

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 785

This was the truth. It was as if the stars had aligned for Eloise to meet Naomi again.

This all stemmed from Damian's idea of hiring famous models to endorse his product.

Although it was the correct decision, he appeared to have ignored the budget.

If everything was as simple as he thought, why would they need him in the first place? Anyone in the company could have done the same thing.

Budgetary restrictions existed, but Damian also desired to expand his business into international markets.

As a result, all of his costs were cut.

Even the endorsement fees were reduced one by one.

However, he was adamant that in this industry, networking was more crucial than anything else and that the "friends" he made were reputable connections. He was quickly convinced after a quick resume check.

Although the proposed price was lower than the going market rate, he did not suspect anything. He had no idea about Naomi's friendship with Eloise either.

Seeing her sad look, Naomi was silent for a moment before she asked again, "I'm curious. How will my little allergic reaction help you?"

"Of course, it will."

Naomi's hands and said, "Do you still remember nodded, and Eloise continued, "It's simple. The hospital's test report will come out tomorrow, and the

I have to call in effect if she were caught crying

in the fights of the rich and powerful, she had heard stories

expect that they would be ruthless enough to destroy their own

it was still a

Damian

entrusted by Eloise

money, so naturally, she would have

need

Eloise smiled faintly.

be swarmed by reporters tomorrow morning. It's just that you won't look as ruined by the rashes. It was quite a distressing sight, would easily evoke sympathy from people, especially her fans, who would be the most potent

it under control, all they had to do was sit back