

My Rebirth 181

Chapter 181

Luna just couldn't stand Cassandra's indifferent appearance. She thought Cassandra was deliberately seducing male guests and pretending to be aloof. And occasionally, she would speak with a smile and pretend to care. about others.

Luna thought, "Thomas is my team member. When will it be her turn to care?"

When Thomas heard Luna's words, his face darkened instantly. Even Alan didn't look much better.

"Since you think the barbecue is unsanitary, you don't have to eat it. You can just cook for yourself." Thomas replied coldly.

Now he knew that Cassandra was his cousin, so he didn't need to care. about anything. He just needed to unconditionally protect her.

Amelia was unhappy and said, "Since Luna doesn't want to eat, let's prepare the food for the five of us. Mr. Malan should have it, right?"

Jayce was afraid of being excluded by the divo and diva, so he hurriedly said, "Yes. I haven't eaten barbecue for a long time, and this is all I want."

He was telling the truth and jokingly. It wasn't easy for him to get close to Amelia and Samantha. How could he let it go?

Kenneth also nodded and said, "We won't use too many ingredients for five people."

Therefore, Kenneth volunteered to negotiate with the director, hoping to reduce the number of fish. '50 is a bit too many. Cass would definitely go into the water to catch fish. At that time, if she gets tired, I will be distressed.'

Luna almost choked herself to death. 'Is that what she means? Why don't they let me eat? I want to eat too. So they are just ruling me out? What I mean is that I want them to cook barbecue for me alone. If I have a barbecue in front of the camera, my fans would think it is not decent! I don't mean that I wouldn't eat it!"

[Luna's words are a bit wrong. What does it mean that barbecue is unhealthy? She means we eat junk food all day, while she eats imported food every day. It looks so fashionable.]

[Yeah, yeah. The barbecue is unsanitary all over the country. Don't eat it.]

[If she eats the barbecue tonight, it will be embarrassing for her.].

[Is it funny that you talk like this? Isn't what Luna said wrong? Barbecue is not sanitary. The shelf is so dirty, and the charcoal is used to bake it. It's very dirty, okay? I support Luna.]

[Wow, I've seen people with feet wrapped around their cerebellums. We are in the new age. That kind of idea is outdated.]

[Yes, yes. Your idol grew up drinking dew, and her food is not ordinary. Don't eat anything ordinary, okay?]

[What bad luck! Someone agrees with such a remark. I'm really speechless.]

[I'm the only one who thinks Kenneth is warm? He goes to look for work. quietly again.]

[Upstairs, are you sure he goes to work?]

[Well, no.]

When Kenneth came back five minutes later, Alan announced, "We just mentioned the task of catching 50 fish. Now I give you a discount, 35 will be okay."

Alan wanted to cry. He thought, "This is a lifestyle show. If you don't work, what else you can do? But Kenneth starts to make deals! And we can't refuse any condition. He deserves to be the king at the negotiating table. We can't hold our ground at all!"

When everyone was just about to say "Yeah", Alan said again, "It's a great loss for us. We will refuse Kenneth's negotiation next time."

[Ha-ha-ha-ha!]

[It turns out that Kenneth is not working, but negotiating with the director. The number of fish has changed from 50 to 35.]

[So interesting. The director can't resist Kenneth at all!]

[Director: Why did you ask him to negotiate with me? What should I do if we fail?]

Kenneth was speechless.

Cassandra was speechless too.

Amelia laughed out loud after she came to her senses and said, "Alan, you are so unkind. He is the only one who can negotiate, but you make him. blacklisted! Aren't you a profiteer?"

Kenneth glanced at her from the corner of his eye, but she didn't care.

Alan said angrily, "If you let Kenneth negotiate with us again, then I guess you don't have to work anymore. We can provide it directly."

"This is the highest interpretation of a good life. What's wrong with it?" Thomas also said. He had seen Kenneth's negotiation skills, and they should be much more comfortable with Kenneth here in the future.

Cassandra didn't respond, but changed the subject. "Let's go fishing. We can catch more to make grilled fish."

"Okay." Jayce also got involved and completely forgot about Luna who came with him.

Luna stood there awkwardly. No one paid attention to her. Her eyes gradually turned red and she began to cry.

[Is she wronged? It is she who says the barbecue is unsanitary. Then why does she cry?]

[Yeah, it's a little fake.]

[That's kind of fake. No one criticizes her. She says it herself, and now she feels wronged?]

[Are you still humans? Luna is already very wronged. She is isolated in the show and is about to be exposed on the Internet. Are you heartless?]

[That's right. Can you be more civic-minded? Luna is crying, can't you see?]

[It's boring, isn't it? We made her cry? Do we make her talk nonsense?]

[She should be responsible for what she said. No one will force her to eat it. If she thinks it is unhygienic, just don't eat it.]

[If Luna don't eat barbecue, can't they cook something else for her? Why does she only have barbecue?]

[Sorry, who are you? Who is she? They are all in the same team. Let them put up with her? She and Samantha are not in the same group, and Samantha has no obligation to cook for her.]

Cassandra and others walked to the fish pond. It was indeed a large fish pond. However, it was also a little deep.

So people couldn't get in the water.

Cassandra glanced at her tools. There was a fishing net.

Amelia was embarrassed and said, "How can we get into the water? Are we going to swim with fish?"

Thomas replied, "You have a good sense of humor."

"We have bait, right?" Cassandra asked, sorting out her net.

"Yes."

Cassandra understood. "Then you can spread bait in the middle of the pond as much as possible later. I'll throw the fishing net."

Try to do it once and for all.

"How about I throw the net?" Kenneth said. "This net is not small. Is it difficult for Cass?”

“Can you cast the fishing net?” Cassandra asked.

Kenneth was confused.

He thought, ‘Isn’t it enough to just throw it in? Does it need any tricks?’

Cassandra said, “Let me do it. I have to spread the net, not just throw it in. It doesnt need too much force.”

Chapter 182

After they spread the bait in the middle of the pond, Cassandra tidied up her net.

She held the rope and one end of the fishing net in her left hand in a clockwise direction, lifted the fishing net with her left hand, lifted the lower part with her right hand, spread the fishing net, and held the middle strand of netting on her left hand with her right hand. She divided the net. into two equal parts with the fingers of her left hand, then switched to her right hand, balanced both hands and spread out the net.

When Cassandra saw fish swimming in the middle, she held her left hand flat with her right hand and threw the net out.

Everyone was stunned by this scene!

She was so skillful!

How did she do that?

The net was thrown like a circle and she waited for several minutes to retrieve the net.

Wow!

There were so many fish!

There must be more than 40 fish.

“Hurry up, bring the bucket!” Amelia shouted excitedly.

This was not enough for two barrels, and there were too many fish in the net.

Kenneth came forward to help pull the net. There were so many fish, which must be heavy. Cassandra was relieved and said, “Thank you.”

“Thomas, why don’t you borrow a tricycle? We can’t take it back.”

It was not because of the weight; it was because of the lack of equipment.

Thomas and Jayce went to the village immediately. They happened to meet someone on the way. After discussing with that person, they rode a tricycle to the fishpond.

With the help of all the people, they directly threw the fish and net onto the tricycle.

Back in the house, Alan was speechless when he saw this scene.

What a bug!

[This movement, I have to say, is very skilled. Without years of fishing experience, she can't throw such a net.]

[I also think it's amazing. What else can't Samantha do?]

[I really admire her.]

[The director has an impulse to die. He doesn't expect that he will encounter a bug and thinks that they will catch fish for a long time and have some funny stories. However, it takes them less than half an hour.]

[If I am the director, I will also be depressed!]

Thomas and Kenneth put on aprons and began to clean up the fish. Even Jayce followed to do that.

Amelia and Cassandra were responsible for potting fish in the big basin.

35 pieces of fish was exchanged with the director.

They left their own 10 fish, with evening roasting 3 big fish and the rest 7 being used to do salted dried fish.

There were nearly 30 fish left, and they didn't know what to do for a while.

Looking at so many fish, Kenneth instantly turned his eyes to the director. And Cassandra immediately understood.

“Alan, do you collect fish?”

Alan was speechless. ‘Why do we have to bring the recycled after bargaining?’

“Yes, half of the market price,” Alan replied.

Hearing this, Amelia was a little angry and said, “Alan, are you being cruel? How could it be like that? Half of the market price means that one fish is only worth 1 dollar.”

“That’s the price. Do you want to sell it or not?” Alan felt that he won this time. Anyway, no one in the village collected fish.

“Sell it. Count it.”

Then Alan gave them 40 dollars.

At night, everyone was working except Luna.

The smell of barbecue came in bursts, and Luna’s stomach had been rumbling.

Luna walked towards them in embarrassment and said, “It smells good. What are you roasting?”

Amelia wouldn’t spoil her. “We are roasting something unsanitary. It is not suitable for you.”

Luna instantly felt a little embarrassed. “You...”

“Have you had dinner, Luna? That’s really unfortunate. We just started and we wanted to invite you, but since you have already eaten, then we don’t force you.” Cassandra’s words made Thomas choke on an eggplant.

He thought, 'She is really a genius. She doesn't even give Luna a chance to say anything.

"Cassandra, you've gone too far!" Luna said, and then she ran into the room.

Cassandra was a little puzzled. What happened? Did it have anything to do with her?

Kenneth handed her two skewers of beef and said, "Ignore it. Just eat."

Cassandra took a bite of the beef and her eyes lit up. "Wow, it's so delicious."

Kenneth smiled and continued to barbecue for Cassandra.

Jayce felt that this time he was really full.

And he thought, 'As for losing weight and controlling weight, I'll talk about it later when I go back. Moreover, after getting along with each other, I feel that everyone today is very nice. They aren't like what Luna said.

Three days later, Leonardo still didn't show up. Miranda was sure that Leonardo ran away and even went abroad.

And he Withdrew 10 million dollars from Miranda's account. He was really ungrateful. How could he run away at the most critical time?

She couldn't escape it today. It was time for the court session.

Miranda was sitting in the dock, and her lawyer decided to start messing up the moment he saw Jonathan.

Jonathan presented all the evidence, and Miranda had to admit it from refusal at first.

The plaintiff said, "I just want to seek justice for my child. She was born less than a week ago, and then she was taken away by Miranda and thrown away. She lost her life. This is murder!"

Miranda was not convinced. "Nonsense. I put her at the door of the orphanage and rang the doorbell. She is so short-lived. Why should you blame me?"

"Be quiet!"

Only then did Miranda shut up. What she said became the most effective evidence.

Miranda must be sentenced to at least 10 years in prison.

"Hayden, I... I don't feel well." Immediately, Miranda fainted in the courtroom. Therefore, Hayden had no choice but to resume the trial and sentence on another day.

The staff called the ambulance and sent Miranda to the hospital. Coincidentally, she was directly sent to the hospital where she often went. The children of the Yates family happened to be there.

After ten minutes in the emergency room, the doctor was out.

"Don't worry. The patient has no symptoms. As for why she doesn't wake up, you can ask the patient." The doctor didn't look well either. Obviously, he was angry.

The patient inside was obviously pretending to be in a faint, and she still pretended to be so. And she didn't wake up.

That was ridiculous.

Jasper probably understood what he meant. "It's okay. Let her go to the ward."

He thought Miranda fell down too, but it turned out to be a fake.

Jasper glanced at his right hand and thought, 'Well, I will be a useless person from now on.'

This time, Cassandra broke his hand. After waking up, he calmed down and thought about it.

'It turned out that he had been inhumane to Cassandra first, and now it is her turn. However, I couldn't blame her. I would only be more ruthless if it were me. Why do I have to pay a painful price every time before I come to realize my error? Now the family has no money, and all our expenses are paid by selling our own real estate. And now we can't sell it anymore. Without money, there is no way for my hand to recover. If I couldn't find Dr. Quirke, I would be a waste. Leo has never been beaten by Cassandra, so he could easily leave.

Chapter 183

When Frederick, Yohannes and Matthew arrived at Miranda's ward, they saw her sitting on the bed drinking water as if nothing had happened.

She looked like nothing was wrong with her.

Frederick was so angry that he almost couldn't speak.

"Mom, what happened to you? Why did you suddenly faint and wake up now?"

Miranda said flatly, "I didn't faint. I just had no choice back then."

She thought, 'If I didn't faint, should I wait for the verdict of the judge? I don't want to end up in prison.

"So you pretended to faint. Do you know that this is an obstruction of justice? You'll be sentenced even more seriously. You know that?" Frederick was so pissed off by his mother. She still didn't take it seriously.

He thought, 'Does she know that this kind of behavior is even more. serious?!'

"Don't bluff me. The judge isn't here, and who can prove that I was faking it? I just woke up early."

Yohannes shook his head and chose to leave the ward without saying anything.

He couldn't stay in such a home anymore.

Yohannes returned to Raymond's room and saw Raymond watching Cassandra's live variety show, so he asked, "What? You don't reject this now?"

Raymond glanced at Yohannes angrily and said, "I've figured it out. You're right. We owe Cassandra. She never owes the Yates family."

"Look how skilled she is in farm work. And look at her expression.

Although she doesn't smile, I can feel that she's very happy."

This was something that had never happened at the Yates family. Even if she wasn't a member of the Yates family now, the harm caused by the Yates family to her could never be undone.

Yohannes also sat down and watched the show with him.

"Ray, let's go. Let's leave like Leo. This home has become too strange for me, and I can't take it anymore."

Yohannes looked at the screen and his voice became dull. He didn't know how to face Raymond, and he didn't know what Raymond was thinking either.

“Okay, let’s go. I’ve long wanted to leave this family. There’s no place for me in this family. Mom only cares about Yulissa. Just let her live with Yulissa. I don’t want to serve her anymore.”

However, his right hand could no longer get better. Although there was nothing wrong with his left hand, it was inconvenient for him to do anything without his right hand. He didn’t know what he could do after leaving.

“Okay, I’ll go back and pack my things and then check the plane tickets. We’ll leave together.”

As Raymond’s elder brother, he should take care of Raymond. In this family, the two of them could only depend on each other.

When Yohannes returned home, he found that someone who shouldn’t have appeared had actually shown up.

He thought, ‘Why is Yulissa out?’

Yulissa looked around in the living room, but she didn’t find anyone. Moreover, dust almost coated the house.

She thought. Why didn’t the butler send someone to clean the house?”

in 1222

When she saw Yohannes, she ran towards him enthusiastically and said with a hint of joy and affectation. “Yohan, I’m back. Are you still angry with me?”

“What Cassandra did was a little out of line. She shouldn’t have done that to you. After all, you’re her elder brother. It’s all my fault...”

Yohannes felt Yulissa's memory was still stuck two or three months ago.

He thought, 'Does she have any mental problems after being imprisoned for a few days?'

"Yulissa, you escaped from prison? Go back and turn yourself in now!

"Don't get everyone in the family involved."

"Yohan. I've been released on parole for medical treatment. Mom pulled some strings, so I'm relatively free to go out."

Yulissa looked proud as if she was saying that her mother was really nice to her, but what she didn't know was that it had nothing to do with Miranda.

But Yohannes had already misunderstood.

"Are you saying that your release from prison is all thanks to Mom?"

"Yeah." Yulissa nodded obediently and said, "Where are mommy, daddy, and other brothers? Where are they?"

She couldn't wait to see their expressions when they saw her.

Yohannes just snorted coldly and dialed Miranda's number to let her go home because her baby daughter had come back.

Miranda jumped out of the bed excitedly.

She thought, 'Great, Yulissa is finally out!'

“Fred, Matt, let’s go home. Yulissa is back.”

Miranda was so happy, even happier than winning millions of dollars.

Meanwhile, Yohannes hung up the phone and went upstairs to pack.

Miranda went home with her two sons and was overjoyed to see Yulissa.

“Lisa, my good girl. You’re finally back!”

She hugged Yulissa warmly, thinking that they finally didn’t have to be separated from each other.

She decided that she must compensate Yulissa and leave all her private money to Yulissa in the future.

S VOLL

“Mom, I so much. I can finally hug you.”

No one knew if she was sincere, but Frederick frowned when he heard

this.

He had never thought Yulissa was so hypocritical and affected.

“My poor Lisa.” Miranda hugged her and kept comforting her.

Frederick couldn’t help but ask, “Yulissa, how did you get out?”

She was stunned and couldn’t figure out why Frederick was so cold.

“Fred, what’s wrong with you? Of course Mom and Dad helped me out.” Yulissa didn’t understand Frederick’s reaction.

“Dad?” Frederick looked at Miranda in disbelief, only to find that she was a little guilty. He sneered and said, “You’ve been in there for too long. Dad has been unconscious for a long time. As for helping you out, you have to Yulissa was stunned and looked at Frederick in disbelief, asking, “Fred, are you saying daddy is unconscious? What’s going on?”

As for how she got out, she wasn’t curious at all. No matter what the process was, it didn’t matter as long as she achieved her goal.

“You have to ask Mom as well.”

If Yulissa stayed in prison and came out after seven years, Frederick wouldn’t say anything at all.

But now, Yulissa was actually released from prison.

“Mom, did you go to your old lover and ask Yulissa’s biological father to save her?”

Miranda directly slapped Frederick in the face.

“What are you talking about?!”

Frederick tilted his head and said sarcastically, “Mom, you think I’m talking nonsense? You know how long Dad was in the hospital and why he passed out. According to the timeline, before dad passed out, you had already gone to your adulterer to save your illegitimate child with him!”

He could accept that Yulissa had no blood relation with him, and he could spoil her unconditionally and even offend Cassandra completely because of her. All these didn't matter.

However, he couldn't accept that his mother cheated on his father and kept her illegitimate child by her side.

This led to the death of a man and Cassandra's hatred of the family.

It was all because of her!

But now, she actually helped Yulissa out and let Yulissa go back to the Yates family as if nothing had happened!

Yulissa didn't understand what Frederick meant by mentioning illegitimate child.

She thought, 'Who's the illegitimate child? Me?'

Chapter 184

"Fred, what are you talking about? What adulterer and illegitimate child?"

Yulissa didn't understand why Frederick said so, but she could feel that something bad had happened.

Frederick looked at Yulissa, whom he adored so much before. He would be very happy to see her out of prison if it was in the past. But now, he was so annoyed and replied, "Humph, I'm talking about you. You're my mom's illegitimate daughter, which is the evidence that she cheated on Dad. Do you understand? She even killed someone for you. Now you came out, and she'll go in pretty soon."

Frederick's words struck Yulissa like lightning.

Matthew stood aside without saying anything, as if he had tacitly agreed to all this.

These words were also what he wanted to say.

Yulissa looked at Miranda in disbelief. She thought, 'Did I hear Frederick. correctly? Am I Mom's biological daughter? Then why didn't she tell me? I am the real daughter of the Yates family, am I not? Why did I have to be the adopted daughter for 18 years?'

"Mom, is Fred telling the truth?" Yulissa's tears rolled down crazily. Seeing that, Miranda felt so distressed.

Miranda snapped at Frederick, "Frederick! Are you crazy? Why are you saying this? Don't you know that Yulissa just came out?"

When Yohannes packed up his things and came down, he heard this, "It's because Yulissa has come back that I have to say these words. Mom, do you think the current Yates family is still the same as the previous one?"

All the money that could be used was gone. The 10 million dollars.

Leonardo took away wasn't Miranda's private money, but it was the money. that he got by selling his house in the main urban area of Drieso, Miranda's private money had already been used up.

The villa of the Yates family....

No one knew how long it could still be kept...

Yulissa was even more confused. She had only been in prison for over a month.

She didn't understand why everything had changed outside.

She thought, 'If the Yates family is already failing, what's the use of my being the daughter of the Yates family?'

"Shut up! Lisa will always be the daughter of the Yates family. If you still regard me as your mother, don't say anything else."

It was still unknown whether Benjamin would wake up or not. She had the final say in this family from now on.

Her sons had to do as she said.

"We'll leave this family to the two of you. Ray and I won't be with you anymore. Anyway, Mom, you only care about Yulissa. After all, you cheated on Dad and gave birth to her, so you should care about her more."

When Yohannes was about to leave with two suitcases, he was stopped by Matthew.

"Yohan, where are you and Ray going?"

"Since you're all here, I'll let you know. Ray and I have decided to leave. What happens to us in the future has nothing to do with this family."

At first, there was still a glimmer of hope in Yohannes' heart. But after Miranda said those words, the little hope in his heart had been completely destroyed.

“Are you and Ray leaving like Leo? Why?”

Matthew couldn't understand why they all wanted to be deserters.

He thought, ‘It’s just that we lost everything, but we can still start over.’”

“Yohannes, what are you doing? Put your things back!” Miranda scolded.

She thought, ‘They’re so outrageous!’

“Mom, just focus on your baby girl. Leave us alone.” Yohannes’s tone was cold and he didn’t even turn around to look at Miranda.

Miranda frowned and walked up to him, “What nonsense are you talking about? How can I leave you alone?”

She felt guilty when she said this. But she thought it was normal. After all, Yulissa was a girl and deserved more attention.

Yohannes put down his suitcases and looked at Miranda, saying, “Are you sure you’ve ever cared about us? My lost musical dream and Ray’s hand, did you do anything about them? Did you do anything for me? Did you do anything for Ray? The first time his arm was broken, did you go to Dr. Quirke? You didn’t. So this time, did you go to Dr. Quirke? Neither did you.

“Don’t say that there’s no money left. You used all your money to release her on bail for medical service. What a good mother you are! Jace’s arm is also broken. What are you going to do? Just let him survive on his own?”

Miranda was speechless and even a little angry.

“Can it be blamed on me? It was caused by Cassandra. Why don’t you go after Cassandra? Even if you want to treat their hands, she should be the one to pay for it. Isn’t she rich?” Miranda’s eyes suddenly lit up and she continued, “Yes, Cassandra said that she had the money I used to save Lisa. Go get it back and you can treat Ray and Jace!”

