

Multiverse 776

Chapter 776: War (7)

It was like the same old 3 Spiderman meme again but this time it was for the DC multiverse.

"Bruce?"

"Hello Bruce, you look exhausted."

"Diana!!"

"You need to leave that piece of shit Batman who Laughs. But I like the crown though." Diana from John's world said. DC-Diana and Bruce really didn't expect that John's multiverse would have their own versions. The explanation that John gave before was that they came from a different multiverse but he was seeing something different here.

Even Superman was among them. What exactly was going on?

"Bruce you explain it to them. I will explain the rest of the plan that we had just made." John said as he took the leaders of the Avengers, Shingamis and Shinobi world and explained to them their plan. Strange would be present in all three teams as he would be responsible for teleportation purposes.

From the looks of it, this might even look like an overkill from many perspectives. But the thing was Batman who Laughs had contacts with Perpetua and Dr. Strange Fate and that was terrifying. He already was an anomaly and having more power and contacts would just be crazy.

John and Goku would be responsible for handling Batman who laughs, others were given free reign in their own teams. If the Batman who Laughs wasn't easily taken down then it would be full blown war. The lower level shinobis and shinigamis were ready to fight and they were eagerly waiting at the Harvesters that were in hiding mode behind the planet of Pluto.

DC Bruce and Diana took a long time to understand why John's multiverse had their versions and the more they heard the more surprised they were. They even had two different speedsters. As they were discussing, Swamp Thing who was chatting with the new people lifted his head for a second and had his eyebrows creased.

"What's up?" Steve who was talking to him asked.

"He is coming. And it seems like he has a prisoner to deliver."

DC Diana also had his eye brows creased as she didn't expect the enemy to arrive at the doors before they could even go after them. The others were not that surprised. They had seen the story John had portrayed in the series and they knew exactly who the prisoner was.

It was Wally West!

John smiled as he heard that and said.

"I will hide you all with my magic and this is the right time to ambush this guy."

All nodded their heads. But internally they were a little confused too. Robin King was sent to the Wall and this Batman who Laughs looked like he didn't seem to know otherwise would have already been ambushed by a team of Dark Multiverse Batman but there was nothing like that.

And this guy following the original story was coming with Flash? Did he not know that Robin King had disappeared or was he just playing stupid. Batman who laughs was too cunning for his own good so they just didn't understand what was the play here.

But it didn't matter now. The ball had started rolling so only when it reached the end would they know what it had destroyed on its path.

John used his magic and in order to make sure his magic wasn't being overused, Strange too did his magic and used his mirror dimension to hide themselves. Batman who Laughs came with Dinosaur Batman and the Penguin Batman to deliver the Flash. Flash too was caught in that fight against Perpetua and since his power solely relied on positive forces he too didn't forget. Though his power levels have gone down by quite a lot he still had access to Speed Force.

John and others didn't tell who the prisoner was so Diana didn't know. And of course Strange made sure that DC Batman was taken into hiding along with the rest. Everyone here had seen the Batman who Laughs on screen but seeing him in reality was a different ball game altogether.

He looked like a cannibal with red lipstick which looked like blood was on his lips and around it. He had a dark spike crown on his head while his eyes were closed. John seeing this actually felt the comics failed to depict him in a correct way. This guy looked way more crazy. Meanwhile, Wally West whose whole body was covered in clothes and even his face wasn't visible.

He was twitching as he was taken away not because he wanted to escape but he felt the presence of the Speed Force. The castle had a huge presence of the Speed Force but sadly he couldn't access it. He could feel that once he got access to it, he would be able to take down his prisoners and for this reason he was fidgeting on his spot.