

O Summoner 1131

Chapter 1131

Adrian's diversion of attacks could be said as the ultimate support when it comes to intense fights such as this. There is a catch for this to happen though as he needs to receive the damage of the attacks as well. If he was not in his Aetheros Form, then he would have no chance of always doing this.

The Horseman of Famine could be seen progressively getting weaker and weaker. The team is slowly whittling down the health that she has left. They thought it would be smooth sailing from this point on, but the Dragon of Revelation will not sit idly by and let one of its anchors in the real world to vanish.

The Dragon of Revelation immediately took out seven heads once more and released beams of light instead of its usual projectiles from its mouths. The seven heads all released the beams towards Adrian's direction as the Dragon of Revelation wants to kill or incapacitate Adrian.

Adrian felt that something is off about the beams, but he still blocked them using his mirrors. This time, Adrian did not try to divert it as he could feel something ominous about the beams coming out from the Dragon of Revelation's mouth. Seven mirrors reinforced by Crystallize blocked the beams coming from the Dragon of Revelation.

The mirrors are greatly increased in defense which is why the seven did not break easily. There is a sort of rust like substance corroding the mirrors though and Adrian could see his health suddenly decreasing. The energy that is being blocked by the mirrors seems to be bypassing or affecting Adrian's connection with the mirrors.

"Master, a harmful substance that is more potent than the miasma that the Horseman of Death released in your body is attempting to invade your mana channels. I have blocked it, but you are advised to think of a countermeasure immediately." The Cube of Paradox stated as it reported Adrian's body constitution.

"Can we not convert it to Nether Energy?" Adrian asked.

"Negative. The energy that is trying to corrode your body has traces of divinity in it which is why you are unable to touch it." The Cube of Paradox stated as it gave Adrian a background on why the energy cannot be transformed.

The Dragon of Revelation is using his own corrupted divine energy to influence Adrian's mana. Since the mirrors are connected to his mana channels as he needs mana to create them, the Dragon of Revelation wanted to make use of this to kill Adrian from the inside. IF this mana is not expunged then Adrian will explode from the inside.

"If that is how that dirty dragon will behave then we shall be rough as well." Adrian stated as he gave command to the Cube of Paradox to create as many mirrors as possible around the Dragon of Revelation.

The Dragon of Revelation did not pay attention to the mirrors as it was still busy blasting the energy beams towards Adrian. With a smug smile, Adrian accepted all the damage that will be dealt to him as long as the mirrors could absorb the damage as well. Adrian then hid one mirror in a place that is not noticeable.

"Paradox! Use Diffraction!" Adrian stated as all the damage that he soaked up are then turned into beams of light that hit the Dragon of Revelation in different directions.

The damage that the Dragon of Revelation has received could not even make it flinch, but it is annoying. The Dragon of Revelation felt like numerous ants are biting at its skin as the scattered beams of light are hitting every part of its body that is shown. The mirrors started to crack which is the Dragon of Revelation finally found some weakness.

The Dragon of Revelation could also see that Adrian is starting to show cracks on his crystalline form. Adrian's body could not take the repetitive healing and damage that his ability started to breakdown. The Dragon of Revelation thought that everything would have been resolved as long as it continued attacking.

The Dragon of Revelation ignored the provocations and attacks that the Daemos Corps are giving it as those only feel like a pinch. The only thing annoying it is the seal that the Daemos Corps have applied to it and not their damage. Adrian acted like he is struggling but he is actually just waiting for the moment where the damage has peaked.

When the Horseman of Famine is locked into place and Adrian has acted his plan. The hidden mirror suddenly glowed as chains are shot across it, but these chains are solid. Charon walked out of the mirror and the mirror started glowing again but this time it is filling up with energy.

"Good work, Charon." Adrian stated with a smile despite his pitiful appearance.

"Reflect!" Adrian shouted as the mirror that is filling up with energy suddenly shot a powerful beam of light.

The Horseman of Famine emitted a pitiful ear-piercing scream that shook the whole area. They thought that the Horsemen of the Apocalypse do not feel anything as they are something like undead but that is not true. The Horsemen of the Apocalypse can still feel but their pain tolerance is on a high scale.

If something like that beam of light could make the Horseman of Famine scream in intense pain, then it surely is great pain. The beam of light did not stop because Adrian focused the power of the absorbed damage from the Dragon of Revelation's attack. Adrian made the Dragon of Revelation think that its attacks were being reflected back to it by the multiple mirrors, but it was not.

Adrian only made the Dragon of Revelation think that it is getting hit by its own damage, but the former has already observed the latter's behavior. Even then the Daemos Corps attacked the Dragon of Revelation, Adrian noticed that the enemy did not bother to dodge or protect itself. The Dragon of Revelation seems to have great pride in its defenses.

The Dragon of Revelation figured out Adrian's plans and stopped firing its seven beams, but the great damage has been done. The Horseman of Famine looked pitiful as it only has a sliver of its life, and she is hanging by a thread.

"God Killing Arrow!" Hou Yiwei stated as he released a powerful attack that looked ordinary in the eyes of others.

If the arrow released by Hou Yiwei is viewed with normal eyes, then they will only see a normal arrow. If it is viewed using a special eyesight like Adrian's evil eye, then one could see the tremendous amount of power condensed into that arrow. The God Killing Arrow should not be that effective against the Horseman of Famine, but they have the energy of a dark god in their bodies.

The Horseman of Famine raised her scales once more as she tried to rewrite the laws to make sure that the arrow released by Hou Yiwei has never been. One could see reality warping around the arrow, but it did not stabilize. The space warped a bit but only to return back as if the world itself is rejecting the Horseman of Famine's ability.

"One cannot dodge that by doing so because that attack contains Providence." Adrian muttered as he could see that the arrow has divinity within it as well.

The Horseman of Famine could not escape as she was still being held by Charon with all his might. The others were also using their crowd control skills to make sure that she will not evade. As if the Horseman of Famine already accepted reality, she did not struggle but started to murmur dialogue that even Adrian cannot understand.

The arrow hit the chest of the Horseman of Famine as she suddenly screamed in great agony as the power inside her started to explode. The Horseman of Famine let go of the scales that she is holding but she still chanted a spell even if she was in the process of dying. With a last scream, the Horseman of Famine exploded into dust.

Adrian immediately used Enhanced Blink to her location and collected the soul of the defeated being. The group cheered for a moment as the Dragon of Revelation should have trouble maintaining its summoning circle, but they are shocked to find that nothing has changed. Alder the pointed at the scales left by the Horseman of Famine.

[You have killed the Horseman of Famine.]

[The Horseman of Famine has transferred some of its powers to the weapon she held.]

[Destroy the Scales of the Horseman of Famine to make sure that the summoning process of the Dragon of Revelation will start to become undone.]

When they received the notifications, they immediately rushed towards the giant scales to attack it, but a volley of arrows rained down upon them. The Horseman of Pestilence suddenly appeared in front of them and protected the scales of the defeated Horseman of Famine.