Miranda’s shamelessness shocked her three sons present.

Only Yulissa looked at her in astonishment and said, “Mom, are you saying that Cassandra stole our money? Go get it back. How could she do that?”

Matthew and Frederick frowned, looking a little impatient.

They had never thought she was so annoying.

Yohannes was very dissatisfied. He said, “Yulissa, what qualification do you have to say that? You came out as you wished, but you insisted on going to the show and were arrested. As a result, even Fred was terminated by the production team and the company. How dare you question Cassie now?”

Yulissa’s face turned pale, wondering why Yohannes still treated her like this.

“That’s enough. Do you have to force Lisa to leave and then you’ll be satisfied?”

“Then let her go. Take your illegitimate daughter and go find your adulterer. What are you doing here?”

Frederick seemed to go crazy and reproached Miranda directly.

Suddenly, Yulissa flopped down onto the ground and burst into tears, saying, “Boo–hoo! Why do you call me illegitimate daughter? No, I’m not. I’m innocent. I’m also mom’s daughter. Why are they treating me like this?”

She used to use this trick, which would definitely work. But now, no one paid attention to her at all.

Yohannes took the opportunity to leave directly. He had no attachment to this family at all.

Looking at the back of Yohannes, Frederick was lost in thought. Then he looked at this home and felt extremely frustrated.

“Mom, if you want this family to remain restless forever, just keep her here.”

Frederick turned around, went upstairs and never came down.

Miranda helped Yulissa up, and the two of them sat on the sofa. Miranda patiently explained to Yulissa what had happened recently.

Yulissa couldn’t believe that the Yates family had lost everything.

She thought, “Then what should I do in the future? By the way, what about my biological father? Is he rich? He must be rich enough to save me out of prison.”

“Mom, who’s my biological father? Is he rich?”

When he was mentioned, Miranda’s heart softened a little. She said, “Well, he’s richer than your current father. It was all because of him that you could get out.”

“Then let’s go to my biological father!”

She came out to enjoy life, not to live a hard life.

Chapter 185

Meanwhile, Cassandra's show was in full swing.

After the barbecue incident last time, Luna learned a lesson. But it wasn't this incident that made her learn the lesson.

Instead, it was because she ran to complain to her sugar daddy and was severely beaten.

Her sugar daddy told her not to mess with Thomas, Cassandra and Kenneth. They all had very strong backing.

If she provoked the three of them, she would end up in a miserable situation.

She had been in the entertainment industry for so long and finally got her current position. How could she ruin her future just because of one person?

So, she learned her lesson.

She could notice that Thomas and Kenneth were obsessed with Cassandra, not to mention Amelia, who was a crazy fan of Cassandra.

She thought, 'Damn it. How can an 18-year-old girl be so charming? How can I not be jealous of her? But I can't be jealous now. If I want to finish the show, I have to please Cassandra.'

Today's task wasn't to help the villagers pick vegetables.

Instead, they had to harvest the vegetables grown by the production team.

The director said, "Today, everyone's task is to collect all the chilies in one acre of land and pack the red chilies and green chilies separately."

Everyone was speechless.

Thomas didn't care about work but asked, "Director, do we still need to be divided into groups?"

"No. No groups today. We'll provide all the ingredients today, and you'll eat whatever we provide."

Amelia pursed her lips and said, "Then if you don't give us anything, then we can eat nothing."

Alan smiled and said, "I wouldn't do something so unkind."

"Director, it's too much work to pick all the chilies in one day."

Cassandra frowned and thought, "We can definitely finish it, but we may not be able to carry all the chilies back."

"The workload is a little heavy, but the food prepared tonight can definitely match today's workload."

Alan began to keep them in suspense. However, this was enough to show that there would be quite a good dinner tonight.

They couldn't help but be curious, and even Jayce said with a hint of expectation, "Director, what kind of food is there? Tell me to motivate me."

"Steak, Mi2 wagyu and crayfish."

Cassandra's expression changed slightly. Crayfish and beer were a perfect match in summer.

“Will there be enough crayfish?” This was Cassandra’s primary concern.

“It will be. We’ll give you an extra dozen beers.”

“Then what are we waiting for? Let’s move!” As soon as Amelia heard the beer, she was seduced.

When they heard the crayfish and beer, their eyes were all lit up as if they were going to eat some rare food.

They all picked up tools and gloves. Even Luna couldn’t help but change her clothes and put on the gloves.

Cassandra was still wearing a T-shirt and jeans, easy to get around.

She walked to Kenneth and asked, “Can you eat crayfish?”

She didn’t remember whether there were crayfish in the list of ingredients that Kenneth couldn’t eat.

Kenneth smiled and felt warm in his heart because of Cassandra. Except.

for Yannick and Kayden who took care of his daily life, almost no one cared about him so much.

She would always ask him first if there was any special food.

“Yes, but I can’t eat too much.”

Cassandra nodded and answered, “As long as you can eat it. Just feel the atmosphere of summer.”

Kenneth rubbed her head and said, "Let's go pick chilies."

The two of them walked behind the line, but Cassandra still heard Amelia's complaint, "Who planted one acre of chili? Is he going to do wholesale?"

She felt a headache just thinking about it.

"Amelia, the chilies here are the most famous. Almost every household grows them. Some large households grow so many for sale. As for why the director grows such a large area, you have to ask him."

Cassandra raised her voice a little and said to Amelia.

Amelia hurriedly ran to Cassandra.

"Really? This place is famous for its chili?"

She had never heard of that.

"Yes, you can try the chili here tonight, and then you will know."

After they arrived at the field, they almost quit.

There were so many chilies, and they were very doubtful whether they could finish it.

"Let's divide the work and cooperate. Half of us are responsible for picking red chilies, and the other half is responsible for picking green chilies. In this way, we don't have to separate them again later, which can save some time.”

Kenneth arranged it in a low voice. He didn't expect there to be so much.

He had told Alan that Cassandra was here to experience life, not to do hard work.

“I agree.” Cassandra echoed.

They quickly divided the work and worked from morning to night.

However, the program team kept their word and prepared a buffet dinner tonight.

There was a limited supply of steak, but there was enough of M12 wagyu. Three small hot pots as well as crayfish with various flavors had already been served on the table.

These were all good things provided by the new sugar daddy.

Just to let Cassandra and Thomas have a good time.

When it was time to go to bed at night, the live broadcast stopped. Cassandra and Kenneth sat in the yard to enjoy the cool while Cassandra took her mobile phone to read Jeremiah's messages to her:

Suddenly, she saw one and became interested.

“What’s wrong?” Kenneth was a little curious about why she got excited all of a sudden.

“Jeremiah told me a funny thing.” Cassandra couldn’t help laughing.

“What is it?”

“Yulissa was released on parole for medical treatment and returned to the Yates family. Yohannes and Raymond ran away from home and left. Drieso. Frederick stole the property ownership certificate of the Yates’ Mansion, went to the hospital to put Benjamin’s fingerprint on it, and sold the mansion. It’s estimated that someone will go force Miranda and Yulissa to leave tomorrow.”

That was indeed good news.

Cassandra wondered how would Miranda react when she knew that Frederick had sold the only place she lived.

She was probably gonna regret giving birth to these sons.

Her private money had been transferred long ago, and she was still holding the bank card complacently.

Now Yulissa was out, she wouldn’t suffer with Miranda.

There would be a good show.

Kenneth raised his eyebrows and said sarcastically, “The Yates family is nothing more than this. You haven’t even made an actual move yet. They’re really vulnerable.”

“I still need to revenge on two people of the Yates family. They must give me an explanation. Yulissa is out now, and it’s only the beginning of their nightmare, isn’t it?”

Kenneth nodded with relief and answered, "Indeed. At least she can keep her life when she's inside, but it's not so certain now that she's out."

"Where do you think Leonardo went?" Cassandra was a little confused.

Leonardo boarded the plane going abroad, which was for sure. However, after landing, no one could find him.

"He is where he should be..."

Cassandra stared at Kenneth and thought, 'Does it have anything to do me an explanation. Yulissa is out now, and it's only the beginning of their nightmare, isn't it?"

Kenneth nodded with relief and answered, "Indeed. At least she can keep her life when she's inside, but it's not so certain now that she's out."

"Where do you think Leonardo went?" Cassandra was a little confused.

Leonardo boarded the plane going abroad, which was for sure. However, after landing, no one could find him.

"He is where he should be..."

Cassandra stared at Kenneth and thought, 'Does it have anything to do with him?'

Chapter 186

When Leonardo left Drieso, he got on the plane on time. But somehow, he was knocked out by someone when taking the VIP channel.

That was why there was a record of him boarding the plane. However, his part of the surveillance video had been tampered with, and Jeremiah wasn't careful enough when he looked into this matter.

It wasn't that he wasn't serious about what Cassandra had asked him to do, but the disappearance of Leonardo was a good thing for both him and Elaine.

So, he didn't care if the surveillance video was tampered with or not.

At this time, Leonardo, who was experiencing deep suffering, not only had fear but also regret in his heart.

He was on his own Desert Island. Every time he came here, he just hovered over the sky and didn't dare to land. There were so many wild animals in this place that people who came here couldn't survive at all.

The reason why it was called Desert Island was that except for wild animals, planes, ships and yachts wouldn't come here. Anyone who wanted to ask for help or do anything would be useless.

Leonardo didn't know how he got here, but he had been here for three days.

There was no food, only seawater. The wild animals here were bigger and bigger than the previous ones he saw. He felt that he couldn't hold on any longer.

In the past three days, he had been covered in bruises, and must walk with all his strength.

"So this is why Cassandra hates me." Leonardo huddled under a tree. He repeatedly confirmed that there was no danger before squatting here.

He listened to Yulissa back then and wanted to teach Cassandra a lesson, even sending her to Desert Island. So she hated him so much.

Now that he came here, he realized how horrible this place was.

As a girl, of course she couldn't stand it.

No wonder she hated him so much. If it were him, he would've wanted to kill the person who did this to him.

He thought, 'But how did Cassandra know that this place is so terrifying? She hasn't been here before, has she?'

Roar-

Hiss-

Leonardo thought, 'I'm doomed. The beasts are coming out!'

In the Yates family, Miranda happily made breakfast for Yulissa. They had a heart-to-heart talk. During this period of time, they would live their own lives first and then go to Yulissa's biological father if there was any difficulty.

Yulissa also readily agreed, but she wasn't reconciled. She thought, 'Why is my biological father so rich but isn't willing to recognize me? Didn't Mom say that he's not married? It'll be better if Mom marries him. Why do I have to suffer in the Yates family? I didn't come out for hardship. But why hasn't my biological father shown up yet? Isn't he curious about me?'

While they were enjoying breakfast, a group of people came in. Miranda was startled by this situation, and Yulissa hurriedly hid behind Miranda.

A man sat straight on the sofa, threw his briefcase onto the coffee table, and looked at Miranda and Yulissa.

“Why haven’t they moved out of this house?” He said to his subordinates.

While saying, he exposed the large tattoo on his arm. Seeing this, Miranda trembled with fear.

She stepped forward tentatively and said, “Sir... Sir, what can I do for you?”

The man took out a red real estate certificate from his briefcase and slammed it on the coffee table.

“This house is mine now. You have one hour to move out!”

Miranda’s eyes widened and couldn’t believe it.

“No way. This house belongs to me and my husband. I didn’t sell it. How could it be yours?”

Miranda became bold and wouldn’t admit it.

“I bought this house legally and the property ownership certificate is under my name. Do you want to deny it?” The man’s expression changed, and he seemed to be very dissatisfied with Miranda’s words.

Miranda didn’t believe it. She picked up the property ownership certificate on the coffee table.

The address was right, but the owners weren’t Benjamin and her anymore.

She thought, ‘Who sold my house?!’

“No, this must be fake. You’re lying to me!”

Miranda threw the certificate back. She didn’t believe it at all.

“You have a son named Frederick, right?”

Miranda’s heart sank. She thought, ‘Did Fred do this?’

Regardless of the fear, she hurried to the second floor.

The bodyguard directly knocked her to the ground and said, “You’re courting death!”

Then, her dressing room and dancing mirror were smashed. In an instant, her exquisite pink bedroom became a mess.

Yulissa couldn’t stand it anymore and cried loudly, “Who are you to smash my bedroom? My clothes and my jewelry! You have to pay for them!”

The tattooed man frowned impatiently.

“Throw her out! She’s so noisy!”

At this time, Miranda also came up and immediately stepped forward to stop the bodyguards while saying, “Let go of her!”

Yulissa hugged Miranda and cried sadly, “Mom, my bedroom and cloakroom were both smashed!”

Miranda hugged Yulissa and said, “Lisa, don’t cry. I’ll buy you a new one.”

As a result, she saw that one wall of Yulissa's bedroom was smashed through, and the furnishings in another bedroom...

It was her bedroom!

"You've gone too far. I haven't verified it clearly, but you smashed this place into a mess. I'll call the police and sue you!"

The tattooed man wasn't afraid at all. He laughed sarcastically and said, "Call the police. Do you need me to help you? Let's see which side will the police take."

This kind of provocation method worked well for people like Miranda.

She called the police directly, and it took 20 minutes for the police to come. After repeated confirmation and inquiry, they confirmed that this house belonged to the tattooed man. So they said to Miranda in a low voice, "After verification, this is indeed the house that this gentleman spent 40 million dollars on. The property right belongs to him. We have no control over how he smashed his own house."

Chapter 187

Looking at the so-called legal notarized information, Miranda felt dizzy.

Miranda couldn't believe that her beloved son sold her house without her consent.

Miranda thought, 'He was so cruel that he had the heart to watch me, and his sister become homeless!'

The man with the tattooed arm laughed and said, "Now you see it clearly. I bought it legally. You and your daughter can get out now."

At this time, even the police could not intervene. It was normal for the man who bought this house legally to forbid their entry.

Miranda suddenly felt weak, and Yulissa was also anxious and at a loss.

Yulissa wondered, 'It's only been one day, and there is no place to live. What the hell is mom doing?'

"Sir, we don't have anywhere to go for the time being. Can we..."

"No!"

The man refused without waiting for her to finish.

Anyway, it had nothing to do with him.

Why should he be generous? He was not a charity man.

"Sir..." Miranda wanted to plead for mercy. She couldn't argue about the ownership of the house in front of the police. Even if she tried, she couldn't let the policemen stand on her side.

"If you don't leave within half an hour, I will throw you out. Nothing in this house can be taken away."

The man said harsh words to Miranda and Yulissa because he really thought they were bitches.

"Mom, why don't we go pack up..."

Yulissa thought, 'If we clean it up now, at least we can take away all the valuable things. If we are kicked out, we won't be able to take anything away.'

