

O Summoner 1221

Chapter 1221 Death And Rebirth

A walking contradiction is a great description of Adrian's character, but he does not know why the Tree of Life and Death likes it very much. He feels as if there is an underlying tone in that statement, but he is more focused on the other thing. He needs to have Saena evolve in order to revive her from the dead.

"Thank you? I guess but we did not call for you because I want to get described." Adrian stated.

"I know what you want Champion Equinox and I know that you need my help to bond with your soulbound that is trapped in rest. But do you think that I will easily give what you want without anything in return?" Yewdrassil stated as its avatar created a chair with life and death aesthetics to sit upon.

"Nothing in this world is free which is why I am ready to even sacrifice some of my divinity." Adrian stated as he knows that any being with divinity will want divinity as payment.

"I actually do not need Divinity like the gods because I am far older than them. I have been the nexus of life even before the Twin Gods were born from chaos. I am actually what you call the husk or the being that incubated the Twin Gods." Yewdrassil stated as it started to tell Adrian how the Twin Gods came to be.

Yewdrassil told Adrian that it did not know when it became sentient, but it knew that it was created from emptiness. It woke up from this emptiness and held two different energies that existed and clashed even before then. Yewdrassil could not contain these two different energies with its body which is why its creator watered it down.

The watered-down version of the two clashing powerful energies was life and death. The two fundamental energies that are needed to bring a universe into creation. Yewdrassil was still not that sentient when it incubated these two energies, but it has started to when two beings started to form inside of it.

Two beings that held different energies are inside of Yewdrassil as it gained its own sentience. These two beings did not know that they were alive, and the concept of motherhood or parenting was not present back then. Yewdrassil did not care about the two beings being created inside of it because that is what its creator wants.

The incubation of the two beings took a long time that cannot be measured in human time. With the help of the divine spark of the creator of Yewdrassil, the two beings that incubated started to push through the insides of Yewdrassil. For the first time, Yewdrassil actually felt something which is an intense pain situated in its trunk.

With all of Yewdrassil's might, it pushed out these two beings that had the energies of life and death. Yewdrassil, which split itself open, is suddenly broken into two halves that represented the beings it incubated inside itself. Yewdrassil then rejoined its broken body and became the Tree of Life and Death.

The God of Death Abaddon and the Goddess of Life Gaea are born through the world, but it was not just them. The powerful chaotic energy that Yewdrassil released created a vast universe of numerous worlds that also nurtured life. Still, it took millions of years for the first beings to be born because the God of Death Abaddon and the Goddess of Life Gaea were like infants that the creator had to raise.

"Oh my god and goddess!" Adrian stated in shock.

"Now you know why I cannot easily bond with a beast." Yewdrassil stated which it thought that Adrian will understand the rejection.

"You are like the mother of all beings." Adrian stated in utter disbelief.

"You are missing the point. Also, that is what you got from my story and not the fact that I am the host of the two Primordial Gods?" Yewdrassil stated as it will not be good to choose a being to bond with it because of its special nature.

"I think that you should hold your horses down because I am not asking your original body to bond with Saena. I want the one in Avalon to bond with her because I know that she will not be able to handle your real body which is hidden in Paraiso. You basically feed on divine energy there, but you actually created the universe." Adrian stated.

"Good point as the one in Avalon is just a small part of me like a scrapping of my bark. Still, why should I bend to your whims?" Yewdrassil stated as that is still apart of itself.

"I have recordings of you badmouthing the Twin Gods." Adrian stated in a serious tone.

"Ahem! Even that will not be enough." Yewdrassil stated but Adrian could see its avatar shiver a bit when he told that.

"I will delete those and forget that they ever existed." Adrian added.

"Make sure that everything is deleted and swore an oath that you will never speak of those again." Yewdrassil stated.

"Agreed." Adrian replied.

[The Tree of Life and Death, Yewdrassil, has entered a contract with Equinox.]

"You are lucky that I like you, Champion Equinox. Also, know that once Saena is bonded to the part of myself at Avalon will also mean that she will be tied with my life. If the part of myself in Avalon is to be destroyed, then Saena will return back to ashes as well. Do you wish to take on that burden?" Yewdrassil asked once more so that it is sure that Adrian will know the consequences.

"I shall take that chance because I have no other choice." Adrian stated as time is limited.

"Very well. Take this and crush it on top of the ashes of the Simurgh candidate." Yewdrassil stated as it handed one fruit to Adrian that looked like a small melon.

Adrian looked at the fruit and it really did resemble a small melon that has the essence of Yewdrassil inside it. He then remembered that there was actually one fruit growing from the tree of life and death in Avalon, but he knows that it will take a century to ripen. The fruit in his hands is priceless as it will not grow again in another two hundred years.

"Thank you." Adrian stated as he already knew that Yewdrassil will not refuse him because he has maximum familiarity with it.

"A gift from me to you." Yewdrassil stated as its avatar suddenly clapped which made Adrian wake up from the trance.

Adrian woke up from the trance and saw that the twin prophets are weakened. It seems that their minds got hurt when they saw Yewdrassil's form as they have never seen the real one because the one in Avalon is what they only see. Adrian looked down on his hands and saw that he has one fruit in his hands which also made others shocked when they followed his gaze.

They knew that Adrian was not holding something earlier when they entered the trance, but he is now holding one. The fruit that Adrian is holding is continuously pulsating powerful divine energy and made others gulp because anyone that eats it would undoubtedly get Divinity. Adrian did not waste any more time as he looked down on to the ashes and crushed the fruit with his hands.

Adrian could not even destroy the fruit fully because it is very tough to the point that he thought it is made of metal. Adrian did not even second guess himself as he transformed into his Netheros form and called upon his true form. The sight of a gigantic being that is crushing a small fruit might seem comedic, but Adrian is still struggling.

Adrian then pushed his body to the fullest as he continuously pumped Nether Energy into his body to strengthen himself. When Adrian is about to get exhausted, he used his last stretch of power to crush the fruit and it finally did. The juices of the destroyed fruit fell upon the ashes, and it released a powerful aroma that can make anyone go into ecstasy.

[The universe is overjoyed.]

[Another Divine Beast is being born into the world.]

