

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1741 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1741-“Listen to me!”

Lily could tell that Olivia was starting to lose it and quickly said, “I know you’re worried about him now. We are too! But no one knows what’s going on and why he’s doing this. Don’t act rashly until this is all figured out. We’ll at least have to trust the Edward we know, right?”

Lily sounded calm, but her heart was racing as well.

Olivia was silent for a moment before she nodded.

“Okay, I understand!”

“Good. The most important thing for you now is to take care of yourself and the baby inside you. You shouldn’t get too riled up. Understand?”

After a few more words of advice, Lily was about to hang up. However, Olivia seemed to think of something again and said, “no. velebook Wait! Since you’ve been occupied, I’ve helped you with some of your emails. I replied to some simpler ones, but there are still a few encrypted emails. You can look at them yourself when you’re free.”

“Okay.” Lily nodded.

“Thank you for helping me.”

After saying that, she hung up. She had not had time to check her emails. She turned her head toward the study and saw that Alexander was still occupied with the matter, staring intently at the computer screen and typing away on the keyboard. She let out a faint sigh and was about to check her mailbox when her phone rang again.

“Did I disturb your rest?” The voice on the phone was clear, teasing her. However, she knew that it must be vital for him to call her at this time.

“Did you get the result?” Lily wasn’t up for nonsense and asked directly.

“Tsk, I thought I’d disturb your sleep and get a scolding before we get down to brass tacks. I didn’t expect this softer side of you. Did becoming a mother change you?” Benedict asked with a smile.

Rolling her eyes, Lily walked forward.

“Enough nonsense!”

“Look at you! Still the same as before,” he said before cutting to the chase.

“Do you remember when you asked me to hack into someone’s database?”

“You couldn’t do it?”

She raised her eyebrow. She did remember asking him to do this, but she had so much on her plate on her trip to Department X that she did not have time to check with him on this.

The people from the old research institute had long since disappeared since the place was abandoned. She had no idea where those data had been taken.

“Are you kidding me? I’m a god. How can I not do it? It’s just that the content in the database is a bit scary.”

Smacking his tongue, Benedict suddenly lowered his voice and asked mysteriously, “What the hell is that database for?”

“You shouldn’t ask so much. Do you understand what you saw?”

Lily was a little curious. She did not see the classified information there, but she presumed it was similar to the data she entered.

Most were experimental data with professional words and terminology, changes, experiment results, et cetera.

Logically speaking, it was impossible for Benedict to understand.

Benedict chuckled and said, “I don’t quite understand the numbers and stuff, but don’t forget what I used to work as. There are some plant names I recognize, but...”

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1742 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1742 -“I understand those data, but I can also tell it’s used for some kind of experiment. Are they all experimental data? Are you creating a poisonous perfume with all the poisonous plants and drugs?!” Lily was speechless. She did not expect him to come to such a conclusion.

Lily would definitely spray him in the face if he were in front of her eyes.

“No. As for what you’re doing, don’t ask so many questions. Knowing too much might be your downfall. Can you forward that data to me?” She asked.

“Of course!”

He agreed happily.

Then, he thought of something and asked curiously, “Wait, I did send it to your email a few days ago. no.velebook Didn’t you read it?”

“I...”

She did not look at her mailbox for days.

“I’ve been busy.”

He didn’t blame her but instead asked, “Yeah, that’s what I thought. I’ve called your home a few times, but you weren’t there. I haven’t seen Mr. Russell in a while either. Rumors are going around that he’s dead. He...”

“He’s fine,” Lily replied directly upon hearing his hesitation to ask.

“You said it yourself that they were rumors. Well, thank you for helping me with this. I’ll repay you when I get the chance!”

She was anxious to read the emails. She wanted to know the secrets hidden in the database.

However, when Benedict realized she was about to hang up, he hurriedly said, “Hold up! Call me nosy, but I’m just trying to warn you.

“I’ve been around those plants and trees while collecting wood. They’re highly poisonous, and even the locals in the area have been harmed. You’d better be careful and don’t touch them!”