Chapter 1132

The group is slightly shocked to see the Horseman of Pestilence. When they looked at the Fire Dragon King, the group is even more shocked as they saw him lying down on the ground heavily wounded by numerous arrows. The Fire Dragon King is still alive, but he could be seen breathing heavily as if he is sick.

Adrian did not know what happened to the Fire Dragon King as he returned back to his default Aetheros True Form after the last attack. Adrian's default Aetheros True Form is different to his Aetheros True Mirror Form. He does not have a gigantic glowing mandala behind him but wings that stretched wide as if a cosmos is hidden inside of them.

His cosmos like wings is also not connected physically to his body as they looked like they sprouted out of the four rainbow-colored crystals behind Adrian. The garment that made up of Adrian's armor looked like a robe that a chief magistrate would wear while his feet could not be seen as a cloud of Aether Dust is still present at his lower body.

Adrian's face is also covered with a hood that concealed his upper face, but his lower face could be seen. His horns are sticking out of the hood that he is wearing which indicated that he is still a demon. His normal form looks like a personification of a Greek god wearing their battle attire.

[The Horseman of Pestilence' power has increased due to the death of the Horseman of Famine.]

[The Horseman of Death's power has increased due to the death of the Horseman of Famine.]

"The Great Plague!" The Horseman of Pestilence stated as a huge swarm of locusts is suddenly released behind her.

The swarm of locusts are not the only problem as she also released arrows to hit all the vanguard members but Adrian casted Crystallize to increase their defenses once more. Some arrows also hit Adrian, but he just healed the damage that is dealt to him. The Light Dragon King saw the swarm of locusts and released her breath attack, but the swarm just dodged as if they are incredibly intelligent.

[The Horseman of Pestilence has started The Great Plague.]

[All resistances will decrease by 30%.]

[Increases chances of getting afflicted by status ailments by 15%.]

[All those that die will have their body explode and release Contagion to those near them.]

The Great Plague not only affected Adrian and the others but the whole battlefield. It would have been easier if only they are the ones affected but the others are affected as well. Those that have low resistances to begin with could be seen starting to cough as sickness has struck them. To make matters worse, Levin Cloud informed Adrian of something that he did not want to read.

"I can no longer maintain the Tree of Life and Death. I can only summon it for two more minutes at most." Levin Cloud informed Adrian.

When Adrian received the chat from Levin Cloud, he knew that he only has two more minutes left for his transformation. Adrian looked at the people behind him and decided to use the last skill available to his Aethers True Form that will transform him back after being used.

"Aether Genesis!" Adrian's voice reached to everything covered in his domain which is the whole battlefield.

His domain would normally not cover the battlefield under normal circumstances, but the mirror armament made it possible. A clear ringing sound reached the ears of everyone in the domain as they felt something within them started to become energetic. Adrian's four large wings suddenly covered his entire body as if he became a small cosmos.

The cosmic ball that is the size of ten meters suddenly started to expand to double its size. The Horseman of Famine and the Dragon of Revelation tried to attack it, but their attacks are ineffective. They cannot even put a scratch on the cosmic ball as it started to shake.

With a loud burst, the cosmic ball exploded into countless small fragments that made the air fresh. Those affected by the Aether Dust could finally see changes in their bodies. Even the ones that started showing sickness could be seen getting better when they got hit by that cosmic dust.

[You have been blessed by the Aetheros.]

[Crystallize has been applied to your body.]

[Your defenses have increased in proportion to your Aether Dust Concentration.]

[Your health regeneration has been increased by 100% for five minutes.]

[Your mana regeneration has been increased by 100% for five minutes.]

[Your stamina regeneration has been increased by 100% for five minutes.]

The Aether Genesis skill cleansed the sickness of every being and even made them heal faster. The whole group cheered but it is also the start of their hardships as the Tree of Life and Death returned back to Paradiso. Creepysoo's transformation ended as well and that means he can no longer create numerous undead.

"We have five minutes!" Adrian shouted as he used his limit break skill to summon all his remaining soulbounds.

Just as they thought that they can take the Horseman of Pestilence alone, three dark shadows suddenly surfaced. The Dark Dragon King, Sirius and the Horseman of Death all surfaced back. The Dark Dragon King and Sirius could be seen having serious injuries as well as the Horseman of Death.

Sirius then sent the gist of the battle in the shadow realm to Adrian. The combination of Sirius and the Dark Dragon King could be seen as seamless, but the Horseman of Death suddenly powered up when they were about to land a heavy blow. They would have incapacitated the Horseman of Death if he did not become more powerful.

"That is fine, Sirius. The next battle is just getting started and I am glad to say that it is time for me to be in the offensive as well." Adrian stated as his soft and gentle appearance that sparkled suddenly started to change into a more sinister look as he changed to his Netheros Core.

A visible change could be seen on Adrian's body as the pure and righteous look suddenly changed to a more edgy and dangerous one. His change from Aetheros to Netheros could be seen as cool because nether mist would sweep his body going up to his head.

Adrian looked a bit different from his usual Netheros form as there is some slight additions to his body. The new pair of wings made of nether mist is a bonus, but his horns also looked even more demonic in a sense. Adrian now has three pairs of horns on his head that goes varies in size. The horns go from the biggest to smallest that accentuated the look that his horns simulate some sort of crown.

The viewers that love the edgier and bad boy look that Adrian now has could be seen mashing their keyboards away in the forum. Adrian looked like he maxed out the Charm stat if he ever had one which the viewers speculated that he has but he does not. If those cursing Adrian's handsome look knew of this, then they might die from jealousy.

[You have switched to your Netheros form.]

[All bonuses gained from the Aetheros form will no longer apply to you.]

Adrian received notifications that told him of the states of his body. He can no longer get the bonus from Aether Dust that he collected when he was in Aetheros form. Those that are affected with his Aether Dust will also lose the benefits after a few minutes when it runs out.

Adrian felt that his current body is more suited for him as he wanted to move his body a lot. He also released all of his soulbounds as they need to deal with the combined might of the remaining horsemen. All of them already knew of Adrian's soulbounds but this is the first-time people saw Wisteria.

Wisteria is still in her infant form as Adrian has yet to start hunting with her but the buff that she has is something that Adrian will need. Saena is also out in the world which means she could get all the sickness that the Horseman of Pestilence applies to his allies.

The two remaining Horsemen of the Apocalypse could see that their enemies have increased but their powers also increased. They now need to protect the scales left by the Horseman of Famine as the summoning magic circle for the Dragon of Revelation will break should it be destroyed.

"We split up against them. I will take Solstice, Lycan, Soleil and Faust to defeat the Horseman of Pestilence. The rest would be in your group to deal with the Horseman of Death." Hou Yiwei stated as he immediately urged the others to follow his lead.

