

128 Chapter 128 The Abyss

Author's POV 1

"Is it already noon?" Meredith asked, putting her arms around Max's neck and giving him a long kiss on the lips.

"Yeah, unfortunately it is and we need to go home," Max said, kissing her neck right where he put his mark on her.

"You missed her too, didn't you?" Meredith started to giggle in his arms, while sitting with her legs on either side of Max's body, she is riding him.

"Since we arrived here when I was not implanted deep inside you, riding my happiness" and he starts to laugh "all I did was to mindlink Sam and Luke to ask them if Theo is alright."

And Meredith started to laugh so hard that even some tears appeared in her eyes.

"Oh my goddess! She broke us!"

"What do you mean?" Max asked her, putting his hands on her hips and caressing her body lightly. He likes this view a lot, with Meredith naked and happy, riding him.

"I did exactly the same thing you did. When I was at home I dreamed with my eyes open that I will have you just for myself and when that moment became real, every time you didn't give me pleasure my mind flies to Theo, wondering if she is ok, if she knows that we are not with her."

"So?" Max says smiling at Meredith "One more time and we pack our things and go back to our pup?"

"Yes, but please, prolong a little this last one more time, because at home someone will cry every time you will try to touch me"

"Then, let's make it twice!" Max doesn't lose time and for another two hours he enjoyed his time with the love of his life, but just when they were ready to go, both Stark and Artemis smelled a strange smell near the house.

"What the..?" Stark says "This is a private area, nobody should be here."

Artemis took control, still staying in human form, and sniffing the air she felt that horrible aura she felt in the forest, on Mount Tantalus, and she is horrified by this feeling.

"Max!" Artemis said a little bit panicked. It's not afraid for her, but if the hunters are here, Max could be wounded.

"Max, give Stark full control please, the hunters are here!" and Stark doesn't even wait for Max, that he used all his strength to leave Max as a simple spectator.

"It is impossible. No one knows about this place. I built it with Max, it was our refuge." Stark mindlinks Artemis, trying not to make any noise.

"But the thing is that they found us, and it is only one way of doing it! Someone told them that we left the pack and they followed us here, it would have been impossible to track us on water until here. We have a traitor. Meredith told that to Max and at that time it seemed a wrong idea, but someone is betraying us."

"Shit, they are really close, let's transform and run!" Stark said and they jump from their bed and exit their love nest, transforming while they run on the front door stairs.

"Catch them!" They heard a male voice yelling behind them and a lot of shotguns started to fill the air with their sound.

Both, Artemis and Max, that are frightening in their wolf form, being huge, do slaloms through the trees trying to avoid the hunters.

"Don't kill the white wolf!" someone else yelled. "She is our boss trophy!" and Max and Meredith could only look each other in the eye hearing all this, while Stark and Artemis ran to save their lives. As soon as they arrived at the place where Max left his motorcycle, in one jump, they got on it and started running on the road, leaving the isolated location.

"Fucking shit! I really loved this place!" Max cursed.

"Do you think that they lost track of us?" Meredith asked, turning her head and looking back, while Max ran like crazy on the road.

"No, they will assume that we will go back to Port Alberni to take the yacht back. It is not safe to return there"

And in Max's head is in chaos right now.

"They were after you, Mer!" he said, panicking. "I can't lose you!"

"You will not, but I am afraid for your safety. We need help, Max! Even if we will expose our family to this shit, but we need help!" And Meredith thinks for a few seconds and says.

"Call the boys, I will mindlink James and dad" and she did it in a second.

"Sam!" Max mindlinks his beta directly.

"The girl is fine, don't worry!" Sam started without waiting for Max to say anything else.

"We are under attack, someone followed us and tried to shut us down." and Max is so panicked that Sam almost fell down the bed trying to run to his door and call the warriors.

"Where are you, Max?" he asked in panic. If he loses his alpha his life would be meaningless. He must protect Max and his family no matter what.

"We just run from Tofino, we should go to Port Alberni where my yacht is but if they track us here, that location is not safe."

"Come to Nanaimo! Can you do that?" Sam asks and he is already in Luke's place mouthing him "MAX WAS ATTACKED!"

It took Luke two seconds to ring the alarm and all his warriors were in front of the Packhouse.

"What happened here?" Carter and Lisa, followed by Grandpa Cruz and Aunt Jen ask.

"Alpha, Max and Meredith were attacked by hunters. And we.." Sam said but grandpa Cruz cuts him directly, looking in Carter's eyes.

"Where are they now?"

"I told him that we will meet in Nanaimo!" Sam said without wasting any more time.

"Call Landon and James!" Grandpa Cruz said.

"There is no time to lose. We must take them out of there. How the hell did they track them there, Vancouver Island is the only place in our territory where there is no foot of werewolves!" and looking at Carter, grandpa concluded: "We have a traitor!"

It took Sam and Luke another ten minutes to organize all the warriors, to let some of them watch over the pack safely and they were all gone.

James and Landon arrived in less than half an hour and followed them from a certain distance, because there was no time to lose and wait for them.

"Where are you Max?" Sam asked as soon as they set foot in Nanaimo an hour later. But Max doesn't answer.

"Max! Where the fuck are you???" Sam tries to mindlink him again but nothing, and he feels like he is going to faint at any moment.

"Max doesn't answer!" Sam yells.

"Try with Meredith!" Landon said and he also mindlinked her.

"Mer!" James yells trying to contact her.

"James!" she said desperately "They surrounded us. All this island is full of hunters! It's a trot, run from here!"

"Where are you?" he said, ignoring her. "We are all here! Tell me where you are!"

And Meredith focuses and mindlinks all of them at the same time, making them look at each other with open mouths.

"I have no idea where I am. Max is unconscious and I am trying here to protect him. We were somewhere near Nanaimo but we had to turn and exist the main road, because those brutes blocked us. And now we are in the middle of nowhere near a very big crack in the earth. It's full of slippery rocks; exposed tree roots. Shit, I can't see more from where we are."

Carter looks at Landon and at the same time they say in unison:

"The Abyss!"

Comment <sup>0</sup>

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift

