

Multiverse 471

Chapter 471: The 2nd form

And as the fight continued in the air between Yamamoto and Mephisto with Lucifer, the Gotei 13, Midnight Sons and Daughters ran havoc on the battlefield. With every captain one side of the battlefield killing uncontrollably. And after 10 minutes of killing, the numbers were only in a few hundreds now.

They had been highly efficient and effective. All of the battlefield now looked as if it was struck by disaster. Some places there were huge gashes on the surface, while others looked like it was frozen thousands of years ago. Such scenes were all over the battlefield.

"You think you have won. This is my dimension and I am the God here!!" Mephisto said as he saw that almost all his subordinates, vampires and Dracula were dead. He transformed himself into a huge figure that was a few hundred metres in height.

Now he looked more menacing and scary. With huge horns like antlers and red eyes. He looked more ugly than Trigon ever was. The Gotei 13 and the Midnight sons didn't expect that he would become this large.

As he became huge all the remaining demons which had been putting up the last struggle just died away in their positions, as Mephisto sucked all the remaining souls to make himself more powerful. Since the people who came here were very powerful and had a strong soul he couldn't do that.

Though he had powers over the dimension, he didn't have too much power on souls. It was for this reason, he always tried to bind souls in contracts like he does with Ghost Rider.

"So this is his final form?" Wanda said looking at Mephisto who had become so tall now.

"I guess so. Hope he doesn't pull a Freiza on us." John said with a laugh as they all looked at the huge humanoid monster who was growling.

"Old man, do you have any juice left? This fight will become ugly now." Lucifer said to Yamamoto. Yamamoto on the other hand just looked at the Gotei 13 squad and said.

"Captains, you can lift the limiter. And you are allowed to use the higher form."

"Huh!!"

"Eh!!"

"Damn.. I was waiting for this instruction. If I go out of control, bring me in one piece. Don't want to have body parts missing." Kenpachi said at the end in a grave tone.

"The old man is getting serious. I hope it ends fast, or else our future home will suffer."

The Midnight Sons and Daughters faces had a shine because they were going to see the 2nd form or as they called it.

Bankai!!

All the captains used shunpo and stood in the air behind Yamamoto. Including Urahara, Yoruichi, Isshin and Ichigo.

Except for Ukitake all were behind him. His body wasn't suitable for a huge fight such as this and thus he was abstained. (Ukitake never showed his bankai. Sorry about that)

"Let's get this party started." Kyoraku said and then all the captains together shouted, including Yamamoto.

"Bankai!!"

And all their swords changed in a matter of seconds. Byakuya let go of his sword, Rukia's whole clothing changed as she looked like a princess with white clothing all over, Zarak Kenpachi's sword changed so did his body. He looked more like a demon now with his weird shaped huge sword.

Toshiro's half of the body was covered in ice. Kyoraku didn't activate his bankai as it cuts both ways and if he inflicted a damage on the enemy he would be hurt too. The situation right now didn't call for that. Unohana too opened her bankai and a vicious red liquid poured out from her blade. And wherever the liquid flowed it destroyed the surroundings.

By that time other captains too opened their bankai. Most of the midnight sons and daughters were surprised by the bankai of Rukia, Unohana and Kenpachi. They had never done that before. This was the first time. Ichigo's shikai was already something the people hadn't seen before with two blades and now his bankai was attaching the two blades together. His whole body and his dress was a contrast of equal black and white like his bankai which had two colours.

Tensa Zangetsu.

And they were surprised to say the least. especially Unohana's. She belonged to the healing division but her bankai was of destruction.

But the highlight was the bankai of Yamamoto.

As he opened his bankai, the whole surrounding temperature rose by various degrees, sucking out the moisture that was in the air. His bankai was so powerful that all had to move away from him.

"This is his bankai? Damn.. he doesn't need a sword to swing. Just releasing his bankai is enough to kill even the superpowered humans." Mordo said as he got excited. He was a huge fan of bleach and their maintenance of world order thus he followed it very strictly.

"My friend, you haven't even seen the whole picture." John said.

(I am explaining this because many of you might not have followed the thousand year blood war arc and their new bankais)

Chapter 472: East, West, North and South

"Longsword of the Remnant Flame, East"

Yamamoto shouted as he used shunpo to attack the body of Mephisto. Like all others he too felt the heat of this old man and his instincts told him that if he didn't dodge it would create a huge problem for him.

And thus he ducked using his full speed but the sword tip still touched his hand. And what the Mephisto feared happened. He watched in horror as his hand got obliterated to nothingness.

His whole fucking hand was gone!!

"Fuck! What the hell was that?" Geralt asked.

"His bankai has 4 forms. This is his first form. East. This ability concentrates the intense flames of the sword along the tip of the blade. It neither burns nor erupts, but anything it touches is eradicated to nothingness." John explained to everyone what this bankai was from far away.

