

O Summoner 1011

Chapter 1011

Quest Name: Prevent the Last Days of Man Part 1

Difficulty: World Quest

Description: All Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse has been released upon the world. Find out the reason why all of them want to kill all the gods or beings with divinity.

Requirement: Find Traces of the story of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse (0/4)

Reward: Mythical Tier Treasure Chest (Limited to the person that finds the Traces), +1 Level (All players), + 60 Days in the Culling Time Limit

Failure: Increment effect on the changes that the Four Horsemen has done to the world.

Failure Condition: Unable to Find any of the Traces in the given time limit

Quest Time Limit: 49 Days

Forty-nine days are left but the world has yet to find traces of the real story behind the four horsemen. The others are not idle, but something is amiss from the way the Church of Light is moving. They ignored all players that wanted to read about the Four Horsemen in their distinguished library.

Numerous players tried to get inside sneakily but they all got killed in the end. What made them even more afraid is that angels were guarding the books of the inner sanctum. Even priest players from the Church of Light could not peek into the record about the Four Horsemen.

The Church of Light is clearly hiding something as the information that they spread about the Four Horsemen is not triggering a trace of their story. The Church of Light told the world that the Four Horsemen are traitors of mankind that used the weapon given to them by the gods to kill other gods once the dark gods were pushed back.

The world would have only known about that if the players were not crazy about the Mythical Tier Treasure Chest. One mythical tier weapon, item, or skill book could change the destiny of that person as one of those could get auctioned off at the price of a hundred thousand dollars at the very least. This is due to the fact that prices of legendary tier weapons, items, and skill books could fetch to a maximum price of a hundred thousand.

It is due to this crazy once in a lifetime chance that the first trace has finally been found. It was not an explorer player but actually just a person that has a craze in finding the lost traces of civilization in the main world. She is a person that loves to do adventure and would often explore the outside world until she developed a weak heart.

Her weak heart became the reason why she could not exert herself physically in the real world which is why she turned to Pandemonium. A world filled with adventure and excitement that is filled with all kinds of lore. She filled the void of her adventurer's heart with the exploration of the world of Pandemonium.

She is also one of the few people that have dimension hopped without being a demon or a spatial movement spell. Her name is Amelia, and she took it from the aviation pioneer that she adored upon reading her autobiography. She has been researching a lost civilization where the gnomes inherited their technology from.

During her travels, she recalled of a ruin in the depths of the southern part of the main continent. She revisited that ruin when she got the quest to find traces of the Four Horsemen. Even she wants to get that mythical tier item because even Archeologist (sub-job class) like her need funds. The game world is not that different compared to the real world when it comes to expeditions.

The ruin that she found is not even that big as it felt like a small temple that was forgotten. In that ruin, she saw depictions of four beings that were gathered from the four corners of the world. The four riders were the representative of their clans, and they were the best warriors as well.

The ruin's walls depicted the gods bestowing them four weapons of great power forged from the bodies of fallen gods and goddesses. These four riders then used the weapons to save mankind from being killed or subjugated by the dark gods. Amelia is livestreaming her adventures and her viewer count is increasing in real time.

The first ruin then pointed her to a new one as the depiction is clearly not complete. It is also good to point out that she did not trigger the quest reward which means it is not a trace. She then went to four ruins in total that added the stories of how the four riders came to be and what their clans were.

The rider of the north was a person that was cold as ice to his enemies but gentle to his fellow people. He was given a scythe to wield by the gods of death to avenge his fallen people that were targeted by the dark gods. He became fierce on the battlefield with the power of the scythe that added to his already powerful skills.

The rider of the south was a person that was warm and lived in the jungle filled area of the south. She was a fierce warrior of the jungle and hunted with great precision using a bow. She was given a bow forged from the blood of the gods and goddesses of the hunt. With the bow, she sniped all the enemies on the battlefield.

The rider of the east was a famed swordsman that is said to be unbeatable in war. He had the heart of a true warrior as he never killed those that surrendered. He was even respected by his enemies due to his great honor. He was given a sword forged from the pieces of the weapons of the fallen gods and goddesses of war.

The rider of the west was different from the rest as she often presented great balance. She was also a famed mage that rode on a Tulpar which is the swiftest horse of the west. She is famed for her magic that could make the earth quiver which is why she was given the magic scales made from the fallen gods and goddesses of the earth.

Once Amelia collected all pieces of the information about the origin of the four, the four small temples that she visited suddenly shoot out light that all led to her. A scroll suddenly started to manifest in front of her until the legend that she uncovered has been written.

[You have found one of the Traces of the story of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.]

[You have gained a Mythical Tier Treasure Chest.]

[Those wanting to hide the real origins of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse now know that someone has uncovered the unfiltered story. Be careful not to get caught and make sure that the tapestry is not taken by them.]

When Amelia received the mythical tier treasure chest, the views on her livestream basically skyrocketed to the hundred thousand. Numerous people witnessed a glowing diamond treasure manifest next to her. She then proceeded to stop the livestream when she received the items as she does not want others to know that she is hiding those.

Amelia then proceeded to open the mythical tier treasure chest and the heavens blessed her with luck. She immediately got a mythical tier item, but it is not an item that she could use immediately. It was a head accessory that looked like futuristic headphones.

Item Name: Unknown Headgear (Character Bound)

Tier: Mythical

Type: Accessory

Effect:

- Intelligence +100

- Error

Description: A piece of equipment said to be from an unknown civilization with great technology. It is said that this civilization is different from others because the inhabitants are living machines. Not much is known about this civilization, but this equipment is said to be an important piece of that civilization.

Amelia wore the Unknown Headgear, and a strange sensation filled her body as if she is getting electrocuted. She then proceeded to get filled with intense information that she could not possibly learn easily. When she opened her eyes, it felt like she is seeing the world in the form of data as all she could see is binary code.

The world is shaken from the first appearance of the true story of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. They knew that the Church of Light was hiding something when they said that they would be the front runner of the subjugation of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. It also gave immense hope to the people that are normal because Amelia found a trace by herself through hard work. That hard work is also what made her channel become popular as well.

People that wanted their chance at fame became more eager to find traces while the explorers saw this as a challenge. There has always been a small rivalry between explorers and archeologist players of who really discovers things.

Chapter 1012

Awraka got fully healed by Saena while she had a bit of difficulty with the thing afflicting the young boy. She could be seen struggling a bit as the thing affecting him did not want to get eaten. Cersei felt that the thing affecting the boy is a curse which is why she lent her expertise and weakened it. Finally, the boy opened his eyes.

"Hello. What is your name?" Adrian asked as the boy woke up when Saena absorbed the Curse of the Slumbering Light that affected the boy.

The Curse of Slumbering Lights was not an easy curse to absorb because of the immense magic power used to cast it. It only became weakened when Mishiel got killed and Cersei weakened the curse using her mastery of curses and hexes.

"My name is Amun. My father gave me that name. What about yours?" Amun asked.

"My name is Equinox." Adrian replied as he introduced the others.

"Nice to meet you Equinox. Will you send me to my parents?" Amun asked which slightly shocked Adrian as the boy could more or less judge a character.

Adrian then activated his evil eyes and saw a blinding golden light present inside the boy. It seems that the boy has a shard of a god in his body. He does not know if he was born with it or was put inside of him. With the way the divine soul shard is not getting rejected by his body, Adrian assumes that he was born with it which means he is special.

"No wonder he got taken away instead of being held captive inside the Church of Light." Adrian thought as he called Kanlaon down.

"I think I am needed by my guild as the battle has become much more troublesome. There were monsters that are filled with curses. Can you send me to Neo Alfheim?" Cersei asked as the messages in the guild channels are flooded with monsters like that.

