

17 Chapter 17 Her family is very rich

Max's Cruz POV 1

"Are you nuts, Stark? Did you really want to mark it without my will?" I asked angrily.

I was carried away by the wave, and when Meredith began to answer my kiss, I felt how Stark took control of me.

"You are a fucking, jerk! That you are, Stark!" I said and entered my office where Sam is already waiting for me with Luke.

"What happened?" Luke asks, looking at me strangely.

"Nothing, just Stark and the pressure he puts on me to mark that human." I answer nervously and go and sit at my desk.

"That human?" Luke asks, looking at me as if two more heads have grown up on my shoulders.

"You know what I mean," I say, snorting nervously.

"You know what, Max !?!" he said and stood up walking towards the door.

"I am sick of seeing both of you mocking what you have received as a gift. You don't even know how lucky you are. ”

And he leaves the office but immediately opens the door and looking at Sam he says:

“And you, I want to find out from me. I asked Cara to announce me when she rejects you because I really like that girl, she rocks, and when everything will be over with you two I intend to make her mine! Fuck you! Both of you! ” he said and went out.

“What the fuck was that?” I asked, looking at Sam who was still looking shocked at the door.

“I believe his “period” has come. Or something like that. Ignore him, he is just mad because this month is that sad anniversary.” Sam said, shaking his head in disapproval and staring blankly.

“Sam, what happened?” I ask him.

“She tried to accept my rejection today,” he said.

“That’s wonderful man! You will be completely free” I say smiling at him.

But his face says nothing about the joy that he will finally feel when he will get rid of Cara.

“Sam, what’s wrong?” I asked him again.

“What if I will regret it, Max? What if I am making a mistake?” he tells me in panic.

“You are doing the right thing. You always wanted to have a strong woman by your side, not some abandoned omega that not even her family wants. If she were at least some delta, but she is the weakest being in our pack." I tell him, trying to make him happy.

"You didn't see her today, Max. She was so ferocious and she was so determined to finish our mate bond that terrified me."

"You are doing the right thing, so as I do, because earlier I just put Meredith Quinn at her corner, and showed her who is the real boss here." I tell him very proud of myself, but Sam looks at me lost.

"Sam, stop it! What the hell happened to you? You make me feel bad and you ruin my mood!"

"I'm sorry, I don't know what happened to me in the last few days. Ever since I saw her in the parking lot two days ago, I can't get it out of my head. It's like all I want is to have her." Sam said.

"It's just a whim, it's going to pass. And in addition you can see her anytime. Where will she go?" I say laughing.

"Your little omega will always be at your disposal. She tried to run from you coming here and living alone, and what happened? You came to the company too. So, what's the problem?"

And I start laughing, being very sure of myself

when my phone starts to ring:

"Is it Madam Lin, what happened this time? Did any employee complain again that I am a tyrant?
" and finally I made Sam smile.

"Yes, madam" I say listening to what she is telling me. "Two employees this time? Send me their resignation by email and I'll see if they want compensation. " I told her and I immediately hung up the phone.

"You'll soon run out of employees if you yell at them like that every day," Sam tells me amused.

"Let's see who left this time!" I told him totally careless, but opening Madame Lin's e-mail, I almost fell with the chair I'm sitting on.

I push all the things from the desk, throw everything in my path and run desperately to the elevator, while I hear Sam shouting for me.

"What the fuck happened!?!?!!?!" he yells and when he say a "Shit!" I know that he read the email.

"This fucking elevator!" I screamed, kicking the elevator door and then taking the emergency stairs.

I don't know when I got from the twelfth floor to the sixth floor, but by the time I entered the design department, all the employees were startled and froze.

I run directly to her office.

There's nothing left to get out of here. Not even a pen of hers. Nothing at all.

"Yes, man. You showed her who the boss was." Stark said and until I got to tell him something he closed all the links with me leaving me alone for the first time in our life. I know that he is mad at me.

"Where is she?" I asked, coming back to the department.

"She left a half an hour ago, alpha" one of the designers said and just then I see Sam coming too and looking in panic around the department, looking for Cara for sure, I see him whitening his face completely.

"Did she really leave me?" he asks with a voice I don't recognize.

All the designers are looking at us and don't dare say anything. And I'm sure they realized what happened.

I took out my phone and called her. One time, two times, one hundred fucking times and she is not answering.

And seeing that she chose to cut all ties with me I do the only thing that comes to mind. I called

James:

"I need your help!" I say in a rush.

"I wanted to call you too and tell you what I found out," he tells me.

"Tell me everything," I say nervously.

Maybe he'll tell me something that will make me hate Meredith Quinn long enough that I don't care that she's gone.

"She was married five years ago. It wasn't her choice, it was her parents wish to marry that guy, thinking that she will be protected and loved, but the guy was a fucking jerk." James said and my heart almost stopped.

"Did he hurt her?" I ask, trembling. If He does, I will find him and I will kill him.

"No, he didn't touch her body. He completely ignored her when they were married. He acted like a manwhore and forced her to see all the women he was sleeping with, he made her feel rejected over and over again during their marriage. But she had a way to escape so she asked for divorced and run in France to live her dream and become a designer. "

"France is not a cheap country. "I tell him, realizing that something is wrong.

"Her family is very rich ,man. She is not lacking money. She could stay all day long without doing anything, but she wanted to work and have her own money."

And I feel like the most stupid man in the universe. She already suffered a lot because of that fucking jerk of her ex-husband and now what have I done?

"I need your help" I say.

"Again?" James asks.

"Again. I need to find her" I say almost in a whisper.

"WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY THAT!" James asked so panicked that scared me.

"I made a mistake and she resigned and left."

But I can't say anything anymore that James shuts up the phone in my nose not before I heard him, swearing at me.

"What's wrong with everyone today?" I asked Sam who stays near me and looks like a dead man.

"I know where she lives, at least her street and the number." I say to Sam. "Maybe I will see her there. Come with me" I say but he stiffens and doesn't even blink.

"Stark!" I say.

"What do you want?" he asked me in a very harsh voice.

"Help me find her"