"John, I have just found my new love. I am off." Phoenix said in a sweet tone as she flew off to the side of Yamamoto to be his host. John was surprised that Phoenix actually left to be the host of Yamamoto though he knew that it was temporary. She was just teasing him and honestly he didn't care.

Because at the end Yamamoto was his summon and in a very weird way he was still the main host of Phoenix Force.

Dane placed his hand on John's shoulders and said

"I am sorry for your loss."

"She left temporarily and she will be back." John replied.

Meanwhile, while Mephisto lost his hand, he couldn't grow it back. No matter how he tried. The East form literally blasted his hand into nothingness, never to grow again. Mephisto screamed in pain but seeing it as an opening, Rukia attacked.

And this time at his feet. Rukia's bankai was special. Her bankai could reach absolute zero temperature, which could be said to be the reverse side of Yamamoo's bankai but she could only maintain it for a few seconds. So seeing the opening she attacked at his feet.

Freezing his foot. She was still not so adept with bankai so the range was not so large as the Commander's but still the absolute zero did its job, breaking away the foot of Mephisto.

"You little ants!!!"

Mehisto shouted as he vomited acidic fire on The Gotei 13 and others. And this was where Phoenix came into play as she covered all of them by her fire, protecting everyone from any harm.

"Old man let me help you." she said as she flew inside his body. Yamamoto's body jerked for a second before calming down.

If the temperature was bearable now all had to leave for at least 1 km away to even stand. His body gave so much heat that even Lucifer couldn't help but say

"This heat is more than the depth of hell I came from."

John and the other Midnight Sons and Daughters too backed off with the other captains.

"John, what did you give our teacher?" Ukitake asked as they were curious what was this fire bird that entered the commander and made him more dangerous.

"That is Phoenix Force. I am her host and she holds the life force of the multiverse which is unlimited. And yes she is one of the local gods here." John explained to them shortly about the origin of the fire bird.

Everybody looked calm except for Zaraki who jumped onto Mephisto. His bankai made him uncontrollable and had immense hunger for bloodthirst. He had more physical strength and even though his body burnt due to the heat of his commander he didn't seem to care.

He just wanted Mephisto to bleed.

And blood he spilled, as he made more gashes on the feet of Mephisto as he got distracted by the immense heat of Yamamoto.

"This idiot." Shinji shouted.

"Let me bring him back. You all should relax now I think. Yamamoto alone will be able to handle him." John said as he turned himself into an alien.

Ben's favourite alien.

Feedback.

The alien that can absorb any kind of energy attacks and reflect it back with the same if not more intensity. This allowed the alien to be invulnerable in almost all kinds of energy attacks. And since there was only heat in the battlefield, this was the most powerful weapon here.

Saying that he went straight to bring back Zaraki. His bankai made him lose sanity and he was turning more into a demon and thus he needed to be brought back before he did more harm to himself rather than Mephisto.

Actually all had been calculated wrong. Everyone thought Yamamoto wouldn't be able to handle Mephisto by himself, including the Commander himself. But with the addition of the Phoenix Force on his body, Yamamoto felt pretty sure he alone was enough for the Lord of this dimension.

Thus he indicated all to leave as his fire was getting hotter than it ever was.

Chapter 473: East, West, North and South (2)

John used the heat emitting to absorb inside his body and forcefully took away Kenpach while using a heat blast on him which he absorbed while reaching his place. Kenpachi was already very much injured so that hit made him unconscious.

John then took him in his arms and brought back to the team. Unohana had already released her bankai so that she could treat Zarakī. After all, Unohana was the first kenpachi.

Long before Zarakī was one!!

After Zarakī was brought back his bankai was released and thus he was being treated by Unohana.

As John was being a small rat, Yamamoto was being the elephant as he used another form of his bankai.

"Longsword of the Remnant Flame, South"

And in an instant, skeletons started emerging. Impaling the tip of his sword into the ground, Yamamoto called upon the corpses and ashes of the dead who were killed by his flames to come forth and fight on his behalf. It looked terrifying as thousands of dead people started to come. Mephisto was already in pain as he was lying on the ground. And the corpses started to climb his body while giving gashes on his body.

Mephisto really looked miserable now. The heat and the constant barge of Zarakī and now the skeletons had started to overwhelm him.

"Honestly, I feel bad for Mephisto. All he has been receiving is pain." Ciri said.

"He deserved it the moment he thought of touching my daughter." Geralt said without a shred of sympathy.

"Longsword of the Remnant Flame, West"

If the temperature before had been unbearable, now it was fatal. This bankai form allowed Yamamoto to take his body temperature to 30 million degrees Celsius. Actually it should have been 15 million degrees but the addition of Phoenix Force allowed him to reach a high temperature. And for the first time he didn't use his sword to assault Mephisto.

He used his own hands to punch him.

