

50 Chapter 50 I have rules!

Max's Cruz POV 1

"So you are giving me a chance" he said looking at Meredith and catching her hand in his hand and pulling her toward him.

"Chance is a very permissive word. This is far from a chance. You hurt me." she said. "Back then you made me feel unwanted and insignificant."

"I am sorry," Max said. "I will make things right. Now everyone knows that you are my wife. I will show the entire world what you are made of" he said looking at her with love.

"Kiss her, please!" Stuck said, but Max ignored him.

"What I am made of?" Meredith asked because she is not understanding what Max is blabbering about.

"You are made from flesh and soul. But this flesh is the most beautiful one I have ever seen. You are an angel Meredith. The most beautiful one. Since the first time you entered my office I was shocked to see how beautiful you were."

"I was always beautiful, you moron!" she said looking at him with tears in her eyes. Is he really confessing to her for the first time?

"I still don't understand why you looked different on our wedding day and why I didn't know that day that we are mates.

"I was stung by a bee that day. Actually, I arranged by myself the meeting with that bee"

"What?" Max asked, almost yelling. "You fooled me?"

"Only because you ignored me and never came to meet each other before our wedding."

"I am sorry" Max said and dragged her until her head was in his chest and he put his large hands around her tiny body.

"And about knowing that we have been mates since then. The truth is that none know the date of my birth. My parents chose a date for me, so we could celebrate."

Max kissed her head and whispered.

"It is all my fault" and lifting her chin so he can see her eyes he said:

"I need you to believe in me, that I want you, and that I know that you don't trust me now, but you will start to see how much I love you, and you will start to love me too."

"Because you let your wolf put a spell on me, by imprinting me" she said pouting her lips.

"Don't pout your lips, Meredith. Because I will kiss you if you do that." and he laughs seeing her how she puts a hand over her mouth.

"I have rules" Meredith said.

"I am listening" and Max looked at her.

"You will not mark me without my consent" Meredith said.

"I agree, I would never do that to you" Max said.

"I can't live with you right now, maybe in the future I will have the strength to do it, but right now, I am not feeling comfortable with it."

"I give you one month!" Max said, looking at her.

"Six!" Meredith said squeezing her eyes at him and making him laugh and he can't resist anymore and kissed her lips, putting his tongue on her lips waiting for access and as soon as Meredith lets him he does her magic, making her melt.

"Three months is the most I can offer you. After that you will live with me in the same house. I need to know that you are always safe."

"Four!" she said looking in his eyes.

"Shit! Four!" Max said unable to resist her charm.

"She is the one who put a spell on us!" Stark said.
"Just a look and we are smiling like some fools"

"You have more rules or that is all?" Max asks caressing her cheek with his fingers, enjoying the tingles.

"Of course I have more rules!" Meredith almost yelled at him. " You don't get away with it so easily! "

" No sex!" Meredith said in one breath. making Max's face darken.

"Not just a little bit?" he asked with puppy eyes.

"No, you had enough during our marriage, now you will let your friend detoxify."

"Detoxify!" Max yelled.

"Yes, show me that you can be loyal and when I will trust you I will reconsider what I said."
Meredith said, smiling and amusing herself looking at his face.

"What about you?" Max asked. "If I can't do it,
you will not do it either!"

"I can do whatever I want. I didn't cheat on you five years ago!" she said proudly.

"I will kill any man that touches you!" Max said, almost trembling.

" another rule is that Once a week we will do something together" Meredith said.

"Sex?" he asked, smiling at her.

"No, you fool!" Meredith said, looking at him menacingly. "We will have a dinner together, or see a movie together, or something else that will offer us some time to get to know each other."

"This is easy!" Max said making his mind to have such a time daily not weekly.

"And the last one," Meredith said. "Don't mock me with our marriage. We are not married. Marriage is about something else. If you will not respect this I will go to the City Hall and divorce by myself!"

"But the truth is that we are still married. Can I move with you like Sam did?" he asked her "You are not moving with me, I am moving with you. Is different!" he said, smiling at her.

"You are a scoundrel, you know that?" Meredith asked him, laughing.

"Is that a yes!" Max asks, seeing her laughing.

"Of course...it is not!" Meredith said.

"You are a heartless wife!" Max said this time pouting his lips just as Meredith did a few moments ago, and making her feel the need to kiss him.

"You know what, I have my own rules too" he said, realizing something.

"If you're going to deprive me of sex I will kiss you anytime I want!"

"What?" No! I object!" Meredith yelled.

"Every time you object to something I will kiss you ! Rule number two!" he said and kissed her directly.

"I obje..." Meredith wants to say but keeps her mouth closed.

"You will come and work with me, nothing has changed." he said and Meredith approved with a nod from her head.

"You will call me hubby!" Max said, laughing hard.

"Never!" Meredith said, swearing him in her heart.

"At least in public. " Max said.

"I will call you darling in public, but this is all. I am not the type to bribe her man with her words."

"Try it now!"

"No, we are not in public!" Meredith said.

"Are you objecting?" he asked, waiting for her response with his lips prepared to attack her lips again.

"No darling, I am not!" she said and turned her back to him, but he catches her in his arms and whispering in her ears he said:

"Thank you darling!" and he kissed her neck in the place where his mark someday will stay, making Meredith lose her balance.

"Maximilian Cruz!" she yelled at him.

"yes darling?" he asked letting her go.

"I have a new rule!" and looking at him she said.

"No kissing in public!"

"No, I made my rule about kissing before you. That means that I win!" And he drags her to him and kisses her again.

"You are a scoundrel!" she said but she is laughing this time.

"You like me!" he said.

"You wish!" she laughs at him...but yes...she likes him.