Pursing her lips, Lily was filled with gratitude.

“Thank you!”

“Why are you being so polite? I’m just saying-“

Before he could finish speaking, Lily had already hung up the phone.

Benedict was dumbfounded.

Lily looked at the time and noticed it was almost dawn, but she did not feel like going back to sleep.

Seeing that the light in Alexander's study was still on, she simply returned to her room and turned on her computer to check her emails.

Sure enough, her mailbox was full.

Fortunately, some of the more straightforward emails had been processed by Olivia.

In the encrypted mailbox, there were some extremely private and important emails.

The encrypted mailbox could only be accessed once a password was keyed in.

Lily quickly found the email from Benedict.

It was sent about a week ago.

This man was quite patient.

He only called her after waiting so long for a response.

She downloaded the attachment and saw the highly detailed data inside.

The more she looked at it, the more frightened she became.

Cold sweat began to form on her back.

Back when she was at the research institute, she only noticed that something was wrong. She did not expect that they were doing such a terrible experiment in private.

All of them included poisons and various toxins.

They had failed many times.

Instead of just recording the successes like most experiments, each failure was recorded in detail alongside its reasoning and a summarized analysis. This was probably done to ensure a more thorough understanding of the experiments and to allow them to learn from their failures.

'Time after time, the failed experiments included countless sacrificial test subjects, including...humans!'

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1743 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1743-Yes, humans.

The experiment included human test subjects.

Although the data only showed numbers, one could tell through the collected data and reactions throughout the process that the test subjects were people.

This research institute seemed to be far more terrifying than Lily had imagined. She felt a chill rising from her back.

The more she looked at the data, the more frightened she became.

At some point, a hand on her shoulder sent her jumping up in shock.

When she turned her head and saw that it was Alexander, she breathed a sigh of relief.

“When did you come upstairs?”

After a pause, she returned to her senses and asked another question, “Are you done?”

“What’s wrong?”

Alexander did not see the content of Lily’s email but noticed she was staring at the computer screen intently.

“Nothing. I’m just looking at some data.”

She took a deep breath and turned around to look up at Alexander.

“I got someone to hack into the encrypted database from the previous experimental base and retrieve some data. Sure enough, as I guessed before, they’re conducting illegal experiments.”

“The poisons?” Alexander asked after thinking about it.

“It’s not just that,”

Lily answered, “They’re also experimenting with people. I suspect Secretary Rollins, Austin, and maybe even Edward are their experimental subjects.”

“Edward?!” Alexander raised his eyebrows, somewhat surprised by what he heard.

Although Edward’s behavior was abnormal and bizarre, Alexander did not connect the dots to the previous research institute.

“Yeah.”

She nodded affirmatively.

Then she turned to face the computer again and clicked on some things to show him.

“Look. These are the things in the encrypted database. They are experimenting with certain medicines that control people’s central nervous system and bodily functions. Since these medicines have different properties, their effects vary as well.”

“Can it control one’s thoughts?” Alexander narrowed his eyes and thought for a moment.

“Not entirely. That is only a part of it,”

Lily affirmed his statement before continuing, “I suspect that their experiments are not entirely successful yet. Judging from the current data, the probability of failure is relatively high. They’ve conducted many experiments, but there’s yet to be a record of true success. There are always side effects. Alexander sneered and said disdainfully, “Such harmful things would have side effects. What side effects are they talking about?”

“That’s not it!” Lily looked solemn.

“It is harmful. From their perspective, they’re trying to control people’s minds to achieve their own goals. However, their previous test subjects seemed to have uncontrolled behaviors that caused them to be terminated.

“According to the current data records, only Experiment RX was a success. However, the results are still pending. I assume they’re unsure about its side effects for now. They may be able to control someone’s mind successfully, but there may still be a probability of failure.”

“So, what are they planning to do with this research? Take over the world?!” Alexander could not help but exclaim.

Thompson initially approached him to invest in this project with a positive plan.