The world message flooded the notifications of all the players which shocked them. A divine beast being born into the world is not something trivial because they hold divinity. A divine beast can basically form a faith and be a living deity that rivals a descended lesser god. All the other divine beasts also learned of this and those that were lying in wait have finally become active.

At the Hidden Temple of the Sun God, the cry of a bird, a wolf, and a woman could be heard inside. Saena's ashes that became like water and collected themselves as a gigantic bird manifested from them. A giant bird that is as tall as the thirty-meter statues of the Sun God Ra appeared with its majestic wings radiating the powers of the sun.

Chapter 1222 Simurgh I

The ashes that have absorbed the essence of the fruit from the Tree of Life and Death suddenly gathered like a pool of mud. This pool of mud suddenly started to create a swirling mass that became greater in volume. All of the people in the temple could visibly see that the swirling pool swelled to ten times its original size.

The swirling pool of mass then emitted intense energy that has traces of divinity inside of it. When the swirling pool stabilized, something reminiscent of a head suddenly emerged from it. The head looked like that of an avian creature as it has a beak, but it also has features of a wolf skull.

A loud cry that is a mix of a bird of prey, a wolf and a woman echoed in the temple, but it is actually heard in all parts of the world with varying degrees of loudness. The full body of a being emerged from the swirling pool and its size could easily reach the height of the thirty-meter statues of the Sun God Ra.

A mighty bird creature that has emerged from the swirling pool and spread its majesty to those that behold her. A gigantic avian with feather that are white and shades of copper. A majestic crown on the top of her head that extends when her wings are spread out.

The most notable feature of this majestic bird is the fact that it has a tail that is just like a peacock. Beautiful rainbow-colored feathers that somehow absorb the light from the surroundings. It uses the light to make a sort of veil around it to make it more divine.

[Another Divine Beast has descended to the world once more.]

Adrian looked at Saena with tearful eyes as she did not die. He really thought that he lost one of his most important friends in the game, but she survived. He is thankful for everything that led to this moment, but he noticed that something is not right with her.

[Saena has been revived.]

[Your connection with your soulbound has been restored to the smallest degree.]

[Saena is currently berserk due to her sudden revival. If you do not calm her down and establish authority, then there is a large chance that she will be severed from your soul link once more.]

Adrian could not believe that he suddenly had to suffer when he just evolved Saena into a divine beast. She is definitely not in her right mind as she kept releasing burst of sunlight that seared the area around her. She even roared at Adrian who is her master which means that she cannot differentiate friend from foe at this very moment.

"Sirius, restrain her!" Adrian stated as he summoned Sirius.

Sirius immediately popped out of the magic circle and used numerous shadows to try and restrain Saena. The only problem with that is Saena suddenly exploding with a burst of light that destroyed the shadows. Sirius tried once more but she easily erased the shadows with a burst of light.

"Kanlaon, help Sirius!" Adrian stated as Kanlaon came out of his magic circle.

Kanlaon knew that restraining Saena will not be an easy feat which is why he used all of his dragon balls to the test. The fire dragon ball along with the light dragon ball sapped the heat and light that Saena is releasing in an attempt to weaken her. The frost dragon ball created a freezing zone around Saena to make sure that her temperature drops.

Kanlaon wanted to use the freezing zone to make Saena calm down or lose consciousness, but she is emitting a powerful heat that melts any ice that touches her feathers. Even the fire dragon ball and light dragon ball cannot absorb the sun energy that Saena is internally releasing to keep herself active. Since the other dragon balls are not able to completely restrain her, Kanlaon used the earth dragon ball to make the floor into sand.

The sand beneath Saena's feet sank as her weight also increased when she became larger. She tried to flap her wings, but Kanlaon used the wind dragon ball to create a small tornado that pushed Saena down to the sands. Seeing that it is working, Kanlaon used the darkness dragon ball to increase the power of the shadows that Sirius used.

The rampaging Saena could be seen getting restrained, but she is still fighting against them. She is putting great effort into escaping despite the numerous restraints. Some might say that Saena is not that strong, but restraining is vastly different than killing as there is a certain finesse needed in the former.

"Greater Seal: Saena!" Adrian shouted as a new magic circle started to draw itself in the air.

The previous magic circle that appears when Saena is summoned had the image of a white bird on it but this one is different. A giant bird that has white and bronze feathers with the colorful tail of a peacock is seen manifesting. The magic circle did not immediately materialize completely as the image of the Simurgh could be seen slowly being drawn.

Adrian also felt his mana being drained when this interaction happened as his Soul Link started to pulsate. The Soul Link that connected his soul with Saena's started to slowly become thicker as the connection is being reforged. This put a great strain on both parties as Adrian and Saena lost a bit of health per second with this interaction.

Saena became even more erratic in nature as a divine beast is not supposed to be easily tamed. Her pure instinct tried to neglect the soul link that she and Adrian already established. Adrian cannot do any other spell while the Greater Seal is in effect which means that it is up to his other companions to help him.

Saena suddenly unfurled her tail and it started to collect the energy of the sun in the surroundings. With each ten second interval that she charged her energy, a feather on the tail illuminated and stored that powerful energy. Cairo felt the vast amounts of energy that Saena gathered and feared something devastating will be released should she fire that.

"Guardian of the Sun God!" Cairo shouted.

A golden golem suddenly came out of a magic circle that Cairo summoned. The golem is made of golden metal that has the same appearance of a sphinx. Cairo then used the staff that he is holding to tap the forehead of the sphinx. The energy of the sun in the surroundings also started to gather around the golden sphinx which delayed the gathering of Saena's sun energy.

The enraged Saena instinctively knew that she will be sealed back before she finished gathering enough energy. With a loud cry, Saena's peacock tail suddenly released the gathered energy into a powerful beam. The beam of light eviscerated all the magic holding her down and is about to hit Adrian.

Adrian did not stop his Greater Seal spell as that is the win condition in this fight. He would rather accept the damage now and pray that he survives the attack. When the beam of light is about to reach Adrian, a powerful cat beast suddenly appeared in front of him and erected a barrier. The cat beast is none other than Estet that transformed with the help of her goddess.

Sadiki did not stay still as well because he gathered the sands that Kanlaon used to create smaller barriers that absorbed the initial impact of the beam of light. The sand barriers mitigated the damage and Estet blocked the beam that is about to hit Adrian.

