Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1931 -Mike was puzzled and had a vague sense of impending danger.He subconsciously looked at Lily but noticed her indifference.She was still sitting there lazily and even adjusted her position.

“Mr.Rick, this seems to be an unwelcome visit.”

“There’s a misunderstanding,” Rick said coldly.

At this time, he retracted his hand from Mike’s shoulder and walked toward the chair across from Lily.He sat and said, “I came here because I have some questions I want to ask you two.”

Mike’s shoulders loosened as he shrugged a little.He immediately froze after hearing Rick’s statement.

Lily raised her brows and looked at Rick calmly.

“I thought we’ve said everything in the meeting room.”

However, Rick raised his hand coldly and pressed something in his hand.

Then a faint “pop” echoed, like a small explosion, followed by a faint burnt smell.

Mike was stunned for a moment.

“You...”

“There are too many things in here.I destroyed them.”

With that, Rick withdrew his hand.

“Now, nothing can hinder us from talking.”

“You ruined the CCTVs and audio recorders?”

Lily’s face remained unchanged until this moment.She frowned slightly.

Rick nodded slightly and continued, “Did you guys kidnap the boss?”

This sudden and direct question made Mike tense up.

His eyes widened, and his fingers clenched unconsciously.

His heart rose to his throat as he glanced at Lily.

'What does he mean? Is he intentionally probing us or rallying for revenge?' No one could guess Rick's thoughts from his face, but Mike had already started to think of a plan instinctively.

'If Rick is here to seek revenge or decides to strike back now, would I have an opportunity to fight back and protect Lily? Can I ensure her safety?' Rick turned and glanced at Mike as if he could see through Mike's thoughts.

Then Rick coldly said, "You'd have no chance of winning if you tried to fight me."

Mike was too stunned to speak.

"What about you?!"

Rick snapped his head back to look at Lily and continued bluntly, "I know you come from a renowned family of ancient kickboxers, and I've heard you're highly skilled. However, you're physically disabled right now. Even if you aren't pregnant, I don't fight women."

"So, are you asking us to surrender?"

Lily guessed his intention, but there was no change on her face.

"No. I'm just saying I have no intentions to fight you. If I do, you'll have no chance to escape from the beginning," he replied sincerely.

"Rick, what are you trying to say here?"

Mike asked despite himself.

Mike rarely had the chance to interact with Rick, nor did he know the latter very well.

However, Rick's words confused Mike, who had no idea what he meant.

"I'm just being frank. You don't need to act in front of me. I want to know the truth."

After saying that, Rick threw the thing he held on the table and leaned back.

Lily glanced at it and noticed it was a tiny controller.

It looked like an ordinary car key, but she knew it was not that.

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1932-“That should be the device that destroyed the surveillance system”

Lily secretly observed just now that the light on the CCTV cameras had turned off, and the surveillance system had indeed gotten destroyed.

‘He’s not lying, but why did he do it?’ “We’ve told you everything, and I don’t understand what kind of truth you would like to hear.”

Lily turned to pick up a glass of water near her but leaned forward to add some warm water to the glass, probably feeling it had gotten a little cold.

Mike saw this and went to help her before returning the glass to her.

Lily smiled.

“Thanks.”

She took the glass and drank almost half the water to wet her throat.

Rick stared at them quietly and waited until Lily finished drinking.

“Given your relationship, I don’t believe you’re not colluding with each other.” Lily chuckled.

“Colluding to do what, I wonder? How long have you stayed in Hyderland?” she suddenly asked.

Rick narrowed his eyes.

“What do you mean?”

“Well, you probably haven’t stayed in Hyderland long enough, so you’re unable to use the correct term to express what you’re trying to say,” Lily said.

“You’re saying I’m using the wrong term?” Rick chuckled coldly.

“I’m giving you two a chance to level with me, but if you don’t appreciate it, you can’t blame me if I go by the book!”

“Go by the book?” Lily sneered.

“You people have always done things your way, and there have never been any rules. If you plan to kill us for what happened to the boss, do it. As you said, Mike and I aren’t your match.”

“Provoking me won’t work,” Rick said coldly, “Where the hell are you hiding the boss?”

“Why do you think we’re the culprits? If you’ve thought so, why didn’t you kill us in the conference room just now? Do you want to level with us? Who are you putting on a show for? For the higher-ups?”

Mike mocked.

“Do you think you can threaten us by kidnapping the boss?”