The proposal mentioned the dual perspectives of medicine and fragrance and its challenge to allow the public to get treated comfortably.

It sounded significant to Alexander.

However, no one had expected them to do so many dirty things behind such a positive front.

Just the thought of it was repelling.

Although Alexander’s words were a mockery, Lily nodded solemnly.

“You’re right. I assume that’s their end goal.”

Alexander immediately fell silent as his eyes widened in shock. A few seconds later, he let out a mocking laugh.

“This is ridiculous!”

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1744 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1744 -“Why is it ridiculous?”

Lily looked at him solemnly without a smile on her face.

“Is it not?”

Alexander questioned back.

“What kind of world are we living in today? In the age of science and technology, things develop at breakneck speed, and there are so many advanced weapons. Do they think we still live in the prehistoric era and that they can take over the world by controlling people’s minds? “Look at the number of people in this world. How many medicines have been developed, how can they ensure everyone will react accordingly to the medicine, and how can they be sure it’ll work on everyone? Isn’t this just a fool’s dream?”

He shook his head, not knowing who would have such ambitious ideas.

However, Lily seemed to disagree.

“Not necessary. It’s not impossible.”

“Huh?”

“You don’t necessarily have to control the entire population to rule the world.”

After a pause, she continued slowly, “If they want to take over the world, or even just no. velebook certain countries, controlling the right people’s minds will be enough.”

Alexander seemed to realize something when he heard that. He narrowed his eyes.

“You mean...”

Before he could finish speaking, the phone rang.

Initially, Lily did not want to pick it up.

However, her phone kept ringing, making it impossible to ignore.

After looking at Alexander, she leaned over to get her phone, clicked on it, and saw a few text messages from Olivia.

“Lily, he’s back.”

“I heard him coming in.”

“Let’s not talk about this first.”

Lily did not reply. She assumed Olivia must be on edge right now, and the text tone might alert Edward, who had just come home.

Once Lily had finished reading the texts, she looked up at Alexander.

“Edward has gone home.”

“I know.”

Alexander was not surprised. He nodded and said, “I was going to tell you. My men saw his car coming out at the gate of the vaccine research base.”

“You didn’t call your men back?”

Lily was startled as she thought he had dismissed his men.

“No. I wanted to, but after thinking about it, Edward’s car was still inside. Even if he left in another car, he would still have to return for his own later. It was as I expected!”

He raised his wrist to check the time and said, “His car left the vaccine research base more than half an hour ago.”

“So, he might have been in the base this whole time?”

After all, no one saw Edward leave.

Therefore, it was tough to say.

Regardless, he was clearly involved with whatever was going on in the vaccine research base.

“That doesn’t matter. The important thing is that the vaccine research base may not be good news.”

Lily felt her heart grow heavy as she looked at Alexander.

'He's right. This new vaccine research base is similar to the old research institute. Once they successfully develop the vaccine, they'll give it to the world. The whole world!'

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1745 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1745-"I think I might know what they're up to!"

Lily grabbed Alexander's sleeve and stood up.

Maybe it was the sudden movement, the spike in her emotions, or her fatigue, but Lily felt her stomach tighten, followed by a throbbing pain.

"Hiss..."

She gasped, holding her stomach with one hand, then bent down.

"What's wrong?!"

Alexander hurriedly supported her in shock and looked at her nervously.

"Does your stomach hurt?"

She endured the pain, nodded, and grabbed his sleeve while holding her stomach before slowly sitting down again.

The pain came and went, and it was not anything severe. It seemed like it was elicited by something, making the two babies inside her uncomfortable.

"I'll take you to the hospital!" Alexander was panicking.

The typically calm and in control man panicked when he saw his wife in pain.

Everything went smoothly when Lily gave birth to Galen.

There were no hurdles during her pregnancy, and her birth was also effortless.

Even so, Alexander felt terrible. He remembered Lily's pale face and weak body just after she gave birth.

Now, the first thing that came to mind was the possible dangers the doctor had mentioned when she gave birth.