Miranda immediately understood and nodded hurriedly, "Okay. Let's go pack our things. Please give us some time."

Seeing that the matter had been settled, the police left on their own.

Half an hour later, Miranda and Yulissa dragged three suitcases. When they were about to leave, the man stopped them, "Wait."

Miranda's body trembled. She looked at the man in fear and asked, "Is there anything wrong?"

"Of course, I'll unpack and check to see if you have anything that shouldn't be taken away."

Playing with his phone, the man said carelessly.

Miranda was a little unhappy, "What we took away were our own things. We didn't take the furnishings of these rooms."

Miranda made up her mind that she wouldn't let him check their suitcase. After all, she took away a painting worth millions of dollars. If this man saw it, everything would be gone.

The man seemed to be thinking about something. He slapped the table and said, "Okay, then you can go."

Miranda secretly breathed a sigh of relief, thinking, 'Fortunately, he didn't open the suitcase to check it.'

After Miranda and Yulissa left, one of the man's subordinates asked confusedly, "Boss, why didn't you let us check the box just now?"

The man slapped the subordinate heavily on the shoulder, “Do you think they can go far? Don’t forget who sent us to buy this house.

His subordinates suddenly realized that it was true that they couldn’t go.

far away.

“Keep smashing.”

His purpose was to smash the Yates residence.

Everything else was none of his business.

Just as the man said, Miranda and Yulissa had just walked out of the Yates residence.

When they were about to stop a taxi on the main road, a van stopped in front of them and took all three suitcases away!

Miranda screamed, “What are you doing? That’s our stuff!”

It was undoubtedly worse for her to encounter such an arrogant robbery during the day.

Those people didn’t care about it at all. They threw their things into the car and left.

Yulissa was so anxious that she didn’t know what to do. “Mom, my clothes and jewelry are all gone!”

Miranda was also anxious because all the valuables were in it. What could she do now?

So, Miranda chose to call the police. They were still the two policemen who came to them. They didn't want to talk to Miranda and Yulissa at all when they saw them. After knowing what was going on, she took someone to the police station to make an interrogation and check the surveillance video.

However, they found that the surveillance videos in that area were being upgraded and maintained, and all the events that happened during those two hours were not recorded.

Miranda was so broken down. No surveillance cameras meant that finding her things would be like looking for a needle in a haystack, and she might not be able to find them back.

“Sir, you must help me find my suitcase. There are very valuable things in it. I can't lose them!”

It worthed millions of dollars, and if the painting could be sold, she and Yulissa would get along with it in these two years if they didn't live a luxurious life.

But now, it was gone.

“Okay, we've registered. We will inform you immediately if there is any news. You can go back and wait.”

Outside the police station, Yulissa held Miranda's hand and said in a low but aggrieved voice, “Mom, where are we going now?”

Miranda comforted Yulissa, “Lisa, don't worry. I still have money. It will be fine. Let's go to the counter first.”

Because that card was her private money, she didn't bind it to her mobile phone, so now she could only transfer money to other cards. In fact, she could swipe the card directly, but she wanted to find out how much money was left.

Maybe they could buy a decent flat floor.

Miranda and Yulissa found an ATM at random. They were ready to insert the card to check accounts. Fortunately, this card was in their bag, so it wasn't taken away.

It shows: "Balance: 40."

Miranda was shocked.

Miranda thought, 'How could this be? Why only 40 dollars? Where's my money? My tens of millions of dollars! Where's my money? Did those bastards take all my money away? Why will they know the code? It's over. All over.'

In the production team, Thomas got up today and started to have diarrhea because he was too indulgent yesterday.

He almost collapsed.

"Thomas has had diarrhea all morning. I'm afraid he won't be able to work today," Jayce was a little worried.

Cassandra couldn't help but frown when she heard it. At the same time, Thomas came out with his hands covering his stomach.

"Are you okay?" She asked worriedly.

"It's just diarrhea. There is no other problem."

“Is there an accompanying doctor?” Amelia asked.

Alan was also helpless and even a little overwhelmed, “The accompanying doctor went to the town in the morning to buy medicine. He won’t be back until this afternoon.”

Jayce said, “Then I’d better send him to the hospital. If he keeps doing this, he will be in trouble.”

“No, just pour him some hot water and wait for me for a few minutes.”

She remembered that there was grass behind Karen’s house, which was effective in curing diarrhea.

Cassandra hurried out, and Kenneth followed.

[What’s wrong with Samantha? Thomas treats her as an idol. Does she want to hurt him?]

[Don’t talk nonsense. Just watch what Samantha does.]

[You don’t believe Samantha harmed Thomas at all!]

[Then why not send him to the hospital? If he doesn’t receive treatment in time, there will be problems with diarrhea. Do you know?]

[That’s right. What on earth is Samantha going to do? If something bad happens to Thomas, can she afford it?]

Chapter 188

Kenneth quickly followed Cassandra and asked, “What are you going to do?”

Cassandra did not stop but moved faster. “There is a kind of grass behind Karen’s house, which can cure diarrhea. It works well. It took such a long time to go to hospital and couldn’t last that long at all.”

It was also her fault that she didn't take this kind of medicine with her.

Kenneth nodded to show his understanding, "Then I'll go with you."

When they arrived at Karen's house, Cassandra stepped forward and asked, "Karen, can I go behind you to pull some grass?"

Karen was stunned and suddenly realized, "Did someone have diarrhea?"

"Yes, it's a little serious. It's too late to send her to the hospital."

It took him at least one and a half hours to drive from the village to the town hospital. According to his current frequency of diarrhea, he couldn't last for an hour and a half.

"Then go and pull out a few more."

Cassandra hurriedly thanked her and went straight to the backyard.

After a while, there were some grasses on her hands. Karen glanced at them and said happily, "It seems that little Cassie has medical skills?"

Cassandra was stunned. She had an illusion just now that she thought it was Blossom who came back at that moment.

Only Blossom would lovingly call her "Little Cassie".

She hadn't heard such a name for a long time.

"A little bit. Thank you, Karen. I'll come back later."

Kenneth and Cassandra left, as if they were running to the limit. Kenneth also had a feeling of running.

They arrived at the yard in less than two minutes.

The photographer behind him almost quit. He thought, 'Are they still human beings? They disappeared in a flash. I can't catch up with them.'

Cassandra stepped forward and looked at Thomas' pale face. "How are you?"

"It still hurts..."

Thomas felt that this time he was embarrassed in front of the whole country.

"Well, wait for me. It'll be ready in a minute."

Cassandra picked two of the grasses she took back, washed them clean, started the fire, poured boiling water into the pot, and directly threw the grasses into it.

Five minutes later, Cassandra brought out a bowl of green water.

"Drink this while it's hot, and then you will be fine."

That bowl of green water looked like poison, which made Thomas very embarrassed.

Even Jayce couldn't stand it anymore. Amelia didn't know whether to persuade Thomas or trust her idol.

[Samantha wants Thomas to die. How can she drink such terrible water?]

[Oh, my God. I thought Samantha was taking revenge on him.]

[I don't understand. Why not send him to the hospital but let Cassandra mess around here?]

[But... as a traditional medicine practitioner, I want to say that this grass can really cure diarrhea, but the water is not good-looking.]

[Really? It looks like poison.]

[I have sent the screenshot of the grass to a traditional medicine practitioner. The teacher said that it works quickly and is miraculous for curing diarrhea.]

[Damn it! Really?]