Adrian thanked all of them for their support because the magic circle is almost finished. A little bit more and the chains of the seal will appear to drag Saena back to the Soul Chamber. When the dust settled, Saena's figure could be seen charging towards Adrian in an attempt to disrupt him, but Kanlaon suddenly coiled up around her like a snake.

Saena crashed to the ground as she was tripped by Sirius. Adrian knew that this is his optimal chance to finish and he did. The magic circle that is needed to seal Saena away is completed at the very last second.

Chapter 1223 Simurgh II

"Greater Seal: Saena!" Adrian shouted once more as the magic summoning circle has finally been completed.

The magic summoning circle created chains out of nowhere and immediately slithered towards Saena. Saena saw the chains and her instincts knew that she will be sealed once more but she fought against it as she is still driven mad. With one last powerful burst of energy, Saena managed to shake Kanlaon off her and the shadows that Sirius used got dispelled once more.

Saena might have shaken off Sirius and Kanlaon, but the chains have already grabbed her. The chains did not physically grab her, but it bound her soul. The chains could be seen entering her body as her soul is bound once more and dragged her towards the magic summoning circle.

Saena tried to fight off the force pulling her, but it is already inevitable because she has already been marked. This would not have been easy if she did not have a lower soul strength compared to Adrian. Saena might have been a Divine Beast now, but she is still a fledgling compared to a Daemos who has obtained divinity.

Since Saena could not fly away despite her great wings, she put strength into her talons and dug deep into the floor but to no avail. The soul chains dragged her as if she is a toddler refusing to go with their mother because they are throwing a tantrum. Seeing that Saena could not fight off the pulling force, all of the bystanders no longer interfered and rested as guarding against a Divine Beast is not an easy feat.

[Your soul link with Saena is slowly being restored.]

A notification informed Adrian that Saena is now close to being back to his control. Adrian could see that Saena is still thrashing about and trying to resist which made him feel a bit sad. He suddenly pondered if what he is doing could be considered selfish, but Saena is not her usual self.

"Saena, do you wish to be free?" Adrian asked wholeheartedly which made the rampaging stop and look at Adrian.

The eyes clouded by rage and power suddenly started to clear up a little. Saena no longer thrashed about and suddenly heard the voice of someone she cherishes the most. A small tear could be seen dropping from one of Saena's eyes as she does not want to be set free because she already considered Adrian and the others as family.

Saena suddenly calmed down and looked as if she had recovered from her confusion. She no longer dug her talons on the ground and let herself freely be taken away by the chains. Seeing that Saena no longer resisted, the chains no longer pulled hard instead turned into gentle warm light that caressed Saena towards the magic summoning circle.

Seeing Saena regain her clarity put Adrian's heart at ease as he knows that he is not forcing her. The magic summoning circle shined bright before vanishing as Saena went back to her home. A warm feeling could be felt from Adrian's heart as if he suddenly felt whole again.

Adrian almost fainted when he saw all the skill descriptions that Saena has. A divine beast is definitely a different breed compared to other monsters. She might not be a damage dealer like Sirius or Kanlaon, but she can definitely handle enemies. What Adrian could not believe is the fact that her healing skills and cleansing skills are all area of effect.

The skill that made Adrian hyperventilate is the Simurgh's Bond skill because it makes Saena turn into a powerful monster in her own right. She will basically become a raid boss when in the presence of the tree of life and death. Although the skill might be restricted since the tree of life and death is planted in Avalon, there are ways to make that happen.

Adrian envisions Levin Cloud summoning the tree of life and death in the guild war and Saena being there. She would absolutely decimate the enemies as she will activate that skill. Saena would also be a great protector as all her skills will also be boosted to a disgusting degree.

"Why do I not have a skill that can summon Yewdrassil!?" Adrian lamented as he cannot activate Saena's skill by himself.

"Congratulations, Champion Equinox!" The Priestess Estet stated.

"I would like to congratulate Champion Equinox as well!" Sadiki stated.

"I never doubted you! As expected of my idol!" Cairo stated.

"Thanks to you guys. I would have never succeeded if all of you did not aid me. Please accept this as my sincere gift for helping me." Adrian stated as he gave all the carapaces and horns that he has left for Sadiki and Estet.

For Adrian, the monster parts might have been precious, but Saena's life is even more important to him. The fact that they helped him so much as he could see that they are gravely injured. When Saena was not properly connected to Adrian, she was actually level 350 and only returned to Adrian's level when she got sealed.

Chapter 1224 Simurgh III

"What will you do next, Champion Equinox?" The High Priestess Estet stated as Adrian already got what he came to the western continent for.

"I shall focus on hunting for the other Vestiges of the Sun God. Two more should be doable in a span of time given the right circumstances. I should focus on finding the one that has the vestige that represents the evening sun. We have a score to settle after all." Adrian stated.

"If that is the case then we wish for your success. If you are ever in the western continent, do not be a stranger to us and call for us when you need to deal with something here. We will always be happy to help you." Sadiki stated.

"I apologize because I cannot help you in the quest to find the vestiges at the moment. I am also looking for the other items to restore the power of the Temple of the Sun. It is not easy restoring a faith back to its glory when all records about it was almost erased." Cairo stated as he still needs to restore the faith back to the Temple of the Sun.

"I understand as my best friend was also in your shoes and it took him quite a long time to revive a faith as well. It would be even more difficult for you because the Sun God Ra is not present at the moment. I am pretty sure that we might cross paths on the journey to restore the Sun God.

Do not be a stranger when that happens. You might be a guild member by then so remember to go to Avalon when I call for you. We should add each other in our friends list." Adrian stated which made Cairo almost squeal in happiness.

Cairo's happiness is so prevalent that he actually posted that Adrian added him on his friends list in a forum reserved for the latter's fans. Posts saying that he is one lucky person started flooding the forum. Some cursed him out of jealousy in a playful manner while others congratulated but begged in how he did it.

"Thank you for your help once again. This is my farewell to you as time waits for no one. A being made of the powers of darkness is not easy to catch after all. Vitae and Mortem, let us go back home." Adrian stated as he opened a portal out of the hidden temple with the twins to head back towards Avalon.

Adrian reached Avalon and he is immediately surrounded by the elders of the Church of the Twin Gods. The elders surrounded him because they noticed an increased amount of divine energy from the Tree of Life and Death. The increase was so potent that it increased the buffs that is given by the Tree of Life and Death to those that visit Avalon.