It made Alexander feel like he was about to lose her.

While he called for someone to prepare the car and get someone to call the hospital, he was so anxious that he did not notice Lily tugging him.

Only after a hard jerk did he finally lower his head.

“What’s wrong? Is it excruciating? Hold on. I’ll send you to the hospital right away!”

He immediately picked her up and prepared to go outside.

“Don’t—”

Lily was already in pain, but now, she could not speak properly.

“I’m fine.”

“How can you say you’re fine when you’re in so much pain?!”

Alexander strode downstairs without stopping, assuming she was just trying to comfort him. Although Lily was pregnant, Alexander did not break a sweat as he carried her down.

Driven by nerves, he walked quickly and soon arrived at the yard. He did not forget to grab the blanket on the sofa to wrap it around her tightly.

When Lily regained her strength to speak, she was already sitting in the car.

“I’m okay. It doesn’t hurt too much now.”

She put her arms around his neck and said helplessly, “There’s no need to go to the hospital.”

“Who knows how serious stomach pain can be? Not to mention, you’re also pregnant. You can’t be too careful. Regardless, you should still go for a checkup,” he said sullenly.

His eyes filled with fear. It was the same look he had when Lily birthed Galen.

She had already entered the delivery room when Alexander came in again. She had no idea what the doctor said to him, but he was on the verge of crying when she looked at him.

His eyes were red as he held onto her. His grip on her hands tightened as if to say she should not be afraid because he would always be with her.

She only remembered a little after that.

Galen was a well-behaved fetus, so the delivery process went smoothly. He was positioned correctly and wasn't too big or small.

Still, Alexander's eyes were full of panic, just like before. It stressed Lily out. She raised her hand gently to caress his face.

The warmth of her palm pressed onto him.

"I'm fine, really!"

Her gentle voice was firm.

Eventually, Alexander calmed down, and his face relaxed a little.

Despite this, he insisted stubbornly, "Even if there's nothing wrong, let's just go to the hospital for a checkup. Let's treat it as a pregnancy checkup. It'll put me at ease."

Lily looked into his eyes and knew she could not reject him, so she nodded.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1746 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1746 -The car sped to the hospital, and because the hospital had been informed beforehand, several examinations were completed very quickly.

As far as the examinations were concerned, Lily felt that he had gone overboard.

All other examinations were conducted, except for some medical checkups that pregnant women were not allowed to do.

By the time they were done, the sky was already bright.

"Judging from the results, there is nothing serious. The body is a little tired from the lack of sleep," the doctor said, looking at the report.

"Some reports still have yet to arrive, but there shouldn't be any problem."

Hearing this, Alexander finally breathed a long sigh of relief. Lily couldn't help but laugh at the way he looked.

"I told you it's nothing. Look at how nervous you were."

"Thank God you're fine, but did you hear the doctor? You're not getting enough rest. Don't work too hard. Make sure you rest enough. Your body is your priority right now," he couldn't help but reprimand.

"I know!"

Lily responded, shaking her head helplessly.

Of course, she knew that he was reprimanding her out of concern.

In fact, she studied medicine herself. She also knew that her health was deteriorating.

However, she just couldn't let any of the recent events slide. Lily also wanted to rest, but she just couldn't help herself!

"You do?" Alexander raised his eyebrows.

"Do you really?"

"I...don't know, I guess?"

Lily answered him half-jokingly, a little amused.

When it came to her body, she was very stubborn and childish.

"It's not important whether you know it or don't. You have to practice it!"

With that, Alexander cleared his throat and turned to look at the doctor.

"Please issue the bill. We're staying overnight here."

"What?! I'm fine. Why do I have to be hospitalized?!"

His request surprised everyone, even the doctor.

After letting out a light cough, the doctor said, "Your wife seems alright from what the report says. She can go home and rest. There's no need for her to be hospitalized."

"I know my wife best. If she goes home, she won't rest. Only if she stays in the hospital can she properly recuperate,"

Alexander confidently explained. He understood Lily too well.