Mephisto after much struggle was finally able to get up only to be punched and kicked in his face by two hands which had a temperature of 30 million degrees. Each punch and kick melted his skin and even the bones that it touched.

"Why does every old man in your animes are so powerful John?" Blade couldn't help but ask. John shrugged his shoulders. He really didn't know why but all major plots in anime had overpowered old men and Yamamoto was one of them.

But Mephisto was not someone to take a beating without retaliating. He finally managed to get up and block the attacks of Yamamoto, though he was still getting hurt. Before it was his face now it was hands and abdomen.

It looked gruesome but at the end Mephisto was finally able to get away from Yamamoto by flying away with his almost severed wings. Yamamoto didn't chase him. He just brought his sword which he had sheathed before.

"Longsword of the Remnant Flame, North:"

As Mephisto was flying away Yamamoto used his last form of bankai which was a slash of concentrated fire and heat which incinerates whatever it touches out of existence. This attack was again powered by the Phoenix Force.

And the slash looked more like a flying bird as it hit Mephisto in his back. Mephisto, who was close to death bed, couldn't hold the attack back anymore. In this attack Yamamoto used almost all his power and thus it just incinerated him.

And slowly the whole body of Mephisto just burnt away. And adding insult to the injury all the other captains used their most powerful attacks of their bankai at Mephisto. And the Midnight Sons and Daughters helped in this.

They wanted to make sure this time Mephisto dies for sure after a long struggle. All the attacks proved too much for him and finally his whole body either melted, burnt or chopped away in pieces at the end.

Red viscous blood spilled everywhere and the whole dimension felt like it had dimmed a lot after his death.

"Phew, finally he is dead." Dane said as he sighed. This was his first serious fight and it turned out to be the Lord of Hell himself. Though he couldn't contribute much, at least he participated.

"He shouldn't be dead." John said, spoiling everyone's mood in an instant.

"What? We just separated his body from limbs to limbs. He is more than dead."

"Dead his body might be, alive his soul is." John said as he activated his Yoda mode.

"Fuck!!" All screamed in unison.

"hahaha... You are right, you ants. You are in hell. No matter what you can't kill me. Only destruction of the whole dimension would kill me. You can never kill me." Mephisto's voice echoed everywhere. Though he had lost his body he could still speak.

"Oh. Famous last words!!" came a loud voice from high up in the air.

When all looked up they saw 5 people with the same outfit as the captains but looked more grand and exquisite.

Chapter 474: The King

"Huh!!"

"What the actual fuck.."

"Who are these people?"

"Tche.. They are here too.. Show off... Coming at the end.."

"Assholes.."

"Wait, you know these people?" Marc could not help but ask the Captains who had different reactions from them. None of the Midnight Sons and Daughters knew of these new people, except for John.

"Yes. They are the assholes of our Seireitei." Mayuri said.

"You mean a bigger asshole than you?" Wanda asked.

"Yes." came the reply but not from Mayuri but from Urahara.

"They are the 0th squad of Seireitei. The Royal Guards of the Soul King." John replied this time because these Captains were never going to acknowledge that the Royal Guards were better than them. Their egos were too high up for them to accept.

"Royal Guards.. That's new.. never heard of them.. You knew about them?" Strange couldn't help but ask John to which he nodded.

"Then why didn't they show up for Aizen?" Mordo asked as he was confused. These Royal Guards looked like they were more powerful than the Captains,

No offence!

"They are the Royal Guards and only for the protection of the Soul King. They are not supposed to attack. Only when the Soul King's interest is affected would the Royal Guards act." John explained their origin in the simplest ways possible.

"You are late." Yamamoto said in his same old tone. All of these Royal Guards were under him once.

"We saw that you are able to handle him perfectly. Don't want to take away your thunder lest your precious captains accuse us of taking all the credit." Ichibe, leader of the 0th division said.

As everybody was confused, the other four officers of the 0th division brought out the sealed Soul King.

Yes, Soul King!! The being that was responsible for the maintenance of Soul Society, Human World and Hueco Mundo in the manga.

That was the plan of John. He wanted to use the power of Soul King to assimilate the broken soul of Mephisto and seal him inside the same seal as Soul King forever and replace Soul King as the controller of the dimension.

John never understood how the Soul King worked but the powers of him were undeniable. Since there was no Yhwach here, he could easily command the Soul King to take over the soul of Mephisto.

The other people who looked at the sealed person who didn't have arms or legs were confused, because like the 0th squad they had no idea who this sealed being was.

Senjumaru, the 4th officer of the 0th squad, used her robotic hands to open the seal of Soul King. Though it wouldn't be opened fully, a little bit would be fine to assimilate the broken soul of Mephisto.

The moment a crack came at the seal, an invisible Reitsu pressure enveloped the entire Hell. Mephisto was angry about the emergence of the new people and he was thinking of making some demons and sending them to hunt these people. He had lost his body and he needed time and souls to make his body again.