The air became cleaner and the natural regeneration of the people in Avalon hastened. Even the plants that are grown in Avalon started to grow faster while the soil became richer. The monsters in Pann's ranch could also be seen rather tame and happy. The life of everyone living there increased in quality.

"Let me explain. Make sure that the twin prophets are rested. They have exerted themselves to a certain degree as well as the Silent Death Order." Adrian stated as he began explaining what happened to the elders.

Adrian summoned Saena in the territory and she immediately exploded in divine energy. The appearance of a divine beast in an area is very significant as they are extremely rare. They also enrich the lives in the territory which is why people would often choose to revere or appease the divine beast so that it stays.

Saena then saw the eyes of reverence that the people are giving her and felt proud of herself. She felt proud but not to the point that she looks down on everyone because she knows that it was not just her that made it happen. Her master made sure that she becomes a divine beast which made her appreciate Adrian more.

Saena then instinctively wanted to fly towards the Tree of Life and Death, but she noticed the twin prophets as they wanted to ride her. Since Saena is now bonded to the tree of life and death, she is also quite fond of the twins even more as she now emits a motherly aura. The elders are a bit surprised that a divine beast let the twin prophets ride her, but they calmed themselves when the twins enjoyed the flight.

Seeing that Saena has grown accustomed to her new body, Adrian summoned his other soulbounds so that they could rest in Avalon. All of his soulbounds followed Saena towards the tree of life and death as they wanted to congratulate her. She is like an elder sister to the others as she is third in line. The elders returned back to their tasks when they were satisfied by Adrian's answers and are even pleasantly skipping.

The appearance of a divine beast in Avalon that is bonded with the tree of life and death meant that they now have a protector beast that represents the church. The elders told Adrian that Saena could become a symbol that makes the influence of the church spread farther as anyone will want to see a divine beast.

[Saena has been designated as the Divine Beast of the Church of the Twin Gods.]

[All buffs in Avalon will be increased by 50% when Saena is present in the territory.]

[Soulbound Saena could stay at Avalon indefinitely until summoned even if you are far from her.]

Adrian chuckled as he did not expect that Saena will become a designated divine beast but is quite happy for her. She actually dislikes being in the Soul Chamber as she likes to spread her wings. Now that she can freely stay in Avalon as long as Adrian does not summon her, then she will have the freedom to fly the skies that she deserves.

Chapter 1225 Demon Eyes

Adrian went to see what his soulbounds were doing when he finished talking with the elders. He went to the tree of life and death to see Pann admiring Saena. Saena could be seen a bit stiff as she knows how powerful Pann is despite her becoming a divine beast. She actually understands the disparity between them which is why she is behaving.

"What are you doing to my soulbound, old man?" Adrian asked as Pann did not even look at him when he walked closer to them.

"I am just observing your divine beast. A Simurgh is quite rare as even other worlds that have trees of life do not always have one. It is said that any world that has a Simurgh will have a bountiful day as they bring bountiful life to the world." Pann stated as he finally stopped inspecting Saena after he was satisfied.

"Has Koronn returned yet?" Adrian asked as he wants to know if the knowledgeable old man is back.

"He has not yet returned which is a bit odd, but he must have been caught up in his own mind at the River of Time. That brat is actually such a geek when it comes to Temporal Magic. He must be researching there as we speak. I might even say that he wanted to go there just to research the River of Time." Pann stated.

"That sucks! I actually wanted to ask him if he knows how to spread the effect of a divine item." Adrian stated.

"You actually have a divine item?!" Pann stated in an almost shouting voice.

"I actually have two but one lost power as Saena absorbed most of it to evolve. The other one is given by the Goddess of Night Nox so that I can find her former envoy that she cursed." Adrian stated.

"I am actually extremely proud of you brat! You managed to get a soulbound that is a calamity, a dragon progenitor, and a divine beast. Do you really not want to become my disciple and raise magical beasts with me?!" Pann stated with a laugh.

"I already told you that I am not yet a Master Scribe which means I cannot learn Monster Raising just yet." Adrian replied.

"Well, if you want to learn my trade then come to me when you want. I already have a disciple anyway but why do you want to spread the effect of a divine item?" Pann asked.

"I have candle that is given by the Goddess of Night Nox and she said that it will light up whenever her former envoy is near me. The only problem is that this former envoy was cursed and turned into a monster that is made of shadows.

When its night, I will not be able to easily catch her as she can just escape easily. I plan to catch her during the day when she is much weaker and have limited capability to move." Adrian stated.

"So, you want to amplify the searching effects of this divine item so that you will be pointed to the correct coordinates?" Pann asked.

"That is correct." Adrian replied.

"That is easy because you can just use the Demon Eyes and the World Replica in the observer room. What you want is in the realm of Spatial Magic which means your best bet is that brat Ascalor. He can easily set that spell up as he is very good when it comes to location spells. He is not the called the Master of Dimensions for nothing." Pann stated.

"I see. Thanks, old man. Also, do not bother Saena too much as she is still getting used to her body." Adrian stated as he left his soulbounds to wander around Avalon as he went to look for Ascalor.

Adrian easily found Ascalor and explained his situation. The old man agreed but he said that Adrian needed to pay him for his services. Adrian does not know what Ascalor is using the gold coins for, but Adrian just gave him the amount Ascalor is asking for.

Ascalor also noticed the Cube of Paradox emitting a strange spatial signature, but he did not pry into it. He is not as curious as Koronn that wants to learn everything, and he could sense that the Cube of Paradox is keeping that strange spatial signature under control. Ascalor easily set up the magic circle to amplify the searching capabilities of the candle.

What Ascalor did is quite difficult because he slightly interfered with the space around all the Demon Eyes that observe the world. He connected all the Demon Eyes to the candle that Adrian brought as if it is present in the areas where all the eyes are located.

All Adrian will need to do is place the candle in the center of the formation and wait for it to activate. All he actually needed to do is to wait for the results to appear and reap the benefits. Of course, Ascalor explained that this will not be easy as it will only point him in a general area, and it will be up to him to look for the former envoy.

