

89 Chapter 89 I can't change anything

Author's POV 1

Meanwhile in Cara's ward, Sam holds Cara to his chest, and gently strokes her trying to calm her down.

"I am so sorry, Sam" Cara said when in the end she found some strength to recover her voice. "I lost our baby. I was not able to defend him "

"What?" Sam asked in shock "This is not your fault. What happened was a crime against our family, orchestrated even by my own family. You told me, my love, you told me what my mom did to you and yet, I didn't believe she was able to touch you knowing that you are mine." Sam said with a trembling heart.

"What are you talking about?" Cara asked.

"Is not the moment to explain now because I am not able to process what happened either, my love, but when you will be fine I will tell you everything"

"I want my baby back, Sam," Cara said bursting into tears.

"I want him back too. But he is not here anymore. " and he put his nose on her neck and kissed his mark, making her calm.

"I promise, Cara. I promise that none will ever touch you again. I will kill anyone who will rise against our family." and he lifts her lightly and places her on his lap, holding her to his chest like a small child until she manages to calm down and fall asleep in his arms.

How will he tell the love of his life, his fated mate, that everything that happened is his own family fault? And he is so panicked that he is almost going crazy.

But when Cara is finally asleep he hears a knock at the door and there is no need to ask the person about his identity because he knows who it is.

This man stayed at his door, on the other side for the last five hours, since Max killed his mom.

"Dad," Sam said without being able to look into his eyes.

If his father is a part of this shit he will never forgive him.

"Son .." David Jackson said, almost collapsing. "I didn't know" he said and he looked like a walking dead. He is pale and his face is in deep pain for losing his fated mate, for finding out that his own mate tried something so criminal against her own family.

And looking back he realized that even Veronica's actions are Marion's wishes. She encouraged Veronica to approach Max, to sleep with him, to try to kill Cara and who knows what other things she did.

"I am so sorry" David said, staying on his feet with his head bowed.

"But now you know, dad." Sam said without looking at him.

" I would have never raised my hand against your mate. If you wanted to break up with her it was different, but knowing that you love her I accepted her. And I thought that your mother did it too. I didn't know. "

"She is still in danger, dad. As time Veronica is free she is still in danger. So is our luna, "Sam said without knowing how strong Meredith is now.

"I am so sorry" David said again but this time Sam exploded.

"Will you shut up! You are sorry, you are sorry..." he said raising his voice and awakening Cara, who looks at him panicked;

If she will lose Sam too and he will leave her after losing the baby she will not be able to survive.

"Shhht" Sam said, kissing her forehead. "I am here" and he puts his cheek on the top of her head. "Don't be scared, I am here and I am not leaving" he said as if he knew what was in her heart.

"Cara" David said "I am sorry for everything" and he left the room in a rush.

"What's everything?" Cara asked, looking in Sam's eyes.

"Shit" Leo, his wolf said. "How the fuck will we explain her what happened.?" and Sam just stays there and tears start to flow, wetting Cara's hair.

"It's my fault for everything," he said at last.

"Is not, and you know it" Cara said, lifting her head and looking into his teary eyes.

"But it is. You told me how my mother acted against you, I've seen it with my own eyes how she acted when we had dinner together and yet I thought she was harmless. "

"Sam, what are you talking about?" Cara said feeling that she is going crazy." It was Veronica who.."

"All this is my mother's creation." Sam said looking straight in Cara's eyes and she is seeing all the pain he suffers right now.

"I will kill her!" Cara said.

"Too late!" Sam said, smiling sadly. "She is already dead!"

"What?" And this time Cara easily detaches herself from Sam and looks at him in shock.

"Max killed her for disrespecting Meredith and for trying to kill you a few hours ago. And he did me a favor because I was intending to kill her with my own hands."

"Sam," Cara said with a soft voice. "I'm so sorry"

"Are you sorry?" he asks, laughing bitterly.

"YOU? ARE YOU SORRY?"

And she just looks at him because she doesn't understand if what he says is a reproach but immediately Sam continues.

"My family almost destroyed your life, you should feel everything else but not feel sorry for them. How will I look into your eyes knowing that my own blood and flesh is responsible for everything?"

"You are not your family" Cara said and getting up on her knees she took Sam's face in her palms and kissed his lips lightly.

"I lost, we lost our baby, because he was ours not just mine. And now I know that was not my fault and is not yours either. Shit happened," Cara said. "And when the shit happens because of someone we love the pain is even worse, but this is what makes us stronger." and looking in his eyes she said.

"At least I still have you by my side" and she kissed his lips in a tender way making his tormented heart calm down.

"You're not mad at me?" Sam ask, looking straight in her gorgeous blue eyes and arranging her hair behind her ears so that she could look at her whole face.

"No, Sam. This is not your fault and even if it were I know you would never have done anything that intentionally hurt me. "

"I love you so much," Sam said, looking into her eyes. "I thought that I lost you. That you will never come back to me, that you will hate me finding out the truth "

"I am sad, Sam. And Cici is the emotional ground for losing our pup, but I can't change anything. I am weak but after everything that happened I know that this can't happen again. "

"And it won't because from now on I will keep you by my side all the time."

"Will you help me become stronger?" Cara asks him with pleading eyes.

"What do you mean?" Sam asks.

"Will you train me?"

"There is no need to force yourself. I will protect you!" Sam said but immediately Cara looks into his eyes and he feels like his life is threatened.

"Is that what you want?" He asks her and puts his hand on her womb, as he did when their pup was still inside, but he immediately feels a great emptiness in his heart.

"This is what I want." Cara said and Sam's heart was proud seeing her so determined.

"I will train you." he whispers, kissing her neck.

"You will?" Cara said, putting her head on his chest and caressing his chest with her little hands.

"I will, but I want you to know I'm a tough teacher," he said smiling.

"I hope so" she said in a sweet voice that made both Leo and Sam realize that she is still Cara, the sweet girl that stole his heart.