

160 Chapter 160 This is a time of preparation

Author's POV 1

"Damn you, Francois!" Sam cried , sprawled out on the training mat.

"Sorry, man!" and Franco just walked away from him.

"He is like a bull! Max doesn't hit so hard, he knows that we are not a match for him, but this jerk just uses all his force."

"She said that I can! So I did it" Francoise said, pointing to Meredith.

"Will you stop crying all day, Sam?" and this time Meredith is already annoyed. "Next time you will fight with me, and I promise you that I will show you what force means!"

"He was joking, Mer!" Cara said coming in with Elias and Isabelle in her arms but seeing her Sam jumps on his feet as if that mat burned him.

"Cara!" Sam suddenly yelled and leaving Franco alone he runs directly to his mate and took the babies from her arms.

"Why are you carrying them? What if you get tired?" and he holds them but his eyes are on Cara.

"Sam, you are overreacting," Vivi said.

"I am not! She made a lot of effort to bring them into this world. I've been there and I know what I say. Why carry them again? She needs to rest!"

"Samuel Jackson!" Cara said and looking ugly at him she took Elias in her arms. "Give my baby girl back!" she growled at him.

"No. You are tired!" and he stole Elias from her arms again and walked away with the twins while she just stayed there and looked at his back.

"Every time I try...he doesn't let me do anything! I feel like I will strangle him soon!" and she walks after him cursing him in her heart.

"Give me , my babies!" she yelled at him.

"No!" and he put them on his shoulder, both of them, holding them with one hand and turning around he took Cara with the other hand and lifted her, as if she was a koala.

"Sam!" she screamed in panic thinking that he will drop the kids.

"Stay still, woman!" he said and walked to the Packhouse with his arms full. "I will punish you for defying me this way. I told you to take care of you. Why do you work so much?"

“Sam” she said in the end, holding him in her arms.

“This is not nothing. They are my pups. I love staying with them and carrying them all day. Can’t you see how sweet they are?”

“Because they look like you” and he kissed her and took her to their condo to spend time together, being deeply in love with each other.

But meanwhile in the training room the gang was laughing hard.

“You would say that Sam was on his period. All day long he mocked Francois and he wasn’t pleased with anything.”

“Leave him alone” Max said “ He is just stressed with everything that happened in the last weeks. Is not easy to digest all we went through.” And he looked around and saw Theo coming in in Lisa’s arms.

“There’s my favorite baby girl!” he laughed and stretched his arms and took her just to hear her saying “ da-da!”

“WHAT?” everyone screamed in happiness and came in a rush closer.

“Say it again, baby girl!” Max said.

“Da-da!”

"That's not fair!" Meredith said, pouting her lips at Max.

"I don't care!" Max mocked her. "She is my baby girl!"

"Da-da!" Theo repeated again seeing that everyone was fussing around her.

"Those pups are so precocious that they are scary, man!" Luke said, looking at her. "She is almost four months old and she is already saying da-da?"

"Maybe she is like her mommy!" Carter laughed. "With so many powers it would not be strange to find out that Theodora is also gifted."

"No!" Max said in panic "She needs to be normal, not to attract all the eyes on her. She needs to be happy. That's the only thing she needs to achieve in this world." and he looks at Meredith while he holds his sweet pup in his arms.

"Mini-me!" Max whispered in Theo's ear "what would you say if I will take you and your mommy and go home?" and he kisses her forehead and Theo just says again : da-da!

"Let's go home, darling," Max whispered. "Our daughter wants to stay with us."

"She told you that?" Luke asked, laughing hard.

"Of course. It's a daddy- daughter thing. Watch and learn, wolfy!" Max said and walked away, holding Theo on his shoulder and Meredith by one hand.

"I don't like this!" Carter said to Lisa. "Since those babies came into this world they have ignored us" and he frowned .

"Are you for real, love? You are jealous of your granddaughter?"

"Is not that, it's just that I feel old." Carter whispered, making Grandpa Cruz laugh hard.

"Welcome to the club, brat!" he said to his son.

"You don't feel old for nothing, alpha Carter" Luke said "You are old!" and he ran away from there instantly, while Vivi ran after him.

"Those scoundrels!" Carter said disapproving them by nodding with his head.

"Why did they all run?" Francois said, looking around. In the training room, only him and Leia and the old men are now. Pete was sent to the infirmary after Francois broke his leg by mistake.

"I want to train, I really like this new side of me. Shit! I am damned strong." Francois said making a happy dance.

"You are, Franco, but I believe that they didn't go to play with their pups , they just run from you" and Leia laughs so hard that makes Franco's heart to skip a beat.

"Shit!" he whispered and looking at Carter and Grandpa Cruz he said:

"Excuse me, alpha but this woman plays games with my mind , I need to have a talk with her" and he took her in his arms and also ran with her right to his house.

"So, are we alone now?" Lisa asked, looking around.

"Yeah!" Auntie Jen said . "Just as we planned"

"Are you ready, Jen?" Carter asked, looking at her as she started to stretch her arms.

"More prepared than ever," she simply said . "Evil is coming after our girl, and I need to be ready to fight too. I never trained in my life" the poor woman said. " But Bradley gave me the strength to believe that I can do more ."

"Let's do it!" Carter said and walked in the middle of the training room.

"I am proud of you!" Grandpa Cruz whispered, kissing her lips slowly. "I would have trained you by myself if this fucking cane didn't stood in my way."

"It's enough for me to know that you are here!" Auntie Jen said and went after Carter, while Lisa sat near Grandpa.

"She is the best, father!" Lisa whispered, watching the way Auntie Jen moves as if she has been doing this her whole life.

"Yes, she is. I lost so many years with her because I was a stupid. But I will give her so much love and I will cherish her so much that she will forget how stupid I was."

And he just looked at her, as she learnt everything that Carter showed her.

This is a time of preparation.

Just as Auntie Jen said. Every pack member must realize that now is time to become the very best version of themselves.
