This was the only sentence that gave him a reaction.

His heart began to race.

'Take me away? Take me away! Is it what I think it is? Was Mike telling the truth? Are they really transferring me to another location? Does that mean I have a chance?'

Although he could not stop his beating heart, he tried his best not to let his face betray him.He would rather die than live here.

Regardless of how many times he wished he had died, he still survived.

Seeing that he survived, he must escape. He could not just die like this and would not allow his life to be ruined. His parents must be waiting for him, and he wanted to escape. He wanted to lock these people up and ensure they got what they deserved. He wanted to seek revenge.

Austin felt himself being pulled up like a rag doll.

He remained motionless as he allowed the group of people to bind him, dragging him back and forth. He stared ahead blankly as if he couldn't see anything.

Rhea watched them before slowly walking to Austin.

"Dr. Fike?" Austin still ignored her.

Suddenly, her lips curled up, and she broke into laughter.

"Actually, you should thank me! After all, I'm giving you a chance to become a real miracle doctor!"

Rhea noticed that his eyelids fluttered even though he did not move or speak. It was obvious he could hear her.

Rhea found this interesting.

Even those who were controlled by drugs could still feel emotions.

Humans were complex.

It was hard to understand spirits and willpower.

Even after so many experiments, each result was different.

The final effects of the medicine were also different for each individual.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1658 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1658 -That was why she kept doing these experiments and adjusting the doses.

Even so, she wasn't completely sure about the efficacy of the medicine.

"Do you know what kind of drug I've given you?"

She moved a little closer and asked in a low voice.

Austin didn't answer, but his gaze lowered.

Rhea smiled and leaned into his ear.

"It's poison."

Her red lips opened and closed, a weird smile plastered on her face.

However, even these few words did not elicit any reaction from him. He was tied up as he sat there motionlessly, like a body without a soul.

Seeing that there was no response, Rhea was starting to get bored. She smacked her lips and said, "Don't worry. This poison is not fatal but will make you stronger. Once you get over this phase, you will be invulnerable to all poisons. Wouldn't that be good for you as a miracle doctor?"

Raising his head, Austin looked at her.

His eyes seemed to say, 'Do you take me for a fool?'

Rhea smiled.

"You don't believe me? I've read your traditional medicine books before. There were ancient books that recorded the methods of invulnerability to all poisons. Have you yet to try it yourself? Or do you doubt your own practices? "It's up to you whether you believe it or not. Anyway, you're just one of my many test subjects. You can't escape. You're destined to stay in this laboratory forever."

She wiped her fingers and continued, "It's a good thing, isn't it? Don't you like staying in the lab? Now, your wish has come true. You can stay here for the rest of your life. How wonderful!"

Austin's lips twitched, but no words came out of him.

He took a deep look at Rhea before letting out a light sigh.

It appeared as if he had no desire to interact with her at all.

"Miracle Doctor, Austin Fike."

Rhea watched as he got blindfolded and suddenly said, "In your eyes, who do you think is better? Me or Lily?"

She turned to look at Austin's expression carefully.

On the other hand, although his eyes were fully covered, it was as if he could feel her approaching. He slowly raised the corners of his lips.

Then he finally uttered a word.

“You?”

Rhea raised her eyebrows and then heard a very soft scoff from him.

After that soft scoff, he didn't say anything.

However, she could feel his mockery, which made her expression cold.

Her eyelids began to twitch unconsciously as she sneered, “I'll show you! I'll let you see with your own eyes who's better. Me or Lily!”

With that, she raised her hand and signaled the men to take Austin away.

Austin did not resist. He allowed his hands to be tied behind him like a marionette and let himself get pushed outside.

They had everything planned out.

It was exactly half an hour later that the medicine took effect.

Whenever the medicine took effect, it was as if all strength had been drained from his body.

On top of that, two pills were stuffed in his mouth as he got tied up.

He didn't resist and ate it obediently.

Rhea and the others did not doubt it.

They thought he had exhausted his willpower and given up the idea of escaping.

After all, he had already taken the two pills Mike had given him.

Austin was willing to gamble again! Even if he had been deceived and lost this time, it was still a gamble he had to take! Even if the chance of escaping was one in ten thousand or one in one hundred thousand, he still wanted to try it.

What place could be more terrifying than this purgatory?

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1659 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1659-Austin seemed to let himself get dragged forward numbly as he tried to memorize the ground under his feet and the voices around him. He felt himself getting carried into the elevator, and the elevator descended accordingly. He wondered if he had been on the top floor, but the elevator ride was short, meaning he was not too high.

After getting dragged out, he began to listen attentively.

He did not hear the sound of high heels or anything else besides the voices of the two men dragging him around.

Austin wondered whether or not Rhea followed.

He silently analyzed the journey until the two men pushed him into a car.

When the car started, he began counting the time inwardly.

