

10 Chapter 10 You are my luna!

Author's POV 1

"Did you bring it?" Max asks, pausing after walking in circle for half an hour in the office, completely agitated and chewing his nails in stress.

"I have it!" Sam tells him and gives him the envelope from the Human Resources Department.

Max takes the envelope and quickly unwraps it, almost tearing it in two, but he doesn't notice that the door opens and Luke Navarro, his gamma, enters the office.

Seeing their pale and agitated faces, he looked at each of them and asked slightly in a panic:

"What's going on?" but Max ignores him and immediately starts reading Meredith's resume.

"He found his mate!" Sam said.

"This is wonderful, man!" Luke said smiling but seeing Max face he looks at Sam and asks him again.

"Isn't it wonderful?"

"No, on the contrary, it's awful, Luke!" and sighing and taking a desperate attitude, he says,

"She is human!" can you believe it? "

Luke looks at Sam and them at Max, wondering if they're somehow stupid.

"So what if she is human?" he asks them.

"She is weak!" Sam said and looks at Max who is starting to swear now.

"I think you're wrong," Luke tells her. "If the Moon Goddess paired her with Max, she's not."

"Shit! Shit! Shit!" suddenly Max said and tore the document in dozens of dishes.

"What the fuck are you doing?" Sam asks him.

"She's a leftover!" Max says contemptuously. "My mate is a weak human and more than that she is divorced." and almost having a heart stroke he looks at Sam and Luke and said:

"I don't want her! I will never accept her! "

"You are divorced too!" Luke said looking at him "Don't you think you're a jerk thinking about her in this way? You don't even know what happened." he asks.

"It is different, and you know it. I had nothing to do with that woman. For the goddess sake, I don't even know her name!" he says, actually screaming.

"I can't even reject Meredith Quinn because she is human and knows nothing about werewolves!

She will think I am crazy. "

"If you were in my situation, and your fated mate would be dead you will never think this way!
"Luke said.

Sam looks at Max and has a lot in his own minds and leaves going directly to Cara's studio. But surprise! She is not at her place.

Don't ask how he knows where Cara lives. He just knows.

Seeing that she is not at home Sam panicked.
She really is on a date. Will she accept his rejection? And he started to panic.

"It's like you didn't want her," Leo tells him .

"I don't want her!" Sam starts sneaking around.
"She is a pack member, and it is my duty to take care of everyone."

"If you say so.." Leo said amused.

"What do you want, Leo?" Sam asks completely confused.

"I do not want anything. The question is, what do you want? "

And he just looks at Cara's door, knocking in it again, and again, until an old lady come out from another apartment.

"Stop knocking, you will put down her door. She is not here. She took a luggage and left."

"What are you talking about?" Sam asks the old woman.

"Just stop knocking on her door. She is not there!" and the woman closed the door.

"She left?" he asks and feels for the first time in his life that he will die in panic.

But meanwhile in Meredith's apartment, in her living room she stays with Cara and eat their dinner.

"Are you sure about this?" Cara asks. "I don't want to be a burden for you."

"I'm sure," said Meredith, smiling. "I have this spare room. Is not big but is enough for both of us to stay in this apartment."

The truth is that after she saw the poverty in which Cara lived she was so sad that she decided to ask her to be her roommate.

This was luxury for Cara and she felt in heaven here, without knowing that somewhere in her pack Sam was having a tantrum because of her, breaking everything around him.

And while they were having their dinner suddenly Meredith phone ringed.

"Where are you?" she hears Max voice at the other end of the call, she knows the voice too well so she scolds him in her heart and asks as serene as she can be.

"Who are you?" refraining from laughing.

"I am Maximillian Cruz! What do you mean, who I am?" said Max on the verge of a breakdown.

"How do you have my number?" she asks him direct.

"I am your boss, it's normal to have your number and call you whenever I have an emergency." Max says arrogantly.

"Mr. Cruz "Meredith said making Cara's mouth to remain open." I'm off schedule now. You can tell me what you want tomorrow, "and without thinking, she hung up the phone.

"Was that Maximillian Cruz?" Cara asked completely panicked.

"Yep, he was."

And the phone rings again. Looking at the number that is calling her she squeezes her eyes and ask:

"Yes, who is it?"

"Why did you end the call?" Max asks in fury.

"Oh, it's you again" and she ends the call annoying him even harder than before and the put on mute the phone seeing that Max is still calling her.

"Aren't you afraid of being kicked out?" Cara ask Meredith.

"This is my wish, but I have to pay him five million dollars if I leave, so it's better to be fired." Meredith said with a loud laugh. But immediately looking at Cara's face she asks her.

"What about Sam Jackson?"

"You know him?" Cara asks in shock.

"Not personally since today, but yes I know him."

"He is the one who rejected me." Cara said and looks down with tears in her eyes.

"He is very possessive for someone who rejected you." Said Meredith and then analyzing Cara she concluded "You didn't accept his rejection, did you?"

"No, he was so furious when he found out that I am his mate that I fainted with horror." When I woke up he was no longer there. Luna Lisa found me and after she found out what happened helped me to move away from him.

"Do you want him?" she asked Cara.

"Does it matter what I want?" It's just that he doesn't want me. Look at me Meredith! I am poor and weak. You sow how I lived here. In two rows of clothes and food so I don't die. How to like me? Do you know what his fame is? He dates with the most beautiful women in our pack. " She snorts in tears.

"So you still want him." Meredith said, perfectly understanding the heart of a werewolf after living with them for most of her life.

"Yes, Mer... I still want him. And it hurts so much to see him every day. "

"Then let's make him regret that he rejected you." Said Meredith and take Cara in her arms. "He will kneel before you to forgive him. You will see. So let's see if you will still want him back then. " she said, making Cara eyes look as big as onions.

"Mer," Cara asks, not knowing how to ask so as not to upset Meredith. "What is happening with you and alpha Max?"

Meredith looks at Cara and smiles at her and decides to tell her the truth. In the end, its okay to have someone by your side who understands you, so she tell her:

"Do you know that he was married?"

"Yes, a few years ago with a human. I believe she was alpha's Landon Quinn daught... Don't tell me! " Cara said and puts her hand on her mouth. Oh my goddess! Is that you?"

"It's me!" she said as if it is nothing.

"You are my luna!" Cara jumps up with happiness.

"No, I never felt like a luna. He ignored me our whole marriage, and I'm convinced that at some point he completely forgot about my existence." Meredith said looking at her very serious.

"But we herd that you are the ugliest woman in the universe!" Cara exclaimed. "Was he blind!?!?"

"It's a long story, but right now he has no idea who I am. And I intend to remain this way."

"What are you going to do, Meredith? He is very smart and powerful. He will find out in the end."

"Until then I will live in peace, if he will let me, but it seems to me that he has other plans" said Meredith looking at her phone which is still ringing.

"Will you answer to him?" Cara asked.

"No. Let him boil!"
