

Chapter 2004 A Mole Within The Police

Trevor was perplexed, and he decided to check the safe to find out the truth.

But before he could, his eyes fell on the broken pieces of the chair that Duran had smashed earlier.

There were burn marks on the debris.

Trevor was even more perplexed, as he didn't remember seeing such marks on the chair when he picked it up to defend himself earlier.

He suddenly remembered that during his fight with Duran, Duran's body radiated incredible heat.

Frowning Trevor looked at the dead body lying on the floor. He had a guess.

Had Duran burned from the inside?

Thinking of this possibility, Trevor crouched down and carefully examined Duran's corpse.

It turned out he had guessed right. Duran's clothes were also seriously burned.

But why was that?

Trevor was trying hard to understand what had just happened. He walked to the safe and looked inside. But to his disappointment, the safe was empty.

It was clear that the safe had been specially used to store the drug for Duran.

The more Trevor tried to get to the bottom of this matter, the more he felt that everything was weird.

He decided that he would think more calmly about this mysterious matter later, because his mind was too muddled at the moment.

When he was about to leave the room, he suddenly noticed that the camera in the room turned in his direction. It seemed that someone was monitoring him.

Trevor's heart skipped a beat.

At this moment, Henrik rushed into the room, sweating profusely.

"Bro, bad news! Several police cars just parked outside the hospital. Shall we go see the police first?"

Just as Henrik was talking, his eyes suddenly fell on Duran's body. A slight frown appeared on Henrik's face and he asked, "How did this guy die?"

Trevor shook his head with a sigh and told Henrik everything. After explaining everything to Henrik, he said with a dark face, "I am pretty sure the reason the police arrived so suddenly is because they have been notified by the mastermind. We can't fight the police. There might even be moles within the police itself. If we try to fight, they will shoot us without hesitation.

Henrik, you weren't here when I fought Duran. So this has nothing to do with you. The police are after me, not you. Once you're outside, I don't want you to do anything reckless. Just follow my lead."

Trevor had barely finished speaking when several police officers broke into the room.

"Put your hands over your head and kneel down! Don't move!" the police yelled.

Trevor complied to the order and knelt down with his hands over his head.

Henrik did as Trevor told him and retreated to the wall. Then, he explained to the police that he had just arrived at the scene, while taking care not to make any sudden movements.

Henrik was very vigilant and he soon noticed a short policeman staring at Trevor. The cop seemed to pull out his gun.

Seeing that, Henrik shouted, "Sir! He didn't resist. Don't shoot!"

The short policeman sneered but stopped in his tracks.

He then removed the handcuffs and violently pulled Trevor's arms behind to handcuff him.

Trevor kept his cool the whole time while hinting at Henrik to secretly take out his mobile phone and record everything.

When Trevor saw that Henrik had taken out his phone, he said loudly, "Sir, I'm innocent! The man lying dead on the floor attacked me earlier and almost killed me several times. It was self-defense. Besides, I didn't kill him!

I also need to mention that my left shoulder is injured and I need to take my medicine on time to prevent the injury from worsening. If you handcuff me from behind, you may worsen my injury. I would be grateful if you could handcuff me from the front."

However, the short policeman ignored Trevor's words and said with a sneer, "Shut up, you murderer! How dare you talk about human rights now? Stay still, or else I would consider you resisting arrest."

The short cop's tone and manner of acting led one to believe that he was the most righteous policeman there was.

In reality, the short cop had evil intentions. He had noticed Trevor's shoulder injury and he had deliberately pulled Trevor's hands behind his back to hurt the shoulder wound.

He hoped that by doing so, Trevor would struggle and that would give him a valid reason to shoot Trevor.

However, Trevor endured the pain in his shoulder and he didn't move at all.

He knew he had to keep his calm and not give the police any reason to shoot him.

Standing aside, Henrik filmed everything. In that moment, he couldn't help but think that Trevor was truly foresighted. After all, Trevor had warned him about everything that was happening now.

Henrik wasn't as composed as Trevor, and the cop's self-righteous attitude irritated him. Unable to keep his cool, Henrik shouted angrily, "Sir, how can you be sure that he is a murderer when there isn't any evidence he killed this man? On the other hand, everyone can clearly see the wound on the back of his left shoulder, yet you deliberately handcuffed him from behind. Besides, Trevor didn't resist arrest. Sir, I suspect that you are abusing your power to achieve your own goals. This isn't law enforcement. This is retaliation."

Of course, Henrik's words annoyed the short cop.

But since Henrik's arguments were so strong, the short cop had to change his strategy.
