

Chapter 1954 Henrik's Insistence

Henrik didn't want to waste any more time arguing with Kurt, so he called several security guards and asked them to take Kurt out of the back door of the hotel and beat him up.

While the security guards beat up Kurt as they were instructed, Henrik was the one who hit Kurt the hardest. He had been holding a grudge against Kurt for a long time and now, he finally had the chance to vent his anger. He kicked Kurt hard and cursed, "How dare you cause me trouble? How dare you! Fuck you! You had the nerve to bribe my own employee to help you disrupt my business! I'll teach you a lesson today!"

Groaning and writhing in pain, Kurt curled up with his hands on his head.

When Henrik was tired of hitting Kurt, Trevor then stepped forward and asked Kurt calmly, "Tell me, who asked you to do these things? Is it... Duran?"

Kurt's mouth was filled with blood and he struggled to speak.

He had been colluding with Duran for a long time, and he didn't intend to betray him now.

Seeing that Kurt didn't want to speak, Trevor squinted his eyes. However, he did not choose to do anything to Kurt.

After all, Kurt was not a member of Mobius, so he couldn't torture Kurt just to make him speak.

But he could roughly guess the truth.

He already knew Duran was behind all this. He remembered Duran's expression when he met him in the Wright family. The look on Duran's face then spoke volumes.

Henrik snorted coldly and kicked Kurt again. He shouted angrily, "Fuck off! Get the hell out of here, and wait for your family to go bankrupt!"

Covered in blood and bruises, Kurt left the hotel in a hurry.

He didn't go back home however. Instead, he went straight to the Wright family.

He wanted to explain the situation to Duran, hoping Duran would protect his family.

After Kurt left, Trevor turned to Henrik and asked, "Are you really going to destroy the Larson family?"

At this time, Henrik was still overwhelmed with anger, so he said coldly, "Of course. Do you think I said so just casually? It would be a piece of cake for me to destroy the Larson family!"

Trevor fell silent for a while, and then said, "I suggest that you don't really deal with them. Just let Kurt think you would. It is highly likely that Duran is the one who asked Kurt to do this, and at this time, the situation of the Wright family hasn't been solved yet.

If Duran succeeds in controlling your grandfather, he would get control of the entire Wright family. At that time, you won't be able to do anything to Kurt. I think we should do everything to find out the truth first and help Cecelia regain her freedom. Besides, Duran and Kurt will definitely try to attack you again since they failed this time. You have to be on high alert now."

Trevor's meticulous analysis actually made sense, and after listening to him, Henrik gradually calmed down. He nodded and said, "Okay, I guess I should follow your advice."

Although Henrik said so, he was still unwilling to give up getting even with Kurt and Duran.

He was getting fed up with Duran incessantly plotting against him and figured he had to see his grandfather.

After saying goodbye to Trevor, Henrik hurried back to the Wright family.

He tentatively informed his family that he wanted to make the Larson family go bankrupt.

However, despite the seriousness of the matter, Henrik's grandfather still didn't show up. The only person who showed up was Kenny Wright. Kenny was Henrik's uncle, and he claimed to be the one taking care of Henrik's grandfather.

Hearing what Henrik had in mind, Kenny said calmly, "Okay, I'll convey the message to your grandfather. Wait a minute."

Just then, Duran suddenly said, "Uncle, this situation should be a test for Henrik as the manager of our family's hotel. If he is really competent, he would be able to deal with any situation in the hotel without asking for help whatsoever."

Hearing Duran's words, Kenny stopped in his tracks and said, "Duran, what you say makes sense. Henrik, just put up with it. We can still deal with the Larson family after you prove yourself competent for the position."

Henrik stared at the two people indifferently and sighed to himself. Trevor was right.

He took a deep breath and insisted, "Grandpa should know about what is going on! Uncle, please let him know it. Besides, shouldn't my sister be released now? She has been locked up for so long. Tell Grandpa about that too."

Kenny didn't show any sign of displeasure at Henrik's insistence. He just nodded and said, "Alright then. Wait here. I'll report it to your grandfather."
