

32 Chapter 32 She is in Castellano's hands

Author's POV 1

"Where the hell am I?" Meredith asks, looking around the room. "This is not a hotel even if it is very luxurious, it seems a private property" she said to herself looking at the decorations around her. Everything is very expensive and very refined.

Suddenly she hears footsteps and the door open and immediately puts her head on the pillow and pretends to be asleep.

"Shit, what am I going to do?" she asks and starts to think of a way to run from here.

"Whoever put me here has a lot of money, but who would bother to kidnap someone like me?" he asks herself.

Feeling that someone entered the room, Meredith pretends to be asleep and almost can't breathe in fear. The footsteps are getting closer and closer, and when she thinks she has finally managed to deceive her captor, she suddenly hears a hearty laugh.

"I understand now why he wanted you. I have to admit, you're funny," said a man's voice.

"Open your eyes, there are cameras in the bedroom and I already know you woke up."

Meredith opens her eyes and looks straight into the man's eyes.

"Why am I here?" she asks him without giving the impression that she is being intimidated by the man.

He approaches her and, circling her, says:

"My brother wants you. A man like him, striving to conquer a woman like you "and starts laughing hysterically. "This is priceless," he says.

Looking at him, Meredith analyzes the situation. She has no chance to put him down, even if she has a black belt in martial arts.

"You are a werewolf," she said.

"Is this a question or a revelation?" asks the man.

"Neither," Meredith tells him, without giving a second the impression that she is afraid, though her heart is pounding in her chest.

"It's your obituary" she said without blinking.

"Is that so?" asks the man and immediately climbs into bed next to her, catching her between his legs.

"And you are an alpha." She said, and the man looked at her intently this time. "You are not from here, because I know all the alphas from Canada, but your English is pretty good."

"So you're smart. Maybe this is why he wants you."

"Who is the one who wants me?" asked Meredith while the man started to travel his hands around her tiny waist.

"Maybe it would be better if I kept you to myself, Vince has a lot of women you will not miss you at all." and he just looks at her licking his lips.

Vince ? Who is Vince?

"Oh my goddess!" Suddenly Meredith realizes that there is a possibility to already know her kidnapper.

"An werewolf. "She said "An alpha" and the man smiled in a sinister way. "Good evening, alpha Castellano" she said and immediately raised her knee and hit the man in his groin making him yell.

"You!" he said, falling to his knees "I will kill you!"

Meredith jumps out of bed and leaves the bedroom. She looked left and right, desperately looking for a way out.

"Shit, where am I going?" she asks.

"Craig !!!!!!" Castellano's brother starts to yell after his brother beta. "Catch her!"

Meredith starts running on the first stairs she sees and as soon as she reaches the ground floor she finds the exit door from the house, but when she touches the doorknob, someone grabs her by the arm and almost jerks her completely, slamming her on the floor.

"Where do you think you're going?" a man asks.

Why are rogues here? What the fuck is happening here? she asks.

"So you are a fighter!" said the rogue throwing himself at her knowing full well that a human can't deal with a werewolf, but as soon as he tries to catch Meredith again she takes one of her taekwondo moves and jumps into the air and kicks the rogue directly in the head, leaving him knocked out.

Castellano's brother starts to laugh at the top of the stairs.

"I will keep you, or maybe Vince will let me have you after he gets bored of you," he said.

"Frederico!" Vincenzo's beta said. "Will you shut up?"

"But why? Look at her, she makes me happy, Craig!" and rushes to her, knocking her to the ground. Meredith tries to hit him again with her knee, but Frederico pulls out his claws and sticks them deep in her thigh, making her scream in pain.

"Frederico!" Craig screams at him and immediately throws himself and snatches him from above Meredith, terrified when he sees her in a pool of blood.

"Vincenzo made it clear that you are not allowed to touch her, you fucking psychopath what you are!! What's in that stupid head of yours?"

"She provoked me!" Frederico yells in fury.

"She is a human for the goddess name!" Craig tells him and immediately takes Meredith in his arms, who has almost fainted from a wound in her thigh.

"How can you measure your strengths with a human female!???"

"She knocked down a rogue and she hit me hard to know that she is more than she looks like," Frederico said nervos.

"Just don't touch her anymore, or Vincenzo will break your neck when he comes tonight." and in a second he is with her in the same room where she woke up.

"Shit!" Craig said. "Get a doctor urgently!"

And this is the thing Meredith heard before she finally fainted.

But in the evening when she woke up again she saw a lot of cables and IV's around her, and heard the sound of some medical machines.

"Shhh!" she hears the voice that makes her sick.

"I am here now. I am sorry for what my brother did," Vincenzo said.

"Let me go!" Meredith said in a low voice, feeling very weak.

"Don't talk," he whispered in her ears, blowing his breath on her face " We're giving you a transfusion. You lost too much blood. " And he caresses her forehead. But Vincenzo's touch makes her feel even sicker than before.

She just looks at him and chooses not to say anything else. And she is afraid.

What if nobody will find her? She has no chance to signal her position.

And tears begin to run down her cheeks.

Who will come after me? Who will ever save me from someone like Castellano?

And staying in bed, with Castellano near her, touching her everywhere and making her feel abused she hears his phone ringing.

Castellano's look at his phone and laughs.

"This was quick" he said and answering his phone he hears Max saying:

"Give her to the phone"

"Why should I do that?" He asks.

"Because if you do it, I will kill you in a second, but if you don't, I will make you regret every bad decision you made in this life."

"Let's see what you're capable of, Maximillian Cruz!" he said and ended the call, but hearing Max name Meredith's heart stops.

He knows that she is in Castellano's hands? Will he look for her?

"I see you know who I was talking to." Vincenzo said.

"Are you ready to see him dying for you?"