Adrian waited an hour to see if the candle will light up, but it is still unlit despite waiting. He even chatted with the Daemos in charge of Demons Eyes for that day to pass time. The duty of the one that oversees the demon eyes is to monitor the world if rifts suddenly form. They will then report that information so that the Daemos Corps can close the rifts.

Just as Adrian thought that he will not see the candle activate, he suddenly saw a bluish flame in the room. He immediately looked at the candle as it floated in the air and headed towards one of the mirrors that represent the Demon Eyes. Adrian looked at that Demon Eye and vaguely knew where that location is.

The location where the candle pointed at is the where the rundown Church of Life was at. It was there where Levin Cloud found the clues regarding the Church of Death and the origin of the Church of the Twin Gods.

Chapter 1226 The Secret Lake I

"The area that the candle is pointing towards is the Secret Lake. It is near the old church that Levin Cloud investigated." Adrian thought as he immediately kept the candle in his inventory and jumped into the mirror.

The mirror that shows the area where the demon eye is could also be used as a portal as it is connected to spatial rift. Adrian immediately appeared in the location as he used the candle to direct him to where the exact area of the former envoy of the Goddess of Night.

In fact, Adrian did not even need to search because he could feel the clash of extreme powers in the distance. Adrian could see torrents of water getting shot in the distance. He can also feel the energy of darkness in the same direction.

"Sirius, scout the area immediately." Adrian commanded as he summoned Sirius.

Adrian then flew towards the direction of the exchange of attacks. He could then see a giant being that resembled a gilled sea serpent that has a humanoid upper body. The head of the gigantic being that Adrian saw is a mix between an eel and a snake with massive fins that reached until its back.

"Master, I have found the former envoy!" Sirius reported as Adrian borrowed Sirius' sight.

Adrian used Sirius' eyes to verify his claim and it is actually the former envoy of the Goddess of Night. It is a being made of shadows with a face made of a porcelain mask. What made Adrian a bit shocked is that the former envoy is somewhat humanoid in shape right now.

Adrian knew that the former envoy of the Goddess of Night did not have a solid form as it was just a mass of shadows. The fact that it now has a solid form meant that it is now more powerful than when he last met it. Sirius also said that he could feel the essence of divinity from the former envoy of the Goddess of Night.

Adrian also saw humanoid fish monsters that are aiding the giant serpentine monster against the former envoy of the Goddess of Night. The humanoid fish monsters must have been the monsters that Levin Cloud encountered before, and he said that they were called the Deep Ones.

The Secret Lake is actually considered as a danger zone because it contains high level monsters despite being in a low-level area. Many have tried to explore the Secret Lake as they wanted to know if it contained secrets since it is a peculiar area, but the players found nothing. Adrian does not believe what the players claimed that the lake actually contained nothing because that giant serpentine monster is actually coming out of the vast lake.

It is not just Adrian that is in the area because it is near a beginner friendly area. Many low-level players could feel the vibrations of the fight, but they cannot see the giant serpentine monster like Adrian. To low level players, they can only see a screen of fog in the area near the Secret Lake that hid the event that is happening.

Of course, there are also high-level players that are in the area that could see the giant serpentine silhouette of a monster. They cannot fully see it because they do not have divinity and they are also not as high leveled as Adrian. Those that have guilds immediately reported what was happening in the Secret Lake to their upper echelons as this might be an event or field bosses fighting each other.

"I must hurry and do something. Sirius, aid the giant serpentine monster in the fight. Use Samael's Domain to hide the progress of the fight." Adrian commanded as Sirius nodded.

Sirius suddenly expanded his domain to the utmost which covered the area of the Secret Lake. The mist that covered the Secret Lake suddenly vanished in the eyes of the observers as Sirius made sure that everything became normal. Sirius also contained the tremors in his domain which garnered the attention of the giant serpentine monster and the former envoy of night.

The players that witnessed the event suddenly vanishing wanted to investigate but they are not courageous enough to walk into a danger zone. They waited for the higher echelons of their guild to reach the area before they move so that they can continue giving information. The only problem that they have now is the disappearance of the thing that they reported.

The former envoy of night felt that Sirius is familiar, but it wanted something else from him. Sirius contains a vast amount of darkness energy that can replenish what the former envoy of night needs. If it absorbs Sirius' darkness energy, then it will be able to defeat the enemy it is trying to kill for the past thirty minutes.

The former envoy of night suddenly brandished sickle arms made of shadows to try and kill Sirius. Adrian smiled as this will be something that he can do to his advantage. Adrian commanded Sirius to immediately use Realm Ender.

Sirius suddenly swelled up in size, but his domain made sure to create an illusion that he is just standing there. When the former envoy of night reached Sirius, it is suddenly met with a gigantic form of Sirius that emitted destructive force that it has never felt before. Sirius did not even show mercy as he tear up the former envoy of night.

The former envoy of night is made of shadows which means physical attacks are meaningless against it, but Sirius is a special existence. Sirius has the title of Calamity and is an Abyssal Fenrir which means he can affect phenomena. The former envoy of night that thought that Sirius will not deal damage to it can only shake in pain.

The image of shadows being torn to pieces could be seen in the area as Sirius literally tore the former envoy to pieces. Sirius would have dealt great damage to the former envoy of night but he did not destroy the porcelain mask.

Chapter 1227 The Secret Lake II

The porcelain mask was not destroyed by Sirius as the former envoy of night made sure that it will never be destroyed. The shadow body of the former envoy of night might have been torn to pieces but the porcelain mask suddenly floated in mid-air to gather the shadows. Sirius is annoyed by this interaction and decided to destroy the porcelain mask, but he is unable to.

Sirius tried reaching the porcelain mask as he noticed that it is the source of power of the former envoy of night, but his Realm Ender ended. Sirius is suddenly overcome by fatigue which made the former envoy of night try and deal a killing blow to him, but a pillar of water suddenly surged below the latter.

The giant serpentine monster seemed to have attacked the former envoy of night when the latter wanted to kill Sirius. The former envoy of night is deterred by the sudden pillar of water hitting it directly as its shadow body scattered but its porcelain mask remained unharmed. The giant serpentine monster roared as it cannot deal fatal damage to the former envoy of night.

The body of the former envoy of night suddenly came back once more as if it did not get damaged. Seeing that two monsters are attempting to kill it; the former envoy of night suddenly created another porcelain mask out of nowhere. The second porcelain mask is different to the first one as it has the face of happiness while the first had a stoic expression painted on it.