"Sure. My Teleportation spell should send you there. We can just ride Kanlaon to the Kingdom of the Sun." Adrian replied as he used Teleportation on Cersei which led to the center of Neo Alfheim.

"Cool! Can we do that?" Amun stated with eyes full of curiosity and wonder.

"We will do something better and ride him there." Adrian replied as he pointed towards Kanlaon which elicited an even bigger reaction from Amun.

Adrian and the others then rode Kanlaon with Amun being in the front. Adrian is just at the back of Amun in case something happens. They rode towards the Kingdom of the Sun with a blatant attitude because Kanlaon is now in his true size which is about a hundred meters long.

He suddenly had a growth spurt when he entered the level 200 range. Even Adrian is shocked at the sheer size, but he expected that of a dragon said to be the first created. The guards of the Kingdom of the Sun are alarmed of a sudden gigantic golden dragon coming down towards their kingdom.

They did not fire the ballista and arrows because they saw the prince riding on the dragon's back. They also received commands to not be hostile as the other party is not even hostile. If the other party would be hostile, then they would have used their prince as a bargaining chip.

Kanlaon perched on the castle walls and peered his head on the veranda atop the castle. The others got off there as well while Kanlaon got unsummoned by Adrian. Creepysoo could be seen relaxing outside while disguised as a human. It seems that he is enjoying his time as a guest in the kingdom.

"Mommy!" Amun shouted as he ran towards his mother and began telling the things that he experienced.

"Thank goodness you are alright my dear prince. Why don't you tell me about it in full detail? You must first get cleaned." Esett stated as she looked at the servant and the knight to escort the prince away.

"We held up our end of the bargain. Although there were some sacrifices, we managed to get the prince back safely." Awraka stated as Lycan and Solstice are currently logged off the game.

"I will adhere to my word. My kingdom shall become allied with the Avalon starting today." Amon announced as a system notification is received by every player that are in the kingdom.

[The Kingdom of the Sun ruled by King Amon has allied with Avalon.]

[Any hostile relations with Avalon will be seen as challenging the King Amon's authority.]

"Thank you. The food price will be discussed by someone from my side. You can be rest assured that we will not let the people in your kingdom starve. We will continue to provide it at a low price until the Four Horsemen are dealt with." Adrian stated.

"Thank you. This kingdom is eternally grateful for your kindness. If you want, I think I know of one of the Four Horsemen. Do you wish to hear what the story my mother has told of the Mage of Scales?" King Amon stated.

The moment the group heard the term Mage of Scales, they immediately thought that it might be related to the Four Horsemen. Just as they thought that they will get the first trace, a world message is suddenly sent to every player in the region.

[The player, Amelia, has found one of the Traces of the story of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.]

"If you can tell us about the Mage of Scales then we will be grateful as it might provide us clues of about the Four Horsemen." Adrian replied.

"I see. Even the demons are not fond of them right now, but they were once the savior of humanity. The Four Chosen Riders to lead the cavalry of mankind against the dark gods. I do not know of the other three but one of the riders was called the Mage of Scales.

She originated from the nomad tribe that my mother came from in the western continent. All I know is that she was a famed user of earth magic that rocks and sands bend to her will. You must search for the nomad tribe that flows with the sands and could weave rocks.

They must know of more her story if you go there. I am sorry that is all the information that I could give you." King Amon stated.

"No worries. Giving us hints is already a great blessing to us." Adrian stated as they returned back to Avalon since that is where Solstice and Lycan will resurrect.

"This really sucks!" Solstice stated as she revived in Avalon.

"I do not think that dying like that suck. You did protect the boy from harm, and we delivered him to his parents without an injury to his body." Adrian stated.

"Maybe if you arrived sooner then it would not have sucked." Solstice stated.

"Someone sent messages in the group chat that you guys could handle it. We arrived a bit late because we needed to fly there. Going against a mage that could trap you eternally in a barrier is not as easy as it looks." Adrian replied but Solstice' eyes blazed as she looked at Creepysoo.

"Still, we have a big problem. The angels are becoming more and more troublesome. It seems that they are abducting people in the name of the Goddess of Light Luminaria. Well, the term abducting might be a bit much for some because they were enticed rather than taken forcefully.

It seems that they are planning to replenish their force as many of the angels left. You did say that the other angels are looking for the other sealed gods and goddesses of light. We also have to deal with the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Lycan stated.

"Maybe do not think of the angels at the moment because they are difficult to track. We should focus on the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse right now as the remaining time is ticking while only one trace has been found.

The streamer Amelia is also not streaming for a couple of days now which means she must have gotten something good from the chest or she found other leads on the traces. So, how do we go about this?" Adrian asked but a hand suddenly came dragging him away. That hand came from Ascalor.

"You will be coming with me because of the troubles that you have caused. Let your friends go along their way for the time being. I am pretty sure that they will survive without you." Ascalor stated as he dragged Adrian to the Paradox Planes.

"Well, there goes out method of transportation." Solstice stated.

"Actually! There is one more mage that can help us. Rather, it is a wraith. Du'an could probably send us to the western continent as he was the one that fetched me there when I accidentally got sent there." Creepysoo stated as he wanted to steer clear of Solstice' anger for assuming everything is fine.

Chapter 1013

Since Adrian was dragged away, he decided that he needed a break from playing. He also needed to exercise in the real world to make sure that he is rehabilitating properly. He has been able to take a few steps without the aid of the exoskeleton which is why he is excited.

What he is not excited for is the excited look that her mother has when she noticed his progress. She even dared to say that Adrian is ready for slight practice even with the aid of the exoskeleton. It took quite a bit of begging and looking at his father to make sure that his mother does not think like that for a while.

He might pull all the muscles in his body if he does the slight exercise that his mother is saying. He could feel getting a bit of weight though since he does not move as much as before. If his mother did not control his diet, then he would probably be putting on quite a few pounds.

He decided to watch the livestream that Amelia posted about the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. It had useful information that can give hints on getting the mythical tier treasure chest. It seems that one trace means clues on all four of the horsemen instead of information of just one of them.

He initially thought that the trace would be one for each, but it is actually about all four of them. It might also be related to their story progression. The trace that Amelia unlocked is about the origins of the Four Riders. The other thought that came to his head is the livestreams of the fights with the Four Horsemen.

It is quite difficult looking for their location as it changes every seven days if they are not in combat. The location will then change after every combat. Each horseman has been encountered at least once in random locations and the skills of each have been exposed but they are very difficult to kill.

The closest one would be guild that mostly had undead, but their chances were ruined by people that wanted to kill steal. Adrian guessed that they might have killed the Horseman of Death if there were no players that plotted to steal the glory. It was the most optimum location to kill the Horseman of Death but that now a pipe dream.

Each horseman does not return to a location that they have visited, or they players do not know yet. They really need to find all traces to extend the countdown. He is worried that something terrible might happen to them if the countdown reaches zero.

"I just hope that the traces would be found. It does not matter on which side gets it first." Adrian thought as he relaxed a bit before jumping back into the game.

Adrian logged back inside the game is currently sorting out the mess that he created. He already informed Piggy Bank of the deal with the two kingdoms, but he is being scolded with the attack against the second kingdom. Not only did he create havoc there, but he also revealed to everyone that a demon is once again rampaging.

"I was not rampaging. They imprisoned my friend. Did you know that they were harnessing the mana of every prisoner there like a mana factory? I thought that thing was illegal." Adrian stated.

"The other races have expressed their concerns and they will band together when needed against us. We are not powerful enough to fight the coalition of the other races. Even the races under our care are not in peak condition. The only reason that they are letting us do anything we want in the main world is due to the fact that we do not interfere with the power structure here." Ascalor stated.

