Chapter 2023 Finding Kenny

Trevor urged Luisa to stay at the Central Hospital.

Recognizing that Trevor might become distracted if she accompanied him, Luisa promptly agreed. Yet, as Trevor departed, she couldn't help but repeatedly tell him to be careful.

Upon leaving Central Hospital, Trevor hailed a taxi and went to Ironmont Hospital.

This private hospital held significance as it was where Duran had previously hidden himself.

During that time, Trevor noticed something strange.

Given Henrik's status, it seemed implausible for him to reserve the entire Ironmont Hospital exclusively for his use, thereby sidelining regular patients.

On the other hand, Duran, who had a lesser standing than Henrik, had somehow managed to reserve the entire Ironmont Hospital exclusively for himself.

Trevor hadn't investigated deeper earlier because he was unaware of the puppet master behind the scenes.

Now armed with the knowledge of Kenny's involvement, Trevor pieced together the puzzle.

It dawned on him that Ironmont Hospital likely belonged to Kenny. This could also explain why there was a safe in the hospital that seemed out of place.

Exiting the vehicle, Trevor noted the conspicuous absence of anyone on the hospital premises.

Even the vigilant security guards stationed at the entrance had mysteriously vanished.

Undeterred, he entered the deserted hospital unimpeded.

Trevor meticulously combed through the hospital's interior, only to find the first floor devoid of any signs of life or useful clues.

Unperturbed, he ascended to the second floor.

When he reached the corner, he saw a figure sitting at the top of the stairs.

It was none other than Kenny.

With a disdainful glance, Trevor said, "So, you are here after all. Hand over Cecelia, and I'll grant you a less painful death."

Nonchalantly seated on the stairs, Kenny looked down at Trevor. "I didn't expect you to find me here. It seems I have underestimated your attention to detail, Trevor. But your biggest mistake is coming alone. Once injected with the Wright family's drug, you will become delirious. As long as no one disturbs me, I can control you at will! Before you fall under my control, I want to know how you found this place."

Remaining composed, Trevor replied, "Your oversight was allowing Duran to become an honored guest and pressuring the hospital to turn away other patients. As far as I know, his status couldn't prompt Ironmont Hospital to make such a drastic decision. With your exposed identity, deducing your hiding place wasn't difficult."

Unfazed, Kenny applauded mockingly. "Impressive. You are now considered a threat in my book, Trevor. You are qualified. You are right. This is my drug research facility. The companion of the deceased assailant I killed at the banquet became my experimental subject. I'll admit that you are smart, Trevor. You are in the top three among people I have encountered. Unfortunately, I only need compliant tools, not smart ones. It's all over now!"

Suddenly, Kenny's expression became weird. Thinking he had control over Trevor's mind, Kenny snapped his fingers and coldly ordered, "Go to the third floor and bring Cecelia out. We are leaving Dreles!"

Thinking victory was assured, Kenny noticed Trevor hadn't moved for a long time.

Frowning, he snorted, "Trevor, why are you not listening to your master?"

He believed he had already controlled Trevor's mind.

However, a cold smile suddenly appeared on Trevor's face. "So, you have hidden Cecelia on the third floor."

Kenny was shocked when he heard Trevor's words. "Trevor... You are not under my control?! How is that possible? I have tested the drug's effects countless times! The data can't be wrong!"

With a cold smile, Trevor replied, "Kenny, I can't decide if you are smart or stupid. If I were delirious, how could I know you were hiding here? Your wish has come true. It's all over now!"