"Saena, use Sun Flare!" Adrian shouted as Saena's magic circle suddenly appeared below the former envoy of night.

Saena immediately let loose a burst of powerful sunlight when she came out of her magic circle. The burst of sunlight washed away all the shadows or energy of darkness in the area. The body made of shadows created by the former envoy of night suddenly vanished as only the mask remains.

Adrian then summoned his Primordial Armament: Spear and directed it to destroy the porcelain masks. Adrian only managed to destroy the porcelain mask that has the happy face on it. He was able to hit the one with a stoic expression, but it was covered with a layer of defensive barriers.

Adrian did see something good though as he saw a small crack that he made on the stoic porcelain mask. The former envoy of night panicked as its vessel suddenly cracked. The former envoy of night then looked at Adrian's direction and released a powerful killing intent because it can remember Adrian.

The former envoy of night clearly remembers the demon that ruined its chance to reverse time on itself. It wanted to return to its former form before it became cursed by the Goddess of Night. It would have succeeded if not for a demon that had the candle of the Goddess of Night.

The former envoy of night knew that the demon was its bounty hunter, but the latter was still weak back then. Now, the bounty hunter that wanted to kill it has returned and even more powerful than before. The former envoy of night can even feel divinity from Adrian as it also collected some divine energy on its road to return back to its former self.

"You shall pay for this! I will have my revenge against you demon who is a hunting dog of that distasteful goddess." The former envoy of night stated in a female voice.

It seems that the former envoy of night has started to revert back to her previous self but is still not complete. She is collecting divine energy to counteract the curse of another divine being which is a god. She has been collecting artifacts or killing beasts with divine energy to supplement the needed energy to revert her back.

She then created a black void as she wants to escape from this area since she knows that she will never win. Adrian chuckled as he already expected this to happen when battling the former envoy of night. Adrian supplied the Cube of Paradox with half of his mana to lock the space in the area.

"I might not have been able to prepare that much against you, but I made sure that you will never escape our encounter." Adrian stated as space itself froze in the area.

The black void that the former envoy of night created suddenly exploded as it is connected to another space. Adrian might be smiling but the most he can do is one minute because freezing space is not easy. If he was Ascalor then it might have been easy, but he just became an Arch Demon.

"Saena, use Sun's Warmth and Cleansing Light!" Adrian commanded. Saena once again exploded in the energy of the sun.

[Nychta, the Former Envoy of the Goddess of Night, has 15% reduced stats for five minutes.]

[Sirius has been healed.]

[Sirius' stats have returned back to normal.]

Nychta's shadow body once again fizzled out when she was hit by the burst of sunlight that Saena created. Adrian saw that the shadow body actually retreated inside of the porcelain mask instead of getting destroyed which means her real body is the mask.

"I must act fast." Adrian thought as he once again used his spear to try and pierce the porcelain mask but is once again met with great resistance.

The porcelain mask is Nychta's true body and is not just a simple vessel. Her curse is actually to become the shadow that she loved to control. Her body slowly turned into shadows throughout the centuries as she is no longer a mortal once her body started transforming.

As years go by, Nychta's senses vanished bit by bit as her whole body turns into shadows. Her ultimate punishment is to become a shadow that feels or sees nothing and to also completely forget who she ever was. Her curse would have been successful if she did not bump into another cursed item called the Stoic Porcelain Mask.

Chapter 1228 The Secret Lake III

"Kanlaon, use Light Rays multiple times!" Adrian commanded as he summoned Kanlaon.

Kanlaon then used his light dragon ball to create light rays that all converged towards Nychta. She was not able to easily dodge the light rays due to her body being weakened by Saena. Nychta felt the sting of the light rays in her body as it once again retreated back to the mask.

Adrian tried to break the mask once more using his spear, but it only cracked a small part of it once more. He could more or less feel that the mask is a powerful artifact that can hold her body. It is very difficult to damage as he can feel the resistance to his very soul as if his primordial armament is also taking damage.

"Only a powerful artifact can make my soul numb like that, but I will not back down. If I cannot do it by myself then I should fuse with someone who has the possibility. Perfect Assimilation: Saena!" Adrian stated as he and Saena suddenly fused together.

Adrian's body changed to that of a being that has powerful white and bronze wings. He even has multiple rings behind his back that is made of Sunlight. He radiated the energy of the sun that he wanted to copy from Saena.

[You have gotten the skill Sun Flare from your fusion with Saena.]

[You have gotten the skill Solar Synthesis from your fusion with Saena.]

Adrian could feel the surge of power in his body as fusing with a divine beast is definitely different. He could feel his divinity increasing to a great degree which means his interference in the world would be greater. Adrian swapped out his spear with his Primordial Armament: Mirror.

Adrian's body changed to that of a blind demon that has four floating arms and six floating mirrors. He still has halos on his back, but the mirrors sported a different look. The design of the mirrors reflected that of a Simurgh instead of the demon eye theme that is encrusted in purple and gold.

Adrian then created numerous mirrors that surrounded the porcelain mask. He made sure that Kanlaon will continue firing Light Rays until his spell will be completed. Adrian even started absorbing the light rays that passed through the porcelain mask.

Nychta felt that she is being cornered and that a dark heavy feeling washed up on her. She feels as if she is deliberately being kept inside the mask and her enemies are not relenting. Despite that feeling of heaviness, she is confident of the power of the mask as only a lesser rank god will be able to destroy it.

Even a demigod will have trouble trying to destroy it because she has taken so much divine energy from others. She sensed the divine energy in the Secret Lake, but she did not expect that a peak demigod being is the one residing on it. She would have gotten the upper hand if the fight was not meddled by the demon.

"Once I have escaped from here, I will be sure to hunt that demon down once my former strength has been returned. I just need to bide my time and wait for the moment that all of them are tired. The cracks in the mask might be troublesome but I can repair it by consuming other artifacts." Nychta stated but he suddenly heard Adrian's voice.

"It seems that you are not even peaking out of the artifact. Let us see what it can do when I blast it with full power." Adrian stated to which Nychta heard.