Ascalor is having a headache about the things that Adrian did. He could respect the revival of the Church of the Twin Gods because he is their champion but attacking a neighboring kingdom and getting in alliance with another is a different case.

"Do not be harsh on the boy, Ascalor. He only exposed the darkness of that kingdom. From what I learned; no casualties were seen on the soldiers there. He held back just enough and only took on a defensive stance. Plus, a barrier that could seal a demon is something that we should fear should it fall into the wrong hands." Koronn stated.

"I agree with Koronn. Plus, the alliance was only for the food situation of the other kingdoms. They will no longer need to go to war with us if we provide them with food. The angels were also behind it which means they are plotting something. We need to start becoming vigilant with them." Bronx stated.

"We already have our hands full from the increasing spatial rifts. Those followers of the Dark Gods might be laying low but that means that they are also plotting something. They already summoned a dark god once in the main world! If one could fully descend without us knowing, then it might as well be the end of the world." Ascalor stated.

"It is not like this is the first time that the world ended." Koronn stated which made Adrian's ears suddenly perk up.

"What do you mean that it is not the first time that the world has ended?" Adrian asked which made Ascalor glare at Koronn.

"What! He can know it. We are already getting free treatment in his territory. We might as well tell some of the secret of the world." Koronn stated which made Adrian look at him with a new light. Adrian is a sucker when it comes to lore.

"I agree as well. It might change his rather laid-back behavior if he knows about this." Bronx added.

"Ho! To think that the muscle brain is supporting me. Did you eat something good today?" Koronn stated as he did not expect this backing.

"Fine. We can at least share that." Ascalor stated.

"So, tell me! Please!" Adrian begged but they did not tell him via words of mouth.

Ascalor flicked Adrian's forehead and numerous visions suddenly flooded his brain. He suddenly got transported to the battlefield in ancient times. He was beside a greater demon back then that looks like Ascalor. He tried calling for the ones near him, but they cannot hear him nor touch them.

All that Adrian is seeing is an illusion or something shown in his mind. He saw the world being extremely broken to the point that everything is in shatters. Even the sky looked like it was torn apart by something incredibly powerful.

The people were getting pushed around by the dark gods and numerous areas are overrun by the monsters created by them. The Asmodians were already extremely exhausted as they were the main force in battling the dark gods. The Noblesse of the Daemos at the time proposed the ultimate solution that could either save the world or utterly destroy it.

With the combined might of all seven hundred seventy seven Noblesse, they thought of separating the planet into multiple different dimensions. They planed on separating it into multiple worlds so that the places run over by the followers of the dark gods will not be able to propagate more.

The world back then was a thousand times bigger, and it was called Pangea instead of Nebulon. The seven hundred seventy seven Noblesse sacrificed their life to create the spell called Dimension Shatter. They even used the Eye of the Void to aid them in using the spell which made it even easier.

The seven hundred seventy seven Noblesse successfully casted the spell but it killed all of them in backlash. The Eye of the Void also got lost in the fragmenting realities as it vanished when the Dimension Shatter Spell was finished. The remaining Noblesse that was not heavily injured continued the battle in the new main world called Nebulon.

In the end, most of the Noblesse sacrificed their lives with the Asmodians to create the division between the planes of existence. The sacrifice of the numerous Noblesse was not forgotten as they were the reason why the war turned in their favor.

[You have learned a small clue about the Eye of the Void.]

[If you find a solid trace of the Eye of the Void then the Racial Quest: Beings of the Void will begin.]

Adrian is shocked upon learning of the real reason why the demons now are severely weakened despite them being very powerful back then. What he did not expect is the fact that he got a notification that prompted him of the racial quest to unlock the Daemos race.

This is an incredibly rare chance that would not have presented itself if he did not go on a rampage. He thought of doing it again but he might really get punished by the elders if he really do it again.

Chapter 1014

The team that will head to the western continent consists of Creepysoo, Vayu, Soleil, Lycan and Solstice. Awraka already left to do her own things as she is also needed by the Shades. She did leave jumping happily when she got a friend invite from the group. She was muttering something that they could not hear clearly.

The clue given to them is that the origin of the Mage of Scales is located at the western continent. Since Adrian is busy getting lectured or doing something else, they are now on their own for this investigation. The first location would be the western continent, but they cannot determine the exact location.

The western continent is different compared to the central continent because most of it is desert. What is even more troubling for them is that the tribe was nomadic. The tribe of the Mage of Scales will not be settling in one location. They can only look for the nomadic tribe using the information that they get from the western continent itself.

Creepysoo called for Du'an and a small rift in space appeared before him. He used the shrunken head which is the unique phones of the undead. Those shrunken heads can only be used by the undead which is why they are great at passing encrypted messages.

"Greetings, Prince. Do you need my aid?" Du'an asked.

"We need to go to the western continent." Creepysoo stated.

"My Prince. The western continent does not fare well for undead such as you. Why do you need to go there?" Du'an asked.

"We need to find a nomadic tribe there that can give us clues about one of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. I have one of my undead knights that come there. We will be fine as long as Mummie will accompany us." Creepysoo stated.

"I can only send you guys there, my prince. I have many things to do but please be careful. Immediately contact me if you are in need of help. Should I tell Blanche and Noire to follow you?" Du'an stated.

"No need. They are also busy trying to find the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. It would be better if we look at all angles which is why I am going to do my own search with my friends. Please open the gate." Creepysoo stated.

"Understood. I will send you to the outside of the ruin where you encountered Mummie. But from my memory, there are ten nomadic tribes in the western continent that still stick to their roots. Only three of them ride creatures that resembles horses. I hope that information will be helpful to you, my prince." Du'an stated as all five of them got wrapped in the magic circle. They disappeared immediately after Du'an finished casting the spell.

"Since I am already here then I better visit my fellow researcher." Du'an told himself as he floated towards Koronn's place. He also needed to rest a bit as casting teleportation to send a group to another continent is taxing even for him.

In Neo Alfheim...

Three individuals that could be described as celebrities are currently panting hard. They are none other than Levin Cloud, Peridot and Kabrakan. They just finished the tenth wave of monsters trying to reach the Tree of Life. They have leveled up quite a bit due to the enormous experience points, but the tiredness has caught up to them.

"I cannot believe that so many monsters would try and attack the tree of life." Peridot stated.

"They are not trying to attack the tree of life. They are trying to claim the habitat as mystical trees are beings that could transform any monster. In fact, the tree of life could even choose a powerful monster as its protector if it is severely threatened.

I just do not know if that is actually the case here as well though. Back in Alfheim, the Tree of Life there has a protector in the form of a giant Fairy Frog. It mostly uses its time sleeping as it will only move when the tree of life is in danger." Levin Cloud stated but he did not expect something to trigger with his casual speech.

[The newly sprouted tree of life has heard of its ability to rear a guardian. It has given you a hidden quest that can help you ward off the last wave of enemies attempting to claim the area of the tree of life.]

Hidden Quest Notification!

Name: Find me a Guardian

Difficulty: Unknown

Quest Description: The newly sprouted Tree of Life has learned that it could rear a guardian of its choosing. It wants to help out the Evergreen Guild that planted it. Help it find a guardian that can protect it from harm.

Clear Condition: Present a baby beast that can become the Guardian of the Tree of Life in Neo Alfheim

Quest Reward: Unlocking the Centurion Transformation of the Guardian of the Forest skill.

Failure Condition: Unable to present a baby beast to the Tree of Life before the last wave.

Failure: Displeasure of the Tree of Life (It will throw a tantrum at you.)

Time Limit: Before the Last Wave of Enemies (10 hours)

Note: The faster you accomplish this quest then the higher chance of the Guardian aiding you in battle in the last wave.

"Guys! Help me!" Levin Cloud immediately stated as he stood up.

