

Chapter 2010 Henrik's Birthday Party

Trevor drove out of the car street. At this time, the car street, was full of armed soldiers.

Luisa suddenly thought of the call Trevor made when they were outside the car shop, and she realized something.

It seemed it was Trevor's phonecall that brought the soldiers here.

Although she thought there were things Trevor didn't tell her, she didn't ask. After all, everyone had secrets. No matter what Trevor's secret identity was, the most important thing to her was that she loved him. Their love could overcome anything.

Trevor had noticed the puzzled expression on Luisa's face, and he knew what she was thinking.

With his hands on the steering wheel, he smiled at Luisa and said softly, "I called these soldiers. I needed elite soldiers to deal with the sniper in that building. That's why I called them here."

Luisa was so happy that Trevor had decided to tell her what was going on without her having to ask.

It was enough to show that Trevor truly cared about her and how she felt.

With an affectionate smile, Trevor said to Luisa, "If there's anything you want to ask me, feel free to ask. We don't have to hide anything from each other. The best way to avoid any misunderstandings is to be honest with each other. Anyways, we have already seen each other naked..."

Trevor's smile broadened when he said the last sentence. As for Luisa, his teasing made her feel so shy that her face flushed.

She glared at him but deep down, she was overwhelmed with a feeling of love. With a fake indifferent look on her face, Luisa muttered, "Well... I won't meddle in your business. After all, you may have signed a confidentiality contract with the military, which means you can't talk about these things with anyone, not even me."

Trevor was happy to see that his girlfriend was so understanding

However, his expression soon turned serious and he changed the subject

"After today's assassination attempt, I have the feeling that the backstage manipulator in the Wright family wants to kill both you and me. We must prepare for any eventuality before going to Henrik's birthday party."

Luisa also looked serious. She nodded firmly. "Okay, I'll just do as you say."

Back at the villa, Trevor and Luisa had a rare moment of privacy.

Two days later, Henrik's birthday party was held as scheduled.

Trevor drove the Corvette C3 to the Wrights' house. He naturally went there with Luisa.

Henrik was expecting Trevor and Luisa, so he stood at the gate to welcome them.

Trevor and Luisa soon arrived at the Wright family villa. They parked the car in the huge parking lot and got out. Henrik saw them in the distance as they walked towards the villa.

He hurried over to them at once. When he was close enough he said to Trevor in a low voice, "All the direct descendants of the Wright family have come."

Trevor nodded slightly. He had an idea.

"Henrik, please take us to visit old Mr. Wright," he said suddenly.

He remembered that the aging head of the Wright family also had an aquiline nose.

He thought he could find something if only he could have a close look at old Mr. Wright face.

Henrik figured out what Trevor had in mind, so he nodded and led the way.

The three walked to the banquet hall.

Henrik led them to old Mr. Wright.

The old man was sitting in the high chair in the ancestral temple. His eyes were glassy and his hooked, protruding nose was very visible.

He didn't react at all when Trevor, Henrik and Luisa came in.

It was almost as if he was completely cut off from the outside world.

Standing beside the old man was someone familiar to Trevor.

It was Henrik's uncle, Kenny.

"How are you doing Mr. Wright?" Trevor greeted as he walked forward. He held a health care gift box.

However, old Mr. Wright didn't react. If it weren't for his chest which inflated and deflated with his breathings, one would have thought the old man was dead.

After a long time, the old man nodded slightly.

Kenny moved closer to old Mr. Wright as if he was listening to something the old man was saying.

After a while, Kenny smiled and said, "My father is old and has Alzheimer's disease. But he wants me to tell you, Trevor, that he likes your gift very much."

Trevor suddenly thought of something and he asked tentatively, "Can't the Wright family's medicine cure Alzheimer's disease?"

Hearing that, Kenny sighed pitifully. "We've tried, but it didn't work."

Trevor sincerely sympathized with the old man who was suffering from such a serious illness. He did not hesitate to express his well wishes to the old man. "Mr. Wright, I hope you will be fine soon."

Kenny nodded and seemed to be greatly moved by Trevor's words. He wiped a tear from the corner of his eyes and said earnestly, "Trevor, you are so kind. Henrik is really lucky to have a friend like you."

Trevor said goodbye to the old man and the three of them left. Once outside, Trevor pulled Luisa to the yard of the villa.

After making sure there was no one around, Luisa asked in a low voice, "Trevor, have you found out something?"

Henrik also looked at Trevor expectantly.

Trevor nodded. Just as he was about to say what he had found out, Josue suddenly appeared.

He spent his whole life on the car street, and didn't know much about what was happening in the rest of the world. For example, he didn't know that Henrik and Trevor had a good relationship.

It was only when he saw Henrik and Trevor together today that he realized something.

No wonder Trevor went to buy a car a few days ago.

It turned out Trevor was looking for a gift for Henrik.

Henrik was the true master of the Wright family, and Trevor hoped to buy his friendship with a car.

After all, Henrik had a much higher family status than Trevor.

Josue walked over to the group and asked loudly, "Why are you here, Trevor? If I remember correctly, you bought an old sports car a few days ago, right? Was that a gift for Henrik?"

Josue looked Trevor up and down and sneered.

The fact was that he deeply hated Trevor. Not only had he failed in the task assigned to him, but the mysterious man had also reprimanded him harshly. Josue blamed all his misfortunes on Trevor and hated him because of it.

How he wished he could trample on Trevor!

Josue was so engrossed in his thoughts that he didn't notice that Henrik's face had suddenly turned livid.

As for Trevor, he looked at Josue as if the latter was a fool.