He was in his own world and making plans to counter attack, but that Reiatu pressure that came from the Soul King woke up from his daydreams. And then the pain came!!

The pain of getting his soul sucked away by something.

"No.. No.. What is this? Who is this? What is happening?" Mephisto screamed. His screams of pain were audible in all of Hell.

"So it is working." Ichibe smiled when he said that. All of Soul Society and John were baking on this from the start.

His soul.

And souls were the best thing that the Soul Society had the greatest proficiency in, or else the whole name of Soul Society would be just a blot. John knew that killing his body wouldn't do shit to Mephisto. Only his soul was what he was after.

"No.. Please stop.. I will do anything for you, whoever you are... I will be your servant.. But please stop." Mephisto as he noticed his soul was getting totally sucked away now in full speed inside a seal.

"That's a tempting offer. Don't you think? An ancient elder God begging to be a servant." John said.

"Yeah. Even I am tempted. The knowledge he might possess would be unimaginable." Strange said.

"If only he was a little honest all his life, maybe we would have considered it." Mordo said as the screams and wailing stopped after a few seconds. And the moment the screaming stopped the whole red colored skies and land changed.

The red colored hue that was all over the place by a distinct white colored surrounding. Even that land looked a light shade of white under the white skies.

"That was fast. I thought he would struggle more." Mordo said.

John meanwhile was checking his system if there was anything wrong with Soul King. If Soul King had a problem then he would have no other ways to handle Mephisto, other than destroying the whole dimension itself but it might create imbalance on Earth.

Chapter 475: A dimension conquered

Then Senjumaru and Oetsu (0th division, 3rd officer) sealed Soul King again completely. John actually had to spend 6 billion, the last of his fan values to bring out the 0th squad as he had never shown them in the anime as their anime was never released. (It will release this year around October)

For this reason he had to spend more fan values, like he would have to spend for Yhwach and others. And with that spending spree he was officially bankrupt.

Everybody sighed in relief when the whole scenery changed. It meant that Mephisto was gone and John's system too notified that everything was in order.

"Phew!! We came out victorious at the end." Dane said as he sat on his place after sheathing his sword. Whenever he used his sword it would prove to be a burden so he needed to use it carefully.

"This was a long fight." Triss said.

"And a fight where we almost did nothing." Mordo complained.

"Well in cases like these we are weak." Strange said.

Yamamoto finally came down and all of Seireitei bent their knees for him, as that was a ritual. Seeing this everybody else bent their knees, even John himself. He deserve that kind of respect, especially after killing such an ancient being almost single handedly

Though it was weird showing such kind of respect for his own summon, he never felt his ego or his respect would be hurt if he did that. Respect needed to be earned not forcefully shoved down the throats of someone. Of course, Lucifer didn't bend the knee as he wasn't Jon Snow!!

"Zaraki, where is your haori?" Those were the first words of Yamamoto after he came down. All the other people, including the Midnight Sons and Daughters, shuddered hearing the question of Yamamoto. They knew Zaraki was up for scolding.

Poor Zaraki. He was half dead! And now mental harassment would be added to it.

"Uhh. Head Captain.. He lost it in his bankai form." Yachiru spoke up to protect her precious captain while sitting on the back of the same captain! Being a burden!!

"Idiot. Why do you even use bankai when you can't control it?" Yamamoto spoke in a very loud tone of reprimanding but the tone was so loud that all the other people present felt like they were being scolded.

Even the 0th division squad was silent and didn't interfere. They knew that they needed to keep their mouth shut in this.

"Head captain, can we get to the haori part after we settle our homes?" Unohana said as she came forward to defend Zaraki. Phoenix Force who was inside Yamamoto flew out and entered Zaraki, healing him in an instant.

Zaraki was surprised to see this but still didn't speak a word. More words would mean more scolding.

"Old man, you can continue with your scolding. These students need a proper education." Phoenix spoke for all to hear. John, hearing this, had a palm on his forehead. He never knew that Phoenix had such a naughty side of her as she never showed.

"You see!! You disrespected the Soul Society in front of foreigners. After the establishment of Soul Society here, Zaraki will be responsible for all the cleaning." Yamamoto said.

John meanwhile was eyeballing Phoenix because he thought she was being over courageous here but didn't call her out. Phoenix actually went on to heal everyone. And even sat on the shoulders of Senjumaru.

She was the previous captain of Fourth division which was under Unohana now so she represented the medical department of Soul Society so Phoenix had a separate liking for her. Senjumarū too petted the head of Phoenix as she thought that the bird was cute but also knew that the bird was responsible for making Yamamoto young again.

Phoenix had such a huge liking for Yamamoto that he made him younger. He didn't have white beard and eyebrows anymore. He looked young and his beard had turned black.