Levin Cloud told them of his quest, but they are not that confident. Small beasts are not easy to come across when the area was infested with powerful monsters. They also have no summoner amongst them which can help them. Just as they thought that they cannot deal with the quest, Mariposa suddenly came to check on their conditions.

The moment she heard that the Tree of Life could get a Guardian that can also aid them in the last wave, she immediately became serious. She thought that they could just buy one from the auction house but that would mean the beast will random. They cannot check on the beast as well as they might get a weak one.

"I might be a Summoner that mainly uses insects, but I am still a summoner. I can differentiate a good one from a bad one. I can detect the power level of a monster with my other senses." Mariposa stated.

"I think the two of you could go. We will stay here just in case something happens while you are away. The last wave might be a bit far from now but that will not assure us that there are no beasts that will become stragglers." Kabrakan stated.

"I agree. Mariposa is a big force in this siege defense. We cannot all disappear at such a crucial time." Peridot stated but she does not want to look for a beast as she is mentally exhausted. She has been using spells continuously for quite some time and she needs to cooldown.

"I think we can do it. We only need an infant beast but finding one is also difficult. Infant beasts do not wander off alone and they are often accompanied by their mother." Levin Cloud stated.

"The monsters around here are mostly four legged and carnivores." Mariposa stated.

"Actually, we need to consider your guild when choosing a Guardian. What do you guys need when fighting an enemy that will siege you?" Levin Cloud asked as the guardian will also act as another layer of defense to the Evergreen Guild.

"Since Neo Alfheim is full of trees, we need a guardian that can easily maneuver inside the densely packed forest. A monkey would be good as carnivores are not a great alternative for a guardian of a Tree of Life. They need a symbiotic relationship, I think." Mariposa stated as she wants harmony.

"The Guardian will share the life of the Tree of Life, so we need to be careful. You can choose a carnivorous beast since the Guardian will become a being that shares life with the tree of life. You will not need to feed it with meat." Levin Cloud stated.

"If that is the case then follow me. I have an idea and the habitats of those monsters are close as well." Mariposa stated as she summoned her soulbound to carry Levin Cloud.

Creepysoo, Vayu, Soleil, Lycan and Solstice arrived at the western continent, and they were immediately greeted by a sandstorm upon arriving. They all got separated in the end and were split into two groups. Lycan got stuck with Creepysoo and Soleil while Solstice and Vayu got paired up.

Since the sandstorm is something that regularly occurs, they did think that they could weather it down. What they did not expect is the fact that the Curse of Sett activated which tripled the power of the sandstorm. They all got blown away in different directions as if something is watching them from a far. But them splitting up is also a blessing because a fortuitous encounter happened to Lycan's group.

Levin Cloud and Mariposa headed south of Neo Alheim as that is the location where infant beasts reside. That location is the prime area because it is near a watering hole. Monsters that tend to their young often find locations with accessible food and water.

The first one that they found is a leopard like monster called the Jungle Cat. It is a monster that relies mostly on its speed, but it is also extremely flexible inside the jungle. It would have been perfect if the soul color was not white.

Mariposa might not have the same ability that can see soul like Adrian, but she does have the same instinct as that of insects. She can distinguish special individuals through the pheromones that they released.

Mariposa uses the pheromones released by other monsters as a way of distinguishing them. White soul monsters have normal pheromones that does not make her instincts tingle.

Silver soul monsters have an air of danger to them that makes one wary. Gold Monsters are basically almost royalty of the species. Her Queen Bee soulbound is considered one.

Above golden soul monsters are basically the rarest of the bunch and they are often unique monsters. Some summoners often have at least one of them, but she knows one that have multiple. The moment she saw all of Adrian's soulbounds is the day her instincts went wild.

She wanted to question Adrian about his soulbounds on how he got them, but she held herself back. Each player has their secrets and Adrian will not tell her anyway even if she asks him. It seems that Adrian would have come if he did not have trouble in his territory as well.

In fact, it is not only them that are having territory problems. All of the territories in the world are having multiple problems because of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. It is even rumored that a world council has already been trying to form because of the sudden world problems.

"All the monsters here are not even powerful enough. We need something that could at least be a monarch." Mariposa stated as they searched for the monsters.

She already released her bee swarm to make sure that the search would be effective. She thought that they will see numerous small beasts immediately, but the effect of the monster waves must have affected them as well. The small beasts are all in hiding and would still be in hiding until the last monster wave.

Just as the two thought that their search would be for naught, a small beast suddenly dropped down on Levin Cloud's shoulders. It was an unexpected small animal that looked like a cross between a bear and a monkey. What is even more important is that it is cute but something within Mariposa made it shudder.

If Adrian is there, then he would have said that the monster that dropped on Levin Cloud's shoulder is a monster with a golden soul. It has the qualities of a king as the soul it has is shining gold. What is even more interesting is the fact that it is not scared of the monster waves.

"That is the one!" Mariposa reacted.

"This cute little guy?" Levin Cloud stated with a questioning look as he does not believe that something that cute will be powerful.

"It might look cute, but I can feel it has great strength. Why is it even getting close to you despite it being a monster?" Mariposa stated.

"I have a title called Friend of the Forest that lets small forest critters be friendly towards me as long as I am not hostile. It is also the reason why some of the beasts we encountered did not immediately attack us." Levin Cloud revealed as he only got that title when he spent time with cute animals in Alfheim.

"I see. It must also be due to the fact that you are a Leshy. They are not called the Guardian of the Forests for nothing after all. It basically assures you safe passage in any forest as long as you are not hostile." Mariposa replied as she is a bit jealous of that title.

Her race is also getting less hostile but there are many beings in the forest that treat them as prey. She then gestured for Levin Cloud to coerce the small beast that came to him to become the Tree Guardian for the Tree of Life.

"Do you want to become strong young one?" Levin Cloud asked but the small beast shook its head as it perfectly understood what he meant. This also shocked Mariposa because she did not hear the audible sentence that Levin Cloud just said. As if his speech automatically became translated to another language.

"You do not want to become strong? If you do not want to become strong, then do you want your belly to be filled every day with the best berries? That beautiful elder sister over there has an orchard full of delicious fruits." Levin Cloud stated as he knew that Neo Alfheim is exporting its fruits and vegetables for extra income.

Upon learning that the small beast could always be full and no longer starve, it immediately agreed with cute little eyes. It even started to do a call that attracted four more individuals like it, but their hair color was grayer than its golden almond fur. It is definitely a rare species that is different from its other comrades.

Monster Name: King Moss Kinkajou

Stage: Infant

Level: 50

Health: 100%

Mana: 100%

Description: A special species of the Moss Kinkajou that is said to only be born everyone hundred years. It is a gentle species, but it is extremely vicious when it needs to be. It has the special ability to grow moss that can create hallucinations. It can also grow other types of moss that have different effects. It is currently in its infant stage and will need to grow up to become powerful.

Just as the two were about to go back to Neo Alfheim, a horde of monsters suddenly surrounded them. Twenty Forest Jaguars suddenly surrounded them which made the Moss Kinkajous shudder in fear as they are considered as prey by these monsters.

"Can you also talk to them?" Mariposa asked.

"Not really. When the instincts of hunger kicks in, any predatory monster will not listen to my calls or pleas. We have no choice but to guard the little ones." Levin Cloud replied as he immediately activated Sanctuary as two Forest Jaguars suddenly jumped towards him as the Moss Kinkajous are with him.

"I will handle this then." Mariposa stated as she commanded her bee soulbound and mantis soulbound to kill all the Forest Jaguars.

The Forest Jaguars may be extremely hungry as they are driven by instinct, but their hunter characteristics did not get dull. When they immediately assessed that they could not win a head on collision, they hid in the trees as they are adept at camouflage due to their color resembling the barks of the trees.

