

You Never Knew Me - Free Novel by Kim

Prologue

I am no one. A nobody. I have a name, a mother. A place to lay my head, but other than that? Nothing!

I feel like I should be someone, only...I have been told repeatedly, "You're nothing." The sad thing is, even my mother thinks that too.

I'm seventeen and graduating high school in a week. I'm valedictorian of my class, but I can promise you, only the teachers and the Alpha's son know my name. The teachers because they have been responsible for educating me for the last few years. The Alpha's son Damien because I was his tutor for the last two. He needed me to help him graduate. His father the Alpha ordered it.

You see. I have a brain. I'm highly intelligent. Smarter than even the Alpha, though he'll never realize it until it's too late.

Because I know a secret. His secret. Well actually, his and my mother's secret. I'm the Alpha's bastard daughter. Even his Luna knows. It's only the pack that doesn't. I'm not even sure that their son Damien does. He doesn't act like he does. No matter. I have a plan. I'm getting out of here. I'm leaving and never coming back. I'm invisible and then I'll be GONE!