Nobody questioned this as all attested this change to Phoenix. Even John was surprised that Phoenix voluntarily gave life force to Yamamoto. Finally after all the formality was done for Yamamoto, he waved his hands to bring the Seireitei and place it on this dimension.

Of course it was John who directed him to do this!!

Seireitei appeared out of nowhere and was placed in Hell, changing the whole nature of the dimension altogether. The place which didn't have any plantation was now full of trees and even animals and birds.

All were in awe by this sudden change but all of Gotei 13 were happy to see their old home in front of their eyes.

"So your home is here." John said as he needed to take the first step and finish the last portion of this whole drama.

"Yes. The deal which we did before still stands. Give us some time to settle. We will come to your place to finish the deal which we decided on before." Yamamoto said to John.

Chapter 476: The prisoner

"Phoenix are you coming with us?" John finally asked.

"Can I stay here for sometime? I really like it here." Phoenix Force tweeted while sitting on the shoulders of Yamamoto. John raised his eyebrows when she said that.

"You can keep your God with us. She will be safe here." Yamamoto said as he too loved being with her.

"It's not her safety I am concerned about, it's about the storm she is going to raise with her presence in the soul society. I will be hated by the captains later." John shrugged his shoulders when he said that.

"Oye.. From which angle am I a problem giver. For all I care, it's you who gives me problems." Phoenix protested.

"You can rest assured. The Soul Society will be open to her and she will have enough freedom." Yamamoto said. John nodded as he wore his helmet. He hardly used the helmet recently as he always used Phoenix Force.

It was going back to basics for John.

"Alright, we are off. We will be waiting on the Ring. Phoenix, show them the way." John said. Phoenix nodded to that and then John vanished with his team of Midnight Sons and Daughters.

They were back at the Ring. And all looked exhausted. All of them wanted to know better about Seireitei and were curious about the deal but they were more tired. Being at place which smelt like sulfur always in itself was torture.

So right now they needed rest. And John too wanted a little sleep after all the killing and slaughter he did before. Though they were not exactly living people, they still had flesh and blood.

Everybody went to rest and even the Moon Knight trio went to the guest rooms of the Hall of Justice headquarters to rest. GAIA guided them to their place of stay.

When John returned to his home, he was greeted by his children who flew and hugged him. He was really grateful that he had so many children at his home to elevate his mood. He had a hard day and all he needed right now was love.

He greeted each and every one of them, and by now some could even speak.

"Dad, why can't I smell the Phoenix in you? Did she leave us?" one child spoke in a very teary tone.

"Uh.. No no.. your sister just went for a vacation. She will be back soon." John assured his child while thinking

"Dammit Phoenix, you better come back fast. My children will kill me if they come to know you have found another good host."

John after assuring his children went to the bath. He needed to cool himself off. That much drama and acting in a single day was too much for him.

No wonder actors are paid so highly!!

After a proper bath and food. He went to sleep and since it was night his children too joined him in his sleep. Later the whole week went as usual and John got busy with his children. And since he didn't have the phoenix force now, he gave his children food from his phoenix form of Marco.

Though it wasn't like their sister, it still worked. Meanwhile, Moon Knight and others applied for their exams of Avengers as they had decided to join the team.

Wayne, who had been the main recruiter, carefully studied them and later allowed them to join the team. Their Avengers team was getting bigger day by day.

And after a week, suddenly there was an alarm at the Hall of Justice.

"Eh!! Who is bold enough to come to the Hall of Justice without invitation. Guilty Spark!!" John shouted at the end and the images started to appear of who had come. And seeing the people he wasn't surprised by their arrival.

"GAIA have the Avengers been notified?" John asked.

"Yes. They are on their way. Shall I teleport you there?" GAIA asked.

"Ummhmm..." John said.

"Dad, take us with you. We want to see your workplace." said a child while sitting on his shoulder.

"Uhh.. Are you sure you want to go with me?" John was skeptical. His world was dangerous so he didn't want his children to be affected now. And moreover, if his father came to know that he took all of his children to the Hall, he would probably sue him in court for child endangerment.

"Please dad, we have heard so much about you from the Spirit. We want to go." the child insisted.

"Ok fine I will take you. But don't tell your grandpa or your mother. I don't want to be homeless." John said in a low tone.

"Promise." all the children called out unisonly.

"GAIA, teleport us away." John and then all of them were in the Hall.

The people who came to the Hall were the Gotei 13 captains.

They were here to complete the imaginary deal they had with John.

Transfer of a dangerous criminal to the Avengers.

Aizen Sosuke.

Chapter 477: Transfer

Yes, that was the imaginary deal that John had made with the Souls Society. Aizen would be transferred to the Avengers while Seireitei would get a place to live, which was the hell dimension.

And now they were finally here to complete the deal which they had agreed upon.