The others did not rebuke him as Hou Yiwei actually picked the best people to go against the Horseman of Famine. Solstice and Lycan's blood are immune to most diseases that can affect humans. Soleil and Faust are fire elemental users which can burn the insects that the Horseman of Pestilence could summon.

Hou Yiwei would also be the support for them as he could snipe the attacks that the Horseman of Pestilence does. He is also a fire attribute dragonoid which means that he could also release flames to destroy any insects that reach him.

Adrian is left with Frey, Vayu, Alder, Ain and Siegfried which he finds well suited to fight against the Horseman of Death. Frey, Vayu and Ain are all quick attackers that have great speed and damage. Siegfried has explosive damage that can deal large amounts of damage that can stun even boss monsters. Alder will support them with his elemental arrows and spells while Adrian will take control of the battlefield with his soulbounds.

"Wisteria use Flower Therapy." Adrian commanded as a floral scent is released in the area from Wisteria.

[Your attack damage has been increased by 10%.]

[Your defenses have been increased by 15%.]

Adrian activated Floral Therapy but that also meant that the monsters around them got enticed by the smell. Even the lizardmen that is made from the blood of the Dragon of Revelation got called by the delicious floral scent. Adrian did this intentionally as his sister has no more blood that she can use as a weapon.

Solstice gave Adrian a thumbs up as she needed this to become powerful. To help him even further, Adrian made Sirius use Nether Rush to inflict heavy wounds on the monsters that came towards them. The blood that Solstice needed got replenished as she headed towards the Horseman of Pestilence.

The monsters also made use of Ain's skill that increases his attack power per hit he has landed. The monsters that came towards Wisteria became the perfect punching bags for him as his strike increased per attack. Although, the Horseman of Death also benefitted from the hordes of monsters dying as it could recover some health that it lost but that also applied to the Dark Dragon King as well.

"Kanlaon!" Adrian commanded via their soul link and his Genesis Dragon immediately released its dragon breath towards the Horseman of Death.

The Horseman of Death did not seem phased as it just brushed off the attack by coating its scythe with a bluish aura. The Horseman of Death actually swatted Kanlaon's breath attack with just one swipe, but the Dark Dragon King did not waste the opening as he also fired off his breath attack that looked like a beam made of pure darkness.

Both attacks of the two dragons did not do damage to the Horseman of Death as it could easily block them with his peculiar aura. Adrian then created portals that transported Sirius and Kimat towards the Horseman of Death. Sirius came from below while Kimat came from above.

Sirius wanted to rip apart the Horseman of Death while Kimat wanted to make it explode using his lightning. The Horseman of Death did not seem bothered by the sudden appearance of the two as its scythe became covered with a red aura and attacked them with one swing.

The Horseman of Death has become more powerful as it now has part of the Horseman of Famine's power. It is not just him, but the Horseman of Pestilence became more powerful as well. As if desperation has also reached the heart of the Dragon of Revelation, it has now focused on the people attacking the horsemen instead of the whole battlefield.

The seven heads of the Dragon of Revelation would attack by bites and breath attacks when given the chance. The breath attacks it releases are somewhat contained by the Daemos Corps and the iron Legion, but the physical attacks can only be dodged by the group. Since the Dragon of Revelation moved slower than usual because of the seal, they could dodge the attack as long as they kept track of its movement.

Even though they have split up into two different groups, the two Horsemen of the Apocalypse started working together. The Horseman of Pestilence would use her immensely accurate archery to rapidly release a barrage of arrows towards them. If the group tried to come close to her, the Horseman of Death would keep them away using his scythe.

Once blocked by the Horseman of Death, the Horseman of Pestilence would make her arrows rain on the battlefield. If the arrows were normal, then blocking would have been easy but her arrows deal different effects each time. The Horseman of Pestilence now releases three types of arrows that have different forms.

One of her new arrows is an area of effect volley arrow that explodes into a cloud of dangerous gas that inflicts poison and diseases in the area. The second type of arrow attacks is a spread shot that is in a conical area of effect that debuffs a random stat. The last type of arrow is a long-range piercing type attack that could activate the stack of poison in the body of those affected by it and make the poison explode.

If the Horseman of Pestilence were left to her own devices and not attacked repeatedly then she would definitely make the area into a living nightmare. She would whittle down any large amounts of health which would prompt the Horseman of Death's ability. She is definitely one that is most synchronized with the Horseman of Death, but all the horsemen have great synergy with one another.

"It is a good thing that two of them are already defeated. It would have been great if the followers of the dark gods would have attacked the horsemen as well but some of them agreed to the offer of the Dragon of Revelation." Adrian muttered as he dodged the attack of the Horseman of Death.

"Why not try our synchro skill?" Levin Cloud stated via their chat.

"That would have been a great tactic if that gigantic dragon is not going to make it difficult for us." Adrian immediately replied as he looked at the Dragon of Revelation.

The Dragon of Revelation is not an easy opponent as well because they cannot damage the dragon scales on its body. The Daemos Corps have been attacking it repeatedly, but they could not pierce the scales of an ancient dragon fused with a dark god. It really deserves its name as it will be the dragon at the end of times.

There is also a seal floating beside its name which means its real power has yet to be shown. If the seal were to release it and the Dragon of Revelation were to take flight, the end of the world will really come as no one will be able to stop it unless the gods descend.

"Everyone do not pull your punches as we need to finish it as soon as possible!" Adrian shouted as he suddenly observed the magic circle binding the Dragon of Revelation.

Parts of the magic circle holding the Dragon of Revelation could be seen as slowly fading. The Dragon of Revelation is actually slowly erasing the runes from the inside which is why it has been releasing few dragon breaths. It seems that it has finally decided that the Horsemen of Apocalypse will never be enough to free it which is why it took matters to its own hands.

"Nether Domain!"

"Netheros True Form!"

Adrian immediately used his true form after the slight cooldown ended. It seems that his Aetheros Domain and his Nether Domain do not share the same cooldown which means he can use both in succession. There was just a slight wait time of one minute as his body needed to acclimate to the current energy that it is using.

"Primordial Armament: Scythe!" Adrian shouted while he transformed to his new form. He also resummoned all his soulbounds to make sure that they become nether monsters.

Adrian transformed to his nether form that holds a scythe and it is now different than before. If his previous form looked like he is a hooded reaper, his upgraded arch demon form looked like a fallen devil angel. The proud horns of a demon that formed a crown on his head while his wings turned into something akin to black wings made of nether energy.

He also released an aura so overbearing that it could literally choke anyone to death. His scythe also changed to become bigger than his actual body that is already ten meters tall. If his Aetheros form looked like a righteous god, then his Netheros form looked like a demon god.

Of his soulbounds, only Wisteria is new to the nether form as this is her first time being exposed to it. The cute dragon turtle suddenly changed to a large, bodied turtle that is the size of a fortress. All those that are near her are blessed with defensive buffs as the nether mist she releases gives defensive properties.

