

Chapter 2000 Poor People Are Not Welcome

Duran didn't stress because he was sure that no one would ever be able to find him. His hiding place was the safest option available.

Because where he was hiding was neither the Wrights' house nor his own.

Instead, he was hiding in a place that no one would ever suspect.

It was a private hospital!

It was the same private hospital Trevor had gone to two days ago to treat his gunshot wound.

When Trevor was taken to the hospital gate, Duran happened to be nearby.

He was the one who was spying on Trevor back then.

"Haha! No matter how you and Henrik search, you will never expect that I hid in a hospital, will you? You will search for me all over the world without success. You idiots!"

Duran was rejoicing when suddenly he had the feeling that maybe he wasn't as safe as he thought.

After thinking for a while, he decided to ask his bodyguards to follow him to collect his stuff from the hospital safe.

In fact, what he was so keen to get from the safe was an injection drug belonging to the Wright family.

This was what that mysterious man had given him a few days ago.

Thinking of the drug, Duran sneered and said to himself, "Once I injected myself with the drug, it wouldn't matter if Trevor found me. He would be no match for me. Humph! Trevor, your arm is injured. How on earth could you defeat me once I have taken the injection?"

What Duran didn't know was that, with the help of hackers, Trevor and Henrik had already located his position thanks to his phone signal.

At this time, Trevor and Henrik were standing at the gate of the private hospital.

Henrik looked at Trevor and asked curiously, "Bro, how do you know that the person we had on the phone was Duran?"

Trevor smiled and explained unhurriedly "When I was sent to the hospital after the attack, I noticed someone spying on us and I clearly saw Duran's back. That day, the hospital security guard said the hospital was sending everyone away because a VIP patient was to come. I connected the dots and realized that this VIP patient could only be the person who tried in vain to get us killed.

The reason why he came to the hospital is because he thinks we will never come to look for him here. So, when the hacker located Duran's telephone signal around the hospital, it became crystal clear that the person we had on the phone was Duran."

Trevor heaved a sigh when he finished speaking

The thing was that he had never thought that Duran would have the nerve to go this far.

After hearing what Trevor said, Henrik clenched his fists in anger.

The two walked into the hospital.

The security guard at the entrance of the hospital was still the one they had met last time. At the moment, he was smoking and chatting with other security guards.

When the man saw Trevor and Henrik approaching he gritted his teeth.

He couldn't understand why Trevor didn't just go directly to the Central Hospital for treatment since he was a big shot.

Despite the fact that the ambulance from the Central Hospital soon arrived and someone who looked like Nasir got out, the security guard was still doubtful.

How could such a young man know Nasir? Moreover, Trevor seemed so familiar with him.

The security guard came to the conclusion that Trevor and Henrik were trying to fool him.

"Hey there! Hold on, young men! Poor people are not welcome in our

As he spoke, he stepped forward to stop Trevor and Henrik.

However, Henrik was in no mood for this. He ruthlessly pushed the security guard away and said in a low voice, "Get out of the way! I'm the youngmaster of the Wright family. You better not get in my way!"

Of course, the security guard didn't believe what Henrik said at all. He sneered and said, "If you really are the youngmaster of the Wright family like you claim, why didn't you tell me the last time we met?"

I'm pretty sure the ambulance you called last time was a fake and that man was just a Nasir lookalike. It's probably another one of those things poor people do nowadays where you pull pranks on people to go viral on the internet."

As he spoke, the security guard pulled out his rubberbaton and turned on his intercom.

"There are two guys at the gate of the hospital causing trouble. I need some people here to kick them out."

As soon as he finished talking, three other security guards rushed to the gate of the hospital and surrounded Trevor and Henrik.

Trevor's patience was wearing thin at this point. He frowned and said coldly, "Get out of the way. Don't make me hurt you."

Trevor had promised Duran he would find him in five minutes, he wouldn't break his promise.

Hearing what Trevor said, the security guard sneered. "Who do you think you are? The hospital is receiving some VIPs at the moment, and no one is allowed to enter. From the clothes you wear, I can tell you are not rich. So it's useless pretending to be a big shot in front of me. Get out of here now. If you don't leave, we will beat you to death!"