All of the captains including the Head Captain, Ichigo, Sado, Uryu, Orihime, Kazui Kurosaki (Ichigo and Orihime's child) and Ichigo's whole family arrived. When all the Avengers returned back to see what the fuss was about they were dumbfounded.

They thought that it was some enemy, but it turned out to be the big-shots of Seireitei. And for the first time John didn't inform the arrival of new people.

"You never said that they were coming." Tony accused John who had just appeared with all his children.

"Some of us knew. Some didn't." John replied while shrugging his shoulders, while all his children were overwhelmed to see so many people appearing out of nowhere. Though his children knew of the Avengers and their feats, they hardly saw them.

After their births, once or twice the members of the Avengers came to meet them but they never came together. But here it was different. They flew around to look at every one of them but in the end they were attracted to Yamamoto.

They could smell the Phoenix in him, so they approached him. And Phoenix, who missed the children, came out to play.

"Did you just lose the Phoenix Force to this old man?" Barry couldn't help but ask.

"Sadly yes, but I think I will get her back today. Let's go inside shall we?" John replied. All nodded their heads and went in. Kazui was also very much interested in playing with John's children so he rather joined John's children.

All took their seats at the Hall of Justice, while the Captains took their guest seats.

"I know many of you are surprised by their arrival but very recently we had a fight in Hell...." John proceeded to tell them the whole process and their involvement in a massive battle.

"This is unfair, you never spoke of this." Tony complained.

"This battle involved magic so we didn't want to take any people who had no knowledge about it. His dimension was really scary to be honest when we got there." John replied.

"At least could have informed us from before." Clark said as he too thought that what John and his so-called secret team did was dangerous.

"Well, maybe next time we will take you. For now let us complete the deal." John said to change the accusations and the topic. He knew that he too was up for some complaints later after the meeting of not taking the Avengers with them.

"We are here to transfer Aizen to your prison as we think he is too dangerous for us." Yamamoto said. Hearing this almost all the Avengers gulped in their throats as they knew Aizen was a whole new level for everyone here.

Aizen was brought to the room and his whole body was wrapped in white and black bandages. With only one eye and mouth open and the rest of the body totally wrapped up. (The same way he was shown in the Blood war arc when he was imprisoned)

"Oh.. So this was a prison transfer.. From one hypocritical place to another.." Aizen said.

Phoenix, who was now back at John's shoulders after playing around, squinted her eyes and looked at Aizen and said.

"A prisoner who has the audacity to try and hypnotise us."

All the Avengers and the Captains had a surprised face when she said that. They didn't expect that even after being imprisoned he would be able to hypnotise people and could have even succeeded if it wasn't for the involvement of Phoenix and the world laws.

"An interesting bird." Aizen said as his face too was covered up by Yamamoto. He was too dangerous to even let him speak!!!

"He will always be under your eyes always. I hope you can make sure that he doesn't hurt anyone anymore. His presence in the Soul Society is itself a dangerous thing. Here the electronic beings of yours can look after him and thus be away from any kind of manipulation. He can manipulate the soul but not the beings which never had one to begin with." Ichigo said. He and Urahara were the first people to confine him so they care about him more.

Everybody nodded their heads while Clark said

"Sosuke Aizen. On the crimes of killing all the members of Central 46, Ichimaru Gin and creating havoc in another universe, you will be imprisoned till death. Everybody in favour raise their hands."

And unsurprisingly all rose their hands. They understood why Soul Society had fear of Aizen and wanted to get rid of him. Since he couldn't be killed it was better to just throw him away.

Chapter 478: New Illuminati

Though Aizen couldn't speak, he could hear what was being called out. He twitched in his place for a second when the verdict was out but couldn't protest. He had to accept it.

"So it is settled. GAIA, take him with the help of Iron Legion to the prison Ikkaris is in. No being with a soul will be allowed to approach his prison and it will be closed forever." Tony commanded.

And simultaneously, a few humanoid robots came to take away Aizen in a wheelchair as his bandages didn't allow him to walk or stand and were later taken away.

Everybody sighed in relief after he left. His presence in itself was a danger and all were on edge.

"Tony, I heard Pepper is pregnant." John suddenly said to diffuse the tension and anxiety in the room as he felt guilty.

"Man, why do you have to say such weird words to elevate the tension in the room?" Tony complained.

"Because everybody was too serious about the prison transfer. So I thought maybe we all needed a different topic to talk about." John said.

"Fine. Yeah.. She is pregnant. Happy?" Tony grumbled. All laughed at it and congratulated him for this good news. He deserved all the happiness. Finally all introduced each other and had a good time together with Tony hosting a small party on the occasion of being a father soon.

All the Captains too joined in this.

As they were enjoying themselves, Tony finally suggested something which they never expected to John, Steve, Clark and Wayne.

