

Chapter 10 Chapter 10

"Thank goddess you're okay! When I didn't see you here when I got here I thought that you were hurt. Where is your mate? Is he nice? I see he hasn't marked you yet, that's a plus right? That's what you wanted right?" Emma rambles and only stop when she sees the look on my face. "What's wrong? What did he do? You look pale? Should I call the warriors they'll kill him?"

As soon as she threatens his life I hear an earth shattering growl and I am ripped away from her. The fear in her eyes is obvious as she looks to the male I am pressed against.

I hope their meeting goes well unlike me.

Emma's mate pulls her behind him and take position in a defense stance, he stares down my mate. They are both silent and I take this time to briefly study him. His features are similar to my mates and I assume they are somehow related.

"Take control of your mate Lorcan. I will not have my life threatened by that pup again without repercussions. I do not care that you are my beta or my brother."

My theory by his last statement is confirmed and take notice that people are watching us. Of course anyone would take notice I look like a lost kid standing beside a naked male who is no less than a giant. People take notice of my mate as if he is a rare specie, even high rank males of other packs seem to be afraid of him, but why? Now that I am sure my mate is an Alpha but that doesn't mean that everyone should be afraid of him. It's not like he's a royal blood. Royal blooded wolves rarely attend the hunt and I know for sure that he is not a royal blood.

But I am relieved of the fact that Emma will be coming to the same pack as me. I may have just met her but I don't think I would be able to handle the transitions without her. The man who I assume is Lorcan nods at my mate and I freeze when he speaks the words that shocked me to my core.

"I assure you it will not happen again, Alpha King. I will take care of it."

HOLY SHIT!

I AM SO DONE!

I AM MATED TO ALPHA KING!

ALPHA ZADEN KING!

NO FREAKING WAY!

Why moon goddess why?

What did I do to deserve this piece of shit as my mate? Sorry a piece of very fine and hot shit?

This cannot be happening For a moment I feel that I am going to die here due to heart attack. I try to gain back my senses and struggle to get away from him but his hold on me becomes even tighter. I look at him and he gives me a sadistic smile and says,

"well little mate now you know my name and my position, so I would like to officially welcome you to my pack, Riven Adams daughter of an Alpha, oh no! maybe I should correct my statement Riven Adams king Luna of the Blood Eclipse pack."

I stand there with my mouth open, gaping at him. Never ever in my life I imagine my mate to be him. I mean I get it he seems powerful and all, and he radiates the strongest aura among all the males present here but Alpha of the Blood Eclipse pack?! Never in my current life and afterlife and a life even after that I would have expected him to be my mate.

My days of freedom are so over.

I look towards Emma to see her face paled and her eyes looking at me with worry. And I share the same worry as her. But her mate seems nice. At least he will take care of her, but I can't say the same about mine.

I look from her to her mate back at her again, as I am about to speak to ensure her not to worry about me. I don't get the chance to, I hear a shrill shriek come from the side of me just as I am about to turn I am knocked over by another person.

I dodge most of the punches and get in the fighting stance but before the things get really dirty my assailant is ripped away from me.

I am not sure what just happened? But this person definitely hates. I inhale and exhale slowly to relax my mind. And try to take a look towards my assailant and see Victoria being held back by who I assume is her mate.

"You whore. How dare you be mated with him you knew he was mine!"

she struggles against her capturer and that's when I realize I am also being held back.

I feel the tingles on my arm and know that it's Zaden but I do my best to ignore them, these sparks are messing with my head.

"How am I a whore? You think this was my choice? You act like this was my plan all along. Wake up Queen Victoria you're not a real queen, I haven't even known you long enough to plot some evil plan against you!"

I replied in a calm manner which I am totally not, things will only get worse if I also start to act like a three year old like her. Zaden is rubbing my arm in a soothing manner to calm me. I feel tingles all the way up on my arm which are pretty distracting, but it makes me feel good for a while for this simple gesture which was unexpected from him. But I am glad, maybe he's not that bad as everyone assume.

I can feel the body heat that's coming from him, it's also very soothing and calming.

Victoria on the other hand is going crazier by each passing second. She smirks and says something unexpected that makes me and my mate freeze on the spot.

"Reject him!"