The camouflage did not help them though as insects rarely rely on their sense of sight or they have a different variation of sight that helps them see through other disguises. The Forest Jaguars fell one after the other and the Moss Kinkajous looked like they are cheering Mariposa on. They would jump and clap whenever a Forest Jaguar become particles of light.

Levin Cloud suddenly thought that these Moss Kinkajous are no longer cute as they are more devious that they look. If the King Moss Kinkajou was not their intended target, then he might have left it there in fear of a monster that they will create when it becomes stronger.

The appearance of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse and their consistent ravaging of the lands have made the various monarchs, lords of leaders of each territory call for a meeting. They plan to hold a summit in ten days in order to make sure that the threat will be neutralized.

They entrusted the message to the Temple of the Messenger God as they are the ones that could easily distribute the messages to other continents. This temple is very strict when it comes to getting followers as they are bound to an oath to never spill the contents of their messages even to their deaths.

The messengers of the Temple of the Messenger God will need to have a mind of stone and an attitude that does not care for others. This is also the reason why they are called the Temple of Insensitivity. They do not care if the message they bring will be good or bad but will only care if they actually bring the message to the proper receiver.

One messenger arrived at Avalon and is currently in the presence of Adrian, who is seated at the lord's chair. The chair might look like an ordinary wooden chair but it was actually made of the pruned branches of the Tree of Life and Death.

Chapter 1016

Levin Cloud and Mariposa returned to Neo Alfheim and brought the King Moss Kinkajou. They went straight to the location of the Tree of Life. They met Anastacia there and confirmed that they are there to deliver the new guardian of the Tree of Life.

The King Moss Kinkajou did not immediately understand the thing about the guardian as it is an infant beast. It does believe that it can eat anything it wants once it has become one. The King Moss Kinkajou saw the numerous fruits trees around the tree in the center and salivated. Even the other moss kinkajous are celebrating that they will no longer starve or fight for food.

The tree of life noticed that Levin Cloud has delivered it its guardian to be. The tree of life then used some of its life energy and created a form of a small child. This small child is transparent and glows in vibrant green light. The King Moss Kinkajou was not afraid of this small child and is even enamored.

"Come, little one." The transparent apparition created by the tree of life stated. To those who cannot understand the language of trees, they can only hear the whistle in the wind. The voice of the tree of life shocked Anastacia because this is the first time that she has heard it.

She is familiar with the form that the Tree of Life uses as it often pranks the other guild members. There was even a time that the guild members thought that Neo Alfheim is haunted by ghosts, but she then told everyone that they have undead guild members. If there were real ghosts, then they will be the first one to notice.

"You hear that as well." Anastacia asked Levin Cloud.

"It is not my first time that a tree talks to me. I am basically close to a living tree. We Leshies might not be like the treants but we are close to actual tree spirits. Also, the Tree of Life and Death often talks to other people that it wants to communicate.

This Tree of Life must not be strong enough to communicate with those that it wants which would explain why only the two of us could understand it." Levin Cloud stated as he saw the King Moss Kinkajou hug the transparent green apparition.

The apparition of the tree of life then placed its forehead on the forehead of the King Moss Kinkajou. It seems that the two were communicating with their minds and the King Moss Kinkajou opened its eyes with clear understanding. The small beast now knows what the Tree of Life is asking from it.

If one took a closer look, the King Moss Kinkajou is now more intelligent than before as if great wisdom is unlocked. The King Moss Kinkajou then communicated with its companions, and they also agreed. The moss kinkajous that were playful suddenly just sat down peacefully as if they are waiting for their king.

The Tree of Life then suddenly created something like a green egg that is embedded on the lower trunk. The King Moss Kinkajou is then placed on top of the green egg looking thing and is slowly absorbed inside of it. The small beast did not even try to resist as it got willingly absorbed inside.

Since the egg or capsule looking thing is a vibrant green color, they could not see what is happening inside of it. What made them know that the King Moss Kinkajou is inside of the green egg is the time when the egg released a pulsing glow. The silhouette of a curled-up King Moss Kinkajou is seen inside.

[You have given the Tree of Life a new candidate Guardian.]

[Protect it from the other monsters trying to steal its position.]

"What the heck?" Levin Cloud stated as he suddenly saw the two notifications and a loud roar of a monster is suddenly heard by everyone in the territory.

"Monster Wave Incoming!" One of the members of the Evergreen guild on lookout suddenly shouted.

"What is going on? I thought the last wave would come five hours from now!" Cersei suddenly stated as she went to look for Anastacia.

"Change of plans. The Tree of Life is incubating its guardian. We must stop the other monsters trying to replace the guardian. All members to your posts!" Anastacia announced as she immediately touched the tree of life and a branch suddenly carried her off to the top.

When Anastacia planted and grew the Tree of Life successfully, she received a title of Friend of the Neo Alfheim Tree of Life. It gave her complete access with the tree of life and is able to synergize her skills with it. This means that any healing spells that she casts will be amplified in range by the Tree of Life.

All of her guild members in Neo Alfheim will basically have the effects of her healing and buffs. The only downside is that she cannot go away from the Tree of Life while utilizing the effects. But this title is basically the best one when it comes to siege defense as she will not fall as long as the tree of life stands tall.

The early monster wave is not the final wave as the countdown for the last monster wave is still commencing. The monsters in this wave consisted of all monsters that can move through the trees, land and the sky. What the Evergreen guild lacks is an aerial unit but what they do have are great archers that is being led by Alder.

Alder has changed from a normal Spirit Archer to an Elemental Sharpshooter. He can now utilize all the elements at his disposal as long as he has contracted the elementals. He even has a contract with a darkness elemental that he obtained from befriending a dark elf in Avalon when he came to visit.

The flying monsters did not stand a chance against the combined might of the archers in the Evergreen guild. What they do not like are elves and elves have been masters of the bow since the beginning of time.

The monsters that move inside the jungle are then dealt with the new squad that the Evergreen guild has. When the dark elves became unlocked, many of the wood elf players in the guild changed to a dark elf in order to maximize their talents in physicality. Dark elves are more physically able compared to the wood elves that mostly relied on magic.

The Evergreen guild also has a dark elf division that uses Death Magic. They would often send some of the priest players that wanted to learn Death Magic to Avalon. Some were even personally taught by the dark elf elders because of their great mastery of it.

The Evergreen of old is no longer the one that has weak stamina and variety but is now a fully pledged guild that is stronger than before. The synchronicity of the Life and Death magic in the battlefield is torture for any enemy that faces them. They can basically gun down their opponents before they even reach the actual territory.

The Evergreen guild also hired some mercenary players and set up a leaderboard for them. What some of the mercenary players wanted are official guild membership which is coveted by anyone.

The Evergreen might have lagged a bit when Neo Alfheim first fell but they are rising stronger than before.

What is even more enticing is the fact that the Evergreen guild has strong ties with the Church of Life and Death. It is not a secret that the guild leader of the Evergreen guild is the Envoy of the Goddess of Life. She also has powerful area revival spells that can basically turn the tides when guild wars will arrive.

The wave of monsters that arrived may not be getting pushed back but they are having a difficult time getting inside the territory. The battle went on for the whole five hours and the last wave finally arrived. Unlike the preliminary wave that was triggered by the candidate guardian of the tree of life, the final wave of monsters are ten times bigger than all the waves.

The scariest thing that they see in the final wave are the tree field bosses. Each of the field bosses are all in the level 300 range. The field bosses are different monsters that could be said to have great strength.

The field boss that arrived first is a Blazing Condor which is not really blazing in fire, but its name is from the extreme body heat that the monster has. Even if it dies, the meat of the Blazing Condor will retain its heat while its blood is a great alchemy ingredient for enhancement potions.