“Of course not!”

Mike said readily, “I know the boss is just a messenger. If he’s gone, the higher-ups could always replace him with another person. He’s not important to them at all!”

Rick looked thoughtfully at him.

The two men remained standoffish and grim.

Lily cleared her throat to break the tension and said, “I have no idea why you think we did it, but since we can’t convince you otherwise, it’s pointless for us to argue further. All right, I admit we’re the culprits. What do you plan to do about it?”

Astonished, Mike looked at Lily, wondering why she suddenly admitted it but did not meet his eyes.

Instead, she gazed calmly at Rick.

“No, I should ask you—what will you do?” Rick asked solemnly all of a sudden.

Lily was puzzled.

Rick leaned forward with his hands on his knees and looked at her severely. He said, “Mrs. Russell, as the experiment has entered its final phase, it doesn’t matter whether or not the ‘boss’ is around. So I’m more interested in knowing what you will do.”

Lily was surprised but had to remain calm.

“I don’t understand what you mean.”

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1933 -"Although I don't participate in the experiment, I know the development of the drug has taken too long,"

Rick said, getting to the point, "I don't care if you can't do it or are stalling, but I'm running out of patience."

"I want to see the final result by tomorrow," he said, his tone as frigid as his gaze.

Lily frowned.

Before she could say anything, he added, "Don't give me any excuses. I don't f*cking care if you can succeed, but I want a result by tomorrow."

"So what you want is not a result but an excuse to kill me?"

Lily coldly chuckled as she spoke.

'Tomorrow? How can that be possible?' Rick shook his head.

"I don't need an excuse to kill you, and I can do it anytime. For your information, I do want the drug, but we've delayed the experiment far too many times! In short, I want the result tomorrow. As for the boss," he paused, "I don't f*cking care."

Then he turned aside and let out a cold sneer.

He walked past Mike and glanced at him, "Mr. Corden, seriously, your tricks are futile against the organization."

Mike was at a loss for words. He stared after Rick as the latter entered the lift without looking back.

Then the sound of the elevator slowly moving downward echoed.

"What do you think?"

Mike turned to Lily, asking, "Does he genuinely not care about the boss's whereabouts, or is he trying to mislead us?"

Since he was unfamiliar with Rick, he could not know his thoughts or how truthful his words were.

“He might not care about whether or not the ‘boss’ is around, but they must be planning something big.They’ re also running out of time.”

Lily said as she thoughtfully knitted her brows.

She did not know what the organization was planning but knew they were pressed for time.

The masked man had been rushing her and yielded to talk terms with her; now Rick had even moved the deadline to tomorrow.

“How can you deliver the result by tomorrow?”

Mike complained.

Although he knew little about the experiment, he had followed its progress.

He knew how difficult it was as Lily repeated the experiment by making multiple adjustments.

Indeed, she was stalling, but the experiment proved too hard, even for her.

‘If she could do it so easily, they would have long succeeded, right?’ “Well, it’s not impossible,”

Lily said casually.

Baffled, Mike looked at her and asked, “What are you talking about? You’ re kidding, right?”

“Anyway, it’s good they are running out of time.

The more they feel rushed, the more likely they’ll expose their secret.”

She thought momentarily, then said, “What do you plan to do about the boss?”

‘Rick said he doesn’t care if the boss was around and might not even look for him”

“I have to transfer the boss somewhere else.”

Mike frowned and said, “I think Rick should know about that secret room and probably hasn’t considered it since the dust hasn’t settled yet.When he does, they’ll surely search the place.”

‘It’s easy for others to learn about the boss’s whereabouts if you transfer him.”

Lily became pensive, thinking it was not a good solution.

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1934 -"Thave a way." Mike lowered his voice, saying, "I handled several things when we first moved here, so I'm familiar with the routes and surveillance systems.

There's a route—" Lily seemingly realized something and suddenly interrupted him, "We might not need to trouble ourselves with it." Mike was puzzled.

"What do you mean?" She tipped her chin toward a nonfunctioning surveillance camera, removed the signal jammer from her person, and tossed it aside.

" Has it ever occurred to you that he might've done all of this in front of us just to show he knows what we're up to, even without the help of these gadgets? Besides, is he implying the higher-ups have already given up on the boss?" "Given up on him?" Mike found it hard to believe.

After all, he had previously heard about the organization through the masked man, who was his sole point of contact.

Although he knew the mysterious organization supported the " boss," he never interacted directly with it.