She would be caught up with the mess if she went home again.

On top of that, she just found out the secrets of the research institute and that whatever was going on in the vaccine development base was more complex than it seemed.

How could she let those go? However, Alexander could not think about anything else when she couldn't straighten up her back because of her stomach. He was so afraid of losing her.

Regardless of whether the world would be destroyed or what dark organizations were in the country, none of it was important.

Nothing was more important than her! Her body and health were a thousand, even ten thousand times, more important than all these. She had to be healthy! The doctor was speechless.

Lily held her forehead.

"I'm really fine. They don't have enough beds in the hospital. Don't make it hard for the doctor."

"Beds aren't the problem. If there isn't enough here, we'll transfer you to a private hospital anywhere as long as you can rest properly. It's just a bed. How is it a problem for home?"

Sighing, she said, "Enough! I promise I'll rest when we go back. I... won't go out for the next two days, okay?"

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1747 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1747-"Really?"

Alexander was doubtful.

"Really!"

She nodded affirmatively.

Lest he not believe her, she raised her hand again.

"Should I swear?"

Seeing that he was just watching her silently, Lily continued, "I swear, if I don't take a good rest when I go home, I will-"

Before she could finish, Alexander immediately interrupted her.

“Don’t say it! He scolded fiercely.

“Why do you keep swearing? Who taught you to do that?!”

“Are you going to believe me now? Can I go home?”

Lily put her hand down with a smile. She knew that he was distressed and reluctant.

Although she did not want to swear, he would not compromise if she didn’t.

What a joke! Wasn’t being hospitalized almost like putting her in jail? She would be bored out no.velebook of her mind if she stayed in the hospital with nowhere to go! These were not the most important parts.

There were still a lot of things she had to do outside. She could try not to wear herself out, but she couldn’t ignore it.

How could Alexander not know? He knew her too well, so he did not feel at ease.

That was why he wanted to use hospitalization to force her to rest. He took a deep look at her, at the slyness in her eyes and the gentle smile on her face.

So what if he knew? He still couldn’t refuse her.

He had to compromise when faced with her request. He was helpless.

“Okay, but you said it yourself. You must do it. You can’t be too hard on yourself. You’re not living for yourself now. Other than the two babies in your belly, we also have Galen, who needs you.”

This was Alexander’s last resort, using the children to push her to prioritize her health. Lily nodded.

“I know.”

When the two left the hospital, Alexander worriedly requested that the doctor prescribe drugs for the safety of the pregnancy, leaving him a little behind.

Lily waited for him at the hospital gate.

In fact, he could have gotten someone to do this, but he was so concerned that he had to do it himself.

Seeing this man running around and doing everything for her made Lily feel extremely lucky.

Although she was once with someone who wasn't the best, Alexander was the perfect man for her.

She just hoped that their wave of difficulties would soon pass and the family could live a safe and happy life.

Supporting her waist with one hand while gently stroking her lower abdomen with another, she turned her head and saw a person standing before her.

The smile on her face almost instantly froze and disappeared. She subconsciously stepped back before saying flatly, "What a coincidence."

"It's not. I came here to find you,"

Mike looked at her and said bluntly.

"Find me? Are you trying to drug me again?" Lily said mockingly with a light snort.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1748 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1748-The last time they met was over a meal, and although none of them brought it up, they both knew what had happened. She thought they would no longer be friends after what had happened, and he would no longer search for her.

Unexpectedly, here he was again.

"I was just testing the waters in front of you,"

Mike laughed at himself before sighing.

"Although I know I can never get past you. I'm sorry about that."

"Mr. Corden."

Once Alexander had settled the hospital procedures, he came out and noticed that Mike was with Lily.

Therefore, Alexander quickened his pace and rushed over. His tone was polite, but his face was stoic and unkind to the eyes at first glance.

"What are you doing here?" He asked it coldly, completely losing the enthusiasm and friendliness he had before.

Of course, this was all within Mike's expectations.

