

121 Chapter 121 Some soap opera!

Author's POV 1

With the help of Artemis in two hours Meredith was already healed and now being able to walk and regain her strength, she got out of bed.

"Hey!" Max suddenly yelled. "What are you doing? You should rest. You worked so hard to bring this little princess here, just sit and rest."

"She is a princess for real" Meredith said, coming near Max and putting her arms around his torso while he stays with Theo on his chest.

"And her mommy is a queen," Max said and looked directly into his mate's eyes.

"Your eyes are a little bit changed" he whispers.

"What do you mean?" Meredith asks and wants to go to the bathroom to look in the mirror but Max stretches out his hand and stops her.

"They are more shining and they have golden sparkles through them. They are more beautiful than ever" and pulls Meredith with him and sits in a comfortable armchair near the window. He helps Meredith to sit in his lap while Theo sits on his arm.

"I am afraid," he says after some time.

And Meredith looks at him and doesn't say anything.

"I am afraid that I will not be able to defend you and Theo, because I know that the darkness is coming into our lives. It lies in wait and waits for the right moment to attack us."

"I am not afraid" Meredith tells him and puts her hand on his heart.

"I am a royal, ok, but I am also a sacred wolf and I have the privilege to have Artemis who is the Goddess's daughter. So have faith, Max."

"I would have liked for you to have some extra powers like the royals from the stories"

"We are living in some modern era, Max. I am not some Hercules or Xena to fight with the Centaurus." and Meredith starts to laugh. "I am just a woman"

And looking at Max she said laughing:

"I am hungry and I crave for some ramen." and she licks her lips with her tongue, making Max aroused.

"If I am craving do you think that maybe I am pregnant again?" and she burst into laughter.

"You are killing me, woman!" Max said and stood up, catching her hand, and putting Theo on his shoulder. "Let's go to feed you!"

But while they were coming into the dining area they heard Francois and Leia fighting again.

"What is going on this time?" Max asks. "I can't even have a single day without hearing you two fight or quarrel."

"Alpha, I mean, Max., I can't stand it anymore. He is everywhere. Even with his broken ribs he is searching after me everywhere. I simply can't stand it anymore. "And looking at Francois she said:

" And tell grandpa to stop sending me flowers on your account. I am starting here to hate seeing flowers in front of my eyes. "

"Then I will send you some chocolate!" Francois said smiling.

"Don't you understand that I hate you?!" Leia yelled in his face and he just stayed there looking at her with his mouth open while she just realized what she said.

"Francois" Meredith said "She didn't mean it!"

"No, Mer" Francois said looking at Leia and turning his face to Meredith. "She did. Excuse me!" he said and left the room.

"What was that, Leia?" Max asks almost furious but she just stays there looking at Francois back as he walks away from her.

"He is your fated mate. The first choice the goddess made for you. Ok, you rejected each other, but I know you don't hate him, you just can't forgive him at this moment. You will regret this!" he said.

"Go after him, Leia," Meredith said but Leia started to cry and run in the other direction, trying to stay as far away from Francois as possible. She will look for him later, when she will be calm.

"I am sick of all this soap opera!" Max said.

"You were a master of drama a few months ago, just remembering how we reunite and what you're doing in your office," Meredith said as she walked away from him.

"But I am not anymore! You stole my heart." Max whispers.

"Don't judge them Max" she said entering the kitchen.

She starts to open the cabinets and takes out various ingredients while Max looks amused at her.

"What are you doing, Mer?" he asks her, taking the ingredient from her hands.

"Chicken Ramen Stir-Fry," she said, being very serious.

"You are not" and he mindlinks auntie Jen asking her help.

And as soon as Meredith sees her in the kitchen, followed by grandpa Cruz she says.

"Tell me that you didn't bother Auntie Jen, Maximilian Cruz"

"I did! You just gave birth. You suffered a lot and know you want to work and cook. No! Not under my watch!" and he is serious.

"Goddess!" Meredith says. "Give me strength!"

"Sweetie," Auntie Jen said. "It is not good to force yourself for a period. Why don't you go in the garden and I will bring some ramen there. And if you want Grandpa and I will stay with you to keep you company and to protect our alpha because you seem to want to beat him" and she starts to laugh.

"You too, Auntie?" Meredith asks, smiling at her.

"I raised him since he was little. I loved my alpha since he was a tiny baby just as little Theo. I can't stand to see him beaten." and she starts to laugh.

"Alright," Meredith said but as soon as she arrived in the garden, one by one, her parents, her brother, her friends, even some pack members that heard that she gave birth started to come and bring gifts for Theo.

"What are you doing?" she asks them while Max starts to laugh.

"They are saving my ass from a shopping session" he says winking at James.

"Did you bring it?" he asks him.

"Yes. Is in your room. When you are ready we can start!" James said.

"Start what?" Meredith and Lori asked at the same time.

"To play with Lego for new parents," James laughed. "I took a set for our home too, so don't worry, my love. You will have one too."

"Can you stay with the girls while I do this Lego thing with James?" Max asks Meredith, gently placing Theo in Meredith's arms.

"Stay right there! Don't move" Landon and Olivia said, pushing a bassinet and a stroller combo from Dior.

"Oh my goddess!" Meredith said while Max just looks at them and starts to laugh again.

"Mom, dad. What are you doing? This costs too much!" and she just looks at Max who starts to walk with James back in the house.

"I have a lot of money, sweetheart," Landon said. "I am a billionaire and this was only $ 6500 so it is nothing."

"Nothing?" Cara asks in a whisper in Sam's ear. "I never had so much money in all my life and he says that is nothing?"

"Now you have millions," Sam said and kissed her.

"I know... but still... is no nothing." and she just looks at Meredith.

She takes little Theo and puts her in the stroller's bassinet and she starts to sleep immediately.

And when Auntie Jen came with the ramen she thought that she was in some baby shop area because there were a lot of baby clothes and toys and there was even a changing table.

"I want some ramen too," Lori said, craving Meredith's bowl.

"And I want some too," Vivi said, pouting her lips.

"You want some too, future mommy?" Auntie Jen asks looking at Cara who didn't dare ask for a portion too, but now being asked she is just nodding.

"Good job that I made a lot of ramen!" Auntie said laughing.

"Sam, Luke" help me bring the food here.

"We will have our dinner here, celebrating our little alpha with some tasty ramen!"

And just when the atmosphere was the most beautiful everyone's hearts stopped seeing in front of Meredith, no one but Veronica.

She is pale, and sick and her face is sad.

"So is it true?" she asks Meredith while she is shivering.

Sam is on alert. If she tries to touch Meredith or Cara again, she will kill her in an instant, sister or not. And he mindlinks Max.

"He let you give birth to that bastard baby, in place of my son?" and she is so lost in her mind that she pushed Cara, making her almost fall under the horrified gaze of Sam who jumps and catches her just before she falls.

Cara starts to cry in panic thinking that she lost her babies again and Sam can't make her calm.

Veronica quickly ran to Meredith and just before to hurt her, Meredith touched her head and Veronica fainted.

"Stay still," she said, and Veronica instantly collapsed under everyone's horrified eyes.

"Take her back to the hospital," she told Luke.
"And find out how the fuck she escaped and reached in the middle of my house without being stopped. Now, Luke!" she said using her Luna command, shocking everyone.

She just looks at how Veronica is taken from the ground by two of Luke's warriors and this is the image that Max sees when he comes back.

"What happened?" he asks in panic, searching Meredith for wounds and looking in the bassinet to be sure that his princess was not touched.

"Is nothing, Max," Meredith said, looking ugly at him.

"Just some soap opera that seems to never reach its final!"