The second field boss is an Armored Rhinoceros which could destroy the gate with one tackle. The last field boss is a Fierce Lion which can eat a human with one bite due to its sheer size.

Chapter 1017

The three field bosses are all level 300 and are with a group of at least a thousand monsters. The greatest threat for them would be the Blazing Condor as the flock that it commanded are also filled with flying monsters of high levels.

The next troublesome field boss would be the Armored Rhinoceros because it could easily destroy the wall that protects their territory. The other beasts that it commands are also of the armored family tree which means they have great defenses.

The Fierce Lion is accompanied by its pride and are lingering in all directions of Neo Alfheim. It seems that they are using the predatory instincts. The only good news for them would be that the three factions of beasts are not working together and seemed to be somewhat at odds.

"So, who do you pick?" Levin Cloud stated.

"I will go and deal with the Blazing Condor with Alder. Our elemental attacks have the best synergy after all." Peridot stated.

"I agree with her as well and we might be able to kill it faster by working together. We can then aid the other parties when we finish the Blazing Condor." Alder agreed to Peridot's proposition.

"I will deal with the Armored Rhinoceros since I may be the only one that can tank its attack. It is also great for my shields as it might lower its durability. It has become difficult to make it crack." Kabrakan stated as his shields are in need of an upgrade. An upgrade that can only happen when it gets destroyed.

"I guess that leaves the Fierce Lion to me. I just hope that it is as cute as Kimat." Levin Cloud stated.

"I will help Levin Cloud with the Fierce Lion. Make sure that your side will hold on." Mariposa stated as she gave a reminder to Kabrakan since their side will purely focus on defense with the Armored Rhinoceros.

"Everyone! The beasts have reached the first point of contact. Please prepare for your respective battles. This will be the last one! We will come out victorious!" Anastacia announced via the help of the Tree of Life.

The golden egg that glowed in intervals could be seen growing in size and is now five meters in height. The other Moss Kinkajous are watching their king be reborn anew. They could also feel something change inside of them as they are now starting to get covered with the vines that sprouted below them.

"Do you really think we can handle the Blazing Condor?" Alder asked as he is slightly intimidated now that the Blazing Condor was flying at a lower altitude.

The Blazing Condor could be seen at a height of five meters while its wingspan is more than fifteen meters. It also emits some sort of overbearing aura that can weaken anyone that stares at it.

[You are affected by the Aura of a Sky King.]

[You have resisted it because of your bloodline.]

The Blazing Condor might have affected the other players that had weak will, but it did nothing for Peridot. She was a Ryujin and a pure blooded one at that. She will not cower against any being except for special individuals that predate the time of her blood like the five races.

"Wide Enchanting Circle: Four Element Harmony!" Peridot stated as she crushed four elemental gems that symbolized fire, earth, wind and water.

A magic circle suddenly covered the sky and it had four different colors that symbolized the four basic elements. Peridot already used this spell a few waves ago but even she is reluctant in using it because of the resource consumption. Thankfully, the Evergreen guild is gracious enough to provide her with the gemstones.

"Raise all of your bows!" Alder commanded as he is the commander of the archers.

All the archers then raised their bows towards the air while the flying monsters started to circle around the top of the territory. When the Blazing Condor realized that the defenders used a spell, it did not tell its minions to attack but the magic circle did nothing. Now, the pitiful long eared preys are aiming their bows at them.

With a high pitch squeal from the Blazing Condor, all the flying monsters started their descent. The Blazing Condor could no longer take the disrespect that it has suffered. It has the qualities of a king, yet the enemy dared to only treat it just like a normal monster.

"Bird Brain." Alder muttered as he chuckled at the expected reaction of the Blazing Condor.

The numerous flying monsters came flying down on them, but the bows of the archers released their arrows. The physical arrows that passed through the magic circle created by Peridot got coated with four different attributes. The flying monsters that thought that they will be faster than the arrows all thought wrong.

It did not take long for the numerous flying monsters hit to start crashing down on the charging monsters. The normal arrow would get coated with four different attributes that did different things. The wind element increased the arrow speed by ten times while also providing an enhancement effect for the fire element.

The fire element would then reinforce the wind element by providing a boost. It also coats the body of the arrow with a blazing hot flame. The water element turned to be the thing that provides the best penetrating element as it turned into sharp strings that can slice anything in their path.

The earth element provided the arrow the sturdiness it needed to maintain the arrow. All four elements worked in harmony and in synergy which made the flying monsters get severely injured upon getting hit. The most fearsome thing is that the flying monsters would crash onto the ground since it would be their wings that usually get hit or their chests.

The Blazing Condor saw its flock being sent crashing down on the charging monsters while those that crash inside the territory get killed by the players stationed there. It could not take that all of its followers are dying so it decided to try and destroy the magic circle that enhanced the arrows.

The Blazing Condor flapped its great wings up high and started to descend at an incredible rate. The kinetic force it generated is so great that it started to form a shell around its body. Peridot smiled upon this interaction as the magic circle also has defensive mechanisms.

Before the Blazing Condor could get close to the magic circle, a sudden tornado got spit out of the magic circle that blew the condor away. When the tornado caught the Blazing Condor, fire started to spawn on the root of the tornado. The fire soon spread towards the tornado and turned into a blazing twister.

The Blazing Condor could take the heat as its body is already incredibly hot by nature. The only thing that it did not consider is the sudden charring of its feather tips. Just as the Blazing Condor thought that the attack is over, water blades suddenly shot up from the magic circle that perfectly hit the wings of the enemy.

The water blades are followed up by the suddenly hurling of stalactites. As this happened, the magic circle could be seen starting to fade as all of the magic supplied to it diminished. Peridot used all of her mana, but the enhancement magic circle is not permanent.

The spells that hit the body of the Blazing Condor might be great, but it is not enough to severely damage it. The Blazing Condor released a sharp cry as it rose to the sky once more. The voice of Anastacia suddenly got transmitted to everyone.

"Take cover!" Anastacia stated.

The feathers of the Blazing Condor suddenly shined as it released numerous sharp feathers in every direction. The most troublesome thing is that the sharp feathers were also the one ignited by the blazing tornado that hit it. The Blazing Condor turned the thing that damage it to a weapon which makes it different from a normal boss monster.

Numerous blazing feathers got shot out, but the players were not the only one that got hit. The other monsters on the ground got hit which as well deepened the animosity of the others. The Armored Rhinoceros and the Fierce Lion could even be seen growling and roaring in protest.

Just as the players thought that the field bosses could not be riled up anymore, a strong pulse is suddenly sent from the center of the territory. This strong pulse contains the increasing power of the King Moss Kinkajou that is undergoing transformation. The three field bosses went crazy because they can gain this power from consuming the beast inside of the evolutionary cocoon.

[The monsters of the last wave are all sent to rage due to their commanders.]

[If you want to calm and disperse them down then you need to kill the three field bosses or contain their frenzy.]

Chapter 1018

Just as the players thought that the field bosses could not be riled up anymore, a strong pulse is suddenly sent from the center of the territory. This strong pulse contains the increasing power of the King Moss Kinkajou that is undergoing transformation. The three field bosses went crazy because they can gain this power from consuming the beast inside of the evolutionary cocoon.

[The monsters of the last wave are all sent to rage due to their commanders.]

[If you want to calm and disperse them down then you need to kill the three field bosses or contain their frenzy.]

[The Guardian of the Tree of Life is almost done being reborn. Protect it with all your life.]

[Time until the Guardian of the Tree of Life awakens: 15 minutes]

The Armored Rhinoceros started to stomp its feet and creating shockwaves on the ground. It rushed forward and swept everything in front of it be it friend or foe. It did not distinguish between its own underlings as it sent them all flying as well. Only Kabrakan stood in front of its charging path with great resolve.