'Mike mentioned I should wait 20 minutes from when the car started'

Austin could not see, and although he did not have a watch, keeping track of time was easy because he had spent all his time doing it when he was locked up.

He no longer needed to look at a time to figure out an approximate number.

Moreover, this involved his life, and he avoided any miscalculations.

With his hands tied behind his back, he patted around and found a knot.

The strange thing was that the knot did not feel like the usual one.

The current knot felt looser than the previous one, making it easier for him to break free.

After moving around a little more, he broke himself free, which puzzled him.

Everything was going smoothly, so Austin wondered if Mike had arranged for someone to tie him up like that or if it were another trap.

Hesitation flashed across his mind, but he knew he had no time to think.

As the car moved down the road, he silently counted the time.

Judging by the sound of breathing, there should only be three people in the car, including the driver.

He would break free and grab the steering wheel if things went according to plan.

That would cause chaos, and the chance for him to escape would be high.

Still, would things go that smoothly? Was Mike telling the truth?' Austin did not have long to doubt himself.

After all, his 20 minutes were almost up.

The closer the time came, the faster Austin's heartbeat.

'Five...four...three...two..one!' At this time, he exuded a burst of strength and broke free from the ropes before pulling the cloth over his eyes.

The people in the car did not expect him to break free and were stunned for a moment before immediately rushing over to subdue him.

Austin's survival instincts seemed to overpower them as he swung them away.

Then he rushed forward with a clear goal—the steering wheel.

The driver panicked as he tried to shake Austin off with one hand and desperately held onto the steering wheel with the other.

The other two people in the car returned to their senses and immediately jumped up to try and subdue Austin again.

Austin was curious to know if he had gathered all his strength just for today or if it was the drug that Mike had given him.

Austin felt a rush of power as he knocked the two people holding him down and rushed forward again to compete with the driver.

Although it was hard for him to grab the steering wheel from behind, the driver was still getting disrupted, and the car began to swerve.

Austin grabbed the steering wheel with one hand and pushed the driver's head away with the other.

Simultaneously, he looked up and realized they were driving past a street market.

The car swerved through the street crazily, and the crowd immediately dispersed.

Then the car rushed uncontrollably into a shop.

After crashing into the railing, it flipped and landed on the ground with a bang.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1660 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1660-Bang! The car landed heavily.

Austin's body lost its balance and rolled inside.

As he looked out the car window, longing for freedom, he felt a buzz in his ears. He felt his head in a daze and did not know how long it was before he felt himself getting dragged out of the car. His head felt warm, as if something was flowing down his scalp.

The scene before his eyes was chaotic.

There was a fire with people shouting as sirens rang in his ears.

It was as if he could hear everything, yet nothing at all.

Then he blacked out.

Putting away the boiled herbs, Lily wiped her hands and was about to leave when she heard hurried footsteps.

Edmund appeared in front of her.

"Dr. Russell, there are some changes in Debbie."

When she saw the serious look on his face, her heart tightened.

"What changes?"

"We'll talk as we head over,"

Edmund said, taking a protective suit and handing it to her.

Lily quickly got dressed and followed him to the ward.

The two talked as they walked.

Each sentence from Edmund was fast, but he spoke very clearly.

“After you insisted on not giving her the infusion, Debbie’s condition stabilized three hours later.

Her heart rate stabilized, and the high fever subsided.

Everything was as you predicted.

“However, she had a spike in her body temperature just now, and she began to mumble nonsense. Her body is burning, and she falls into a state of unconsciousness. It looks like she’s about to die.”

Hearing his last few words, Lily stopped in her footsteps. Her eyes widened as she looked at Edmund. She could not believe her ears.

‘Debbie is dying?! How could that happen?!’

“All the available doctors have gathered there, even Dr. Blanc. You have to prepare yourself,”

Edmund warned, giving her a meaningful look.

Lily knew this was not just about Debbie’s life.

If something happened to Debbie, Lily would be held responsible.

She had already proudly proclaimed she would pay with her life if something happened to Debbie.

Although it was not an empty promise, Lily just could not believe that Debbie would die so soon. It was impossible.

Thinking of this, she quickened her pace and rushed to the ward.

Many people were already there, taking Debbie’s body temperature, trying to cool her down, and preparing some medication.

They orderly performed a series of operations, but everyone’s expression was heavy.

Dr. Blanc was standing there, directing the overall situation, as Debbie lay on the hospital bed with her eyes closed and an oxygen mask over her face.

Debbie’s face was pale, and it looked like she might stop breathing.

“Let me have a look!”

Lily said and immediately went to Debbie’s bedside to check her pulse.

Based on Lily's experience and her reading of Debbie's pulse, the child was not about to die.

Even if the virus started to act up, how could she die in such a short time? Lily frowned.

Just as her finger was about to touch the child's arm, someone suddenly slapped her hand away.