

19 Chapter 19

Wolfgang's POV 1

I was currently sitting in my office with Remus and Max going through the preparations for the next alpha summit that will be carry out in a month. There I hope to gain more comrades and alliances for the upcoming war with the rogues.

We've discovered that the person leading this army in non other than Klaus, the son of the rogue who murdered my mother and father.

After our encounter seven years ago on the battlefield, he has been gathering more rogues and haven been spotted around the border of the village.

This summit is precise for us to finally be ready and deal with those bastards once and for all.

"I happened to meet Miss Craton yesterday as she was heading out to the backyard forest. She claimed her wolf needed a run." Remus announced breaking me out of my train of thoughts.

"What?! Why didn't you inform me right away?!" I growled at my gamma who sat there as he read through some files.

"Relax alpha. I didn't allow her to go." He retorted.

"Good. The forest is dangerous at this moment." I immediately relaxed. What was wrong with that girl? It's as if she was eager to get herself in danger.

"She should have asked me to escort her if she needed to go out for a run." Max jumped in. "I'd be more than happy to."

"She is forbidden of leaving the premises until further notice Max. She shouldn't have even been in the backyard." I shot at my beta pissed at the idea of him sharing alone time in the forest with my mate.

'So she is our mate.' Cronnos retorted in my mind snickering. Damn it.

"What? Is she some sort of captive now? Why are you being so harsh on the girl Wolfie?" Max asked me.

"He claims to have her under surveillance for the robbery incident from the party. But I think there's something more to it." Remus said as he placed down the files and took off his glasses to wipe them off.

"What do you mean Remus?" Max asked but I knew where he was heading with this. I could feel my body tensing up.

"I've been watching the girl for the past couple of weeks myself, and I must say that I don't seem to sense any kind of ill will in her. I don't think she is a thief. And I'd advise you to remove the warning you placed on her before she gets hurt." Remus said looking me straight in the eye.

"So, Rory is here because of some misunderstanding? Smooth move Wolfie." Max said as he wiggled his eyebrows at me. "Why don't you come clean and accept that you have a thing for the girl. I mean, she's really cute."

"You both forget that I am currently in a relationship with Tallulah." I shot at them.

"Yeah. Coincidentally you started dating that crazy chic right after I pointed out how obvious you make it look on the preferences you're giving Rory. Come on man, we get it. You like her. What's wrong about that?" Max questioned.

"I do not like that woman. And I told you before. Even if I had intentions of commitment, I'd seek someone more suitable to name as my Luna, hence why I started dating Tallulah. You could say you made me realize that." I shot back at Max.

"Whatever dude." Max finally gave up rolling his eyes. "Luckily Rory hasn't found her mate yet. Maybe she'd like to date me instead."

I could feel my blood boiling just at the thought of Aurora dating any other male.

"Yes. That's the strangest part. Neither Alpha Wolfgang nor Miss Craton has found their mate, yet their wolves share the perfect match names."

I could see Cronnos ears point up as he immediately stood to hear this new piece of information about our mate.

"What do you mean Remus?" I asked him not wanting to know his answer.

"Did you know that Miss Craton's wolf name is Rhea?" He said causing a special type of shock course through my body. I had never felt something like that before.

"What?! You're kidding right? Who told you that?" Max asked, excitement clear in his eyes.

"Miss Craton happened to mention her name when she spoke to me yesterday. I cannot deny how surprised I was at the coincidence but, it seems strange that she hasn't felt any pull towards a mate, specifically you, Alpha Wolfgang." Remus commented.

"Why would she feel any type of mate pull towards me? It's a coincidence yes that we share match names, but that omega she-wolf, and I share no other bond. And I'll advise you two to drop it before I lock you both in the dungeons for pissing me the fuck off." I growled as I stood from my desk and headed out of the office.

This new piece of information was too much to digest. Aurora's wolf name was Rhea. Moon goddess, is this some sort of punishment? Why do you insist on matching me with that omega wolf?

As I walked through the passageway on my way to the stairs, the familiar sweet scent of a certain she-wolf caught my attention. Images of the night I kissed her came back to my mind as my body craved to touch her again.

'Control yourself Wolfgang.' I reprimanded myself as I shook my head. I can't let the carnal urges take over me.

If this mating would have been in different circumstances and I'd accepted Aurora right then and there, by now I would have marked her, completing the mating bond. No other wolf would dare come near her once they see my fangs marked deep into her skin. But here I stood, unable of accepting her or rejecting her.