"After coming back from their universe, I have been thinking a lot. After much contemplation I think our Earth needs our own Illuminati." All stiffened when he mentioned that.

Illuminati had a bad reputation here as what happened in Earth-616 didn't sit well with anyone.

"Do you want to open Pandora's box?" Clark asked.

"C'mon Clark you see us. We are growing day by day. Yesterday it was M'Baku, today it was the new trio. We need a proper connection with all sections of society. Arceus, the five kages and now the Head Captain. We need proper communication in case of an emergency. As John had mentioned before some things couldn't be handled by Avengers alone and needed proper governance." Tony insisted.

"I know what Earth-616 did was blasphemous but the people who will sit on the throne will be elected democratically by the members of the Avengers and their own respective world will choose their leaders. As a planet we have grown considerably and it's time we have a proper control of everything. What do you concur?" Tony ended his speech with that statement.

All became silent when Tony suggested that. Even in Earth 616, Illuminati was first proposed by Tony and in this time too was the same. Though they would hate to admit it , Tony was right.

Now was the peace time, and they weren't sure of how long it would last. And when anything goes bad they needed people to make decisions. And making a new division on the Avengers would be perfect and better.

John didn't really care. If Illuminati was being established it would still be in his control as more than half of the people would be his, not that it mattered any way. So he just left the decisions to Wayne and others.

Wayne and others suggested that they would contemplate on this after this surprise party.

Ichigo and his family, Urahara, Yoruichi, Sado and Uryu meanwhile decided to stay at the Ring after the suggestion of John. Since they belonged to the human world it was better that they stayed here.

And like all others, Wayne invited them to join the Avengers. They didn't have people who were good with soul 'magic' and including the death gods would be best for them.

Later after the small party ended all returned back to their place. It looked like Phoenix had a hard time leaving Yamamoto as she really liked him so John said

"You can go to Hell whenever you feel like it."

"I know. I really like him but at the end you are the perfect host. And something tells me I need to stay with you to tide over whatever that is coming." Phoenix said and this time in a more serious tone.

"Eh! What do you mean by that? More problems are going to come?" John asked as he couldn't understand what she meant by that.

"I don't know. After staying with the old man I got a precognition of destruction and whatever is coming, it needs us to stay together." Phoenix said.

"Precognition? What did you see?" John was interested now.

"A group of people sending a ball of light to our Earth. the ball of light starts a process which is unstoppable and everything turns nightmarish soon." Phoenix said.

"Ball of light? That's very vague. Whatever!! We will see it when it arrives. We are powerful enough to handle everything." John replied as he didn't care.

Chapter 479: Humanity in space

John returned home with his children. The children were happy to live with Phoenix again. Mostly because of food, but of course they missed her. The days went by as usual and soon it was the end of the year.

Emma too returned from her work for a few days like she always did but this time she was more happy because after arrival John had finally decided to marry her.

It had been a long time coming and John too felt that it was time. And thus a wedding was held in a grand way on the Ring. Only close people were invited in this wedding instead of being an extravagant one like Tony's was.

By now the children of his could walk with their wings served as cloak like it did to John's version. Due to constant feeding of Phoenix, they grew up fast. John and Emma were both proud of their children as they were very intelligent, smart and powerful. And all of them had a very healthy relationship with him and Emma.

Thus just before Christmas, they kissed each other and finally got married. All the Avengers, Kages, some mythical pokemons and even the Captains came for this wedding. Though there were many close people here, some people did come from his workplace too.

Like Kevin.

He was surprised to see that the world of Naruto and even Bleach was also real. He got a glimpse of how big John's world was and realised that his life had gone way too far for anyone to catch him. It was very fortunate that he still worked in Disney and interacted with them.

Emma meanwhile was very happy to marry the love of her life. She was totally in love with him and just hoped that they could grow old together. Though their life was treacherous now, at least they lived life to the fullest.

After the wedding they went for a vacation.

To Xandar.

Since she had never visited that planet she wanted to go and so John took her away to that place.

Another important thing was happening to humanity which was related to the Nova Empire. Humanity had finally stepped its foot into space for the first time. Lex Corp finally made a deal with Umbrella Corp and decided to send men to Nova Empire so that they could get first hand experience of space.

Of course they used the Kryptonian technology fueled space ships so their journey too was fast. As John was having a good honeymoon in Xandar, government officials, big businessmen and CEOs of big conglomerates came to visit this place.

Including Tony Stark.

John had once told him that all the people of the Avengers were registered in the directory of Nova Empire citizenship so he had full access here. With Morgan recently being born, he too decided to have a time off with Pepper.

Constant cries and being a father for the first time proved too much hassle for him. He envied John who had perfect 18 children all very intelligent the moment they were born. Though he loved his daughter 3000, he still hoped that she would cry and shit less.

