

Chapter 1970 Are You Here To Beg For Mercy

---

After handing over the mission to the ChasingGang, Kurt waited alone at home for the news.

He was both anxious and worried.

Several hours passed and he still hadn't heard anything. He couldn't understand why the gang haven't gotten back to him yet.

He really needed to know if they had been able to complete the mission. From time to time he got up and looked around anxiously.

Suddenly, Kurt saw a group of people in the distance. He quickly took out a telescope to have a look and found that it was the construction crew who had betrayed him for Trevor.

Kurt was overjoyed and quickly opened the villa door wide, looking at the approaching group of people condescendingly. He was sure they had come here to apologize and beg for mercy, so he waited.

Probably, the gang he had hired had beaten up this people and out of desperation, they came here to beg for mercy.

The construction team soon arrived in front of the villa.

Kurt looked at them haughtily and said arrogantly, "You guys had the nerve to go against me! Now after suffering for your audacity, you come to apologize to me? It's too late!"

Kurt suddenly looked behind the group, and noticing that they didn't bring the excavator with them, he asked in surprise, "Why didn't you come back with the excavator that I had left there?"

No sooner had he finished speaking than the excavator appeared.

The excavator drove straight into the gate. However, after entering the gate, it didn't stop.

The lawn was ruined. Kurt was shocked.

With his face livid, he pointed at the engines and roared, "Fuck! Are you

The lawn was ruined. Kurt was shocked.

With his face livid, he pointed at the engines and roared, "Fuck! Are you fucking blind? How dare you ruin my lawn? You will have to pay for it!"

Although Kurt was angry on the outside, he was actually a little happy in his heart.

He had been able not only to punish these construction workers, but also got even with Trevor.

He was proud of himself.

With such a huge blow he had dealt on Trevor, his backer Duran would definitely see his value and help him with his difficulties.

Thinking of this, Kurt stood on tiptoe and looked around. But to his surprise, he still couldn't find Trevor.

He stared at the foreman and asked coldly, "Where is Trevor? Why didn't he come? If Trevor doesn't come to apologize, you can all go back! Unless Trevor apologizes to me, I will keep on hiring local mobs to teach you all a lesson. I won't stop until Trevor apologizes to me!"

Kurt paused and thought for a while. Then, he smiled and added, "Was Trevor beaten so much that he couldn't even stand up? He deserves it! But even if he can't stand up, he has to crawl here and apologize to me!"

The construction workers were all holding hammers and shovels. They stared blankly at Kurt who kept talking, and couldn't help laughing. It was as if they were looking at a fool.

On the other side, the man driving the excavator didn't stop. He continued driving forward, crashing the window of the villa completely.

Kurt was furious. He clenched his fists angrily and rushed to the excavator. He slammed the door of the driver's seat and cursed, "Fuck! What are you doing? Stop the engine! Do you know how much this window costs? Can you afford it? If you don't know how to drive such an engine then get the hell out of here!"

At this time, the door of the driver seat was slowly opened and Kurt saw the face which had been haunting him for a long time.

With a smile on his face, Trevor got out of the excavator and looked at Kurt calmly.

"I heard you calling me just now," Trevor said jokingly.