The small bud that grew on Wisteria's back changed to a dark and menacing tree that appeared ghostly. The horrifying nether soulbounds are once again released onto the world and Adrian wants to finish off the Horseman of Death with their help.

Hou Yiwei did not want to admit it, but Adrian's form really is much cooler than his. He did not disregard Adrian's warning as the one known as The Demon will not say something that will fool them. He immediately emitted a draconic roar as fire started to release from his mouth.

Hou Yiwei immediately transformed using another form that he has yet to show the world. He learned of this form from one of the elder dragons that actually wielded a sword. He thought that all dragons would be just proud great creatures that are masters of magic but there is one elder dragon that is said to have followed the path of the sword.

This elder dragon is also said to have fostered a child with a human once and they ruled a kingdom a long time ago. This elder dragon has a form that wielded a large sword and would use their draconic strength to oppress their enemies and that is the form that Hou Yiwei will use as well.

"Draconic Warrior!" Hou Yiwei stated as his body is engulfed in flames.

Hou Yiwei's burning body started to grow to the size of ten meters as bright golden pupils glistened in the burning inferno. The bow that he used also grew in size, but it split into two to become two curved blades. Hou Yiwei emitted another roar as he swept the flames away to reveal his other form.

He is a dragon that has the shape of a humanoid, and he wielded the two curved blades in both hands. He was still a fire dragon as his head and face looked like that of a dragon, but his wings are replaced by a flowing cape. He really did look like a warrior as the dragon scales that he has made it look like he is wearing armor.

They were not the only ones that changed form as the others used their trump cards as well. Lycan went full werewolf while Solstice also went full vampire. Faust enlarged his Salamander to about five meters, and it looked like a small flaming dragon. Soleil changed form as well as her dress became fire itself while Regulus roared in its true form.

A large lightning bolt crashed onto Vayu as he already transformed himself fully into a lightning elemental. Frey also use Goddess Descent: Freyja and she transformed into an even more beautiful maiden that is covered with rainbow lights. Ain also activated his ultimate Martial Sage Art: Fox Possession and had five tails made of aura coming out of his back.

Seigfried shouted and his whole body suddenly got covered by sturdy armor that looked incredibly heavy. It seems that he is contracted with one of the gods of Pandemonium as well, but it has yet to be disclosed on which one it is.

Alder called upon all the elementals that he could as he needed to increase the rate of his arrow to the limit. The elementals looked as if they are possessing him because auras made of fire, water, wind and earth are clinging to his body as if they are part of it. He is loved by the elementals just like what Vayu and Soleil said when they first encountered him.

The three dragon kings are also helping them in the battle as they did not want to be outdone by those weaker than them. They are also the original enemies of the Horsemen of the Apocalypse which is why they need to be ones that defeat them or else the dragon kings will be looked down upon. They warned Adrian's group that they will mainly focus on defeating the enemy and no longer supporting them or those behind them.

The only reason why the dragon kings could not fully commit to defeating the horsemen is due to the fact that they also protected those behind them. They would deflect attacks from the Dragon of Revelation or block attacks from the horsemen that would decimate the united army behind them. This time, they are now fully committed to destroying the horsemen as they also noticed that the seal towards the Dragon of Revelation is coming undone as well.

The group agreed as the Light Dragon King aided Hou Yiwei's group against the Horseman of Pestilence because the Fire Dragon King is still recovering albeit slowly. Adrian already sent Saena to aid the Fire Dragon King as he seems to be affected by a powerful disease. A disease so powerful that Saena has great trouble cleansing or absorbing.

The Dragon of Revelation seemed to have noticed that the group before it has caught on with what it was doing. It released a powerful aura to intimidate them, but Adrian's nether mist is just as or even more intimidating than it which is why they were not affected by dragon fear. The sudden eruption of power did make Adrian worried because he could see the seal slowly getting ruptured.

"Kanlaon, shut that noisy dragon for me." Adrian commanded as he sent Kanlaon to assist the Daemos Corps against the Dragon of Revelation.

"Sirius, destroying the Horseman of Death will be the priority. Use Samael's Domain and execute Realm Ender!" Adrian commanded as he immediately used Shadow Walker to vanish from sight.

Sirius released a powerful howl as his body changed to become even bigger than it already is. A towering, large wolf that almost reached the size of the Dragon of Revelation appeared on the battlefield. Sirius' domain flowed naturally with Adrian's Nether Domain as the world looked like it is on the verge of collapse.

Sirius rampaged over the area as the monsters that flooded around them turned to dust. He managed to clean up the monsters in the area with just one skill, but the most important thing is that the Horseman of Death actually feared him. When Sirius executed Realm Ender, the Horseman of Death could be visibly seen to be backing off as if he became afraid.

Sirius executed Realm Ender and destroyed every enemy around him and even dealt damage to the Horseman of Death and Horseman of Pestilence. Sirius was about to deal greater damage to both the horsemen, but a barrier suddenly got erected that blocked most of the skill damage from Realm Ender.

The Realm Ender skill managed to delete 10% of the two horsemen's health and it would have been more if the Dragon of Revelation did not protect them. When Realm Ender ended, Sirius immediately became smaller and also became weakened but the fear that he ingrained on the two horsemen have taken root.

Even the Dragon of Revelation feared the Abyssal Fenrir because of his might which is why all three looked at Sirius with burning vengeance. The Horseman of Death became covered with dark smoke as he charged towards Sirius. The Horseman of Pestilence released three arrows that rooted Sirius into place. The Dragon of Revelation collected energy into its mouth as it locked onto Sirius.

[Wisteria has used Flower Mystery.]

[Wisteria has temporarily learned Petal Storm.]

Skill Name: Petal Storm

Tier: Epic

Type: Active Attack and Defensive Skill

Effect:

-Releases a flurry of petals in the area that is razor sharp that deals 10% of the user's magic power per petal.

-Petals can also be used as a defensive tool as they could block damage from attacks. One petal could block up to 100 damage (based on the magic damage of the skill user.)

Cooldown: 10 minutes

Cast Time: Instant

Mana Cost: None

"Kanlaon, block the attack from the Dragon of Revelation with all your might. Charon and Dodu, both of you must protect Sirius from damage. Kimat, use your body double and stall for time. Wisteria use Petal Storm." Adrian issued all the commands via their soul link.

Kanlaon fully charged his breath attack using all of his dragon balls as he tried blocking the breath attack from the Dragon of Revelation. Kanlaon's breath attack is not the only one that came to block the attack of the Dragon of Revelation as the Dark Dragon King also released his breath attack. A golden and a black colored beam blocked a dark green beam in the air.

When the two beams collided, a powerful shockwave resulted but Adrian's group got protected by a prismatic light barrier that the Light Dragon King has erected. The prismatic light barrier shattered with just the effect of the shockwave, but the Dragon of Revelation did not stop as all seven heads started charging.

