

Chapter 1963 Orderly Hierarchy

Seeing that Trevor was once again interfering in their family business, Duran could no longer stand it and snapped, "What goes on in the Wright family is none of your business!"

With a playful smile tugging at the corners of his mouth, Trevor ignored Duran and asked Kenny, "Is Duran speaking on behalf of the Wright family?"

Kenny's face darkened upon hearing Trevor's question. He thought for a while and suddenly, he slapped Duran hard across the face.

The loud sound of the slap startled everyone in the living room and they all fell silent.

Duran was stunned and asked sullenly, "Uncle, why did you slap me?"

Kenny glared coldly at Duran and scolded him, "Trevor is the young master of the Sanderson family, which is one of the most powerful families. Show him some respect!"

Duran's hatred for Trevor grew even more now. However, he didn't dare to show his hatred for Trevor and only lowered his head resentfully.

Henrik also fell into deep thought for a while and he came to the conclusion that Trevor would never do anything to harm him. So, even though Kenny's offer was a tough one, he agreed, "Okay, as Trevor said, if I succeed, you have to release my sister."

Kenny thought for a while and then nodded. However, he didn't really promise Henrik he would release Cecelia. Instead, he said vaguely, "If you succeed, I will plead with the master."

Henrik and Trevor had no objection to that. Just as they were about to leave, Duran said angrily, "I don't agree to this deal. He won't lose anything if he doesn't succeed. We must make a bet! If he doesn't succeed, it will be clear that he isn't competent enough to run the family business. In that case, he'll have to step aside from the family business and stay at home henceforth."

Hearing what Duran said, Trevor laughed scornfully. "The Wright family is so interesting. So collateral members of the family can now speak on behalf of the family? What gives a mere collateral member of the family the nerve to provoke the heir of the family?"

Henrik also sneered and asked Duran, "Duran, you should know your status as a collateral member of this family. But you still had the gall to be provoking me for a long time now. What's wrong with you? Are you trying to overturn the Wright family?"

Seeing that both Trevor and Henrik were questioning Duran, Kenny pulled a long face. He kicked Duran hard, forcing him to kneel down. Then, he scolded him harshly, "Apologize to Henrik now! You must not forget that in the Wright family, there is a well-ordered hierarchy that everyone must respect. If you ever dare to insult Henrik or any member of the direct line of the Wright family again, I will break your leg!"

Duran was helpless. Kenny's ruthlessness towards him made him feel very wronged. He gritted his teeth and apologized to Henrik in spite of himself, "I'm sorry! I was wrong!"

Looking at Duran with contempt, Henrik laughed complacently. He then winked at Trevor and said, "Since he has realized his mistakes, I won't lower myself to his level. Let's go to my garage. I want you to see my new sports cars. Perhaps we can go for a ride later."

Trevor quickly understood that Henrik had something to tell him one on one, so he nodded and said casually, "Okay, let's go then."

Luisa didn't suspect anything. She really thought Trevor was going to see Henrik's new sports car, and she was not interested in it at all. So she stayed back in the living room to wait for them.

Duran looked at the two men walking away, his eyes burning with resentment. He clenched his fists so hard that blue veins popped out on the backs of his hands.

He was dying to teach them a lesson later. Henrik bragged about being from the direct line of the Wright family. Well, he was determined to show them just how powerful the collateral line was.

Duran stood up and was about to walk out when his eyes fell on Luisa who was sitting alone in the living room. He suddenly paused, and an evil smile shone in his eyes.