To him, the masked man was a messenger but simultaneously represented the mysterious force.

Fearing the man, the mysterious organization, and the possible harm they could inflict on his son, Mike forgot the "boss" was probably just someone else's pawn.

When a chess game was at its end, one could sacrifice pawns.

"Would they?" He could not be sure.

However, what Lily said puzzled him.

"Well, you've met Rick several times before this, but has he ever said so much to you before?" Lily asked.

Mike shook his head.

Rick had not even looked at him much, let alone spoken to him.

“Today, he sat here and kept talking before giving me the ultimatum.

I suppose the higher-ups have decided not to keep the boss.” Lily pinched the bridge of her nose, mentally exhausted from thinking so much lately.

Mike thought about it and said, “So Edward’s rashness led to something good, right?” They had not planned for this series of incidents and initially wanted to find clues about the secret the masked man was hiding.

However, Edward had unexpectedly thrown a wrench in the duo’s plan.

‘Did Edward’s actions indirectly change the organization’s plans or cause them to speed things up? Perhaps the organization had already intended to abandon the boss but hadn’t done it for some reason.

‘If that were the case, did his disappearance fulfill the organization’s wishes? Still, these are just speculations since we have no proof.’ Mike felt slightly confused after thinking about it.

He shook his head before suddenly remembering something important.

“But Rick wants you to deliver the result tomorrow.

What will you do about that?” Compared to Mike’s slightly worried demeanor, Lily seemed calm as she smiled.

“Well, I’ll give him what he wants.”

Spoiled by mr. russell chapter 1935 -Lily was not upset nor behaving recklessly.

The truth was that she had already succeeded but had not told anyone about it.

She finally successfully created the latest batch of experimental products just two days ago.

As the success was recent and she was uncertain of how stable the drug was—coupled with the fact that she did not want to hand it to the organization—she did not reveal it to anyone, including Mike.

However, Rick’s attitude today puzzled her.

The man gave the ultimatum as if he knew the experiment had succeeded.

'haven't told anyone, so how did Rick find out? Did he simply give me an ultimatum without knowing about it?' She noticed Mike's confusion and curled her lips into a half-smile.

"I mean, I'll give my all to the experiment today. There is still a batch of experimental products, so I'll know the result tomorrow. As he said, all he wants is the outcome, whether or not it works."

"But if you fail..."

"If I fail, he can just kill me." She shrugged and smiled casually.

"That's the worst he could do."

"I won't let him!"

Mike said solemnly, "I won't let anything happen to you as long as I'm alive."

That was his promise to Alexander, and he was determined to keep it.

"Relax, okay? I'm not going to die so easily!"

Lily smiled, unfazed.

She did not tell Mike the experiment had succeeded because she thought the best way to keep a secret was not to tell anyone about it.

Simultaneously, he would be safer if he did not know about it.

After all, the more Mike knew, the more dangerous things would get for him, especially in a place like the organization.

"Lily..."

Mike could not help but call out her name guiltily.

"I'm sorry for dragging you into this."

Lily shook her head.

"No, we all got dragged into this, so you shouldn't blame yourself. You should already know there's no escaping if they target us. Take Nick, for example. He's young and has done nothing wrong, yet they still target him. So don't shoulder any unnecessary blame, okay?"

Indeed, there was no reason for Mike to blame himself for what had happened. He let out a quiet sigh and nodded.

“The more I spend time with you, the more I understand why Alex fell for you.”

Mike had known Alexander for a long time, and as far as he knew, Alexander was never attracted to anyone, even though many beautiful women threw themselves at him.

Therefore, Mike was astonished to learn about his sudden marriage and was curious about the woman who managed to charm him.

When he later met Lily in Westwood, he did not think much of her, although she was beautiful.

After all, there were many beautiful women with different styles, and as Lily was not Mike’s type, he did not think she was Alexander’s either.

However, he discovered Lily had a unique charm after getting to know her better.

Lily was intelligent, decisive, and calm.

Mike was often no match for her.

‘Sure enough, Alex has good judgment and is much better than me at doing business and judging a woman’

“Thank you for your compliment.”

Lily inclined her head slightly.

“However, it’s not the time for small talk.”

“Yes,”

Mike said solemnly, “Since they’ve abandoned the boss, I doubt they would take much action for him. I guess the organization already knows we did it but hadn’t exposed us because we’re more useful than the boss now.”