The shockwave did not deter the Horseman of Death as he still charged towards Sirius as he wanted to decapitate the Abyssal Fenrir. Kimat created a clone and put on his armor as he charged towards the Horseman of Death. Behind Kimat is a flurry of magical petals that is released from Wisteria's tree and slammed towards the Horseman of Death like a tidal wave.

The petals that are supposed to have at least blocked the Horseman of Death all withered before touching his body. It seems that the aura covering the Horseman of Death deals damage which is why the petals get withered upon getting close to his body. The petals did provide good cover though as the clone that Kimat created slammed towards the Horseman of Death.

The clone managed to slam towards the steed of the Horseman of Death, but it seems that the steed is mightier than a tiger. The clone immediately exploded into tiny shards of metal as the steed took the brunt of the damage from crashing against each other. The Horseman of Death still got damaged but only with random flying debris that hit it.

The steed of the Horseman of Death pushed forward but it has notably become slower. Dodu suddenly blocked the Horseman of Death with its large body that looks like a clump of nether mist. Dodu looked like a huge wave coming down towards the Horseman of Death. It seems that Dodu is the key to make the Horseman of Death pause as it suddenly looked like he was about to turn away.

The Horseman of Death could not go back which is why its body suddenly turned ghostly and passed through Dodu's body. Dodu did not expect such a thing to happen as it jiggled with confusion. The Horseman of Death is suddenly a few meters away from Sirius when he suddenly felt danger.

The Horseman of Death suddenly slashed his scythe towards his back as if he felt a great danger coming from behind. When the Horseman of Death saw nothing and hit nothing, he looked towards Sirius, but the Abyssal Fenrir pushed his might to conjure up shadow vines to constrict the horseman. Sirius might be rooted in place because of the Horseman of Pestilence but he could still use skills and abilities.

"That was close." Adrian's voice suddenly echoed as the Horseman of Death looked above him.

Adrian, who is now hanging or rather flying upside down, used his scythe to hit the back of the Horseman of Death. The danger that the Horseman of Death felt earlier is indeed Adrian's bloodlust and he also aimed for the horseman's back. When he suddenly saw that the Horseman of Death somewhat reacted, Adrian immediately used Time Stop and Enhanced Blink to hurriedly reposition.

Adrian's instincts were correct as the Horseman of Death's scythe did slash behind him. If he did not react accordingly then he might have lost his head in the process as the attacks of the Horseman of Death is empowered. He also found another interesting thing when he used Time Stop and that is the Dragon of Revelation not being able to move in it.

"There is a chance if I seize it with great planning." Adrian thought as his scythe suddenly embedded itself to the back of the Horseman of Death.

"Burning Souls!" Adrian then followed it up with his stun. The Horseman of Death could not believe that he got outsmarted but he would be fine once the stun wears off.

Chapter 1137

"Burning Souls!" Adrian stated as he released a black mass of shadows towards the Horseman of Death and stunned it in place.

The Horseman of Death did not find being stunned troublesome as it would soon be released but Adrian smiled wickedly. When the Horseman of Death saw Adrian's wicked smile that could be trademarked for super villains, a chill is sent all through its body. Adrian's smile is usually reserved when his plans all fall into place.

The northern lights suddenly manifested in the sky which made the Horseman of Death want to break the stun with all his might. Frey is now covered in these rainbow-colored lights as her armor glowed in it with wings manifesting as well. She looked like the Goddess Freyja has come in person instead of just a part of her descending to empower Frey.

"Die Valkyrie!" Frey shouted as her whole being became a sharp spear made of northern light and descended towards the Horseman of Death.

The Horseman of Death tried fighting the status ailment, but shadow tendrils once again sprouted from his shadows to bind him. The shadow tendrils did not seem to be enough as four arrows made of the elements are fired towards the Horseman of Death.

The flame arrow exploded and created a flaming net that held the steed's neck of the Horseman of Death. The ice arrow exploded as well but froze the steed's legs in place. The wood arrow landed on the ground and sprouted vines that assisted the shadow tendrils in locking the Horseman of Death in place. The lightning arrow created a paralyzing net that shocked the steed.

Three of the four arrows that Alder released is of a higher element which means he pushed himself to the limit just firing that. One could see that he could barely pull on his bowstring as the elements that covered him fizzled out as well since he could no longer draw power from them.

The Horseman of Death looked at the descending northern lights spear and thought to abandon its steed. If the Horseman of Death were to abandon its steed, then it can avert the disaster awaiting it. A disaster known as death despite it being the Horseman of Death. The Horseman of Death did not abandon its steed as that would mean it would no longer be a proud rider.

The Horseman of Death held his scythe with all his strength as he would sacrifice the scythe to be alive. The Horseman of Death pushed all of its reserved energy towards the scythe as he wanted to use it to block the northern lights spear. When the Horseman of Death is about to raise its scythe, Vayu and Siegfried suddenly appeared on each of its sides.

A giant axe slammed towards the Horseman of Death's right while a lightning sword is pointing to his left. The Horseman of Death is then presented with a choice to either block those on his sides or the strike above him. When the Horseman of Death is about to choose, its own steed chose for him as it tried to shake him away.

The steed of the Horseman of Death would have been shaken away, but Adrian suddenly increased the gravity on the both the Horseman of Death and its steed. Not only did he do that, but he also used Chrono Shift on Frey to make sure that she lands even faster. The Horseman of Death seemed to have accepted reality as he could be seen just losing strength on holding his weapon.

A thunderous boom that is the result of three attacks connecting simultaneously connecting happened. When the smoke of the aftermath concluded, the body of the Horseman of Death could be seen becoming particles of light as Adrian collected the soul of the deceased rider. Adrian is slowly collecting the soul of the Horseman of Death when several warnings got issued towards him.

[You have defeated the Horseman of Death.]

"Master! Watch out!" Several warnings from his soulbounds echoed as Adrian suddenly went on the defensive.

A giant dragon head is about to devour Adrian as the Dragon of Revelation actually used the chaos that ensued to kill one of the troublesome beings preventing its seal being lifted. Alder is the quickest to react as he drew an arrow filled with fire and water elements as he just wanted a steam explosion to push Adrian away.

The arrow got released but it was too late as the mouth of the Dragon of revelation closed up and devoured the ten-meter-tall Adrian. The arrow later hit the Dragon of Revelation's head, but it did not even create a scratch on its body. The others are shocked, and they looked at the soulbounds to see if they would disappear, but they did not seem to be vanishing.

"That was close." Adrian stated as he suddenly appeared behind Frey, Siegfried and Vayu.

"We thought that you were a goner!" Frey stated as she suddenly went to check Adrian's body if he was injured.

"Ahem. Sorry if we are bothering the young lady but we still need to help the other team." Siegfried stated which made Frey blush.

"It seems that they are also in the process of finishing up as well." Adrian stated as he could see that the Horseman of Pestilence is also in the verge of death.

"How were you able to evade the attack earlier?" Alder suddenly asked as he rushed towards their location.

