

34 Chapter 34 You are none in her life

Author's POV 1

"Let me take her!" Landon said as he was trying to take Meredith out of Max's arms but Max simply looked shocked at him.

"Are you nuts?" he asks Landon. "Why should I let you take her. I need to take her in my pack so that a doctor could see her. "

"No way!" Landon said. "I will take my daughter to my pack, where she belongs, so that a doctor can treat her wounds."

"No!" Max says threateningly, hugging Meredith to his chest, shocking them all.

"Son," Carter said. "It doesn't matter, let him take her , it's important that Meredith be seen by a doctor." but Max doesn't even blink.

"My doctors will see her!"

"Max, we need to take her now to a hospital. She is still bleeding, Please let us bring her to.. "but Max motions for Sam to open the door of his and asks Sam to get behind the wheel as he climbs into the back with Meredith in his arms.

"You won't take her from me!" he said through clenched teeth. "Do you think I don't know what you are trying here? You want to steal my wife! "

Landon and Jason just look at each other completely frustrated.

"Ok, not in our pack, but she is a human and your doctors have no experience with humans. Take them to the public hospital from the first town on our way back to Vancouver, there the doctors will know what to do. "

"I will take her to a public hospital but if you try something I wil .." Max said but suddenly Cara bursts out.

"Will you shut up at least for a second and just go to the hospital or do you want her to be bloodless soon!"

Max looks at her and he would want to say something but she is right. Meredith has been unconscious for too long, so in the end he was able to drive her to the nearest public hospital, where doctors immediately took Meredith.

It is the first time when someone so rich and important shows up in this hospital so they mobilize immediately and in less than two hours Meredith is already installed in a VIP ward and has all the tests done.

"Will she die?" Max asked the doctor making James and Landon to look at him as he is oligophrenic.

"No, Mr. Cruz," the doctor said. "She lost some blood but not enough to cause her something irreversible. "

"So she's good?" James asks. "Can we take her home?" and in a second Max throws at him all the infinite arrows, possible and impossible, filled with hatred.

"She is not going anywhere with you. "He said.

"Doctor please , kick him out," James suddenly says. "I am her brother and this man is her father but this individual who keeps making noise is none in her life and he is disturbing our family!"

"What!" the doctor said, feeling embarrassed by the situation. "Sir, I will ask you to leave if you are not related to ..."

"I am not related????s? Am I not related to her!?!?!? 'Max snorts' ' She is my wife! "

And the doctor just looks at James and then at Max and panics trying to see if Carter or London can clear it up, but the two former alphas stare at James and Max.

Looking at Sam and Cara, at Luke or Lori he sees that they are in shock and they watch with open mouths as the two quarrel. So he does the only thing that goes through his head, grabs the hospital bed and starts pushing it lightly, until he comes out of reserve and moves Meredith.

"You are divorced!" James yells. "So you are none in her life. Nothing! Nada! Nichts! Nimic! Niente! That you are! "

"I will beat you!" Max says and he runs to James and punches him in his face causing Lori to yell, but immediately James punches him too, and in the middle of the hospital ward they start beating each other.

"Do you think we should intervene?" Carter asks London.

"No, let them be. Each of them must be angry. Do you want to come to see Mer? Landon asks, and one by one went out of the room, leaving James and Max to fight.

Just Lori and Sam stayed in the room trying to separate them.

"I... I..." James said, raising his fist to hit Max again... "I can't do it any more, You broke my nose, you piece of shit!" he said, collapsing in his ass.

Max looks at him and immediately falls to the floor, completely exhausted.

"I am not a piece of shit! You are! " You even stink! " he said.

"Are you two done?" Sam asks and James and Max want to look at him but their eyes are so swollen from the beating that they can't even open them anymore.

"James Quinn!" Lori said and started to cry. "You better put Stallion to heal you ASAP or you will sleep in another room. I can't even look at you. "

James tries to get up and take his mate in his arms but collapses immediately.

"You broke my leg?" James asks looking at Max but Max can't even sit on his bottom and immediately falls on his back.

"You broke my ribs! Shit! I can't breathe! " he said.

But looking around suddenly both of them realize something.

"WHERE IS MEREDITH ?!" he asks in unison when Cara returns to the ward.

"Are you two for real or you have no brain? Meredith is unconscious in the ward next door and you fought until you broke your bones. Oh my goddess! Sam, call the doctor. These two need a psychiatric checkup. "

"You better watch your mouth" Max said but Cara starts laughing when she hears him speak. His nose is broken, his lips are broken and he is very swollen so he can't even speak normally. He just blinks at Cara and his words come out of his mouth tangled as if he would be completely drunk.

"Ha ha ha!" Cara said. "What a good joke! Just shut up please "and looking again at Sam she asks" What are you looking for? Go! "

And when the doctor comes back and sees these two, he just freezes.

"What the fuck happened here?"

"Doctor, if I told you these two fought like that, would you believe me?" Cara asks him, while Sam appears in her back.

"No, I'd rather think there were werewolves in this world than believe that these two, who looked normal ten minutes ago, managed to fight like that with their bare hands. You say the train hit them! "

And looking at their wounds he said.

"I need to see them urgently.. They may have some internal bleeding "

"No, they haven't, they are .." Sam tries to say but in an instant James and Max start to yell.

"It hurts too much! Please put me in a hospital bed! "

"What is going on?" Sam asks Max through his mindlink but Max ignores him and says:

"Doctor, I need to be in the same ward with my wife!"

"Impossible!" the doctor said and right at that moment some nurses came in and put James and Max in some wheelchairs and took them to a ward next to Meredith's.

"No, let me stay with my wife!" Max said, upset.

"Nurse!" the doctor said. "Make them a sedative.!"

"No, my wife !!" Max said starting to get dizzy.

"My little sis!" James said as his eyes began to close.

Lori, Cara and Sam just look at them sitting in their hospital beds, completely in the dream world.

"Nurse," Cara said. "That one, the one that looks like Noah Mills, I heard him say he has stomach problems. Do you think you can make him an enema?" she, making asks Lori to burst in laugh, but Sam jumps up immediately and stops the nurse.

"Ignore her please. She is just joking. " and drags her out.

34 Chapter 34 You are none in her life

"Are you nuts?" he asks Cara, but she is just looking at him and being agitated by the adrenaline of the last events she catches Sam and drags him to her and tells him.

"Shut up, Samuel Jackson, just shut up and kiss me!"

Comment ⁰

Leave the first comment for this chapter.

Vote

Send Gift

Swipe left to continue >