

No Chance 174

Chapter 174 There's No Way I Can Redeem Myself!

Elisa laughed helplessly, "I didn't really have the time to think it through. I just wanted to snap Grandma out of her delusions."

Meanwhile, Rachel had just finished selecting her songs. She came over and sat down on the couch. She then handed everyone a can of the beer that Carle had brought. "C'mon everyone! We're all getting drunk tonight! Let's congratulate Elisa on her success tonight!"

"Cheers!"

All of them were in a good mood. After some drinks, Carle turned to Elisa and asked, "What happened to those shoes you were wearing today?"

Elisa froze before saying in a small voice, "I tripped and broke a heel. I didn't have my phone on me and couldn't call you guys. When I took too long to get back to her, Grandma sent Gareth to come looking for me. And well, you guys know what happened next."

Elisa was still wearing the pair of crystal bedazzled shoes.

Carle was filled with bitterness. How could he compare to Gareth Wickam?

or what happened, Elisa succeeded! Right now, I'm much more busy cursing Elisa out? Oh wait, she's probably doing the same to me.

the Wickams and the Benetts. If he stops me, he'll offend the Wickams, but if he doesn't, it'll be an insult to the Benetts. He's stuck it'll probably be ringing off the hook! Nothing makes me happier than being able to offend the Benetts.

"Did he

My dad has been taking it easy. Living his life with that mistress of his. She's even given birth to a b*stard child. It's just something to go on like this. He's still

I

enough talk about that. Let's turn it up! I'm going started to belt out

the way today, it all ended well, and they were all in a good

else, the vibe was doom and Crash!