When Nychta heard Adrian's statement, it made her curious as to what the demon is speaking about. She peeked a bit and saw that her mask is actually surrounded by mirrors with the demon inside with it. The light rays hitting her is coming from the mirrors that channels Kanlaon's magic spells.

"I already absorbed enough sunlight earlier. It is a good thing that you attacked this area in the morning. The Vestige of the Sun God is a very good shortcut in getting energy from the sun. When I kill you, I will make sure to retrieve the Vestige of the Sun from your corpse." Adrian stated as his body started to glow with the power of the sun.

"Sun Flare!" Adrian shouted as he exploded with sunlight.

When Adrian used Sun Flare, he made sure that the mask will be directly hit. The porcelain mask is directly hit but it did not thoroughly crack but small cracks are starting to be seen all over. A wild laugh could be heard from inside the mask as Nychta laughed at Adrian's claims.

"You think that you have the power of a lesser god?! Do not be arrogant Arch Demon! You will never be able to destroy my mask as it is also fused with the Vestige of the Sun God! I might be weakened by light, but I will never be killed by them." Nychta stated in a haughty tone as she will never be killed by sunlight or at least sunlight that did not come from a god.

When Nychta help kill the Sun God Ra, she made sure to get the part of him that controlled the evening sun. It is a part of him that somewhat controlled darkness and gave her the ability to ward off light. She fused it with the Stoic Porcelain Mask since the vestige of the sun god was one of the items that helped her retain her sanity.

She did not expect that the Vestige of the Sun God will actually help her slow down the effects of the curse that is placed on her by the Goddess of Night. She actually rejoiced when she found that out, but it also made sense to her. The Sun God Ra is on par with the Chthonic Gods as he was as powerful as them.

If she actually had the other parts of the Sun God Ra, then she would have nullified her curse altogether. She wanted to attempt to collect them, but one is already sealed in the Silver City back then. She also cannot fight against Mikhail as she will definite die even before she attempts to steal the other vestige.

Her best bet was to fuse two artifacts together in hopes of amplifying their abilities and it worked. The Stoic Porcelain Mask with the Vestige of the Sun God strengthened the effects of nullifying the curse. It was not enough though which made her look for other artifacts that can strengthen the power of the mask.

"It is not that I have the power of a lesser god, but my divinity right now rivals that of a demigod. Let me see if you do not die with an attack with everything that I poured into. Sunlight that is amplified to the highest degree while carrying the volatile nether energy. Let me see if a divine artifact can handle that stress and not eject the body of the one possessing it like a parasite." Adrian stated.

Adrian then entered the mirror as he does not want to be in the area where all the explosions of light will go off. He does not want to become blinded or feel the power of sunlight on his skin. He is already a bit sick of getting hit with the energy of the sun from battling Saena.

"Diffraction!" Adrian stated as all of the mirrors that surrounded the porcelain mask started to charge with sunlight.

Adrian made sure that his mirrors absorb the light rays and the Sun Flare that he used. He intends to destroy Nychta from within the mask since she is not coming out herself. He just does not know if his plan will succeed as she said that only a lesser god could destroy the mask, but a notification came to Adrian when he fused with Saena.

[You now have equal divinity to a Demigod.]

"I might not have the power of a lesser god, but I do have the divinity equal to a demigod. I just pray that bombarding you with nether energy and primordial energy attacks will be enough to kill you." Adrian stated.

Numerous lights dispersed onto the porcelain mask as it is bombarded with all the light attacks that it has absorbed. The mirrors even reflected the initial released beams which made the whole encirclement explode with light. The screams of fear could be heard from the porcelain mask as Nychta is being punished by her own arrogant behavior.

She thought that the mask will be able to hold out from the attacks of the ones outside. She thought that she could just escape when her enemies are tired but that is all wrong. The cracks on the mask started to spread all over and her sanctuary inside the mask has been breached. Beams of light started to enter her sanctuary and it greatly burned her shadow body.

Chapter 1229 Father Of The Deep Ones I

The scream of fear and knowledge of her impending doom could be heard inside the mirror enclosure. When the power of the beams reached its peak, the whole mirror enclosure suddenly exploded into fragments and revealed the state of the porcelain mask. The mask that Nychta boasted is now in fragments.

Each fragment of the porcelain mask suddenly started to shake uncontrollably. A powerful surge of divine energy came from the fragments as each actually held an artifact. Some of the artifacts turned to dust as Nychta already drained the power from all of them. Only one artifact remained intact when the Stoic Porcelain Mask turned to dust and that is the Vestige of the Sun God.

[You have obtained the Vestige of the Sun God.]

Description: It is a broken part of the fragmented Sun God of the West. It is said that the Sun God will revive once all parts of his fragmented divine being has been collected. It emits the power of a sun and also gathers energy from the sunset. Anyone who possess this item is said to radiate a cool and gentle aura as if being gently hugged by the beautiful sunset.

Adrian held the Vestige of the Sun God that has the appearance of an orange crystal that has an image of a sunset inside of it. He knew that having this divine artifact in the open could be disastrous, but it has mostly been drained of its power. The angels will not be able to detect its presence even though it emits a powerful energy of light when fully charged.

"Demon child! She has not yet been killed." The giant serpentine monster suddenly stated towards Adrian.

"I know because I do not want to kill her anyway. She awaits a more gruesome ending that I will not be giving." Adrian stated as he saw a small dark mass shoot out of the porcelain mask when it was destroyed.

Adrian knew that was Nychta's true body but even he cannot catch a shadow but one of his soulbounds can. Adrian felt pity for Nychta as the one catching her is his soulbound that takes after him the most.

"Blast it! I shall have my revenge against you, demon! I still have a few artifacts stored near here just in case my mask gets destroyed. To think that an Arch Demon will destroy my vessel. Back when I was at my prime, the arch demons could not look at me straight in the eyes." Nychta stated as she is now just a blob of dark mass made of shadows.

"So, this is where you were. Master really has great eyesight and made sure that I will get to play with you. Master said that you will need to be brought to the Goddess of Night for judgement which is why he did not kill you." Sirius stated as he blocked Nychta's way.

"Mangy mutt! Get out of my way before I kill you. I will make sure that your master will taste the coldness of darkness." Nychta stated as she provoked Sirius. She knew that Sirius is at the same level as Adrian, but she feels that she can take her on for a bit. The artifact that she hid are just around the corner that Sirius blocked.

