

83 Chapter 83 Artemis Lykaina

Meredith's POV 1

"Oh my goddess!" I yelled, clasping my hands in the makeshift bed I was sitting on.

The pain is unreal. I feel like something is crushing me, even the mere fact that I'm sitting on this bed hurts me.

"Help me!" I yelled in panic. "I can't breathe!"

"Please, somebody help me!"

And just then the door opens and I see Federico Castellano entering, I want to tell him something but instead of words a strong growl escapes from my mouth, making him mute.

"Shit!" he just said, looking at my neck.

"This piece of shit bite you and run?" and I see him laughing and trying to come near me, looking at me like I am his prey.

"Craig !!!!!" he yells and when Vincenzo's beta enters and sees me he stops in the door frame.

"What the hell did you do, Vincenzo?"

"Help me put her down!" Federico said. "I want to mark her as mine!"

And hearing him I start to struggle more, and as I move more, every cell in my body seems to shake and force me to transform.

"It hurts too much!" I yelled again when I felt my bones start to crack. The worst sensations are when my spine suddenly cracks and seems to suddenly lengthen, causing my entire muscles to contract.

"I said, help me catch her!" Federico said, but Craig turned his back and told him.

"You are not my alpha, so fuck off! I must find Vincenzo" and he left me alone with this psychopath.

He just stays in front of me and puts his hand on my hips trying to make me sit still but I can't. His touch is burning me.

The harder I try to resist, the more aggressive Federico becomes, to the point where just touching me is not enough for him.

Out of a movement he tears my clothes and looking at my torn abdomen, he takes a step back.

"So this is the reason for your transformation" he laughs, "Now let me offer you a complete experience." And he elongated his fangs and leaned over me, trying to mark me.

I want to scream at him but instead of screaming all I can say is a creepy growl, even louder than the one before and Federico starts to laugh.

"You are a fighter," he said and he unzips his trousers and wants to try to take advantage of my state of incapacity.

"NO!" I say it in my mind but right when I thought that I would have no chance in front of him, because the pain makes me unable to fight, right then I heard a voice in my mind.

"I am here!" a strong and clear voice said and in an instant something turned me upside down. When I opened my eyes I was in four limbs, or better said four paws.

"Holy shit!" Federico said, taking a step back and trying to lift his zipper.

I walk in his direction while he seems to run away from me. What is he doing? Where is his courage now?

"Go away!" he yelled at me.

What the fuck is going on? I asked myself as I continued to walk towards him.

"He's a fucking coward!" a voice said "He's afraid!"

And I just stopped looking around for the voice owner.

"Maybe you should search in your head" the voice said laughing. "Hello, Meredith"

"Holy godde .." I start to say and now I see Federico running while eating the earth.

"Let the goddess alone, Meredith. I am Artemis, your better half," she said laughing.

"Better half?" I ask her, laughing. "You wish!" and looking in the direction where Federico ran, I told her.

"Help me catch him. That jerk hurt me badly last time I saw him and now he tried to mark me. "

"Mark us! He tried to mark us, not you." Artemis said growling and started to run after him.

"Go away!" we hear Federico "Go away you fucking monster!" he yelled at me.

"Monster?" I asked and watched him as he took a step back but Artemis took control and said in a very commanding voice.

"Shift!"

Federico's face becomes pale.

"Shift, I said!" Artemis said again and this time she hurried towards him, catching him with her fangs by his left leg.

"Leave me alone! I wouldn't have done it! I was joking! I would have never marked you for real! "

and sniffing the air I ask:

"What the fuck is smelling like that?"

"The answer is in front of your face," Artemis said laughing with all her heart.

Shit! I like this sassy wolf. She is not afraid of anything.

"Federico Castellano, did you just shit in your pants?" I asked him but he started to cry.

"Shift or I will kill you in an instant!" Artemis yelled in his face and he transformed in the end.

He is a normal size wolf for an alpha. I know James's and dad wolf, and also I know that Max's wolf, Stark, is a little bit bigger and this jerk wolf is in graphics, so to speak, and yet, why is he looking like a pup under my paws?

"Because we are some goddess, girl!" Artemis said and clenching her fangs in Federico's leg starts to drag him out of the room.

"What?" I ask her in shock.

"We are Lykaina, Artemis Lykaina, the She-Wolf."

I can't even articulate. What is Artemis talking about?

"Artemis the goddess, Artemis!?!?!? She was the first Luna. She was Selene, she was not real! Thousands of years ago humans needed a good story, what are you talking about?" I ask, trying to focus on what she is doing and tell me at the same time.

She catches Federico's leg and spins with him in the air and throws him and hits him against a wall making him faint directly.

"I am the daughter of the Moon Goddess, and you are also, because we are one body and one soul, Meredith. We define each other."

"But .." I try to say. "I am human"

"It's a long story and one day the Moon Goddess, our mother, will tell you but right now we must run out from here, before I will not kill this jerk for real."

"Let's go!" I tell her because all I want is to see the sunlight, or the moonlight. And I need fresh air, I feel like I'm in a basement here.

But I don't even take two steps and immediately behind me that jerk of Federico, who was supposed to be fainted, sticks his claws and his fangs and tries to mark me from behind.

And that's it.

I closed my eyes and let Artemis do her job. Screams and growls, that all you can hear around us. And just before to break that fucking jerk neck she said"