Adrian then remembered how he instinctively used Time Stop the moment his soulbounds sent him the warning. Thankfully, there was still two seconds left for Time Stop before it goes into cooldown which is why he used it. He also received a notification that his time for using his True Form is also up which is why he also proceeded to use Nether Blast.

Not only did he evade becoming the Dragon of Revelation's food, but he also managed to fill its mouth with nether energy.

The battle with the Horseman of Pestilence is not easy despite the elemental advantage that they have. Hou Yiwei is currently leading the battle with Soleil and Lycan while Faust and Soleil supported them. The Horseman of Pestilence might seem easier to handle compared to the Horseman of Death, but she is also difficult to kill.

The steed of the Horseman of Pestilence is covered with spiky armor that poisons anyone that touches them. Even Solstice' and Lycan's special blood could not block every debuff that will affect them. Hou Yiwei is the main vanguard for their group as a ten-meter-tall draconic warrior.

The bow split into dual handed swords that became two flaming swords. Some would think that Hou Yiwei would be slow with his large form, but he is incredibly fast. He is so quick in speed and reaction time that he could already split an arrow aimed at him in two.

Hou Yiwei showed the prowess of the rank one player as he faced the Horseman of Pestilence without fear. He also performed a great swordplay that it seems that he is dancing. He also made use of both his fire breath and tail in combat which made the fight easier for him.

The only defense that the Horseman of Pestilence has on close range combat is that her steed is covered in poisoned spike armor. Other than that, the Horseman of Pestilence would have difficulty against opponents that could stick to her. The poisoned spike armor could not even penetrate Hou Yiwei's dragon scale armor.

The Horseman of Pestilence even became much weaker when she got hit by Realm Ender. Hou Yiwei did not see it at a bad light as he made use of the opportunity. When the Horseman of Pestilence got slammed down. Hou Yiwei followed it up with a blast of dragon fire to the face. The Horseman of Pestilence screamed as the flames that devoured her face melted some part of it.

The Horseman of Pestilence is not entirely dead as they were never dead since they were only sealed up. The steed of the Horseman of Pestilence also suffered with the heat of dragon fire as some parts of the armor melted but Hou Yiwei could not keep up with the damage that he deals as fire breathing uses a lot of mana and stamina.

When Hou Yiwei could not continue breathing fire, a large puff of green smoke mixed with thousands of locusts erupted from the Horseman of Pestilence. The Horseman of Pestilence vanished and reappeared behind Hou Yiwei, and she fired off a barrage of arrows that hit his back. The arrows did not penetrate Hou Yiwei's back as the cape that flowed behind him is also a shield.

When the Horseman of Pestilence saw that she could not pierce the body of Hou Yiwei, she turned to another target and that is Solstice and Lycan. She thought that both of them would be easier to defeat but she remembers the vampire woman that eradicated hordes of monsters by herself. When the Horseman of Pestilence tried targeting Lycan, he would immediately enhance his body to become faster than the arrows themselves.

When the Horseman of Pestilence would release numerous locusts, the Salamander and Regulus would easily destroy them. The Horseman of Pestilence could be seen as pitiful as it has been countered to such a great degree. The horseman could not counter the team that is trying to kill her.

Since the Horseman of Pestilence could not easily counter her enemies, she had to use her allies instead. She released swarms of locusts towards the monsters summoned by the Dragon of Revelation and sapped their health. Some monsters died by shriveling up as their health disappeared to heal up the Horseman of Pestilence.

Once a monster is affected by the swarms of locusts that the Horseman of Pestilence summons, she would recover immense health. She also becomes empowered when she afflicts enemies with her diseases and poisons. The more she afflicts others with her diseases and poisons then the more powerful she becomes.

The only reason that the Horseman of Pestilence cannot deal with Hou Yiwei's group is due to the fact that they easily burn through everything. Faust and Soleil could easily destroy the swarm of locusts and even the poisonous clouds that the Horseman of Pestilence released. If they do use fire magic on the noxious fumes, they would create powerful explosions that releases fumes that are poisonous.

The poisonous fumes would then be avoided as they could also melt skin when it comes into contact with it. The only one that has no problem with these poisonous fumes is Hou Yiwei as his dragon scales played a vital role in keeping him in pristine condition. Hou Yiwei did not let the Horseman of Pestilence to go away from him because he knows that the enemy will overpower him at longer range.

This is also one of the reasons why he made sure to have quick vanguard team members. Solstice and Lycan are perfect to gap close against the Horseman of Pestilence as they are the quickest after Vayu. Hou Yiwei wanted to get Vayu at first but decided that he is needed for Adrian's team. He is not heartless that he would not think about another team because he is also a great leader despite his competitive nature.

[The Horseman of Death has been slain.]

When the group received that notification, Hou Yiwei immediately became more aggressive. He wanted to become more aggressive because he also wanted to quickly kill the Horseman of Pestilence, but he also knows that a horseman will get more powerful with the death of others. He wanted to finish off the last horseman before she could take in the power of the fallen one.

"Flaming Cross!" Hou Yiwei stated as he swiped using both of his swords.

Each sword created a flaming energy wave that combined to create a cross. The combined cross magic attack hit the Horseman of Pestilence as she was in a trance like state for a few seconds. The group knew of this, and it is usually the sign that the power of the horseman has increased.

"Flaming Dragon Incarnate!" Hou Yiwei stated as his body suddenly combusted into flames.

The Flaming Dragon Incarnate skill made use of every fiber of a dragon's being as they also burn some of their life force when using this skill. Hou Yiwei has become fire incarnate and charged towards the Horseman of Pestilence. Solstice knew what she needed to do as she created numerous blood whips to hold the Horseman of Pestilence in place.

Lycan would then maul at the steed's legs to make sure that they will not be able to quickly escape. Soleil and Faust agreed with each other and chanted a spell at the same time. The spell they used is Flaming Prison which is a legendary tier spell.

All the spell does is create a sphere where one can trap anyone that they desire. The target for this Flaming Prison is none other than the Horseman of Pestilence. A cool and unique feature of the Flaming Prison is the fact that any being of fire will just pass through it. Hou Yiwei fitted this category as he bypassed the Flame Prison and directly released a powerful blast of fire elemental magic.

When the Horseman of Pestilence made contact with the flaming Hou Yiwei, her whole body exploded into a poisonous fume. It seems that one of the ways that the Horseman of Pestilence thought she could escape is by becoming the noxious fumes herself. The noxious fumes would then be ignited by Hou Yiwei as he breath in draconic fire inside the Flaming Prison.

Since the body of the Horseman of Pestilence has become poisonous gas, Hou Yiwei just thought that all he needed is to make sure that the other party explodes. Hou Yiwei pushed all the draconic fire in his body to create an all-new spell that he can use in this form.

"Supernova!" Hou Yiwei stated as his body exploded into vast amounts of energy mainly of heat.