Her sweet aroma once again permeated in the air and as I caught a whiff of it, my body instinctively began moving. She was not alone. She was in the company of another male wolf.

I marched through the passage and down the stairs swerving right into the kitchen where I found my mate sitting on the counter while the sous chef sucked on her index finger. They were the only two persons in the room.

I couldn't help the growl that escaped my mouth as I grabbed the cook by his collar and threw him to the side.

"Tony!" I heard my mate shout after him gaining my attention. I turned to my mate who had hopped off the counter and was about to run over the guy. This pissed me off even more.

"What the fuck were you two doing?" I growled at them as I watched her help the cook up to his feet.

"Alpha Wolfgang, what do you mean? Aurora was helping me with dinner, and she got her finger cut and I was helping her stop the blood." The cook named Gibbons said as he steadied himself on his feet.

"What's going on in here?" Kala rushed in with Beau and a couple of other maids. "Oh my goddess Tony. Are you okay? What happened?"

I glared at the man before turning to face my head of maids and clearing this out before they misread things.

"Nothing Kala. Just a misunderstanding." I glared at the young cook, daring him to say something but he knew better, so he nodded in agreement.

"Just an accident Mrs. Kala. I'm gonna head over to the infirmary." He said as he began to walk off with a limp.

"I'll go with you Tony." Aurora started to walk alongside of him, but I stopped her.

"No. You're coming with me." I told her.

"But, he got hit in the head. I just want to make sure he's all right." She answered back, causing anger to stir within me once more.

"Kala can go with him. Now follow me." I ordered leaving no room for further discussion.

"It's all right Rory. I'll be fine." The guy assured her as Kala took his side and they both left the kitchen.

I started to head out the other kitchen door when I noticed Aurora's hesitance to follow. "Any time today, miss Craton." I growled as I continued to walk.

I headed through the passageway with Aurora close behind. I could feel her anxiety. She didn't want to be near me.

'Geez. I wonder why?' Cronnos retorted in my mind.

Once I was sure there was no one nearby I turned and grabbed Aurora by her arms, pinning her to the wall. "Why the fuck were you alone with that man back there?" I growled at her.

"Mrs. Kala asked me to help Tony in pre... preparing dinner because Beau had a school meeting with his son, Allen. Th... The others were on their break." She answered me; fear etched in her eyes.

'Damn it kid. You're scaring her!' Cronnos shot at me in my head. I released my hold on her arms, but I still kept her trapped between my body and the wall. I would be lying if I said I did not like the feel of her body close to mine. Would I ever experience this feeling again if I rejected her and took someone else as my mate?

"Alpha Wolfgang, Please don't punish Tony. I was the clumsy one handling the knife." She said causing me to get angry again. Here we were, our mouths inches away from each other, I've been fighting against my carnal instincts to claim her lips, and she's worried about that cook.

"You and that cook are to never work together again. I'll make sure of that." I growled at her.

"What? How will that..." She started to ask but I cut her off.

"I'll have him reassigned somewhere else. He won't be working in the mansion house again." I told her and saw how her eyes widen in shock.

"You can't do that. Tony had nothing to do..." I cut her off once more.

"I do not care. You two are never working together again. That's final." I told her and saw her eyes moistened with tears. She shoved me, surprising the fuck out of me, but of course I didn't budge. She could not move my huge frame even if she wanted to. "What do you think you're doing?" I asked her.

"Trying to get away from you!" She glared daggers at me, her face contorted in rage.

"Oh really?" I asked her as I pressed my body more against her. "It seems like it isn't working." I said to her and I couldn't avoid the smirk that crept on my face.

"I hate you! I hate being your mate! I hate you!" She growled at me. Her cheeks soaked in tears. That's when I couldn't control myself any longer and I kissed her. At first she fought against me, she kept her lips locked tight and pushed me, but I was not letting her go without her kissing me back. She struggled against me a couple more seconds when I felt her give into me, allowing my tongue to explore every inch of her mouth.

Damn it. Why does she taste so good. This woman was driving me crazy. I wanted more from her, so I took her arms and wrapped them around my neck, my hands caressing her slim shape from her waist down until her hips. Her hands had ascended to my head as she pulled and gripped my hair. I could feel my dick getting hard and I involuntarily pressed myself more against her. I felt her moan in my mouth when she felt my shaft, making me turn on even more. I wanted this girl and I wanted her now.

'Damn it, Wolfgang. Control yourself.' I kept shouting in my mind, but my body wouldn't register it. I could not stop kissing her. I wanted more of her.

