

88 Chapter 88 They still have each other

Meredith's POV 1

"Sam, Luke, I will stay here. Just go home and take a shower, eat something, take a nap... anything. But you can't continue like this."

"I can't leave her alone," Sam said, kissing Cara's forehead.

"You are here for a week already and believe me that Cara will appreciate your effort but when she will open her eyes she will die in the next second. You stink, Sam. Go and take a bath. I will stay with her."

And I signal Max to take him out.

"And you Luke!"

"No!" he said.

"Don't make me use my luna command on you." I tell him, smiling at him. "I am doing it for Vivi. She is pale and tired and does not want to leave you alone. Take her and sleep at least one hour."

"Let's go Sam, and you Luke" Max said. "She is right. At this rate, you will be placed in a hospital ward too. This is not what Cara or Leia would want." and he does what I was not able to do. He commands them to submit. Not being marked I don't feel right using my luna command, even if I can.

"Thank you," I mindlink Max, who is smiling at me.

"I will put those two stinky men in a shower and come back to you" he says and winks at me.

Alright! I am alone with my girls now. I can't stay with both of them at the same time, but Francois is still at Leia's door so I asked him.

"We are alone, so start and speak until I don't beat your ass!" and I smile at him.

This stupid never left the hospital. He eats at her ward's door, sleeps at her door and baths in the public toilet from the hospital, because Luke is not letting him put his feet on Leia's ward.

"It's nothing!" Francois said, looking at the floor.

"I know you Francois!" I told him. "So tell me everything or I will put you in the first airplane back to Paris!" and I see his panicked face.

"I don't know why I'm staying here like a fool but I can't leave. I think she put some spell on me and that's why!"

"She didn't," I told him.

"How can you be so sure? Look at you. You were normal and now you are a fucking anima.." but he stops from what he was saying.

"Animal?" I asked him.

"I saw the photos from the place where you and Vivi were held when you were kidnapped. I've seen what your father and brother did. Werewolves are predators. "

"We are not!" I told him. "We love too much and when what we love is in danger then evil comes out from us. But having "the animal" you're talking about doesn't make us any less human, Francois. "

"Look what that Max Cruz did to you!" Francois pointed to me.

"He did nothing, another wolf transformed me" I tell him and he looks at me with his big blue eyes.

"So, why are you guarding this door?" I asked him again.

"Because I've heard you say that she was weak because I rejected her, and she couldn't defend herself. I feel responsible for this "

"You shouldn't!" I tell him even if I know that somehow he is.

"Tell that to her brother!" Francois snorted at me.

"She's his only relative, Francois. Just as Vivi is yours. You two are a lot alike." and I smile at him.

"So she didn't put a spell on me?" he suddenly asked.

"No, you stupid man! She accepted your rejection."

"Can I take back the rejection? Is it reversible?" he asks me and now I know what is happening with him.

"I am afraid you can't" and his face falls to the ground. "But until she will find another mate, if she will survive, you still have a chance to show her that you are sorry. You can make her accept you even as stupid as you are."

And he is looking at me with his puppy eyes.

"Watch her door!" I call him commanding. "Don't let anyone get over Leia." and immediately I returned to Cara's room where I left her for a few minutes with a nurse, but as soon as I touched the doorknob, I felt the blood smell.

Artemis takes control and puts the door on the ground without caring that I'm in a hospital.

The nurse I let her stay with Cara lays dead on the ward floor with her neck torn and a woman that stays with her back on me suffocates Cara with her pillow.

"Leave her alone!" I yelled at her and removed my claws by inserting them directly into the woman's arms.

"MAX, HELP!" I yelled through my mindlink.
"Someone tries to kill Cara!"

I put the woman on the ground and Francois and the doctors, alarmed by my yells, came into the ward.

"Help Cara! I say. She tried to kill her!" I told the doctors.

"Watch Leía, Francois!" I yelled at Francois.
"What are you doing here?" and he runs to her ward.

"Who the fuck are you?" I asked the woman who started to laugh in my face while I punched her.

But she elongates her claws and tries to stick them in me. I punch her again, and the woman manages to scratch me, tearing my shirt. I feel the blood flowing slowly from my shoulder, but I keep her on the ground with my hands around her neck, trying to strangle her neck.

"She is strong!" Artemis said. "And her face is extremely well known!"

"Who are you!? !?" I asked her again.

But right then Max and Sam followed by Luke, dad and mom entered the ward.

"Mother!" Sam suddenly yelled and my heart just stopped.

"MOTHER?" I ask her and then everything takes shape. She looks like Veronica.

Max takes me in his arms and starts to look at my superficial wound, while his dad and his mom take the woman from the ground.

"Mother!" Sam asked, trembling. "What have you done?"

"What I asked Veronica to do and she was just as incompetent as she always were. At least she managed to kill that bastard in her womb!" the woman said without looking at Sam, but looking with a lot of hatred at Cara, who is receiving medical care.

"Marion," dad said, "she is your daughter in law. How could you?"

And Sam is so lost right now that my heart breaks for him. He lost his pup, his mate fought to survive, he lost his sister somewhere in this world and now his mother.

"That useless omega will never be a part of this family. My daughter should be your luna!" she yelled in Max's face. "You fucked her for years and when you found this shitty human, you left her!"

And Max leaves my hand and in one move he transforms and puts her on the ground. Stark catches her neck and sticks his fangs in her throat, but he hasn't killed her yet.

"Marion!" suddenly a man who looked a lot with Sam yelled from the door. "What have you done!"

"I did the right thing!" she said and pulls out her claws trying to hit Max but he ends her life in a second without caring who she is.

Everyone is mute and none can even articulate a single word. Sam's father collapses to the ground seeing his mate dead, but Sam's face is just blanked. He goes to Cara and takes her hand in his hand.

"Take her body away from here," Sam said after some time, refraining from crying and the doctors and the nurses started to take the dead body from Cara's ward.

"I'm sorry, man," Max said, returning to his human form. "I know she was your mother but she was too much. I couldn't allow her to talk about Meredith like that."

"Don't Max. I would have killed her too, but you were faster." Sam said without looking at his mother's body.

"Alpha Carter" Sam says looking at his father. "If I don't ask you too much, can you help him? Just ... I just can't look at him now." Both Carter and Lisa immediately take David Jackson and support him, pulling him out of Cara's ward.

"Is she ok?" Sam asks the doctors when he was left alone with me and Max. "Is my mate fine?"

"I believe she is. Look!" one of the doctors said, and right then we see Cara opening her eyes. She looks around the ward and seeing us she tries to say something but she can't. She moves her hands a little just to touch her womb and she feels... nothing..no tummy... no baby.

She is too weak to speak, so she just cries in silence.

"Don't cry!" Sam said, climbing into bed next to her and taking her in his arms. "I am here, please, don't cry," he said and he started to cry as well.

"Let's go" I say and signal everyone to leave her and Sam alone.

"Will they be okay?" Max asks looking at the door that closes behind us.

"They both lost a lot!" I tell them. "But they still have each other. Let's hope it's enough. "