So he felt really refreshed when he stepped on this new planet which was brimming with life. Seeing the city and the planet really gave him many ideas and decided to implement some of it in their own planet. Umbrella now had a huge hold on many things and thus it would be very easy for him to introduce new ideas to humanity.

Meanwhile, the other humans who came to visit the planet were surprised by how clean the whole planet looked and the ease of operations. Though their own Earth had progressed fast because of repeated invention and introduction of new technology they were still way behind filling every aspect of life with better and more comfortable living.

Like Tony, they too had different ideas of how to implement them.

But in all of this John was never in the picture as he was enjoying his vacation to the fullest at the villa he once bought here.

"It's been a long time since we had such a time off." Emma said.

"Yeah the last I remember was before you went to that shitty Hala sector for patrol. Ah good old days!!"

"It's not shitty love... It's a place where there is racism at its fullest. Though recently they have been trying to integrate the non-pure blood in the high levels of society. There is still discrimination." Emma said.

"Well maybe because Supreme Intelligence isn't Supreme Intelligence anymore." John replied.

"Huh!!!" Emma looked at John with confused eyes.

"Supreme Intelligence isn't Supreme Intelligence anymore. Supreme Intelligence has been taken over Ultron." John said as he felt exhausted saying Supreme Intelligence so many times.

But that bomb was finally dropped.

Chapter 480: The rat who escaped

"Wait what?" Emma's eyes went wide when she heard that.

"You heard me right! When the scout ship vanished from our radar it was found by a Kree Empire's ship. And since they tried to connect the ship to the mainframe of their spaceship, Ultron got access to the Supreme Intelligence. " John said.

"And then a digital battle ensued and Ultron came out victorious. And from that he took over the Kree empire. Maybe it was because of him, the recent changes had been happening." John finished after he said that.

"How do you know all these?" Emma was curious

"Because of me." Phoenix replied this as she manifested on the shoulder of John. When John got the Phoenix Force, he used his omnipotence to look into the location of Ultron. It was there he knew as he looked into the past of Ultron and got the general idea of where he was.

Seeing Ultron was busy maintaining an empire, John lost his care for Ultron. Since he didn't have the infinity stones and now more so as they were destroyed he just took a back seat and wanted to see what he wanted to do.

If he tried to pull any prank on them, he would just annihilate him with just a thought. This wasn't Hell but the main universe. So he had all the reality bending powers he wanted.

"Oh yeah .. Omnipotence. You really have the most amazing cheat code. Wish I had that power."

John just shrugged his shoulders. Omnipotence wasn't exactly a boon. He normally switched it off as he didn't like it.

Later they talked more about the world and even spoke of the multiverse where Wayne and others were from and were fascinated by how vivid their story was. While John had a good time explaining the multiverse of DC. He really liked the story of DC.

Even more so as he had been reading comics non stop of DC universe. Though the recent DC comics were debatable, the previous grand stories were one of the best stories.

John spent the next few days having fun with her and going on romantic dates and having a good time by visiting the beautiful places around.

After a week of honeymoon they finally ended and all returned back. After a few days Emma too left as she thought that she needed to keep an eye on Hala since Ultron had taken over.

John had spent his days lazing around after that as he didn't have any more work and was having a good time. It was already Year 2024 and the last movie was scheduled to be out by the middle of this year. John had already finished directing everything required for the movie and decided it was finally time for him to retire.

Though he would submit all new anime from his previous world regularly and maybe good movies. But other than that, he wouldn't care to go to work. Half his life he had been associated with the entertainment industry.

Now he needed peace!!

He had his children and all he needed was to take care of them before they were fully grown and could take care of themselves.

One fine day in early February there was a knock on the door. One of the children went to open the door as John was busy having fun with the others.

"Uhhh.. who are you looking for?" said the child looking at man who was carrying a bouquet of flowers.

"Tell your father, an old friend has come to visit."

"Rather I should say an old enemy has come to visit. Come in!" John's voice finally came from the living room.

The man came in and sat opposite to John while giving him the bouquet of flowers.

"Sorry I couldn't attend your wedding. Heard Thor got drunk and accused you of not taking him to Hell." the man said.

"He did! Jane had to come and calm him down." John replied.

"Hmm.. How is she? Being the new Thor of Asgard and all!!" the man said.

"She is fine. Little new to this but she will do well. What about you? How is the timeline?" John asked.

Yes, it was Loki who came to talk with John. Loki who was now the controller of TVA.

Kang has been defeated. He had abdicated his throne and Loki was given the responsibility.

"The timeline isn't a circle anymore. It has become a straight line with various branches creeping out." Loki said.

"I expected that." John said as he really did. The MCU or his universe changed the moment he got transmigrated here. The story had gone out of the window for a long time now.

"Can you still see the future?" John asked as he was curious. Before it was a circle which allowed the TVA to peep into it but now since it's a straight line it didn't have a beginning nor an end.