A bitterness flashed across his face as he frowned and said, "I know what I did was wrong, and I'm sorry. I don't expect you to forgive me, but...I'm here today because I have something important to tell you."

"Is this actually important, or are you trying to set us up again? Mike, you and Alex are old friends who have worked together for many years. Do you think he's so easy to deceive? Or do you think that I will trust you again?" Lily snapped coldly.

"I don't expect you to forgive me or trust me, but after thinking about it, I still feel like I should tell you how serious this is. This organization is far more terrifying than you imagined. I'm not trying to scare you!" Mike said it with a grave look.

He seemed sincere and not like he was lying at all.

However...

"Sorry, we're not interested!"

Alexander put up one hand to stop him and held Lily's waist with the other as he ushered her forward, not in the least interested in what Mike was saying.

"Please don't get in the way!"

Mike, who had been pushed aside, did not expect them to ignore him. He turned around and looked at the two before raising his voice to call out, "Alexander! If someone kidnapped Galen, what would you do?!"

Maybe he had hit the right nerve, or perhaps it was because of what happened to Lily just now and Alexander was extremely sensitive.

His ears twitched, and he stopped abruptly.

"Don't..."

Sensing that something was wrong, Lily subconsciously reached out to grab him. However, she was a second too late.

Alexander had already turned around and strode up to Mike, grabbing his collar and staring at him intensely.

"What did you say?!"

Even with his collar pulled, Mike showed no fear. He stared into Alexander's eyes and repeated, "I said, what would you do if someone kidnapped Galen?"

“Say it again!”

A fuming Alexander clenched his fingers tightly, almost out of breath.

The passersby noticed something was wrong, and they looked over curiously.

However, Alexander did not care about other people’s scrutiny at all.

His eyes burned as they stared at Mike.

“If you have the guts, say it again!”

This time, Mike didn’t repeat himself.

Instead, he spoke with a flushed face, “Look. You’re nervous and scared, aren’t you?”

“If you dare to make a move on Galen, I will let you and your shitty organization know how it feels to be dead!”

Alexander gritted his teeth and warned him with scarlet eyes.

For him, his wife and children were the most important thing.

Family was everything to him.

He was not afraid of death, even back in Burnwken.

However, his fear was indescribable when Lily or the children were involved.

Facing a raging Alexander, Mike laughed.

“You can’t even stand just listening to it. How do you think I’ve been feeling?”

In Alexander’s eyes, Mike seemed to have lost his mind.

Alexander was startled to hear this, and the strength in his grip loosened slightly.

“What do you mean?”

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1749 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1749-Mike immediately raised his hand to touch his neck, adjusting his collar while his flushed face eased slightly.

However, Alexander's stare was still unkind.

"What do you mean?"

"He's saying that someone has kidnapped Nick," Lily softly said as she stepped forward.

Alexander turned and looked at her in disbelief. He did not know about this and was shocked.

After all, Mike had never said anything before this.

Later, Alexander became so occupied with everything that he never bothered asking about Mike's family. He was in a daze after hearing what Lily had said.

At this moment, Mike's face was calm.

A bitter smile flashed across his face, and he asked, "Can we talk elsewhere?"

Then he looked around and continued, "It's not convenient to talk here."

After all, they were in a public place.

Before Alexander could speak, Lily squeezed his arm, looked at Mike, and said, "We can, but we decide where."

Once bitten twice shy, so her guard was up.

Mike naturally understood this.

Ever since what happened, she would never consider him as her friend again. However, he had no complaints.

After all, he did that to himself.

"Okay." He nodded.

Ultimately, the place Lily chose was an elegant tea house just a short distance from the hospital.

The place was secluded and relatively quiet.

There were special rooms for members with good privacy.

Most importantly, it was a property under the La Beaute Group. She was smart.

By choosing such a place, she would not have to fear Mike having ill intentions or trying to pull any moves.

Mike knew he was wrong and had no objections. He followed them into a private room, and the trio sat down.

Then the waiter served some tea and snacks before exiting.

Lily looked at Mike and said, "Okay, whatever you have to say, say it."