"Don't worry. People in this village drink it when they have diarrhea." Cassandra tried to persuade Thomas. Though the bowl of green water was not convincing, the villagers did.

"Are you sure?"

Luna couldn't help but ask. She wouldn't drink the water.

"We went to pick the grass, and Karen immediately understood that someone had diarrhea. They knew the efficacy of this kind of grass." Surprisingly, Kenneth explained.

However, Thomas was a little reluctant. He wanted to leave a good impression on his cousin but seemed impossible.

He really couldn't drink this bowl of green water, and he would rather die.

Kenneth's face darkened, "Thomas..."

Hearing the word, Thomas got frightened.

Then he drank the green water quickly.

"Kenneth, I'm done."

Thomas thought, 'Can you let me go?'

In the past, as long as Denzel and Thomas got into trouble, Kenneth would call them in such a tone. Sometimes, they even doubted whether they deserved to die.

"Good."

Only then did Kenneth's face change a little.

[What the hell did I see?]

[Don't doubt your eyes. Our Thomas is cowardly, just because of three words, he is cowardly.]"

[I want to know the relationship between Thomas and Kenneth. I can't believe that Thomas is so afraid of him.]

[Is it possible that everyone is afraid of Kenneth?]

[Can't argue about that!]

[But this contrast is really cute!]

After a few minutes, Thomas had no more pain in his stomach and no desire to go to the bathroom.

He felt a little unbelievable and looked at Cassandra. "My stomach doesn't hurt anymore."

"Well, then it's all right."

It didn't take long for Thomas to feel alive and want to work with them.

Cassandra said, "Let's go. He is fine now and won't have diarrhea again."

The grass was very useful, but many people didn't know it.

Yulissa was so happy that she wanted to see Miranda's balance.

Unfortunately, she saw the number 40.

"Mom, what does that mean? Why only 40 dollars? What can we do with. 40 dollars?"

She couldn't believe what she saw.

"I... I don't know either..."

Miranda didn't know what had happened.

"Then who knows? What can you do with 40 dollars? You can't even stay in a hotel!"

Yulissa shook off Miranda's hand with dissatisfaction and looked very unhappy!

"Lisa, I don't know what happened. I should have tens of millions of dollars."

Miranda immediately explained because she didn't want Yulissa to misunderstand her.

"Millions of dollars? How dare you say tens of millions of dollars when you only have 40 dollars in your account? You rescued me through all kinds of hardships, just to drag me to suffer with you!"

Yulissa didn't want to live like this.

"Lisa, what are you talking about? I love you the most. How could I let you suffer?"

"How dare you say that you love me the most? Your good son sold the house and took away your private money, but you didn't even question him. Now you want me to stay on the streets. Why you did all these? Am I really your daughter? How can you do that to me?"

Miranda felt heartbroken by Yulissa's words. Miranda had loved her daughter for so many years, but she was actually an ungrateful woman.

Miranda couldn't help but give Yulissa a slap.

"Yulissa, you are so heartless! I spent so much money to save you, and then I found someone to rescue you. It's too much for you to say that!"

Miranda was a little distressed and slapped Yulissa in the face.

This slap even more irritated Yulissa. She pushed Miranda down and said, "Without money, you don't deserve to be my mother. I won't embarrass myself with you!"

Chapter 189

Another night passed, and once again Leonardo escaped from the dead.

He didn't want to live like this anymore, and he even wanted to die.

He thought to himself, 'Why do I have to go through this, why can't they let me die?'

He dreamed that Cassandra was brought to the island and trapped for a month.

During this month, she kept fighting with wild animals and distinguishing non-poisonous food in order to survive.

After a month's punishment, he came to take her home.

Before she recovered, Yulissa stabbed her to death again.

When did this happen? If it was a dream, why could he remember it so clearly when he woke up?

He remembered that Cassandra had said she would consider forgiving him if he stayed a month on Desert Island.

Leonardo thought, 'So, is this giving me a chance? However, it has only been four or five days, and there are still more than twenty days left. How could I insist?'

He didn't know whether the dream was real or not, so he had to go back and verify it.

The man who left him here didn't say when he would come to pick him up, but as long as he was alive, there would be a chance to confess in front of Cassandra.

What kind of non-poisonous fruit did Cassandra eat in the dream?

He groped his way through the jungle, looking for fruit to fill his stomach.

A few days later, Cassandra's program came to an end again. They were ready to go back for a rest.

Back at Springmount Townhouse, Cassandra saw Jeremiah waiting.

"Let's go. Jasper is waiting."

Not only Frederick but also Jasper was suddenly out of touch. However, Jasper was unlucky.

Got caught.

Cassandra raised her eyebrows and said, "Then let's go."

The underground first floor of the Urban was purgatory on earth, and those above it were resplendent and luxurious.

Who would have thought that there would be purgatory down here?

Apparently, Jasper had been treated.

When he saw Cassandra, he didn't know what to say.

"Cassandra, how could it be you? Let me go."

His left hand was tied now, and his right hand had no strength at all. He still had injuries these days.

"Why should I let you go?"

"Jasper, Yulissa is back. Your mother won't care about your life."

Cassandra plays with a knife in her hand, but she has no intention of giving it to Jasper.

"Cassandra, you don't have to sow discord here. Who my mom cares about has nothing to do with me."

"But it has something to do with me." Cassandra smiled even more sarcastically, "Jasper, why did Miranda do this to me? She knew that I was not a child of the Yates family. You are disgusting! Why can you do this to me?"

Jasper was stunned and asked, "It's you who compete with Yulissa. Who did you blame?"

"I compete with her? You must be kidding."

Jasper choked and thought, "So what? We just misunderstood each other. Man makes mistakes."

Obviously, he didn't have the confidence to say this.

"Kids know that they should apologize when they do something wrong. Why did you come here to explain the misunderstanding with those plain words?" Cassandra was speechless.

"Cassandra, you just want to revenge on us because of the past, right?"

Jasper seemed to understand something.

Cassandra smiled with relief, "It's not too stupid. I guessed it."

Jasper wanted to question him, but his hands were tied and hanging. "Cassandra, why did you do this?"

Then he thought of something, "No, no. If you want to take revenge on my family, why did you wait until now?"

"The Yates family enjoyed everything I gave it and had to give it back. Why do you think the market value of the Yates Group suddenly doubled? It was because of my support, waiting for Benjamin to admit me. But it turned out to be fake. I have no blood relationship with him at all.

"However, I have been humiliated and bullied by you in the Yates family. Do you think I will let you be punished?"

It is not terrible to fall from heaven into the abyss, but it is despairing to go from the abyss to hell.

"That's impossible. The previous glory of Yates Group depended on Leo and Dad. It has nothing to do with you."

"Yates Group suddenly had more orders from Modern Beacon Synergy's international subsidiary. What do you think is the reason? Do you think Yates Group is excellent? Neither! It's because of me. Modern Beacon Synergy is mine. I can work with anyone I want, but you just don't appreciate the opportunity."

Jasper shook his head uncertainly. "No, it's impossible. Modern Beacon Synergy's CEO is male."

"I didn't say it was not male. The vice CEO is a man."

Jasper asked, "Who the hell are you?"

He wondered, 'With such a powerful identity, why did she come to the Yates family? No, that's not true. When she came here at the beginning, she was very eager for family affection and hoped to get their attention. Therefore, Cassandra was just for family affection at first.'"

"I'm here to collect debts from you."