Suddenly, I felt someone coming down the hall, so I quickly let go of her and took a good distance from between the two of us. We both were out of breath.

"I don't want to see you near that cook again. Got it?" I told her before I stormed off to the second floor and before I entered the office, I took the time to compose myself. I didn't want my beta and gamma noticing anything. I entered into my office and I could tell Remus and Max were eyeing me suspiciously, but I ignored them both and focused on my computer screen.

"Had some fun did we now?" Max was snickering as Remus shook his head.

"What the hell are you talking about?" I asked him annoyed at his childish antics.

"Oh, I don't know. When you left a while ago, your hair didn't look the way it does right now?" He kept snickering.

"Just check yourself in the mirror alpha." Remus commented, his face one of complete boredom.

I turned my PC screen off and noticed that my hair was a complete mess. This must've happened when Aurora passed her hands in it. Damn it. Just remembering it all made my dick hard again. Aurora, you are gonna be the end of me.

"You both are dismissed." I told them as I tried to bury myself in work.

"Yay!" Max shouted gleefully as he got up of his chair and practically ran out the office. Remus was right behind him before he stopped and addressed me.

"Alpha Wolfgang. I highly recommend you withdraw that warning over miss Craton's head. The girl seems harmless to me. I wouldn't want anything to happen to her." He said before leaving the office.

'Your gamma is right boy. We both know she isn't a thief.' Cronnos said to me.

'I'll deal with that afterwards, when I reject her.' I answered him as I opened the mails in my computer.

"Don't let harm come to that girl because of your selfishness boy.' He growled but I ignored him as I read through my hotel reservation for the summit.

Right then there was a knock on the door.
"Come in."

In came Tallulah in some tight skinny jeans and a crop top that reveal too much of her cleavage.

"What do you want?" I asked not bothering to look at her.

"I missed you all day, so I came to see you. I see you're still busy." She said as she came over and sat on my desk before me.

"As a matter of fact, I am Tallulah." I answered her not really interested in what she had to say.

"Oh babe. When are you gonna start to call me baby, honey, darling? When you just mention my name, it feels like I'm being scolded." She pouted her thick lips that were coated in pink lipstick. I only stared at her and went back to my computer.

She then hopped off the desk and came around it, standing right behind me, massaging my shoulders.

"You look so tense babe. Why don't you take some time off and relax?" She said as she nibbled my earlobe and trailed kisses down my neck.

I couldn't help picturing it was Aurora who was doing this all and I took hold of her and dragged her over my lap. I kissed her and she was more than willing to follow into the kiss, one arm wrapped around my neck while the other massaged my hair.

I found myself comparing her to Aurora, and it definitely wasn't the same.

Right then someone walked in and gasped in surprised. When I turned my attention to the door, I felt all color leaving my face when I saw Aurora standing there, hurt printed all over her beautiful face.

"Excuse me. Don't you know how to knock?" Tallulah reprimanded her. "We're kind of in the middle of something here."

"Forgive me." She quickly bowed her head and ran out of the room.

Damn it!

I pushed Tallulah off of me and ran after her, but she was nowhere in sight. Where the hell did she run off to?

I went up to her room, but she wasn't in there.

Why did she even come to the office?

I mind linked Max and asked him if he'd seen Aurora anywhere and was surprised to find out that she was with Aspen in the rose garden.

'She seemed distressed Wolfie. Did you say something to her?' Max asked me.

I stood thinking it over. I did. I made her see something she shouldn't have.

'No. Make sure Aspen doesn't leave her side. Inform her that she is relieved of her duties for the rest of the day.'

'Sure Wolfie. I will tell her.' Max said before cutting the mind link.

I walked back into my office to find Tallulah seated comfortably in my chair.

"I thought you would have left." I told her.

"I was waiting on you baby." She purred as she whipped her blonde hair back.

"Let me rephrase that. I was hoping you would have left." I told her holding back anger. I didn't want to blow up on her.

"Why?" She stood outraged.

"I want to be alone. Now leave." I growled at her.

She stood back clearly intimidated by my aura. "Fine. Only because you asked nicely." She said before walking out the office leaving me alone to my thoughts. 1

'You're such a huge douche bag, you knew that kid? How much longer until you finally realize the harm you're doing to our mate?' Cronnos growled in my mind.

'Not now fleabag.' I blocked him out. I really didn't need him ranting on me right now.

'Suit yourself you dimwit.' 1