The Armored Rhinoceros and Kabrakan clashed against one another. The unstoppable force met with the steadiest shield. Kabrakan felt all his inner organs jiggle as he did not expect that he will actually stop the charge of the Armored Rhinoceros. Even the Armored Rhinoceros did not expect that it will not send Kabrakan flying.

"Thank goodness I managed to cast it on time." Cersei stated as she managed to pull off Momentum Sap.

Cersei managed to decrease the momentum of the Armored Rhinoceros by 50% at the perfect time. IF she did not cast it perfectly then Kabrakan could have been sent flying by now. With the Armored Rhinoceros stopped by Cersei and Kabrakan, the ones on standby immediately attacked it.

They knew that they would get numerous participation points if they killed at least one of the field bosses. The players in this battle are waiting for their chance to be noticed by the Evergreen guild which is why they are doing their best.

On the other side of the battlefield, the Fierce Lion sent out a soundwave by just doing the act of roaring. The roar of the Fierce Lion created a powerful sound wave that swept all range attacks aimed towards it. The other members of its pride also joined in on the roar and that is the attack that decimated the front lines.

Just as the players thought that they will die from the roar of the field boss, the area suddenly started to glow green and numerous plants started to grow. The most interesting part is that the field increased their health regeneration and protections just by standing on top of it.

[You have activated the Field of Gaea.]

[All health regeneration will be increased by 300%.]

[Mana regeneration will be increased by 100%.]

[Healing spells and attacks with life steal are increased by 100% when inside the Field of Gaia.]

[All defenses of allies are increased by 20% if they are inside the field.]

[All damage done by allies will increase by 10% if they are inside the field.]

[You are in the presence of the Tree of Life.]

[All effects of the Field of Gaia will be increased by 50%.]

The players that thought that they will die suddenly started to recover their health at a great degree. Even the mana that they lost started to get recovered at a visible pace that the mages thought they are dreaming. They looked at the one that casted the spell and it was none other than Levin Cloud.

The only problem that Levin Cloud encountered is the fact that he gained the status of Over Healing. All the aggro then shifted towards him which is why he became the prime target of the monsters. Even with the Taunt skill of the tanks, the monsters did not get swayed and charged towards Levin Cloud.

"Might as well use the upgraded skill that I have gotten." Levin Cloud stated as the hidden quest was finally cleared when the fifteen-minute countdown happened.

Hidden Quest Notification! (Cleared)

Name: Find me a Guardian

Difficulty: Unknown

Quest Description: The newly sprouted Tree of Life has learned that it could rear a guardian of its choosing. It wants to help out the Evergreen Guild that planted it. Help it find a guardian that can protect it from harm.

Clear Condition: Present a baby beast that can become the Guardian of the Tree of Life in Neo Alfheim (Completed)

Quest Reward: Unlocking the Centurion Transformation of the Guardian of the Forest skill.

Failure Condition: Unable to present a baby beast to the Tree of Life before the last wave.

Failure: Displeasure of the Tree of Life (It will throw a tantrum at you.)

Time Limit: Before the Last Wave of Enemies (10 hours)

Note: The faster you accomplish this quest then the higher chance of the Guardian aiding you in battle in the last wave.

[Your Guardian of the Forest skill has gained the Centurion Transformation.]

"Guardian of the Forest!" Levin Cloud shouted as large vines suddenly sprouted from the ground and dragged him below.

The monsters charging at Levin Cloud suddenly stopped as their target suddenly vanished. A few seconds later, a giant tree suddenly came sprouting from the ground that is almost the same as the tree of life and death. The tree then started to morph into a humanoid shape as the real form of a Leshy is finally revealed.

A hulking body with a height of thirty meters and a body made of decayed branches and lush leaves. A head that looked like a mix between a bark and a stag's skeletal head. Glowing green eyes that feel as if he is staring right at the soul of their victims. Everyone is awed with Levin Cloud's transformation, but this is not yet the end.

"Centurion Transformation!" Levin Cloud stated as his voice has a dark echo that can chill the spines of anyone that hears.

The humanoid shape of the Leshy started to morph once more. Levin Cloud noticed that his body started to change as a different lower half started to get formed. When he looked back, he now has a long body and two more feet behind him.

Levin Cloud's new form looked like a Leshy centaur. Levin Cloud stretched out his hands as he summoned his weapon in this form. A glaive made of roots and sharp bark suddenly started to sprout from the ground. Levin Cloud held the long glaive and spun it like he has been using it for years.

[You have changed into your Centurion Form.]

[All stats will be organized.]

[Devotion stat will temporarily be added to strength and agility in a forty by sixty ratio.]

Levin Cloud lifted his front legs up and created a heavy stomp just by bringing it down. The fierce monsters that are aiming at his neck suddenly cowered a little as the weak looking individual suddenly became gigantic.

"I am going to enjoy this." Levin Cloud stated as he charged right into the enemy lines.

Levin Cloud started to cull the front lines as his new form has great speed. He might not be able to heal all of his team members in this form, but he does deal great damage. He is also expectant of the ultimate skill that is available in this form.

He will be able to explode in life energy later that can heal everyone. All the damage he dealt will be transformed into a healing wave which can cure all people inside a one-kilometer radius. Levin Cloud laughed while he swung his glaive which made him look like a bringer of destruction from the dark echoing voice that he has.

He can now maintain the transformation of the Guardian of the Forest for half an hour. It has finally transformed into a new skill after being enhanced in the southeast continental area. The Fierce Lion saw the new entity that is wreaking havoc on the front lines and is even healing those around him with each damage that he deals.

The Fierce Lion could no longer overlook the enemy and wait for the members of his pride to die. It charged straight towards Levin Cloud with a powerful roar. The roar threw off Levin Cloud for a second but that is all that the Fierce Lion needs as it pounced at Levin Cloud.

Mariposa is not idle upon seeing this and also decided to go all in. She used Limit Break: Summoner to summon all her soulbounds that are powerful insect monsters. Her beetle soulbound managed to stop the attack of the Fierce Lion by immediately deploying a barrier.

Levin Cloud sighed with relief as he thought that he would have to be blasted by the Fierce Lion's foul smell. The Faekin have incredibly sensitive senses because they must be able to sense even the tiniest amount of sound or touch.

Chapter 1019

The Armored Rhinoceros charged once more but Cersei did not have the capacity to curse it again. She is still busy with using mass curses and hexes that made her mind scattered. Kabrakan tried to block it and he even summoned his Wilde Soul, but the field boss suddenly exploded in kinetic energy.

Kabrakan got stunned and knocked back as a result with his Wilde Soul dissipating from the large damage that he received. The Armored Rhinoceros is finally reaching the walls of the territory when the tree of life suddenly glowed. Vines suddenly started to grow that covered the walls of Neo Alfheim.

The Armored Rhinoceros managed to cleanly hit the fortified walls but was not able to break it. The fortified walls did give numerous cracks and one more hit would surely destroy it. The Armored Rhinoceros started to collect kinetic energy once more and wanted to breach the walls, but a giant figure suddenly came pummeling down on its back.

Monster Name: Kingkajou

Tier: Mythical

Title: Guardian of the Tree of Life (Neo Alfheim)

Level: 330

Health: 100% (Tied with the Tree of Life in Neo Alfheim)

Mana: 100%

Description: The Strongest Evolution of the King Moss Kinkajou. It is said that the Kingkajou is the monarch of all monkey and bear monsters. It has great strength, but its gentle nature coupled with its cute look makes it be looked down upon. It is said that even a pure-blooded dragon needs to use its full strength to contend with it.