Cassandra turned around and walked to her bag. She opened it very slowly and took out a bottle of dry powder and injection.

"Jasper, you stabbed me with a knife, which amplified the pain in my body. Today, it's your turn to taste it."

With this reagent, Jasper must be very painful in the next few days.

Jasper wanted to retreat; but there was no way he could do it.

"Don't... Don't come over. Get out of my way!"

Jasper waved his disabled right hand in panic, but it didn't help.

The needle had pierced into Jasper's body.

Jasper became different in an instant.

It hurts all over!

It was even more painful than before!

No, the pain is increasing!

Jasper wondered, "Why? Why do I have to go through this!?"

"Cassandra, why are you so vicious? You're really malicious." Jasper couldn't help cursing.

He knew he couldn't escape, so he wanted to fight back with his words.

"In terms of viciousness, I'm inferior to your Yates family." Looking at his painful expression, Cassandra had no feeling in her heart. She didn't even have the pleasure of revenge. All she had was three words, "You deserve it."

"Jeremiah, let go of his hand."

She wanted to see how Jasper could get rid of this painful medicine. The medicine would bring pain to all over his body, and once he moved, the pain deepened.

Cassandra thought, 'I finally gave you back the medicine you used on me. in my previous life. You're right here; enjoy it.'

Jeremiah followed Cassandra. "Elaine, are you okay?"

Cassandra pursed her lips for a long time without saying anything. "I'm fine. I'm a little hot..."

Jeremiah was a little relieved and smiled, "Let's go home. I have gotten iced watermelon and also some ice cream ready for us."

Chapter 190

Jasper screamed in despair in the dark room.

He had never experienced this kind of pain. It was beyond the pain when thousands of arrows pierced his heart.

How much hatred could make Cassandra hold it until now?

This medicine was too abnormal. It magnified the ordinary pain many times, and even a small wound would hurt so much that it could kill people.

How long would he have to bear this kind of pain?

“Ah!

“Ah!

“I can’t stand it anymore. Just kill me!”

He felt pain all over his body, plus the previous medicine. Now it hurt and itched again.

Cassandra was as heartless as expected.

“Cassandra, listen to me carefully. There will always be only one young lady in the Yates family, and that is Lisa. You don’t deserve it.

“Who are you? Compete with Lisa. Get out of here as far as you can.

“How dare you bully Lisa? Didn’t you see Lisa crying? Apologize to me! Kneel down and apologize!

“You won’t apologize, right? Then you can’t eat.

“Cassandra, get away from me. You never deserve to compete with Lisa. Everything in the Yates family belongs to her.”

“Why don’t you go to hell? My only sister is Lisa. If you die, everything will be fine.”

Jasper felt that he was hallucinating and wondered why these scenes appeared at this time.

These words were what he had said to Cassandra before.

It turned out that every word was so harsh.

Jasper couldn’t help but thought, ‘If it were me...

Miranda was left on the street by Yulissa. She never dreamed that her daughter, who used to be so gentle and filial, would become like this.

Miranda thought to herself, ‘I am Yulissa’s biological mother. Why did she do this to me? She finally came out. Shouldn’t she live with me? She doesn’t have anything now. There is no place for her to go.

The more Miranda thought about it, the more disappointed she became. She couldn’t stand her daughter’s attitude and behavior.

However, she couldn’t do anything with 40 dollars. It cost her 120 dollars to take a taxi to Fallvale Mansion.

In the end, she didn’t even see anyone.

The man just asked someone to tell her, “I’ve done what I promised. We are even.”

Damn it!

'Why is this man so irresponsible? After all, I'm the mother of his only child. Is he going to do that to me? He hadn't been married for so many years. He must be waiting for me! What are you putting here now?"

When Benjamin's first love appeared. He was often away from home for a period of time. She faced six children at home every day and had a big headache.

If he didn't come home, she would go out and have fun.

After a while, she met the man in the bar. They often dated secretly and had sex with each other. Later, she got pregnant by accident.

However, she didn't know the man's real identity at that time. She was pregnant and had no choice but to ask Benjamin home.

Until later, when she found that that man was richer than Benjamin, she became tempted and insisted on keeping the child by her side.

No matter what, it was her biggest leverage.

She went to Fallvale Mansion once, so when she came back, she was familiar.

Miranda negotiated directly with him to save their daughter.

But Miranda didn't know which part went wrong. He had been very enthusiastic about her before, but why did he not even open the door this time?

There were only 16 dollars left. What should she do?

Credit Card!

She got credit cards!

So, she took the credit card to pay for her hotel and meals for one month for herself.

She spent tens of thousands directly, but she didn't even blink her eyes.

This was her standard of living, so she couldn't be too bad.

Next, she should get even with her son.

In early August, Cassandra was one of the first students to receive an admission letter from Juset University. Every word on her acceptance letter was written by Edward Huddleston.

This was the first time in history!

Holding the letter of acceptance, Lucas smiled from ear to ear as if he was happier than getting promoted himself.

"Cassie is amazing. This is the first time in history that Mr. Huddleston has written your admission letter. I'm so proud of it."

The more Lucas watched, the more he liked it. Even Sylvia was happy and said, "No, I think we should invite more people. This is something worth showing off."

Cassandra hurriedly stopped him, "No, no. This is too exaggerated."

Lucas was also shocked by his wife's thought, "Honey, don't bother. We can go to eat with our families."

Sylvia compromised, "Fine. Just our family."

Cassandra was a little shocked and looked at them in disbelief, "Are you really going out for dinner?"

She thought, 'Isn't this kind of thing done at home?'

"Yeah. You've heard about our ideas."

Cassandra was defeated by this idea.

"Lucas, Sylvia. It was just an offer. It's not a big deal."

As the mayor, he often ate outside. Was this appropriate?

"Everything about you is a big deal to me and Lucas." Sylvia didn't agree with Cassandra at all. Such a good child should be treated well.

Cassandra was touched by her words.

"Okay, I'll go to the Blossom Group. Then we can have dinner."

"Okay."

An hour later, Cassandra arrived at the Blossom Group.

This shareholders' meeting was initiated by Cyrus. Before her arrival, all the shareholders were waiting for her.

Seeing her coming, Cyrus got up and took the initiative to make way for the middle seat. He smiled lightly and said, "Finally, you're here."

Instead of sitting in the center seat, Cassandra sat first on the right. "I'm not sitting there. I came to listen, not speak."

Cyrus had seen such a move. Cassandra was the largest shareholder and the boss behind the scenes in Modern Beacon Synergy, but she rarely appeared at every shareholders' meeting.

He thought, "This girl is lazy."

"Well, I'll do it."

Cyrus looked at everyone, and his assistant handed out the documents to each shareholder one by one. He said in a deep voice, "Directors, according to our previous agreement with you, I will double the money Benjamin owes you within three months. I have done it."="

"In front of you are the latest financial statements. You can be a look at them."

Two minutes later, a shareholder said cautiously, "Mr. Jacobs, it's not that we don't believe you. We have been cheated by Benjamin for too long. This report should be true, right?"

Everyone also looked around and thought this sentence was right.

"Isn't it true? It'll be fine if you see the money. I don't know exactly how much each shareholder deserves. In ten minutes, they should all be transferred to the account. It might as well wait."

It took him less than two months to double the 7 billion dollars that Benjamin owed them.

It was hard to imagine the actual revenue.

Cassandra raised her eyebrows slightly, thinking, 'Here comes the fortune!'