The anguish screams of the Horseman of Pestilence could be heard. Since she was not in solid form, the death of the Horseman of Pestilence became an immediate disintegration. Not even a speck of her body reformed as Hou Yiwei burned up everything. Even the steed of the Horseman of Pestilence became nothing as it also had the same fate as its master.

[You have slain the Horseman of Pestilence.]

[You have received tremendous amounts of experience points.]

When all of them read the notifications, they cheered but that is short lived as the Dragon of Revelation suddenly became berserk. All seven of its heads have eyes glowing in red due to immense rage. They did not care what the Dragon of Revelation did but they noticed that the two horsemen did not drop any worthy items which means that they have yet to truly win against them.

[The Horsemen of the Apocalypse have all been slain.]

[The Great Culling has been stopped.]

[The Apocalypse has been halted for now.]

[The Dragon of Revelation is furious at the measly beings that stopped its rise back to power.]

[Destroy the remaining weapons of the Horsemen of the Apocalypse before time runs out.]

All the Horsemen of the Apocalypse have been destroyed but the danger has yet to cease. A quest suddenly appeared before all the players that are still in the battlefield. The monsters that the Dragon of Revelation has summoned are still present as well because the ancient dark dragon god that summoned them is still present.

EMERGENCY QUEST

Quest Name: Prevent the Cataclysm

Quest Description: The Dragon of Revelation is starting to get pulled back to hell by the restraints placed on its body. It has determined that it wants revenge on the petty mongrels that prevented its rise back to the mortal realm. Prevent the Dragon of Revelation to release the Breath of Cataclysm.

Difficulty: S

Clear Condition: Prevent the Dragon of Revelation from firing the Breath of Cataclysm or minimize its damage radius.

Reward: Blessing of the Great God of Training, Random Legendary Drop Chest

Failure Condition: The Dragon of Revelation charges his attack to 100%

Charge Time of the Dragon of Revelation: 20 minutes

Restriction: Only those that are present in the area of the Dragon of Revelation can clear this quest. Every 2 minutes will increase the charge time of the Breath of Cataclysm by 10%.

It was not only the players inside the barrier that received quests as the players outside the world also received one that is different. It seems that the damage that the Dragon of Revelation will be calculated depending on the quest completion of this world quest as well.

EMERGENCY QUEST

Quest Name: Protect the World from the Cataclysm

Quest Description: The Gods have spoken, and they came to the conclusion that the inhabitants of the world must come together and create a powerful barrier that can cover it to prevent damage from the Breath of Cataclysm. The God of Protection himself will descend to the world and gather enough energy from the inhabitants that takes his task.

Difficulty: World Quest

Clear Condition: Help the God of Protection that will descend to create a World Barrier. (Percentage to prevent mass destruction: 100%) (Minor Destruction: 80%) (Great Destruction: 50%)

Reward: Blessing of the Great God of Training, Random Rare to Legendary Drop Chest (Rewards will be dependent on the percentage of the world barrier.)

Failure Condition: Unable to reach at least 50%

Quest Duration: 20 minutes

Restriction: Only those that are not present in the area of the Dragon of Revelation can clear this quest. Every 500,000 mana will increase the health of the World Barrier that can cover the world.

Those that side with the Dragon of Revelation also got another quest for them. The quest they received is the protection of the Dragon of Revelation for 20 minutes until he has enough time to fire his Breath of Cataclysm.

EMERGENCY QUEST

Quest Name: Protect the Dragon of Revelation from Interference

Quest Description: The Dragon of Revelation has decided to smite this world with its Breath of Cataclysm. Due to it still being sealed, it cannot instantly release its power as the seals are preventing it. Help the Dragon of Revelation from being immediately sealed or prevented from firing its Breath of Cataclysm.

Difficulty: S

Clear Condition: The Dragon of Revelation fires its Breath of Cataclysm.

Reward: Blessing of the Dragon of Revelation, Random Rare to Legendary Drop Chest (Rewards will be dependent on the percentage of the Breath of Cataclysm.)

Failure Condition: Unable to reach at least 50%

Quest Duration: 20 minutes

Restriction: Only those that are present in the area of the Dragon of Revelation can clear this quest. Only those that are in servitude of the Dragon of Revelation can clear this quest.

The gears of fate suddenly started to turn as the people needed to choose if they will continue on their quests. The God of Protection started to descend as a hole in the sky suddenly started to be forcefully opened as the Gods of Pandemonium combined their powers to create one. They did not want to resort to this, but the Dragon of Revelation has pushed their buttons.

When the hole in the sky appeared, Pann suddenly appeared before the descending God of Protection. The Gods of Pandemonium pleaded to Pann that they needed to do this as the world will be greatly destroyed if the Breath of Cataclysm were to fire. The world will become a living hellfire for a few months and numerous people will die out.

Pann is reluctant of letting this happen as the dimensional barrier that separates the Divine Realm, and the Mortal Realm is already being strained. He has already been working a lot just maintaining the rifts when the other elders were not available. Pann could be seen as incredibly tired as well since he is pushing himself as well.

"What do we get in return?!" Pann stated as this is an exchange.

Even the gods cannot just barge into the mortal realm without an avatar. If they also descend, they must promise to never use their divine energy to influence the world as the barrier between realms will collapse. The Gods of Pandemonium are risking the world from the invasion of the dark gods.

"The Daemos will no longer be treated as a threat. We shall say that your race are the true protectors of the world and those that antagonize your race shall be punished." One of the gods in the divine realm stated which made the others murmur since this was not agreed upon.

"Agreed but only one God of Protection shall be able to descend and must only be in the designated zone that I shall create to make sure that the realms are stabilized." Pann stated as he transformed to his true form.

"I shall be the one that answers this call then as I am the most powerful of the Gods of Protection as I have abundant followers." A female voice stated as she started to descend from the divine realm.

The world could be seen shaking a little as a literal god has descended from the divine realm without an avatar. One could also see the resistance that she is facing when she tried to descend as the world is repelling her. She did not use any of her divine energy to oppose the restriction because it will rip apart the barrier between realms.

Pann took out his ocarina and started to play a tune which summoned three monsters. The Great Cosmic Cetacea Bessy, a Great Cosmic Moose, and a Great Cosmic Weasel. Each of the monsters that Pann summoned has fur like that of a cosmos and have abilities tied to space. The three cosmic monsters then roared as they released spatial energy that created a special space for the Goddess of Protection to appear.

When the space has been properly created, the Goddess of Protection that descended could no longer feel the repelling force that she felt earlier. The Goddess of Protection that descended is none other than Bastet. She wore a long flowing silken dress that is adorned with golden ornaments. Even her headdress is of golden color, but it is actually made of orichalcum which is the metal of the gods.

"People of Nebulon! I, the Goddess Bastet, has descended to inform you that the world is in danger. Give me your prayers in order to create a World Barrier that can prevent the Breath of Cataclysm to reach your areas." The Goddess Bastet stated in a calm voice, but her voice reverberated to all parts of the world.