This Kingkajou is currently the Guardian of the Tree of Life in Neo Alheim and cannot go away from this territory as it is bound. It is currently linked with the Tree of Life which grants it nigh immortality as long as it is near the vicinity.

Status: Excited

The Kingkajou looks like a giant kinkajou with luxurious golden fur and a golden crown adorning its head. The Kingkajou slammed the Armored Rhinoceros down on the ground and the latter emitted a cry of anguish. The armored plating on its back now has cracks and one or two more hits might shatter it.

Just as the Kingkajou raised its two fists to send it down on the back of the Armored Rhinoceros, the Blazing Condor suddenly swooped down in an attempt to kill the Kingkajou. With the Kingkajou now fully transformed, the only hope that the field bosses could do would be eating the guardian to obtain its power.

The Kingkajou noticed this and immediately did a backflip. It then slapped the Blazing Condor with its tail to deter the bird of prey from grasping the Kingkajou with its sharp talons. The Armored Rhinoceros immediately used the chance it was given to get distance.

The Blazing Condor and the Armored Rhinoceros suddenly looked at each other as if they are communicating an alliance. They tried to call for the Fierce Lion, but no response came, and they can no longer hear the sharp roars of the field boss.

Just as the two field bosses thought of the worse possible scenario, three insect soulbounds suddenly came towards them. A mantis, a spider and numerous bees suddenly came swarming in on the remaining two field bosses.

"Finally! What took you guys too long?" Kabrakan stated as he stood up after drinking a mana potion.

"Sorry about that. It took a while." Levin Cloud stated as he is now back into his sealed humanoid form.

Mariposa and Levin Cloud managed to kill the Fierce Lion as it grew stronger with the number of individuals that are in its pride. All seven soulbounds that Mariposa controlled plus activating a skill that boost all attacks from Levin Cloud made it quite easy for them to clear the lion monsters.

They did not do so without sacrifices as many players are severely injured and a few did die. Those that were lucky enough to barely survive got healed back to full health when Levin Cloud exploded into healing light. All the damage that he dealt to the enemies was converted to a healing pulse that even restored stamina.

"Incoming!" Alder's voice stated as four arrows suddenly shot up in the sky.

Each arrow had a different element and exploded when it reached the highest point. Each elemental arrow then created a magic circle on the sky that rained down thousands of elemental arrows of its respected element. The Blazing Condor that is supposed to dodge the elemental arrows suddenly got struck by lightning.

Instead of rising up in the sky, the Blazing Condor got stunned by the sudden lightning strike and came crashing down. The last two field bosses then endured a hail of arrows that had different elemental damage.

"Everyone! We are almost there. Finish them!" Anastacia's voice stated as a healing light suddenly erupted from the tree of life that healed all of those in the territory.

The players suddenly got invigorated knowing that they can let loose without worry of their health. Two envoys are on their side, and one is even connected to the tree of life. Another pulse of light came from the tree of life once more but this time it revived all the fallen players.

[All players that died in the Neo Alfheim territory has been revived.]

[Due to the numerous numbers of revivals, only 15% of their total health will be restored.]

[You cannot perform another wide area spell with the aid of the tree of life for another twenty minutes.]

Anastacia utilized all the energy that the tree of life could spare for her. She managed to do the most important part of the siege defense and that is the revival of the fallen players. The morale of the players suddenly skyrocketed when they saw that their fallen comrades got revived.

It also ignited the competitive spirit of those that participated in the siege defense as other players will now take their points. The last monster wave is taken care of with the least amount of casualties.

Chapter 1020

Adrian received the letter from the Priests of the Messenger God. He does not know if it was intentional or not, but a player is actually the one that delivered the letter to him. He did not bother reading to much from it but the letter he got carries a lot of burden.

The three elders almost wanted him to dress up for the occasion, but he already has the Asmodian Battle Suit which is the most luxurious clothes that a demon can wear. Even the elders were a bit jealous when they learned that Adrian is wearing something like that as that is the clothes of actual Asmodians.

"You will need an escort. You are our representative since you do own this territory. The Continental Council is not something that should be skipped. You will be the face of us Daemos and the other races that are living in your territory." Ascalor stated but he is glad that Adrian will be the one to attend and not him.

"Your escort will be Onyx. He is just like you and has the budding qualifications of becoming an Arch Demon. We wanted to give you two guards, but the messenger stated to only bring one as the others can only bring one in the actual meeting venue." Bronx stated.

"They are just afraid that having three of our kind there will pose a threat. I am sure they would employ mages to be there so that they will interfere with the spatial movement magic. You will probably be in a place flooded with mana which would make spatial movement difficult." Koronn stated.

"I am not really concerned that much. What I am concerned about is what they want with us. They will not invite us to the council without reason. They must have an ulterior motive." Adrian stated what he is thinking.

"That might be true, but the Four Horsemen are such a big threat to them that they rather forget their fear of our race. To me, I could actually care less as less gods are trying to encroach the main world when the four awakened. They are akin to natural disasters, but they might kill all the inhabitants of the world if this keeps up." Ascalor stated.

"I shall be on my way then. Fortunately, it is being held in the central continent and the other representatives of the other continents have already arrived." Adrian stated as he came to fetch Onyx to go with him.

The Continental Council will be held in the Free City of Mercatores. It is the newly built city that the merchants of all four continents built on the ruins of the fallen imperial capital. Using the power of money, the Merchant Guild donated great sums to all denominations to purify and bless the area.

The great city of Mercatores got built in less than a year and it is the next most advanced city in the central continent after the capital of the Kingdom of the Gnomes. Since Adrian already knew of the location, he and Onyx just instantly teleported there. Their sudden appearance in the middle of the city caused a commotion and guards even gathered to their location.

"Maybe we should waltz inside the gate next time." Onyx stated.

"My bad as this was the last coordinate of the fallen imperial capital. I just instinctively used this so that I will no longer try and search for new coordinates." Adrian replied.

Onyx is now different from before as he is strengthened to the core. Even Adrian could feel that Onyx' body is exploding with great energy. He is also two meters tall now, but Adrian knew that he is currently polymorphed to hide his real height. Onyx now has the strength of Bronx when Adrian first met him which is quite an upgrade.

"Greetings! Champion of the Twin Gods and the Lord of Avalon, Equinox. I am the captain of the guards, Joanne. Please follow us to your quarters." A woman dressed in great equipment that could be said to have legendary tier stated.

"Thank you for meeting us and apologies for the sudden intrusion. I thought we are late for the meeting which is why we directly teleported here." Adrian stated.

"That is fine as we understand the quirks of your race. We are just glad that the people did not cause such a fuss as you are an honored guest here. Also, the meeting has yet to start as others have yet to arrive. It will start in an hour though so please rest in your quarters for a while." Joanne stated.

The Free City of Mercatores does not have a castle but it does have a large stadium complex filled with private quarters. This stadium complex is also the base of operations for the Merchant Guild with numerous rooms and their own hall for large meetings.

The people are obviously looking at Adrian and Onyx, but they pay it no heed. The ones that stare the most are mostly of the other races except for the elves. The elves have almost free access to Avalon because it is the base of the Church of the Twin Gods.

Just as Adrian thought that it would be smooth sailing, some people suddenly blocked his path. The group of people are all players as well and seem to be from a top guild that owns a large territory. They just blocked the path without an excuse which made Adrian squint his eyes as he does not know this guild or their insignia.

"Why do you dare block our path?! Move now or you will be moved." Joanne stated as she was instructed to be very courteous towards the demons.

"Do not worry as we only want to talk with Equinox there. We are acquaintances, you see." The one that looks like the leader of the group stated while hinting at Adrian to tell Joanne that he knows him.

"I do not know him nor have met him. Excuse us." Adrian stated which stunned the man as he is from one of the top guilds which is very famous but for all the wrong reasons.