Chapter 2020 His Backup Arrived

Josue lunged forward, a blazing comet of heat trailing in his wake as if he'd harnessed the sun's fury itself.

Trevor could sense the ground's tremors beneath him.

Josue's punchechoed through the air, an orchestra of thunderouscracks and swirling flames, forcing Trevor to retreat.

Several times, Josue's colossal fist nearly found Trevor's head, the latter narrowly dodgingeach strike to avoid a devastating blow.

Amid Kenny's menacinglaughter, Henrik's desperate cries cut throughthe chaos.

"Kenny, just kill me! I'd trade my life for Trevor's safety! He is not part of the Wright family. No need to end him!" Henrik pleaded, tears streaming down his face, hopelessness consuminghim.

Hearing Henrik's cry, Kenny sneered venomously. "Henrik, my naive nephew! Just so you know, I won't let go of anyone who knows about the drug!"

Josue, a walking furnace, closed in on Trevor.

The intense heat made Trevor perspire profusely, feeling like he was in a furnace.

As Trevor glanced at the banquet's pool, an idea sparked within him.

He bolted, Josue hot on his heels.

With Josue's passing, chairs smoldered with blackened smoke.

The surroundingswidened, and Trevor was inches away from Josue's grasp.

Suddenly, Trevor ducked and rolled, causing Josue's foot to plunge into the pool, dragginghim down by the pull of gravity.

Steam hissed from the pool's surface as Josue's fiery intensity dimmed underwater.

Struggling to resurface, Josue's power weakened.

Despite several attempts, each met with a forceful kick from Trevor, Josue remained submerged.

Witnessing Josue's plight, Trevor sneered.

He felt less terrified than previously since Josue was no longer covered by the hot heat.

"Josue, finish Trevor!" Kenny bellowed, seething with rage.

Trevor, however, had been watching out to prevent Josue from getting ashore and throwing him back into the water. He sneered. "Once Josue's gone, you're done for, Kenny!"

Kenny hissed fearlessly, "It's only a matter of time until Josue leaves the swimming pool! Get this right Trevor, you won't be able to kill Josue that easily when the drug has changed his body! Josue will be able to return to the ground once you leave the pool. And when he does that, you're finished!"

Trevor smirked. "You think I've run out of tricks?"

Kenny was stunned and then laughed. "You're a goner. What else can you do? You are only prolonging the inevitable!"

Just as he was about to finish speaking, a squad of specially trained soldiers charged onto the Wrights' house!

Jasmine and the Klein team led the charge.

Among them stood Luisa!

Everyone was brandishing their firearms with aggression!

Trevor shrugged, a smirk playing on his lips. "Seems like my backup's arrived, huh?"