"You said that you are a being of darkness, but have you ever been to the Abyss?!" Sirius stated as he suddenly used the shadows to pull Nychta to the shadow realm.

Nychta is familiar with the Shadow Realm as this was her playground when she was the Envoy of Night. She scoffed at Sirius for dragging her there because she would just recover more energy in the Shadow Realm.

"Stupid dog! It did not even know that the Shadow Realm is my playground. I will be able to recover to a great degree inside of here." Nychta thought but she felt something is wrong as she is still getting dragged further and further down.

For the first time, she felt afraid in her own playground because she went to a place that she never played before. She did not even know that the Shadow Realm has an even deeper realm inside of it. She tried fight off Sirius' bindings, but she cannot do so.

"Welcome to the Abyss!" Sirius stated as he is now in his truest form. When Nychta saw Sirius, she immediately screamed in terror, but no one can hear her down in the Abyss.

[You soulbound, Sirius, has captured the Former Envoy of Night Nychta.]

"As expected of Sirius. Now onto the next big thing." Adrian stated as he looked towards the giant serpentine creature.

He tried inspecting the giant serpentine creature, but his evil eye is actually blocked. Being able to block his evil eye meant that this giant sea creature is at least a demigod. Only beings with divinity can block his inspection but something also intrigued him.

"Are you a follower of a dark god or his Envoy?" Adrian asked the giant serpentine creature as it exuded the same energy as a dark god which is muddled chaotic energy but is somewhat grounded.

When Adrian asked that question, the giant sea creature actually laughed out loud because it thought it was a joke. Adrian did not laugh because he was ready for a confrontation should there ever be on. He things that a confrontation is unlikely though as it would have attacked him earlier if it was really evil.

"To think that I would be mistaken as a follower or an Envoy by a champion. I am the Father of the Deep Ones, the Dark God of the Deep, Dagon!" The Dark God Dagon stated in a loud thundering voice.

Chapter 1230 Father Of The Deep Ones II

Something trembled within Adrian when he learned the real name of the being in front of him. The Dark God Dagon is literally gigantic compared to his followers. He is even bigger than Kanlaon in his original size as his whole body encompasses the lake despite the Secret Lake being absolutely large.

"I would like to say that I am the Dark God Dagon, but I am just a former shell of myself. I have been in slumber for thousands of years and was only able to wake up a century later. Even then, I was not able to lift the seal in my lake because the world did not have enough energy to sustain me." The Dark God Dagon stated.

[You can now view partial information about the Dark God Dagon.]

Name: Dagon

Title: Father of the Deep Ones, Dark God of the Deep

Level: Unknown

HP: Unknown

MP: Unknown

Description: An ancient being that is said to have been from a universe where there are only boundless planets made of water. He is a powerful being that controls water and even the pressure of the deep. He is currently in a weakened state because he reincarnated as one of his Deep Ones but was only recently released from his seal when the state of the world ascended.

Status: Pleased

"Why are you saying this to me? You do know that demons do not like dark gods." Adrian stated as it is common knowledge spread to humanity that demons fight against the dark gods for power or something. The demons really fight for the stability of the realm because a dark god manifesting in the world is not good for stability.

"Do you wish to fight me, young demon? You have the energy of the Twin Gods with you. Also, I might be a dark god, but my followers are now considered residents of this universe. You could say that I am already halfway from becoming a God of Pandemonium." The Dark God Dagon stated which made Adrian a bit wary.

"You speak of the Twin Gods as if you are familiar with them." Adrian stated to see where Dagon stands because his instincts tell him that the dark god before him is neutral. He then remembered the words that the God of Death Abaddon stated to him that some dark gods might be allies.

"I should know them because I have fought with them against the other dark gods that wanted to destroy this beautiful planet. It was even more beautiful before, but it is still beautiful to this day." The Dark God Dagon stated.

Adrian could feel something inside of him resonate with what the Dark God Dagon stated. He could feel that the Twin Gods are nodding to what the Dark God Dagon is saying but Adrian still needs to assess the situation. From what the Dark God Dagon stated, he only got released recently when the world ascended due to what the angels did.

If he got released when the angels got released, then quite a bit of time has passed that he did not make trouble. If the Dark God Dagon really wanted to plunge the world into chaos, then he would have started in this area. Adrian searched for any negative posts from areas near the Secret Lake, but nothing came up.

"You have said that you were released from your seal when the world ascended. Can I also infer from that there are others like you?" Adrian asked.

"By me, you are pertaining to gods that have been sealed?" The Dark God Dagon stated.

"Yes. Are all of you dark gods? That is also what I want to know to see what the damage the angels have done." Adrian stated as he wanted to assess whether everything will turn ballistic.

"You could say that there are a sizeable number of both gods and dark gods that have been sealed or chose to reincarnate. Some gods are pessimistic and think highly of themselves, so they just opt to be extinguished when they become truly weakened. Only gods that are weakened to a great degree chose the way if reincarnation but that does not always happen to be in our favor." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"By that you mean, you cannot control how you reincarnate or what time period since you gods do not follow a circle of reincarnation?" Adrian stated to which the Dark God Dagon became amazed.

"It seems that you are very well versed in reincarnation, but you are correct. Once someone becomes a god, they will no longer be able to come under a cycle of reincarnation to live once more. Unlike mortals that could die today and be reborn tomorrow, a god reincarnating is like rolling the dice. Some get it early while some never get it even after a millennium." The Dark God Dagon stated.

Adrian sighed with relief as the Dark God Dagon is just one of the lucky ones that woke up from the aftermath of what the angels did. He will not have gigantic beings or extra godlike beings walking the world and killing all innocent lives. Still, he decided to keep note of this and tell this to the elders since this information can save the world.

"Seeing that a young demon such as yourself has become an Arch Demon, you must be very talented which is why I wanted your help. You also have a connection to the Twin Gods which means the Goddess of Life Gaea knows that my children are already part of this universe. The only thing missing would be me becoming a God of Pandemonium." The Dark God Dagon stated.

"Can I dip out now because I am sensing that things will become troublesome? Have a good day and make sure to not cause trouble." Adrian stated as he attempted to leave but the space around the lake became unstable as a divine area has been established. The Dark God Dagon looks at him with eyes full of anticipation.