As soon as the Goddess Bastet stated that she descended, pillars of light started to rise from areas populated of people. For the first time, the players could see how the power of faith is seen by the gods as this pillar of light bent towards the Goddess Bastet's direction. The power of faith is condensed into pillars of light, and the Goddess Bastet used it to increase her power.

It did not take long for more pillars of light to start being created as the power that the Goddess Bastet started to rise. She raised her sistrum with her right hand and it used the converted power of faith into a barrier. A thin film could be seen starting to cover the world as he used the faith of others to cover the world in a barrier.

Pann did not idle as well because the rifts started to increase. He had to make sure that he closes those immediately before anything else, but he also does not want to leave this place. If the gods are not watched, they might create an opening. As they say, once given an inch then they will ask for a mile.

The people of the world could hear everything that the Goddess of Protection is saying. She made her voice be heard for everyone as she wants to protect the world but there is also an underlying tone that she wants to increase her worth as a goddess. She is the most powerful of the Gods of Protection, but they are also not that powerful of a god which is why their influence would be less if they ever meddle.

Only the lesser gods could descend at this point in time where the barrier between realms is still somewhat strong. Also, if a greater god would descend then the barrier that separates the divine realm and mortal realm would immediately tear up. Pann would immediately banish that descending god back to the divine realm.

Even if the commands came from the gods themselves, the Asmodians left the welfare of the world to the Daemos. The specific commands of the Daemos were to make sure that the realm that kept the realms separated must never be broken unless a special number of people are already in the world. The special number of people that the Asmodians refer to are the number of demigods present in the mortal plane.

Currently, there are a few demigods left in the world and those left are even injured or cannot use their full power. The mortal realm should be reserved for the mortals as mixing gods in would make the world even more chaotic than it is already. It would have been fine if it were just normal gods but there are also dark gods.

With the mission given to the people in the area of the Dragon of Revelation, the factions have been decided with just that. The faction that wants to prevent the Breath of Cataclysm to be fired and the ones that want it to succeed as they will get better rewards. People would think that there would be less players on the side of the Dragon of Revelation but that is not true.

In fact, there are more players that is siding with the Dragon of Revelation compared to the side that is against it. Not many would want to believe but there are a lot of players that play as followers of the dark gods. They just want to keep it low key since being exposed meant execution which means they are tried as a heretic.

Not all people that play as followers of the dark gods are bad. Some people just like the aesthetic of being a villain in an alternate reality since their normal life is dull and boring. Some just wants to re-enact their deepest desires because the real world would judge them harshly if they were to do it there. The small minority just believe that the dark gods are cool or misjudged.

If Creepysoo did not discover the undead, then he might have been a follower of the dark god instead. All his friends believe that he would have been if he did not become the Prince of the Undead. Just like with the Gods of Pandemonium, the Dark Gods also have factions as well which means not all of them agree with each other.

Just like now, some followers of the dark gods opted to back out and join the other side. There were also some on the other side that thought that making the wish of the Dragon of Revelation come true be more helpful for them. As humans decide or weigh the results of their actions, so does the players. They would move to the side that helps them or benefits them the most if they are only caught in the middle.

When the players chose the quest that they will proceed with, their name color changes to reflect the path that they have chosen. A red name color for the ones that chose to prevent the Breath of Cataclysm and a blue name color for the ones that support it.

When the Dragon of Revelation raised all of its seven heads and started to accumulate vast amounts of energy, it was the signal for both teams to commit to their mission. In fact, even some of the monsters that previously sided with the Dragon of Revelation suddenly switched to the other side when they learned of the great one that summoned them would destroy the surface world.

All of a sudden, the enemies became allies while allies became enemies. The war that became silent due to the death of all the Horsemen of the Apocalypse suddenly sparked once more. The ones inside the barrier did not know that the quest to aid the Goddess of Protection is happening because they might have chosen differently if they were to know that.

The developers wanted those involve in the inside to only make a decision based on their current status without outside factors involved. They wanted to know how people will react if they are presented choice that has equal opportunities with the only controlled variable is the Dragon of Revelation.

"Do you have an idea to stop that?" Levin Cloud asked Adrian as they all grouped back up.

The guild leaders went back to their respective guilds as they needed to plan on stopping the Dragon of Revelation. They did not cut off communication though as it will be important now more than ever. They still have that collective group chat, and some are also added in like Hou Yiwei and Frey.

"Maybe we could take care of one head then aim for the others?" Peridot asked.

"Even Kanlaon with his full power breath could barely make a dent on that thing. The only thing we could do is prevent it from gathering energy in its mouth. The quest clearly indicated that we cannot kill that thing. It is a god after all and none of us have god killing weapons. There are only two of the four god slaying weapons present in the battle right now." Adrian stated.

There are currently two god killers in the battle. The remaining two seems to have vanished elsewhere or did not show up because they are caught up in a different mission. Either way, the curse on the wielders of the god slaying weapons have already been lifted when the Horsemen of the Apocalypse were defeated.

"All we need is to point attacks to its mouth then?" Creepysoo stated with a smile as he suddenly gave an idea on how to do that.

Creepysoo told everyone that they only need to deliver lots of undead to the mouths of the Dragon of Revelation and he will do the rest. Although the plan is easy, the way to deliver undead to the mouths of the Dragon of Revelation is not. There are countless monsters that are left but what else could they do.

"It is a good thing that there are lots of undead here that we can use. When your transformation was over, the undead became weaker and a bunch of skeletons are left. We can easily carry them there and chuck them inside the mouths like a game." Lycan stated.

"Can I join as well?" Frey asked as she does not have a guild or a team to team up with so she decided that she would not mind being on Adrian's team.

"That is fine with me. If I remember, she has a Pegasus so she will be able to help us." Adrian stated but they teased him for it though.

"We should hurry then. That dragon is already gathering enough energy to nuke the world and we are still chatting." Solstice stated as she grabbed two zombies and dashed towards the Dragon of Revelation.

Lycan followed as well and grabbed two skeletons towards the Dragon of Revelation. Levin Cloud grabbed five zombies using vines and vanished in the ground. Vayu created three small twisters that carried three zombies and dashed through the air with them.

Soleil made Regulus eat five zombies and charged towards the Dragon of Revelation like fierce flaming lion. It is a wonder how those zombies did not get burnt to a crisp, but it seems that they are considered allies. Frey made thorny vines with roses grow from her spear as she summoned her mount to carry ten skeletons. She made it look so easy despite skeletons are also heavy.

Peridot made use of her clay soldiers as an outer shell for the skeletons as created mist to quietly reach the Dragon of Revelation. Other teams are wondering what Adrian's team is doing carrying undead, but they needed to focus on their tasks. They also thought of plans to hit the mouth of the Dragon of Revelation in an attempt to cancel the channeling.

"Gather as much undead that you need. I will take care of one of the heads already to test if our theory is correct." Adrian stated as Creepysoo nodded and created more undead to group them up.
