Chapter 1719 Disobey

The more they fought, the more upset Sylvester and the other two became. They were three against one person, but they couldn't get the upper hand. To make matters worse, Demon had cut their clothes to shreds, and now they looked like jerks.

Seeing that Trevor had no intention of stepping in to help them, Sylvester shouted, "Mr. Raven, we can't hold on any longer. Come and save us!"

Of course, Trevor who had been watching the fight intently could clearly see that the three of them were about to be defeated. However, he only put on a fierce look and cursed, "You losers! You are three against one person, yet you can't win the fight. You're better off dead!"

Sylvester and the other two men were desperate and exhausted. They couldn't hold on any longer.

On the other hand, Demon had been fighting alone against three fierce killers, and although he was about to win, he was a little tired and his breathing became heavy.

Seeing the time was right to intervene, Trevor suddenly jumped up from behind and kicked Demon to the ground. In a swift motion he then picked up the long saber, and knocked Demon out with its handle.

Sylvester and his two men were finally out of the fight to the death. Now that they were out of danger, their rapid heartbeat slowly slowed. The three killers were exhausted after the fierce fight and all three collapsed on the floor, gasping for air.

Sylvester was furious however, and he questioned Trevor angrily. "Mr. Raven, why were you standing idly aside and just watching us fight to the death with this fierce killer?"

With a cold face, Trevor slowly walked over to Sylvester and looked down at him with contempt. "You have the gall to question me? You are just a bunch of losers! If I didn't intervene just now, you would be dead already!"

Sylvester didn't calm down. His heart rate quickened again as the anger was rising in him. However, he dared not continue to provoke Trevor and just turned his head to the other side.

With Demon incapacitated, the fight between two sides drew to a close.

The outcome of the battle, of course, was Mobius' victory. The Mobius killers were so fierce in the fight that at this moment, the Black Gold Union's front door was littered with corpses and the acrid smell of blood filled the air.

With an expressionless face, Trevor ordered the killers loudly, "Arrest all the members of the Black Gold Union who are still alive! We will send them to the secret prison!"

Sylvester was unhappy with this order and did not hesitate to express his displeasure. With a gloomy face, he said angrily, "Mr. Raven, why do you want to spare those losers?"

Sylvester's heart was filled with hatred after he nearly lost his life in the death fight with Demon. Now, he wanted to kill Demon to avenge himself.

However, Trevor had no intention to let them kill all the members of Black Gold Union. The survivors were still useful to him.

Trevor walked up to Sylvester again and slapped him hard across the face. The slap was so hard that Sylvester was thrown to the ground instantly. With a fierce look on his face, Trevor said coldly, "If you dare to question my order again, you won't have the chance to go back and face Mr. Midnight ever again!"

Sylvester was seething. He glared furiously at Trevor, but in the end, he gave in and didn't challenge Trevor's authority anymore.

The killers of Mobius then began to carry the surviving members of the Black Gold Union away.

During the fight, only one member of Mobius was killed. The rest were either seriously injured or slightly injured, and only Trevor was unharmed.

With the fight outside over, members of the Bradly Organization also withdrew from the villa. Dominic secretly gestured to Trevor, indicating that he had achieved their goal.

Trevor was finally relieved, and he immediately ordered, "Carry all the surviving to the secret prison!"