Chapter 2021 Trevor Was Trapped

Kenny cowered in the shadows, a shiver runningdown his spine at the sight of a battalion of armed soldiers assembling in the courtyard of the Wright family's sprawling mansion.

"Why did the army show up so soon?!" he muttered to himself. He had activated a signal jammer, which meant that no communication devices could have functioned within the walls of the Wrights' house.

By the poolside, Trevor playfully nudged Josue back into the water as he struggled to come out.

"Kenny, you believed your scheme went unnoticed, huh? Come on, your disguise isn't fooling me. I'd tipped off the army before coming back." Trevor disclosed with a grin.

Luisa, clad in bulletproof gear, rushed over, brandishinga gun.

The Klein action team members hurried over. They were all taken aback when they saw Josue, who had an intimidating appearance.

Jasmine sought Trevor's advice on what they should do.

"Test whether the bullets can penetrate his skin with a rifle," Trevor ordered the Klein team.

As expected, bullets barely scratched Josue's skin, provingfutile against his seemingly impenetrable skin.

"Bring out the big guns!"

With that, Trevor gave the command for Henrik and several members of the Klein action team to follow him.

He was goingfor that culprit, Kenny!

"Don't fret, Trevor. We'll protect Luisa. You focus," Jasmine reassured him.

The Klein team bound Josue tightly with iron chains in the pool before retreating, firing a howitzer.

Explosions tore the pool apart, showering the area with shrapnel.

When the dust settled, Josue lay lifeless, his body sinking into the blood-tainted pool.

The sight left Jasmine and the squad dumbfounded.

It took a howitzer to take down that monster.

They lauded Trevor's bravery.

There's no way they could have kept that beast in the pool.

"Henrik, does your family mansion have a backup power room? Where is it?" Trevor asked.

He surmised the Wrights' house mirrored the Sandersons' old castle, potentially housing dual power systems. Even after the generator room blast, surveillance and audio systems remained operational.

If he were Kenny, cutting the backup power after a failed plan would sow chaos, perfect for an escape.

Just as Henrik started detailing the backup power room's location, darkness descended abruptly.

"Block the power room! Now!" Trevor yelled, knowing Kenny was prepping to bolt.

With the Klein team, Trevor hurried, barricading the power room exit.

He then entered the power room with Henrik.

He and Henrik stormed the darkened path.

Through Henrik's phone torch, they spied two figures.

It was Kenny and Cecelia, who was knocked out by Kenny.

"Kenny! Stop! Let her go!" Trevor hollered, giving chase alongside Henrik.

Kenny's hysterical shouts echoed. "You are no match, Trevor! Ordinary folks like you can't take me down! I'll be back. Just watch!"

Bolting with Cecelia, Kenny vanished around a corner.

Henrik, consumed by worry for Cecelia, sprinted after Kenny.
Trevor's inherited Murray family martial arts sharpened his senses, even in the dark.
He spotted a lurking figure as Henrik neared the corner.
Trevor sprung to attention as he noticed Henrik was almost at the corner.
"Henrik! Hold up!" Trevor grabbed Henrik.
But in the next moment, he felt a breeze beside him.
His gunshot wound, still raw on his left shoulder, slowed Trevor's dodge.
Something stung him in his shoulder!
It was a medical injection.
Henrik, stunned, rushed to Trevor's aid.
Kenny seized the chance, fleeing with Cecelia.
"Ha ha! Trevor, even you can't stomach the Wright family's drug. You're a goner!"
Kenny's cackles faded, and Trevor's consciousness blurred by the second.