Just as he was about to speak, Lily added, "However, it's best if you just finish saying everything you want to say quickly. After all, we may not have the patience and time to listen to you next time. We're only doing this for your son's sake."

Her eyes softened when she mentioned Mike's son. No matter what was happening in the adult world, children were innocent.

On top of that, Galen and Nick got along very well, and Galen genuinely enjoyed no.velebook being friends with Nick.

Naturally, Lily would also be worried if something happened to Nick. However, she was doubtful of Mike's words. He lowered his head and smiled bitterly. He did not refute but sighed instead.

"I know what I did to you was wrong, but I had no choice. As I said, Nicky is in their hands. If I don't do as they say, I don't know what will happen to him."

He lowered his head again sadly, unable to hide his loss. Alexander looked at Mike and thought he was telling the truth.

Alexander narrowed his eyes and asked, "You can't find him?"

"Nope."

Mike shook his head.

"I have used everything I had and searched all over the world. I've done everything possible, but I don't have a clue. He seems to have disappeared from this world."

"Is a pecuniary reward not enough?" Alexander asked.

Read Novel Spoiled By Mr. Russell Chapter 1750 By Luminous Night

Spoiled by Mr. Russell chapter 1750-Generally speaking, it was possible to find someone's whereabouts with their connections and resources.

However, there were exceptions to everything.

If this were the case, internationally offering a considerable reward would be the answer.

"I can't find him,"

Mike shook his head, repeating himself.

Then he raised his head, and the despair in his eyes was unmistakable.

"Otherwise, why would I be so easily manipulated by others?"

After a moment of silence, Alexander still did not speak.

Based on his understanding of Mike for the past years, Mike would never bow to the mercy of others.

If they had so easily manipulated him, he would not have made it that big in the business world and would not have been Alexander's partner.

Mike being in this state must mean he had used all possible methods and was helpless.

That was why he was now under someone's control.

Lily, on the side, chewed on her lower lip quietly.

Seeing her hesitation, Alexander patted her hand lightly.

"Just say what you want to say."

She hesitated again but ultimately still asked, "Have you ever considered that Nick might no longer..."

She could not bear to finish the rest of her sentence.

Even she found it unacceptable when she thought of that possibility, let alone Mike, Nick's biological father.

Alexander's heart skipped a beat as well.

'That's impossible, but if Nick were alive, how would there be no traces of him? That can't be!'

“No, he’s alive.He must be alive!”

Mike was extremely firm.

Although he looked miserable and lost, he was firm and unhesitant whenever someone mentioned his son.

“I am allowed to call my son occasionally, and I will always find a way to make him do or say something specific.I would have caught on if they had recorded the videos in advance.It’s impossible! I’m sure he’s alive somewhere,” he explained.

Lily breathed a sigh of relief when she heard that.She was glad Nick was still alive.

“Can you pick up any clues on where the child is from the video?” Alexander asked while pondering. Mike frowned.

“I thought about this, but they’re too careful.Whenever I’m on video calls with Nick, they put him in an empty room with no sound no.velebook in the background.It seems like they’re in the basement or a warehouse.I can’t tell where he is.

“All I know is that it’s quiet.On top of that, we have minimal time to talk.Those people will cut the call off on their own time.Maybe they’re worried I’ll trace the source of the signal.”

“When will you talk to your son again?” Lily followed closely and asked.

“I don’t know.”

The helplessness on Mike’s face had spread to his entire body as he spread his hands.It sounded outrageous, but he was not lying.

The whole thing was under the organization’s control, and he could do nothing.

“I can only talk to Nicky briefly when he allows us to.He’ll torture my sonifl don’t listen to him.”

At this point, agitation started to build in Mikle.He turned to Alexander and said, “You’re also a father with your own son.What if someone kidnaped and tortured Galen to threaten you? What would you do?”

Alexander did not answer.

“I have no choice.” Mike looked pained.

The torment of the past few months was destroying him.He had no one to talk to, and he had to carry everything alone.

